THE INDUSTRIAL COURT
(Second Division)

CAUSE NO. 14 OF 1965

Parties:

The Kenya Distributive and Commercial Workers'
Union, Claimant
and
The Association of Pharmaceutical Industry, Respondent

Issues in Dispute:

1. Wage Increase.
2. Safari Allowance.
3. Termination and Resignation after three years.
4. Minimum Rates for Grades A, B, C and G.
5. Effective Date.

1. The issues were referred to the Industrial Court for settlement in accordance with the provisions of the Trade Disputes Act, 1965.

The parties were heard in Nairobi on 22nd July 1965. One witness was called by the Respondent. The Claimant did not call any witnesses.

2. The Respondent represents the interests of 21 employers consisting of retail and wholesale businesses and one new factory.

The Claimant's claim concerned—

- (i) the fixing of minimum wage rates for Grades A, B, C and G under the Joint Industrial Council's new Job Classification;
- (ii) where an employee received no increase under the new Job Classification the Claimant asked for a general wage increase for such workers;
- (iii) the current system of reimbursing salesmen all reasonable expenses on production of receipts was no longer acceptable and the Claimant asked for a definite safari allowance based on the cost of meals and overnight stops;
- (iv) the Claimant sought further protection for their workers, and in their demand asked for a three-months' notice, on termination or resignation from the service, for workers who had completed more than three years' service.

Negotiations between the Respondent and the Claimant for a new Agreement were first begun on 5th March 1965 and further meetings were held on 11th, 16th, 19th, 24th and 29th March, 2nd, 6th, 9th and 13th April 1965, when agreement was reached on a majority of items put forward by the Claimant in their letter of 22nd February 1965. As no agreement was possible on certain matters, which also included the effective date of the new agreement, it was agreed at their Joint Industrial Council meeting held on 13th March to refer these matters to the Industrial Court. Copies of the relevant minutes of the Joint Industrial Council meetings were placed before the Court.

3. Wage increase.—Whilst the Claimant approved of Job Classification, the Claimant could not agree, in this particular case, that workers who, because of their previous satisfactory service, had earned merit increases which took them over the minimum wage in their particular grade under the new Job Classification should be denied an increase in wages. It was the Claimant's contention that as the Claimant had made no demands on the Respondent for the past 2½ years, the least the Respondent could do would be to reward those workers who had not benefited from the new Job Classification and wage rates, with a nominal increase of Sh. 35 per month on their current wage rates.

Safari allowance.—The Claimant submitted that their claims for a safari allowance of Sh. 36 was reasonable and was made up as follows:—

	Sh.
Breakfast	3/50
Lunch	5/-
Dinner	7/50, and
Overnight allowance	20/-

The Claimant also referred to their agreement with the D.A.T.A. Group of employers, where employees were entitled to such an allowance.

Salesmen, the Claimant said, were very important to the industry and they should get an adequate safari allowance to provide for a good balanced diet, and proper and safe overnight accommodation for the safety of the employer's goods and cash. Reimbursing a salesman, all reasonable expenses, on production of receipts did not always meet a salesman's actual expenses, as where a salesman spent a night stop with a relation or colleague, no receipt could be produced and yet such hospitality often cost more than hotel accommodation. The Claimant also proposed that salesmen should be advanced some cash when going out; this, the Claimant stated would remove any temptation on the part of the salesman to borrow from the proceeds of their sales.

Termination and Resignation after three years' service.—The Claimant asked that employees who had worked for more than three years' continuous service should be required to give or receive three months' notice to terminate their contract. It was the Claimant's experience that it was always the employee who suffered in cases of termination of service. The Claimant pointed out that their claim for such added security for the worker was nothing unusual as they had such agreements with Kenya Cold Storage Limited, Kenya Meat Commission and Kenya Planters' Co-operative Union.

Minimum Rates for Grades A, B, C and G.—The Claimant's wages proposals to the Respondent were as follows:—

	Sh.
Grade A	1,110/-
Grade B	950/-
Grade C	650/-
Grade G	600/-
Category 1—Factory Process Worker	400/-
Category 2—Factory Assistant Process Worker	350/-
Category 3—Factory Machine Operator	375/-
Category 4—Office Messenger	400/-
Watchmen	375/-
Packers	245/-
Category 6—Labourer	(consolidated)

The Claimant submitted that their proposals were reasonable and were in keeping with wages paid to workers carrying out similar duties in other industries. The Claimant argued that the employer's counter proposals were so much short of the Claimant's proposals and of current rates for these categories of workers that further negotiation was futile. The Court was asked to award the Claimant's minimum rates as above.

Effective date.—It was the Claimant's submission that since the Respondent had had no wage demands from the Claimant for 2½ years (including the period of the Tripartite Agreement), it was reasonable to demand that the Agreement should be back-dated to 1st January 1965. The Claimant also claimed to have raised the issue of wage increases prior to 1st January 1965.

4. The Respondent submitted that the first proposal for revision of existing terms and conditions of service was received in the Claimant's letter of 22nd February 1965. The Respondent said that they were unable to enter into negotiations on terms and conditions at that stage because the Tripartite Agreement had been extended in all respects up to 8th April 1965. But as the Agreement on Fringe Benefits had expired, negotiations commenced on these subjects on 5th March 1965. Negotiations on new wage rates were started on 24th March 1965.

Wage increase.—The Court was asked to note that Job Classification was agreed entirely with the Claimant. The Respondent argued that, to give a wage increase to any worker who was enjoying a higher wage rate than the minimum in his grade just because he had not gained anything through Job Classification did not make sense. Any such wage increase was rejected by the Respondent.

Safari allowance.—The Respondent's case was that the existing Agreement provided for an employee on safari to be reimbursed for his expenses so as not to be out of pocket. It was submitted that the existing system for the reimbursement of reasonable expenses should be continued. However, if the Court decided to fix a definite figure, the Respondent offered an all-in allowance of Sh. 22/50. This was made up as follows:—

	Sh.
Breakfast	1/50
Lunch	3/00
Dinner	4/50
Overnight stop	13/50

The Respondent considered that Sh. 22/50 would cover the difference between the cost of living in Nairobi, and the amount which the employee would have to spend whilst on safari. The Respondent rejected the Claimant's demand for safari allowance of Sh. 36 as being totally unreasonable.

Termination and Resignation after three years.—The Respondent said that they could not agree to the Claimant's demand for three months' notice by either side. They submitted that the custom of one month's notice to junior employees was firmly established in Kenya and asked that the Court should make its award in accordance with established custom.

Minimum Rates for Grades A, B, C and G.—The Respondent submitted that during negotiations every attempt to offer the highest possible rate of wages in the hope of reaching agreement had been made. The Respondent emphasized that the offers which were listed on the reverse of Form "A" (and shown below) were not submitted as a basis for further negotiations but were in fact the highest offers possible. These were:—

	Sh.
Grade A	1,000/-
Grade B	800/-
Grade C	575/-
Grade G
Category 1—Factory Process Worker ..	450/-
Category 2—Factory Assistant Process Worker	320/-
Category 3—Factory Machine Operator ..	250/-
	(consolidated)
Category 4—Office Messenger	235/-
	(consolidated)
Watchmen	255/-
	(consolidated)
Packers	235/-
	(consolidated)
Category 6—Labourer	220/-
	(consolidated)

One witness was called to explain to the Court the duties of—

1. Factory Process Worker,
2. Factory Assistant Process Worker,
3. Factory Machine Operator, and
4. Packers.

Effective date.—The Court was asked to note that the Claimant's demands were first made on 22nd February 1965, and since that date no time had been lost in getting down to negotiations. The Respondent suggested that the award should date from the 1st of the month following that in which it was made—in any case the Respondent submitted that any award could only date from 8th April 1965, at the earliest.
