THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No 72 OF 1974

Parties —

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers

and

Kenya Breweries Ltd

Issue in dispute — Wrongful dismissal of Ogada Ondiek

1 The Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Kenya Breweries Ltd shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents

2 The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 27th day of January, 1975, and relied on their written and verbal submissions. The Respondents called Messrs Thomas Ndungu and Bernard Kitonga Sila to give evidence in Court

AWARD

3 The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 7th August, 1974, was received by the Court on 11th November, along with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner

Mr Ogada Ondiek started working for the Respondents on 2nd October, 1956, as a vehicle attendant and was subsequently promoted to the position of fork lift operator on 1st July, 1972, at a salary of Sh 615 p.m. He was dismissed on 1st February, 1974, for performing his duties carelessly in that he had caused an accident on that day between 9 a.m. and 10 a.m.

The Claimants took up the dispute on his behalf and the matter was the subject of an investigation by the Ministry of Labour and on 16th July, 1974, the Permanent Secretary, Ministry of Labour, forwarded to the parties the following findings and recommendations which he suggested should form the basis for the settlement of this dispute —

Findings

During the investigation evidence was adduced to the effect that there were frequent similar accidents caused by fork lift operators, and in fact one fork lift operator had caused a fatal accident for which he was merely warned. It is therefore logical to assume that had Mr Ondiek only caused the accident he would have been accorded similar treatment as had been accorded previous fork lift operators. But the Management contends that the accident was caused by Mr Ondiek's carelessness. Mr Ondiek could not possibly see Mr Kaniu who was behind him while minding his load of packets. If anything Mr Kaniu was careless

Mr Ondiek, however, should have stopped to see to Mr Kaniu and his omission cannot be easily forgiven

Mr Ondiek's conduct after the accident was, on the face of it, deplorable but when one looks at it from the point of view of simple minded ordinary worker, one can appreciate his excitement at having run over his workmate's leg. In the absence of conclusive evidence that Mr Ondiek was drunk, I am of the opinion that the Management is placing too much importance to his alleged non-co-operation after the accident. I have no doubt that the Management's decision was influenced by Mr Ondiek's post-accident behaviour which, I must agree, did aggravate the first offence

Recommendations

In view of the above I consider that in view of Mr Ondiek's long and clean record of service to the company the decision to dismiss him was excessive. However, Mr Ondiek is to blame to some extent and in this connexion I recommend that —

- Mr Ondiek should be given a warning
- Mr Ondiek should be reinstated to his former or similar job
- The period during which he has been away from work should be treated as leave without pay but Mr Ondiek should not lose any other privilege

During the hearing the Claimants stressed that Mr Ondiek was involved in an accident and that there was no evidence whatsoever to prove that he had come on duty drunk in the morning that day. The Claimants pointed out that Mr Thomas Ndungu who is the Fire and Safety Officer with the Respondents did not introduce himself to Mr Ondiek when he asked him to accompany him to the clinic. It was for this reason that Mr Ondiek refused to go with him and walked away

The Claimants further explained that Mr Ondiek did not stop after the accident because he thought that he would first go and convey the load to the store. Later on when he returned he learned that the injured worker had been taken to hospital where he was confined for a week

The Claimants cited a couple of other incidents where fork lift operators had been involved in accidents but had not been punished so severely as to be dismissed like Mr Ondiek

The Respondents gave the details of the accident whereby Mr Ondiek had knocked down a fellow worker thereby occasioning him serious injuries, i.e. a broken leg. Mr Ondiek never stopped to care for the injured colleague, and it was also suspected that Mr Ondiek was under the influence of alcohol, but he refused to submit himself for a blood test to establish the truth and instead ran away. He was therefore dismissed for performing his duties carelessly as a result of which another employee was seriously injured

The Court is satisfied on the evidence produced that Mr Ondiek was involved in an accident in which another worker was injured. The Court is also satisfied that Mr Ondiek did not immediately stop to tend to the injured person and came to this scene later when the injured worker had already been taken to the clinic. The Court also believes that Mr Ondiek did not go with the Fire and Safety Officer when he asked him to accompany him to the clinic which in Mr Ndungu's words "was to follow the injured man"

The Court finds this rather interesting because if Mr Ondiek was suspected of being under the influence of drink then Mr Ndungu should have clearly told him that he was to be taken to the clinic for a medical examination. Mr Ndungu told the Court that this was what he had in mind but he never conveyed this to Mr Ondiek. Moreover, Mr Ondiek did not run away but just walked away from Mr Ndungu's car and remained in the vicinity

The Court appreciates the Respondents' submission that accidents just don't happen and that they are caused. There is no doubt that Mr Ondiek did reverse the fork lift he was driving with negligence in that he did not ascertain if the way was clear. He has also displayed callous attitude in that he did not bother to find out the consequences of his negligent act

The Court places considerable reliance on the Investigator's findings although there are a couple of errors but these errors are not so perverse as to persuade the Court to reject the Investigator's findings completely

The Court, however, is not prepared to accept the recommendations of the Investigator that Mr Ondiek should be reinstated to his former or a similar job. The Court is of the view that although the Respondents' action in dismissing Mr Ondiek was harsh under the circumstances he does not merit a reinstatement.

After careful consideration of all the submissions the Court finds that Mr Ondiek should not have been summarily dismissed and the Court awards that his termination should be reduced to normal termination under clause 24 so that he does not forfeit his benefits which he has earned during his 16 years' service with the Respondents under clause 26 (c) of the collective agreement.

Parties —

Kenya Union of Commercial Food & Allied Workers'
and

Embu District Co operative Union Ltd

Issue in dispute —

Victimization of the Branch Chairman, Timothy Kanyua, being terminated

1 The Kenya Union of Commercial Food & Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Embu District Co operative Union Ltd, shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents

2 The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 19th day of February, 1975, and relied on their written and verbal submissions

AWARD

3 The Notification of Dispute Form A dated 10th September, 1974, was received by the Court on 20th November, along with the statutory certificates signed by the Labour Commissioner and the Minister for Labour

The Claimants have brought this dispute to the Court on behalf of the branch chairman of their union branch at Embu who they allege had been victimized by the Respondents and had suffered unfair and wrongful termination at their hands

The facts of the dispute are that Mr Timothy Kanyua was employed by the Respondents as a watchman at Embu on 2nd September, 1969, at a starting salary of Sh 125 per month. It is immaterial to the dispute whether he himself asked for this job or the Respondents pressed him to come and work for them. What is important, however, is the fact that he was entitled to either a free house or to housing allowance of Sh 30 per month.

The Court was told that Mr Kanyua had worked for the Respondents previously also sometime in 1963 and he was dismissed in 1965 when a new co operative officer was posted to the District who brought a lot of changes.

On 11th June, 1971, Mr Kanyua wrote to the Respondents Manager that he be considered for the housing allowance entitlement as he was not housed by the Respondents. The Respondents, however, maintained that he was housed and therefore was not entitled to a housing allowance.

The Court is satisfied that Mr Kanyua was not housed because the temporary structure which the Respondents claim to be the house that was allocated to Mr Kanyua can by no stretch of imagination be considered to be a house. This fact is borne out by a Ministry of Labour Conciliator who looked into Mr Kanyua's claim for a housing allowance.

The Claimants having taken the matter to conciliation managed to get an undertaking from the Respondents representative that he would get the approval of the Respondents' Management Committee to the payment of Sh 750 by way of housing allowance to Mr Kanyua and he was to communicate the Management Committee's decision to the Conciliator not later than 19th August 1972.

It transpired that the Management Committee of the Respondents while deciding to pay Sh 750 as aforesaid to Mr Kanyua also decided as follows —

In view of the strained relationship coupled with the fact that Mr Kanyua was in fact housed although the standard of the house was questioned, he be transferred to the Respondents second godown in Sagana where he would be properly housed.

The Respondents communicated this decision to the Claimants in two letters, one on 23rd August, 1972, and another one on 28th September, 1972.

In the meantime on 18th August, 1972, the Respondents wrote to Mr Kanyua about his transfer with effect from 21st August, 1972, to Sagana where he would be given free house accommodation and thereby his house allowance would be stopped. Mr Kanyua refused to go on transfer on the ground that he had a big family and he had also to look after his nine acre plot in which he grew coffee and kept some cattle. He pointed out that his transfer to Sagana would be a great hardship to him.

On 21st October, 1972, the Respondents terminated his services on the ground that he had committed an offence of insubordination as he had failed to report for duty as directed by the Respondents' Management Committee on 18th August, 16th September and 17th October, 1972.

This dispute was a subject matter of investigation by the Ministry of Labour and although an investigator was appointed on 20th July, 1973, the Permanent Secretary's recommendations were not communicated to the parties until 22nd August, 1974. The findings and recommendation were as follows —

Findings

- Mr Kanyua first claimed arrears of housing allowance which were paid, because the house he was living in was unsuitable for human habitation. This seems to be the beginning of trouble as evidenced by the actions of the management.
- Mr Kanyua in a letter to him headed "House Allowance" had his allowance stopped and transferred to another station. Mr Kanyua did not go on transfer as directed even though the time was extended. The efforts made by him and his union to have the transfer cancelled were fruitless.
- The management terminated his services for refusing to obey instruction. The union on the other hand claim that the termination was victimization because of his trade union activities as chairman of the union's branch. I do not agree with the union in this respect but feel that the action by management was as a result of his house allowance claim.
- Though he disobeyed instructions to go on transfer, it is my considered opinion that the management were victimizing him especially so when another person was employed in his place and was not transferred.

Recommendation

I am of the opinion that though the termination was not proper reinstatement will not be in the interest of both parties. I therefore recommend that Mr Kanyua be paid all terminal benefits, if this has not yet been done, plus two months wages as compensation for the improper termination of services.

The Claimants strongly submitted that Mr Kanyua had been victimized for having claimed housing allowance and that the Respondents' intention of transferring him to Sagana was to deprive him of his housing allowance entitlement and also to make it difficult for him as the union's branch chairman to carry out his union duties effectively from a place which was 24 miles away from Embu.

The Respondents on the other hand denied that they had been influenced by Mr Kanyua's position in the union in their decision to terminate his services, the sole reason being the disobedience of their orders by Mr Kanyua which had left them with no other alternative but to exercise their right as an aggrieved party to treat the contract of Mr Kanyua's employment discharged.

After a careful consideration of all the submissions the Court has come to the conclusion that this is not a case where it can be said that an employer has exercised his prerogative of transferring the employee because taking all the circumstances into consideration the attempted transfer of Mr Kanyua from Embu to Sagana was not a normal transfer. It was not therefore a legitimate exercise of an employer's right of transfer. There was indeed an ulterior motive in this transfer and that was, on the Respondents own admission, to stop the payment of housing allowance to Mr Kanyua.

The Court is of the view that Mr Kanyua under the circumstances had every justification to refuse to go on transfer and to seek the assistance of the Claimants in this matter. The Court also cannot rule out the possibility that the Respondents thought it to be a good opportunity of pushing out the Claimants' Embu branch chairman to a place from where he would find it difficult, if not impossible, to carry out his union activities.

The Court would like to add that employees, particularly working for the co-operative unions in the country should enjoy full security of employment at all times and their employment should not be in jeopardy when the co-operative unions office bearers change. The employees should not be made to suffer because a set of co-operative officials have lost office and others who have taken over are desirous of bringing in their own people for employment.

In this dispute, had it come before the Court earlier, the Court would have had no hesitation in ordering Mr Kanyua's reinstatement to his job but since over two years have elapsed since he lost his employment and the Court having found that he had suffered an unfair and wrongful dismissal, the Court awards him full one year's salary by way of compensation for the wrongful termination that he has suffered. The Court was told that his monthly salary at the time he was dismissed was Sh 175 per month plus housing allowance of Sh 30. The Court awards that he should be paid 12 months' salary without the housing allowance. This would amount to Sh 2,100.

THE TRADE MARKS ACT

(Cap 506)

NOTICE is hereby given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the trade marks advertised herein according to the classes may, within 60 days from the date of this Gazette, lodge notice of opposition on Form T.M. No 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of Sh 50.

Notice is also hereby given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the Registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make if and when it is registered. Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the Registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the Registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him any opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.

Representations of the marks advertised herein can be seen at the Trade Marks Registry, State Law Office, Nairobi.
