National Engineering Works—Cause No. 53/66

Issues in dispute:—

(a) Wages.

(b) Annual Leave.

(c) Leave Travelling Allowance.

(d) Gratuity Scheme.

(e) Sick Leave.

1. The Kenya Engineering Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and the aforesaid 13 Employers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. By consent of the Parties all the above disputes were consolidated and heard together in Mombasa on the 1st day of September 1966. The Parties relied on their written and verbal submissions.

GENERAL BACKGROUND

3. The Respondents had organized themselves into an Iron Repairs Group and had affiliated to the Federation of Kenya Employers late in 1965, and had recognized the Claimants on 14th October 1965. Between November 1965, and January 1966, the representatives of the Group and the Claimants, under the chairmanship of the Secretary of Coast Branch of the Federation of Kenya Employers, met and agreement was reached on the following demands:—

1. Minimum Wage for Manual Labourers.
2. Hours of Work.
3. Overtime.
4. Medical Treatment.
5. Probation Period.
6. Termination of Service.
7. Accommodation and Meal Allowance.
8. Redundancy Procedure.
9. Duration of the Agreement.

The following items, however, were not agreed upon:—

1. Annual Leave.
2. Leave Travelling Allowance.
3. Gratuity.
4. Sick Leave.
5. Fundis' Wages.

On the 5th of May 1966, the Respondents dissolved their Group and disaffiliated from the Federation of Kenya Employers. The Claimants were informed of this and were advised by the Federation of Kenya Employers to pursue their demands with the Respondents on individual basis. The Claimants reported the existence of a dispute to the Permanent Secretary, Ministry of Labour on 11th June 1966. The Ministry accepted the dispute on 28th June 1966, and advised the Parties to refer the matter directly to the Industrial Court as it was felt that no useful purpose would be served by offering them conciliation facilities. The Parties signed the notification of dispute form to the Industrial Court on 18th July 1966, in accordance with the Trade Disputes Act 1965.

MAIN SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF THE CLAIMANTS

4. (a) Wages.—The Claimants submitted that, they had forwarded to the Respondents a job classification together with the proposed rates of pay against each job, but the Respondents, after studying the list, were of the opinion that percentage increase in wages on a proportionate scale would meet the case as the jobs carried out by skilled and semi-skilled workers were not considered classifiable. The Claimants demanded a wage increase of Sh. 50 for employees earning above the agreed minimum wage of Sh. 200 per month as they had agreed at a joint meeting with the Respondents to raise the minimum wage from Sh. 150 to Sh. 200 consolidated per month. The reason for this increase was that the cost of living had risen and this wage was comparable with wages found in other similar firms and industries in Kenya. The Claimants stated that this Sh. 50 increase should be reflected in the wages of all employees because differential in wages due to skill, experience, merit and long service should be maintained. The Claimants pointed out that the Respondents dissolved their Group before they could make a counter offer on their proposals. The Claimants were very critical of the Respondents' action and stated that they were the worst type of employers in the country. The Claimants submitted that, the current wages which were being paid by the Respondents ranged from Sh. 200 to about Sh. 410 per month whereas, in fact, these should have been between Sh. 740 to Sh. 1,000 per month.

The Claimants also drew the Court's attention to the fact that most of the Respondents employed a large number of casual labourers since last two or three years without offering them regular employment. The Claimants also criticised the Respondents for having disaffiliated from the Federation of Kenya Employers and stated that, there was absolutely no reason for the Respondents to do so. The Claimants contended that their demand had been made after taking into consideration the fact that these Respondents were small family type businesses and could not compete with big firms like Kenya Casements, but they alleged that Sh. 200 per month was being paid by the Respondents to semi-skilled employees. The Claimants produced the minutes of the various meetings which had been held with the Respondents when they were acting in a Group. The Claimants also submitted to the Court the agreement which they had entered into with the Minor Engineering Employers' Group of the Federation of Kenya Employers in support of their demands.

(b) Annual Leave.—The Claimants submitted that, their demand for an annual paid leave of 18 working days after one year of service was reasonable and pointed out that the Respondents had, during negotiations, offered 18 consecutive days. The difference between the Parties was very small and if negotiations had continued at that time, a compromise would have been reached. The Claimants drew the Court's attention to its award in Cause No. 7 of 1964 (Kenya Engineering Workers' Union and Engineering and Allied Industries Employers' Association) which supported their demand.

(c) Leave Travelling Allowance.—The Claimants demanded a leave travelling allowance of 40 per cent of monthly salary of an employee to be paid to him when he proceeded on annual leave and stated that, the principle of granting leave travelling allowance had been agreed upon between the Parties; the dispute remained only on the amount of such allowance. The Claimants had demanded Sh. 60 as against the Respondents' offer of Sh. 15. The Claimants cited the following Industrial Court Causes in support of their demands:—

Cause No. 14 of 1964

Kenya Chemical Workers' Union, and Elephant Soap Factory Limited.

Cause Nos. 2, 30 and 33 of 1965

Kenya Distributive and Commercial Workers' Union, and Kenya Farmers' Association (Co-op.) Limited.

Kanjee Naranjee (Kenya) Limited.

A. J. Millar and Son Limited.

Cause No. 48 of 1965

Brewing and Bottling Workers' Union, and

Brewing and Bottling Association of Kenya (Bottling Group).

(d) Gratuity Scheme.—The Claimants submitted that they had demanded the payment of gratuity to various employees as follows:—

From 1 to 5 years' service—1 week's pay for each completed year.

From 5 to 10 years' service—1½ weeks' pay for each completed year.

After 10 years' service—2 weeks' pay for each completed year.

The Claimants stated that, the Respondents at the first meeting had agreed to adopt the agreement between the Kenya Engineering Workers' Union and Minor Engineering Employers' Group of the Federation of Kenya Employers, which was as follows:—

"(a) Up to 7 years—1 week's pay for each completed year of service.

Thereafter

(b) 8th year and above—2 weeks' pay for each completed year of service."

(Extract from the Claimants' memorandum).

The Claimants argued that, there was no reason why the Respondents should not accept the same arrangements instead of offering 10 days' pay for every 5 years' service back-dated to January 1960 only. The Claimants stated that, it had already been agreed with the Respondents that the gratuity would cease with the implementation of the National Social Security Fund.

(e) Sick Leave.—The Claimants demanded a sick leave of 30 days on full pay followed by 30 days on half pay in any period of 12 months' service, while the Respondents had offered 15 days on full pay with 15 days on half pay in any one year. The Claimants submitted the agreements which they had entered into with the Engineering and Allied Industries Employers' Association in support of their demand.

In conclusion the Claimants submitted that, the Respondents had agreed in principle to the five disputed items and had given their counter offers during negotiations and now after dissolving the Group, they were trying to get out of this agreement. The Claimants requested the Court to take a serious view of the Respondents' behaviour and further requested their demands be awarded in full.

MAIN SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF THE RESPONDENTS

5. (a) Wages.—The Respondents conceded that they had agreed to a minimum wage of Sh. 200 per month consolidated to be paid to those employees already in service, who were 21 years and above, but submitted that, higher wages were already being paid to the various employees according to their experience and ability. The Respondents submitted that, it was very difficult to carry out a job classification in their small workshops as in some cases the owner was working himself with only one assistant.

The Respondents stated that, they were not satisfied with the manner in which negotiations were being conducted on their behalf by the Federation of Kenya Employers, Coast Province, and they therefore, decided to resign from the Federation and work through their own Public Relations Officer. The Respondents denied that, they were bad employers and stated that, they were paying their employees reasonable wages commensurate with the type of work they did. The Respondents stated that, their relations with their employees were extremely cordial but the Claimants were trying to disturb them. They further submitted that they had always fully complied with and were always willing to comply with various directives from the Ministry of Labour.

The Respondents requested the Court to be considerate to them as their businesses were very small and they were hardly earning anything. The Respondents argued that, they were not big engineering establishments and the Claimants' unreasonable and exorbitant demands, if granted, would lead to some of them going out of business. The Respondents stated that, they employed a total number of 48 employees both Asians and Africans and with their limited resources, they had to compete with big and well established engineering firms. The fact that although some of them had been in business for the last 15 years and employed only two or three employees proved that they were not doing good business. The Respondents gave details of some of the wages being paid to their semi-skilled and skilled artisans which were above Sh. 200 and which the Respondents submitted were adequate remuneration for the time being. In these circumstances the Respondents requested the Court to make a nil award on this issue.

The Respondents denied that they had engaged casual labourers for two to three years and stated that, these employees were taken on only when there was any exceptional work to be done in a great hurry.

(b) Annual Leave.—The Respondents denied that they had ever suggested 18 consecutive days' annual leave per year and stated that, they could afford only 14 consecutive days' leave in any one year, and requested the Court to make an award to this effect.

(c) Leave Travelling Allowance.—The Respondents strongly resisted an award under this item and stated that they could not afford it.

(d) Gratuity Scheme.—The Respondents submitted that, they were in business in such a small way that they could not afford to introduce any gratuity scheme; they had no funds available, but would be prepared to discharge their obligations under the National Social Security Fund. They requested the Court to make a nil award under this issue.

(e) Sick Leave.—The Respondents requested the Court to make an award of 15 days' sick leave on full pay and 15 days' on half pay in any one year and submitted that, this would be reasonable for them.

AWARD

6. After a careful consideration of all the submissions made by the Parties, the Court finds that, during negotiations carried on between the Claimants and the Respondents as a Group through the Federation of Kenya Employers, a certain measure of agreement had been reached between the Parties. The Court, therefore, is not prepared to let the Respondents back out of the concessions which they made to the Claimants during these negotiations.

(a) Wages

- (i) The Court awards a minimum wage of Sh. 200 per month consolidated with effect from 1st March 1966.
- (ii) An employee whose wages are above the said minimum shall get an increase of Sh. 25 with effect from 1st March 1966, provided that if an employee has received an increase after the 1st of March 1966, then such an employee shall get an increase of Sh. 10 only.

The Court has been constrained to make the effective date as 1st March 1966, because if the Respondents had not disaffiliated from the Federation of Kenya Employers, the negotiations would have been finalized by February 1966. As a result of this disaffiliation, there has been all this delay for which the blame rests on the Respondents only.

(b) Annual Leave.—The Court awards 18 consecutive days' annual paid leave after the completion of 12 months' continuous service.

(c) Leave Travelling Allowance.—The Court awards leave travelling allowance as follows:—

- (a) An employee proceeding on annual leave shall be paid a sum of Sh. 30 leave travelling allowance.
- (b) If an employee is requested by his employer to take money instead of leave days, then such employee will be paid Sh. 30 leave travelling allowance, but where an employee at his own request elects to sell his leave days, then he will not be eligible to the allowance.

(d) Gratuity Scheme.—The Court awards the following gratuity scheme:—

- (a) An employee on completion of four years' continuous service with the Respondents shall be entitled to 10 days' pay for every completed year of service by way of gratuity to be based on the employee's wages at the time of the termination of his service.
- (b) An employee who is dismissed for misconduct shall not be entitled to gratuity.
- (c) The effective date for the purpose of working out the benefits under this scheme shall be 1st January 1960, i.e. an employee shall not be entitled to any gratuity for services prior to 1st January 1960.
- (d) This scheme shall cease with the implementation of the National Social Security Fund. Employees shall, however, continue to benefit under this award for services rendered up to the date of the implementation of the National Social Security Fund; for example, if an employee who started working in 1963 retires after eight years of service, then he shall be provided for the years of service up to the commencement of the National Social Security Fund on the basis of this award.

(e) Sick Leave.—The Court awards that, after the completion of the probationary period and subject to the production of a certificate of incapacity covering any period claimed signed by a qualified medical practitioner, an employee shall be entitled to sick leave with pay in any one year as follows:—

- (i) 1st 15 days on full pay, and the
- (ii) next 15 days on half pay.
