THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 9 OF 1987

Parties:

Bakery, Confectionery, Manufacturing and Allied Workers' Union (K)
and

The Wrigley Company (East Africa) Limited

Issue in dispute:

Wilful underpayment of Messrs. Stanley K. Njue, George N. Mbithi, Justus K. Okole and Zefania Marudi under the C.B.A. effective from 1st September, 1984.

THE Bakery, Confectionery, Manufacturing and Allied Workers' Union (K) shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and the Wrigley Company (East Africa) Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 28th August, 1987 and 1st October, 1987, respectively and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 7th November, 1986, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 3rd February, 1987, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The parties entered into a C.B.A. on 5th September, 1985, which became effective from 1st September, 1984. The present dispute arose from the parties misunderstanding in slotting the four grievants in job grades as per their own collective agreement. The claimants would like all the grievants slotted in higher job grades while the respondents feel these workers are properly slotted in proper job grades.

The claimants informed the court that Stanley K. Njue and George Mbithi were classified as management staff, but when the level of union representation was raised, the parties met to review the situation as a result of which six new grades, new job titles and new pay rates were created in the collective agreement.

During these negotiations, the parties agreed on the following formula to incorporate the new job grades and had in mind the following determining factors:

- (i) Amount of education with regard to academic and/or professional achievements of the holders of the jobs.
- (ii) Responsibility exercised.
- (iii) Degree of skill exercised.
- (iv) Conditions of work.
- (v) Physical effort demanded, etc.

As a result of the parties understanding employees were slotted in proper grades and paid arrears except Mr. Njue and Mr. Mbithi. No reasons were given by the respondents to justify their grading or the refusal to pay them their arrears. The claimants took up the matter on their behalf with the respondents but failed to solve the dispute and hence the matter is now before the court.

The claimants tabled the parties' collective agreement dated 23rd January, 1985, showing job grades, professional qualifications and basic minimum wages for each grade. The claimants then explained the position regarding the four grievants as follows:

Stanley K. Njue:

The claimants stated that Mr. Njue is a holder of a higher national diploma in food technology and according to the said parties' collective agreement should have been slotted in grade 12 from 1st September, 1984. Surprisingly the respondents slotted Mr. Njue in grade 11A and was termed as a "quality control assistant", a job description which does not exist in the agreement. Grade 11A is for supervisors, accounting and machine operators, and has therefore no relevance to what Mr. Njue does, the claimants stated. Further, the claimants stated that Mr. Njue being a holder of a higher national diploma is a senior technician and that, therefore his rightful position should be a senior technician falling under grade 12 of the parties' agreement. The claimants prayed the court to put Mr. Njue in his rightful grade and he should be paid all the underpayments from 1st September, 1984 to date.

George N. Mbithi:

The claimants told the court that Mr. Mbithi is a holder of technician certificate part III in mechanical engineering, a fact which is not disputed at all. According to the parties' agreement, Mr. Mbithi should have been slotted in job grade 11B. The claimants further stated that the respondents wilfully and wrongfully graded Mr. Mbithi as a plant maintenance mechanic, a job title which is non-existing as per the collective agreement and placed him in job grade 10 which is a grade for technician part II. The claimants prayed the court to have Mr. Mbithi slotted in his rightful grade 11B with effect from 1st September, 1984, and he should be paid all the underpayments due to him.

Justus K. Okole:

The claimants told the court that Mr. Okole is a holder of a Government trade test certificate grade II. Even though the respondents have been aware of Mr. Okole's qualifications, they wrongfully termed him as ungraded artisan and slotted him in grade 4 which is a grade for untested artisans. The claimants prayed the court to have Mr. Okole slotted in job grade 6 with underpayments due to him paid with effect from 1st September, 1984.

Zefania Marudi:

The claimants told the court that Mr. Marudi was employed by the respondents in 1982 as a coater helper. Over the years Mr. Marudi was trained on the job as a coater and eventually made in-charge of a coating shift. The claimants stated that the respondents kept Mr. Marudi on a prolonged training on-the-job according to their records and underpaid him while records prove otherwise for Mr. Marudi is in charge of a coating shift. The claimants further stated that when Mr. Marudi approached the respondents in 1986 with regard to being graded as a coater, the respondents wrote back to Mr. Marudi telling him that he was still training on-the-job. The claimants wondered whether an employee with 6 years service in that very same job and in charge of a shift could still be classified as a trainee on the job. The claimants felt that the respondents have exploited this worker for too long he being a qualified coater for four years. The claimants demanded that Mr. Marudi be slotted in job grade 6 with effect from 1st September, 1984, and be paid all the underpayments due to him.

The respondents submitted that while negotiating the 1984/86 C.B.A. agreement was reached on new gradings, some of which would affect future employment, and also raised the minimum salaries for 6 supervisors. The respondents also conceded that not all job titles appear on the job grading in the C.B.A. but that where this was the case, the respondents have slotted such jobs at the equivalent grades. The respondents denied that during negotiations some job titles were abolished. The respondents submitted on the 4 employees alleged as improperly graded as follows:

Stanley K. Njue:

The respondents stated that Njue was employed and engaged as a quality control assistant in 1979, a title he holds to date. He was placed in grade 11A after the 1984/86 C.B.A. in which also fall supervisor, and accounting machine operator (except engineering). The respondents stated that Mr. Njue supervises only 3 artisans while the position in which the claimants wanted Mr. Njue placed had 15 artisans under him for supervision, and also that there was no vacant post for an extra supervisor in that section.

George N. Mbithi:

The respondents stated that Mr. Mbithi was employed on 24th May, 1982, as a plant maintenance mechanic at the salary of KSh. 3,500 per month. He is in grade 10 and reports to the senior maintenance mechanic who is in grade 11B. The respondents stated that Mr. Mbithi is undergoing training on boiler repairs and maintenance and until he ends the course successfully he cannot be slotted in grade 11B as demanded.

Justus K. Okole:

The respondents stated that Mr. Okole was employed on 15th October, 1979, as a junior mechanic. His duties include amongst others, basic lubrication and cleaning machines, greases all nipples on the machines and oils driving chair(s). The respondents claim Mr. Okole does not qualify for the grade demanded by the claimants compared with his performance.

Zefania Marudi:

The respondents stated that Mr. Marudi was employed on 1st June, 1982, as a coater helper and subsequently promoted to grade 2 due to his initiative, the grade he holds to date. Mr. Marudi is undergoing coater training on the job and the manager is awaiting approval by the management to promote

Mr. Marudi to a coater. The respondents denied that Mr. Marudi was in charge of a coating shift.

After careful consideration of the parties submissions, the court finds that the parties met and discussed the level of union representation and as a result of the meeting, the parties drew a supplementary agreement creating 6 new grades, 9 new job titles and new pay rates were included in this agreement which the parties voluntarily signed on 23rd January, 1985. The parties agreed that employees earning basic salaries less than the minimum basic rates shown for their grade shall first have their salaries adjusted to agree with the one shown for their grades and thereafter earn their first increment based on the minimum basic salary.

The court has decided to make the following award in respect of each of the four employees concerned as follows:

Stanley K. Njue:

The court awards that Mr. Njue be slotted in job grade 11b with effect from 1st September, 1984, and in job grade 12 with effect from 1st September, 1985, and he should be paid all underpayments due to him as a result of this award.

George N. Mbithi:

The court awards that Mr. Mbithi be slotted in job grade 11a with effect from 1st September, 1985, and he be paid all the underpayments due to him as a result of this award.

Justus K. Okole:

The court awards that Mr. Okole be slotted in job grade 6 with effect from 1st September, 1985, and he should be paid all underpayments due to him as a result of this award.

Zefania Marudi:

The court is satisfied that Mr. Marudi is a coater. This is evident from a document written by no other person than the production manager himself that Mr. Marudi was in charge of a coating shift as far back as April 1986. The court therefore awards that Mr. Marudi be slotted in job grade 6 with effect from 1st April, 1986, and be paid all the underpayments due to him as a result of this award.

Given in Nairobi on 28th October, 1987.
