GENERAL NOTICE No. 2813

CONDITIONS GOVERNING THE GRANTING OF SUBSIDIES FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF STORAGE DAMS

IT IS hereby notified for general information that, with the object of encouraging the development of the water resources of the Colony for agricultural purposes of all kinds by the construction of storage dams, the Government has approved the terms and conditions set out in this notice for the purpose of governing the grant of subsidies for dam construction, with effect from 1st January, 1955.

1. For the purpose of these conditions—

“African farmer” means any member of the African races indigenous to the Colony engaged in farming an agricultural holding of not less than eight acres;

“Agricultural Officer” means any District Agricultural Officer of the Agricultural Department;

“approved” means approved by the Hydraulic Engineer;

“assessed cost” means the total cost of construction of the dam as estimated by the Hydraulic Engineer. This estimate shall be based on the experience of the Government Dam Construction Units and of Government works generally. It shall include the cost of site preparation and foundations, provision of control sluices and spillway and other necessary ancillary works, but not the provision of any pumping apparatus;

“Colony” means the Colony and Protectorate of Kenya;

“Co-operative Society” means a body corporate registered under the Co-operative Societies Ordinance whose members collectively farm not less than 20 acres of agricultural land;

“dam” means a structure built across a depression, or a tank excavated below ground level, for impounding and storing surface water, and includes the ancillary works needed to dispose of flood water, and the conduits and controls necessary for the release of water;

“Dam Construction Unit” means a mechanical dam construction unit financed from public funds;

“farmer” means any member (including a body corporate) of the European, Asian or Arab communities engaged in farming an agricultural holding of not less than 20 acres, and in the absence from the Colony of such a person, includes his agent or representative; it also includes a mortgagee in possession;

“Hydraulic Engineer” means the Hydraulic Engineer of the Public Works Department or his accredited representative.

2. Farmers, African farmers, Co-operative Societies and local authorities may apply for a subsidy for the construction of a dam intended for the conservation of water for agricultural purposes. Applications (which should normally be accompanied by an application for a water permit) shall be on Form P.W.D. No. 409 and should be submitted to the Water Bailiff of the area concerned. It should be noted that the procedure for the granting of water permits by the Water Apportionment Board takes not less than four months to complete but examination of the application for subsidy will be undertaken concurrently.

3. Each application for subsidy shall be in respect of one dam only and shall be accompanied by a fee of Sh. 100 (which is not returnable) to cover, in part, the cost of the technical examination of the application.

4. No subsidy is payable in the following cases:—

- Where no water permit or sanction has been granted for the construction of the dam.
- Where it is found that construction of a dam has commenced prior to the approval of the application for subsidy.
- Where the construction of the dam is to be financed, in whole or in part, by direct grant from Central Government or East Africa High Commission funds.
- Where the total assessed cost of the dam does not exceed £160 in low rainfall areas, or £200 in high rainfall areas.
- Where an applicant has not discharged his liabilities to Government in respect of work carried out previously on his behalf by a Government Dam Construction Unit.

5. Before approving an application for subsidy, the Hydraulic Engineer shall satisfy himself that—

- an agricultural officer has certified that the dam is necessary for the full economic development of the agricultural holding to which the application relates, having regard to the existing water resources of that holding;
- the catchment area and runoff are adequate to fill the dam regularly;
- the design of the dam is sound and its capacity adequate;
- the provisions of the Water Ordinance (1951) and all Rules thereunder have been complied with.

6. When approving an application for subsidy the Hydraulic Engineer shall inform the applicant of the amount of the subsidy to be paid and the assessed cost on which it is based.

7. The approval of a subsidy shall be valid for a period of one year. An extension of the period of validity of the approval will normally be granted if works are still in progress, provided they proceed continuously to completion. If works have not commenced within the year of validity, a new application will have to be made.

8. The Hydraulic Engineer may require that certain additional works be done which, in his opinion, are necessary for the proper security of the dam before payment of subsidy.

9. Payment of subsidy will be made only after the work has been completed to the satisfaction of the Hydraulic Engineer, who shall have the right to inspect the site at any time before, during and after construction in order to check the dimensions, workmanship or any other matter relative to the construction of the dam.

10. The subsidy payable on a completed dam shall be 40 per cent of the assessed cost of the dam in low rainfall zones where the probable annual rainfall is less than 30 in. or 25 per cent of the assessed cost of the dam in high rainfall zones where the probable annual rainfall is 30 in. or above:

Provided that the amount of any subsidy shall be so adjusted as to ensure that the assessed cost of the dam less the subsidy shall not fall below £160 in the case of low rainfall areas, or £200 in the case of high rainfall areas:

And provided that when the construction of the dam is carried out by a Dam Construction Unit the subsidy payable shall not exceed the sum which would be paid if the actual final total cost of construction, and not the assessed cost of the dam, were taken as the basis of calculation for subsidy.

Maps showing the two zones of probable annual rainfall are deposited with each Divisional Hydraulic Engineer, and no appeal against this zoning will be entertained.

11. The subsidy is subject to the following maxima:

- £1,600 in low rainfall zones;
- £1,000 in high rainfall zones.

These maxima may be exceeded in special cases at the discretion of the Minister for Agriculture.

12. If during the course of the works, increased costs or unforeseen difficulties occur, the subsidy payable may be increased at the sole discretion of the Hydraulic Engineer.

13. The Hydraulic Engineer may, as a condition of payment of a subsidy, require the applicant to permit the installation of a staff gauge and raingauge at the dam and to take readings of rainfall and water levels at such intervals and over such a period as may be directed by the Hydraulic Engineer. The gauges will be supplied and installed by the Hydraulic Engineer free of charge. They will remain the property of the Government.

14. Where a Government Dam Construction Unit is used for the construction of a dam, the subsidy, if any, payable shall be deducted from the account submitted in respect of Government Dam Construction Unit charges.
