THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 20 OF 1982

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food & Allied Workers
and Interfreight (Kenya) Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Dismissal of Mr. Lawrence Makokha.

1. The Kenya Union of Commercial Food & Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Interfreight (K) Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 14th and 16th June, 1982 and relied on their written and verbal submissions. The Claimants also called the following witnesses to give evidence on oath:

L. Makokha.
G. Gonzi.
J. Kithome.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 26th August, 1980 duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 1st April, 1982 together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

Mr. Makokha worked for the Respondents from 9th April, 1976 up to 2nd July, 1979 when he was dismissed. He was employed as a clerk typist but did only clerical work. His letter of dismissal contained the following two paragraphs:

"The fact still stands that you did not follow the 7 sets of documents which were with you since morning and handed over to Benjamin Kiara at 4.03 p.m. on Friday, 28th June, 1979.

It seems that you have formed a habit of always arguing whenever you have been pointed out your mistakes. This we cannot tolerate and reluctantly we very much regret having had to inform you that your service is not required forthwith."

Prior to this letter he had been issued with a couple of warnings and had a final warning in his file dated 2nd July, 1979. It is clear that the final warning and letter of dismissal were issued on the same day.

The Claimants' Mombasa branch intervened on his behalf and an informal investigation was carried out by the Mombasa Labour Office and it was established that Mr. Makokha had received the documents in question around about 3.55 p.m. and therefore had no time in which to complete the work related to them. The Labour Office also found that the shipping agency had delayed the documents at their office. Accordingly the Respondents were requested that Mr. Makokha should be reinstated. The Respondents did not accept the result of this informal investigation and the Claimants were forced to report a formal dispute to the Minister for Labour and an investigation was carried out by an officer different from the one who had carried out the informal investigation although both are from the same office. The findings and recommendation of the formal investigation carried out by the Ministry of Labour were given to the parties on 18th April, 1980 in the following terms:

"Mr. Makokha received warning letters but it was verified that he was given seven documents five minutes to the office closing time hence he had no time to process and lodge them to port accounts. Instead he handed the documents to an assistant manager to keep them until the following morning. He should therefore not be blamed for the loss suffered by the company since there were about two people who handed the document before handing it to him. Hence the company should blame the two other employees for their delay. The dismissal was therefore wrongful because Mr. Makokha was not responsible for the incident which triggered off the dismissal.

In view of the aforementioned and the fact that the company is prepared to pay Mr. Makokha all his dues I recommend that he should be paid all his dues and in addition four months' wages as compensation for loss of employment."

The Respondents again rejected the findings and the recommendation and the matter is now before the Court.

During the hearing the Claimants called three witnesses but the Respondents did not call any so the Court is left with two investigations carried out by the Ministry of Labour—one informal and one formal—and the sworn testimony of the Claimants' three witnesses.

The Court finds it established that after the eight sets of documents had been submitted to the Kenya Ports Authority after having been cleared by the Customs only one was accepted and seven were returned due to some discrepancies. They had to be resubmitted with form C 11. Mr. Gonzi received these documents back from the Port and took them straight to the offices of Nedlloyd. Thereafter Mr. Gonzi went back to the Respondents' office for whom he also worked and told the office messenger Kithome that he should go and collect them from Nedlloyd. This was at about 10 a.m. Kithome told the Court that he went twice in the morning on 28th June, 1979—the day in question—to the offices of Nedlloyd but the documents were not ready and he had to go back again at 2 p.m. This time he stayed there and got the documents shortly before 4 p.m. which he brought back to the office and handed them to Mr. Makokha about five to seven minutes to 4 p.m. The Respondents stated that Kithome had collected these documents from Nedlloyd at 2.15 p.m. but unfortunately for them they produced no evidence to support the statement and the Court is left with no alternative but to accept Kithome's evidence.

There is no doubt that once the Customs had cleared the documents they had to be processed in the Respondents' office for the Ports Authority by Mr. Makokha and Omar. Mr. Makokha stated on oath that the documents could be processed either by Omar or himself but these seven documents prior to their submission to the Ports Authority had been processed by Omar. He completely denied that he had processed them and stated that he saw them for the first time when Kithome brought them to him at five to four on the day in question. In view of the letter of warning dated 9th February, 1979 which was jointly addressed to Makokha and Omar the Court finds that both of them were entrusted with the work of processing the documents for lodgment with the Ports account office. The second paragraph of this letter reads as follows:

"Would you please ensure that such sort of silly mistakes are being checked or detected before all the documents are lodged with the port account office."

The Court has very carefully considered the submissions and the evidence in this dispute and finds that the Respondents have produced no arguments or evidence to persuade the Court to go against the findings and recommendation of the Ministry of Labour. The Court accordingly finds that Mr. Makokha has suffered a wrongful dismissal and the Court awards that the Respondents should pay him four months' salary by way of compensation for the wrongful dismissal that he has suffered in addition to his other dues which are wages for the days worked, one month's salary in lieu of notice and any leave due.

Given in Nairobi on the 13th June, 1982.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 26 OF 1982

Parties:

Kenya Plantation & Agricultural Workers' Union
and

Katelembo Athani Muputi Farming & Ranching
Co-operative Society Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Dismissal of Mr. Mwangangi Mbungu.

1. The Kenya Plantation & Agricultural Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Katelembo Athani Muputi Farming & Ranching Co-operative Society Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 24th June, 1982 and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 25th March, 1981 duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 2nd April, 1982 together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The person involved in this dispute, Mr. Mwangangi Mbungu, who was a coffee foreman working for the Respondents started his employment first as a farm labourer on 1st February, 1972. He is also a member of the Respondents in addition to being an employee.

On 13th January, 1979 the Respondents called a general meeting to discuss the possibility of raising money from members to purchase another farm during which meeting Mbungu made certain remarks with the Claimants stating that he cautioned the general meeting that if another farm is bought by the society then extra farm labour would be needed as the present employees are overworked and the Respondents on the other hand claiming that he uttered the following words:

"More workers should be employed as the employees who are there now have worked too much especially in paying loans like the one they have finished paying and they are not prepared to pay another loan."

On 24th January, 1979 he was suspended for using abusive language to his employers and he was placed on half pay. The Respondents then proceeded to make certain investigations and offered him an opportunity to show cause why his services should not be terminated and why he should not be expelled from the membership of the society. They proceeded to terminate his services with effect from 22nd January, 1979 although his letter was dated 31st March. The reasons in the letter of termination were that his output was doubtful because of old age and his irresponsible behaviour on 13th January, 1979 and that he had shown no repentance. He was offered one month's pay in lieu of notice.

The Ministry of Labour carried out their investigations and its findings and recommendation as conveyed to the parties were:

"The management in their submission have at no stage indicated that Mr. Mbungu's work was unsatisfactory. There is no mention of any warning letter being served to him. The problem seems to have stemmed from the members general meeting on 13th January, 1979. The union in its submission state that Mbungu while being an employee of the society was also a member. In that case he was entitled to make his contribution whether constructive or critical as he saw fit.

At the time when Mbungu stood to talk he suggested that if the society wished to purchase another farm there was a dire need of employing extra labour as the current labour force was extremely overworked. This statement has not been denied by the management. Probably the words he might have used in the vernacular did not please some people but surely if that is what he said there is no element of abuse even if he had said so in his capacity as an employee. In their submission the management have admitted that after the statement Mr. Mbungu wrote a letter of apology.

After a careful look at the circumstances of this case and considering that Mr. Mbungu was an elderly person who had served the society for more than six years with a clean record I find the accusation to be extremely trivial which did not deserve such a harsh decision. There is no doubt in mind that Mr. Mbungu suffered a wrongful dismissal.

In view of the foregoing I recommend that Mr. Mbungu be paid six months pay as compensation for wrongful dismissal. In addition he should be paid all his terminal dues."

During the hearing the Claimants changed their prayer and asked for his reinstatement because they alleged that the Respondents had been most unco-operative in the whole dispute and had displayed an unco-operative attitude. They maintained that Mbungu as member of the society was entitled to make his contribution during the annual general meeting and that this was quite distinct from his responsibilities as an employee.

The Respondents strongly submitted that Mbungu's conduct at the general meeting had amounted to an abuse of the management and therefore came under section 17 (d) of the Employment Act and the Respondents were therefore entitled to terminate his services. They further added that as a result of the words that he had uttered they had lost the opportunity of buying another 35,000 acre farm at Taveta and had also lost Sh. 18,000 deposit because after Mbungu had uttered these words there was a general commotion at the meeting and the members refused to contribute any funds.

The Court cannot believe that the words which are attributed to Mbungu having uttered at this meeting as claimed by the Claimants or as alleged by the Respondents would cause an uproar at a meeting with such disastrous consequences. It was up to the Respondents to prove this point both during investigation and during the hearing and they have failed to do so.

The Court appreciates the fact that Mbungu apologized for having made "a nonsensical statement" and considering all facts of this dispute the Court has come to the conclusion that he has suffered a wrongful dismissal because the Respondents' action has indeed been very harsh. The Court, however, finds that he does not deserve reinstatement and accordingly awards that the Respondents should pay him six months' salary by way of compensation in addition to the one month's notice that they have offered him. He is also entitled to any earned leave and days worked for which he has not been paid.

Given in Nairobi the 6th July, 1982.

THE TRADE MARKS ACT

(Cap. 506)

NOTICE is given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the trade marks advertised herein according to the classes may, within 60 days from the date of this Gazette, lodge notice of opposition on Form TM. No. 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of Sh. 50.

Notice is also given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the Registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make if and when it is registered. Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the Registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the Registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him an opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.

Representations of the marks advertised herein can be seen at the Trade Marks Registry, State Law Office, Nairobi.

Applications for registration in Part A of the Register are shown with the official number unaccompanied by any letter. Applications for Part B are distinguished by the letter B prefixed to the official number.
