GAZETTE NOTICE No 3508

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No 40 OF 1975

Parties —

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers
and
Distributive and Allied Trades Association

Issues in dispute —

- 1 Wages
- 2 Annual leave
- 3 Sick leave
- 4 Maternity leave
- 5 Medical facilities
- 6 Transportation
- 7 Effective date

1 The Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and the Distributive and Allied Trades Association shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents

2 The parties were heard in Nairobi on 15th and 16th September, 1975, and relied on their written and verbal submissions

AWARD

3 The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 26th June, 1975, was received by the Court on 10th July, along with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner

This dispute relates to the employees of some 49 firms who are subject to a collective agreement between the parties effective from 1st December, 1971, for a period of three years. It is apparent that thousands of employees are affected by this dispute

The parties appeared before the Court last year vide Cause No 54/74 and on 20th December, 1974, the Court made the following award —

"The Court having considered the parties' written submissions and after having had discussions with the parties' representatives, the Court awards an interim wage increase of 10 per cent to all the workers involved in the dispute with effect from 1st December 1974

The Court further directs the parties that since the collective agreement between them has already expired they should embark on immediate negotiations with a view to revising it including the wage/salary clause

The interim increase granted shall be taken into consideration during negotiations but the effective date is to be considered as being open for negotiations

In the event of deadlock the parties will come back to Court on a fresh dispute "

Subsequently the parties embarked on comprehensive negotiations for revising the aforesaid collective agreement and the matter was subject of conciliation proceedings and at one stage agreement particularly on the question of wages was almost resolved. In fact the Respondents strongly submitted that the issue of wages was definitely settled and an agreement reached thereon at a conciliation meeting held on 10th June, 1975, under the chairmanship of A S Andele. The Claimants, however, denied that any agreement was reached and stated that what the Respondents alleged was an agreement was nothing more than their proposals.

The Court while agreeing to some extent with the Respondents' submission that the Claimants had conducted negotiations in bad faith, cannot help in the absence of a clearly written and signed agreement during a conciliation meeting an agreement as binding on the parties.

During the hearing both the parties made very interesting and stimulating submissions on the economy of the country generally and the manner in which the fruits of the growth in the economy should be shared between the workers and a certain small section of the community who it is alleged were benefitting the most from such growth.

Briefly the Claimants submitted that the workers were entitled to a wage increase of 51 per cent simply because the cost of living had gone up by that amount during the period under review. They contended that they had been given this right under the Guidelines issued by the Minister for Finance to the Industrial Court and the Respondents could not escape their liability in respect thereof.

The Respondents on the other hand strongly pleaded that due to the current economic climate the question before them was not by how much they should increase the wages of their employees but how they could guarantee them their jobs, in other words they pleaded inability to pay to a certain extent.

The analysis carried out by the Employment Promotion Division at the request of the Court states as follows —

'From the information provided by the parties, it appears that 1st December, 1972, is the latest date of revision of wages, and since that date the costs-of-living have gone up by 50.6 per cent (excluding the effect of indirect taxes) up to August, 1975, for which the official index figures are available. The increases which were given to the employees as at 1st December, 1972, on the average amount to 5.52 per cent ranging between 4 and 8 per cent for the higher and lower paid groups respectively. A further increase of 10 per cent was granted following the interim Court Award on Cause No 54/74 to be effective from 1st December, 1974. Thus the total wage increase granted to the employees since December, 1972, on the average amount to 15.52 per cent as against the ceiling of 50.6 per cent with reference to Guideline (iv). The increase in the lowest group amounts to 27 per cent during the same period. The Claimants' demand on wages would increase the wages and salaries costs by 58.6 per cent (including the demand for GDP/capita compensation). In addition, the increased annual leave days will give a further improvement of 1.4 per cent in terms of annual costs, on sick leave, the Claimants demand 100 per cent improvement, but it is not possible to determine with any degree of accuracy how many and to what extent employees take advantage of such benefits. However, this demand would certainly have some impact on the financial position of the Respondents.'

The Employment Promotion Division further report that the GDP in real terms had actually declined by approximately 2.2 per cent which leaves no room for any compensation on account of growth in the economy.

After careful consideration of all the submissions made by the parties, written and verbal, and bearing in mind the Guidelines issued by the Minister for Finance to the Industrial Court the Court makes the following award on the issues in dispute —

1 Wages—The Court awards that all workers affected by this dispute should receive the following wage increases —

- (i) 10 per cent wage increase with a minimum of Sh 50 with effect from 1st December, 1974 (this increase has already been awarded by the Court and the only addition is a proviso regarding the minimum of Sh 50)
- (ii) A further 8 per cent wage increase with effect from 1st May, 1975
- (iii) Another increase of Sh 60 p.m. to each worker with effect from 1st December, 1975

2 Annual leave—The Court is not inclined to disturb the present arrangement which is set out hereinbelow for the time being. The Claimants' demands are therefore rejected.

"An employee shall be entitled to 21 working days' paid annual leave after the completion of 12 months' continuous service. The calculation of this leave shall not include Gazetted Public Holidays.

3 Sick leave—The Court awards that the present provision on this item should be amended to increase the employees' entitlement in any 12 months to 45 days' sick leave on full pay and to the next 45 days of sickness on half pay. All the other provisions to remain as at present.

4 Maternity leave—This issue has been given anxious thought by the Court because of the fact that H.E. the President has decreed paid maternity leave for female employees in the Civil Service. Although H.E. the President has made it clear that the decree was in respect of civil servants only, the fact remains that the unions have taken up this concession to the civil servants with their respective employers with a view to bringing female employees in the private sector at par with the Civil Service employees in respect of maternity leave.

The Court stated in an earlier award in Cause No 32/75 that the question of maternity benefits was being discussed to extend the National Social Security Fund (NSSF) benefits to cover maternity leave once females commence to contribute to the Fund and the Court recorded that it was satisfied that this matter is before the NSSF Advisory Council.

In view of the aforesaid circumstances regarding maternity leave the Court feels that before it proceeds to make any award on the lines as decreed by H.E. the President for civil servants the private sector should be given an opportunity of getting the benefits under NSSF extended to maternity leave. The Court is of the view that a period of two years would be long enough to see what developments, if any, take place in the extension of the NSSF benefits in respect of maternity leave.

The Court therefore rules that the following current agreement should continue for the time being —

"Maternity leave shall be considered as sickness, and female employees who are on the permanent establishment shall be entitled to the balance of any sick leave given under the current terms and conditions of service and which is unexpired in the year of employment. Any further absence from a total of 12 weeks in respect of childbirth shall be without pay. Female employees shall be entitled to this benefit after completion of one year's unbroken service."

6 Transportation—On this issue the Court must point out that the parties did not substantiate their respective positions with proper and adequate evidence.

The Respondents stated that only one member operated a 24-hour shift roster and this member has provided for transportation of employees whose shifts either start or end at midnight. This member, however, has been requested to resign from D.A.T.A. by the Claimants on completion of the member's factory on the strength that the company will no longer be in distributive business having turned into a manufacturing concern.

The Claimants rejected the Respondents' allegation that this was a baseless demand and stated that when ships called at the port and are due to sail workers at Mombasa are required to work at night shifts to bulk, rebag, weigh and load cargo like coffee and tea for shipping.

The Court directs the parties to review the situation on this issue on the expiry of the collective agreement now being finalized and if there be a deadlock then they should refer the matter back to the Court with full evidence in support of their respective stands.

7 Effective date—The Court awards that the effective date should be 1st December, 1974, and that it should remain in force for a period of two years from that date. The effective dates under the issue of wages are to be incorporated therein.

Wage increase

Effective date of the agreement

2 The parties were heard in Nairobi on 18th September, 1975, and relied on their written and verbal submissions

AWARD

3 The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 6th May, 1975, was received by the Court on 23rd July, 1975, along with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner

The parties entered into a collective agreement on 29th June, 1973, effective from 1st July, 1973, for a period of three years from that date

In this agreement there are clauses on housing allowance and minimum wages per month in respect of the various groups of the Respondents' employees. It is laid down that an employee who is not provided with free accommodation by the Respondents will be entitled to a house allowance not less favourable than the minimum laid down by the General Wages Order

The workers were granted a wage increase of Sh 15 p.m effective from 1st January, 1975, and as a result of the Presidential decree on May Day all the workers received further increases with effect from 1st May, 1975

Group	w e f 1 7 73 Sh	w e f 1 1 75 Sh	w e f 1 5 75 Sh
A	192 50	207 50	240 00
B	202 50	217 50	261 00
C	222 50	237 50	297 00
D	300 00	315 00	370 00
E	370 00	385 00	442 75

The Claimants are demanding wage increases beyond the scope of the current collective agreement on account of the spiralling cost of living and they demand a 15 per cent wage increase from January, 1974, and a further 15 per cent wage increase from January, 1975, in order to compensate the workers for the loss of money value

The Claimants alleged that they had issued a general circular to all the employers in their industry with whom they have recognition agreements on 29th March, 1974, asking them to negotiate with them further increases due to cost of living rise. Most of the employers had responded to their call but the Respondents had adopted a negative attitude

The Respondents pleaded that their products are price controlled and no price increases can be instituted by them without the approval of the Jute Controller and in an atmosphere of galloping inflation the Respondents had no other options but to accommodate their production to what they cannot control. In July, 1974, their Nairobi factory had suffered an accidental explosion of the boilers and the factory was unoperational for seven months thereafter and production had resumed in January this year

The Court had before it an analysis prepared by the Employment Promotion Division and the parties were invited to make comments thereon which they did. The following two paragraphs and the conclusions are of particular relevance to this dispute—

"The current voluntary collective agreement between the parties is due to expire on 30th June, 1976, and became effective from 1st July, 1973, when wages were last revised. Since that date the costs of living have risen by 38.2 per cent (excluding the effect of indirect taxes) up to August, 1975, for which the official index figures are available. This figure forms the maximum ceiling for compensation with reference to Guidelines (iv) which could only be given to the lowest paid employees. In this case it would appear that the employees have been paid in accordance with the statutory rates since January, 1974, and thus belong to the lower paid groups. The wage increases which have been paid to all unionizable employees under the current agreement amount to Sh 15 or an average increase of 4.2 per cent ranging between 4 and 7.8 per cent for the higher and lower paid groups respectively

"Following the Presidential May Day announcement and the subsequent publication of the Regulation of Wages (General) (Amendment) Order, 1975, the employees were granted a further average increase of 18.7 per cent ranging between 15 and 25.1 per cent for the higher and lower paid groups respectively. Thus the total average wage increase given to the employees up to date amount to 22.9 per cent as against the ceiling indicated above

Conclusions

"Whilst it is true that the Respondents are presently in a weak economic position, it cannot be argued that labour costs play a decisive role in affecting future profits and expansion. Labour costs are estimated to represent about one-fifth of the total current costs and regardless of whether or not a pay increase is granted the company may find itself in a poor financial situation unless immediate steps are taken to expand the market and hopefully to widen the price margin

"Taking into account the importance of the company both in terms of employment and to the national economy as a whole, one must assume that the question of whether or not past cost increases should result in an increase in the consumer price, must be resolved by the end of the present financial year. We therefore feel that a large one shot pay increase might precipitate the Company into more financial problems in the near future, whilst a phased increase within the limits indicated above would still be compatible with the Guidelines"

The Court notes that although the Respondents made a humble beginning in 1968 with a labour force of approximately 100 persons they now have in employment 1,218 persons and an additional 179 employees on probation. This by any standards is a good achievement

The Court further finds that the wage rates currently being enjoyed by the Respondents' employees compare very favourably indeed with those being paid by their main competitor in the production of gunny bags and sisal twine who are E.A. Bag & Cordage Co. Ltd

The Court would have had considerable sympathy with the Claimants' demand had the workers not benefited to the following extents as a result of the May Day Presidential decree—

Group	per cent
A	15.66
B	20

In addition to above the workers had received a Sh 15 increase p.m with effect from 1st January, 1975. So the workers have in a matter of less than six months received two increases. In these circumstances and after a careful consideration of all the submissions the Court rules that the current collective agreement as amended by the Presidential decree should run the remainder of its life before the workers get another increase

The current collective agreement is due to expire on 30th June, 1976, and as is the usual practice the Claimants will no doubt move its revision a few months before the expiry date and the Court has no doubt that when the parties embark on negotiations on wages they will take care that the workers are fully compensated for any increases in the cost of living during the relevant period

For the foregoing reasons the Court rejects the Claimants' demand

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

Parties —

Kenya Quarry and Mine Workers' Union
and

Shamji Vishram Quarry Limited

Issue in dispute—Severance pay to employees whose services have been terminated on account of Government Quit Notice

1 Kenya Quarry and Mine Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Shamji Vishram Quarry Ltd shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents

2 The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 10th day of September, 1975, and relied on their written and verbal submissions

AWARD

3 The Notification of Dispute Form 'A' dated 22nd July, 1975, was received by the Court on 29th July along with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner

The facts of this dispute are that the Respondents were served with a quit notice in April, 1975, requiring them to cease operating their business by 15th September, 1975. This notice was served on the Respondents in pursuance of the Kenya Government's policy of transferring the economy of the country to Kenyans

It is to be noted that on 16th January, 1975, the Claimants through the General Secretary wrote an open letter to the Respondents' Director with copies to the Ministries of Commerce and Industry and Labour in which they had asked as follows —

"We have been made to understand that in the recent months you have initiated a tendency in the right direction of giving out business to the African contractors who in return have shown their worth in running the business

Messrs Matibo Contractors who have been running a portion of your business for the last 34 years have proved very successful

In consistence with the Government policy on Africanization which provides that Africans are able to run and manage business should be helped and encouraged this Union feels very strongly that the contractors in question have succeeded and it is the highest time, if the intention was for window dressing, to hand over the whole business to them"

On 31st May, 1975, the Respondents served notices on all their employees terminating their services by giving them one month's notice and notifying them that their services will not be required with effect from 1st July 1975

The Claimants initially approached the Respondents to discuss the payment of benefits to employees who had worked for the Respondents for many years and were told by the Managing Director that he was trying to find a buyer for the business instead of having to close down

In June, 1975, the Claimants referred this matter to COTU (K) to take up the matter as they thought it to be an issue of national importance. Subsequently the matter was reported as a trade dispute to the Minister for Labour but conciliation efforts failed and the matter is now before the Court

The principle ground why the parties have not been able to reach any settlement is the Respondents' reliance through the Federation of Kenya Employers on a legal ruling which had been given by the Attorney-General's Chambers in 1973. The ruling is that where by policy the Government has made it impossible for a businessman to continue in business the employees who are thereby rendered jobless cannot be regarded as being redundant for the purposes of redundancy pay

The Court notes that the aforesaid ruling from the Attorney-General's Chambers was passed on by the Permanent Secretary, Ministry of Labour, to the Permanent Secretary, Ministry of Commerce and Industry, on 28th December, 1973. A copy of this letter was also sent to the FKE and COTU (K)

The Respondents further explained during the hearing that although such employers are under no obligation to pay any redundancy benefits to their employees they would have followed the FKE advice to pay some compensation to their employees if they had been able to sell their business to a Kenyan at an economic price but unfortunately all their efforts to find a purchaser had failed and they had no alternative but to close down the business

The parties are bound by a collective agreement in which redundancy is defined as follows —

"For the purpose of this agreement, the redundancy shall mean loss of employment through no fault of the employee concerned, occasioned by reorganization, mechanization or lack of orders"

The Claimants have relied very strongly on this definition to argue that it was clearly stated therein that redundancy shall mean loss of employment through no fault of the employee concerned and that in this dispute they were not worried about the general position on such matters but were concerned with their own particular obligations and rights arising out of the collective agreement with the Respondents

The Claimants also referred the Court to the Court's award in Cause No 17/68 and the subsequent interpretation given by the Court therein whereby the Court awarded that non-citizens who lost their jobs as a result of Kenyanization were fully entitled to all their terminal benefits. The Court would, however, like to point out that in Cause No 17/68 the Court had clearly awarded on the issue of retirement benefits as follows —

"The Court awards that the present clause should be amended so that those employees who lose their jobs other than for disciplinary reasons or who die (their estates) should not forfeit this benefit"

In the subsequent interpretation application the Court clearly noted on page 4 —

"It is obvious from the aforesaid arguments which were put forward by the parties and the Court's award and its subsequent ruling that the question of the entitlement of retirement benefits of non-citizens was very much in the minds of the parties and of the Court"

In an earlier interpretation of the same award dated 17th March, 1969, the Court had this to say —

"It is quite obvious that the Court never intended that those workers who resigned should benefit under this item. Accordingly the Court rules that the workers who resign will not get this benefit

The position of those non-citizens who would be losing or who have lost their jobs as a result of Government policy of Kenyanization is different. These people would be losing their jobs for reasons other than disciplinary and as the Court's award stands at present they are clearly eligible to their retirement benefits. The Court would like to point out that although the parties were aware when they argued this issue before the Court during proceedings in Cause No 17 of 1968, that such a contingency was likely to arise in the near future, they made no submissions on this point. Finally the letter which was referred to by the Respondents stating that Ministry of Labour had rejected to accept a dispute on the issue of 'severance pay for employees who have become unemployed as a result of the introduction of the work permit' in March, 1968, is hardly relevant to this matter"

It is quite clear that the circumstances in the above dispute were different from those of the present dispute apart from another distinction in that in the present dispute an employer has been told to quit whereas in Cause No 17 of 1968 it was the case of an employee who was being refused entry permit and his entitlement to retirement benefits

The Court would like to stress that it is within the jurisdiction of the Court to make awards and subsequently to amend them if they come up before the Court again as issues but in the present dispute the parties have a collective agreement and the Court is not being asked to amend its provisions but instead the Claimants are asking the Court to uphold their interpretation that the existing clause on redundancy applies in cases of closure of business on account of quit notices

The Court finds that the Claimants in putting forward their argument conveniently forget the words "occasioned by reorganization, mechanization or lack of orders". The definition on which the Claimants relied while stating that redundancy shall mean loss of employment through no fault of the employee concerned goes on further to clearly specify the circumstances which would give rise to the intended redundancy, that is, by reorganization, mechanization or lack of orders

The Court would like to point out that this collective agreement was entered into in 1974 and was registered by the Court as RCA 180/74

In these circumstances when the Kenya Government had already started the system of quit notices some two years prior to this collective agreement it was up to the parties, particularly the Claimants, to have incorporated a clause for payment of benefits to workers in the event of the Government's Kenyanization policy

Purely on the narrow facts of this dispute between the parties the Court finds that the Claimants' claim must fail

There is, however, the ruling from the Attorney-General's Chambers which although given in 1973, was accepted and applied in all businesses which have closed or have been transferred to Kenyans as a result of the Kenyanization policy since it first started and no one not even COTU (K), cared to challenge it

The Court is of the same view as the Attorney-General's Chambers on this issue and feels that the question of loss of employment without any benefits of all the workers who lose their jobs through the Government's Kenyanization policy is of such importance that COTU (K) on behalf of workers should have initiated moves in order to get appropriate legislation passed to get some compensation paid to such workers

In the absence of any legislation on the point the Court cannot rule that closure of a business in its entirety on account of Kenyanization policy can result in workers being considered to have been declared redundant
