1.0 BACKGROUND

- 1.1 The potato is the third most important food crop in the world after rice and wheat in terms of human consumption with more than one Billion people eating potatoes worldwide. The Global total crop production exceeds 300 million metric tons annually. China is the biggest producer of potatoes worldwide, with about one third of the World’s Production coming from China and India. Globally, Potato has proved to be a stable crop driving both food security and GDP growth. Countries like Egypt, South Africa and India use it both locally and for export. In Kenya, potato has the potential to drive critical National outcomes.
- 1.2 Due to its high nutritive value, potato (Solanum tuberosum) is the second most important staple crop grown in Kenya after maize. Its good processing qualities for starch, flour, bread, soap, alcohol, weaning foods and animal feeds also make it an important cash crop. The crop is currently grown by over 800,000 households, 98% of whom are small holders, mostly women and supports over 2.5 million people employed in the value chain. The crop is grown on 25,000Ha to 30,000 Ha annually producing about 3 million MT valued at 40-50 billion shillings. The yield achieved by the small scale farmer is approximately 6 to 7 MT/Ha against a potential of 20-40 MT/Ha. Potato is majorly produced in 16 (Sixteen) counties, the leading being Nyandarua followed by Elgeyo Marakwet. The reasons for the low yields are largely attributed to, among many factors, poor agronomic practices, low application of inputs especially fertilizers, low soil fertility, limited access to good quality seeds and unstructured market.
- 1.3 The Ministry of Agriculture, Livestock, Fisheries and Co-operatives 2019-2029 Agriculture Sector Transformation and Growth Strategy (ASTGS) prioritizes potato as one of the key crops for development to realize the country’s aspiration on Food and Nutrition Security embodied by the Big 4 Agenda, Kenya Vision 2030 and the second Sustainable Development Goal (SDG).

- 1.4 Despite its high demand in the domestic market, farmers get poor returns attributed to high cost of production and uncoordinated marketing activities. There is slow development of Micro, Small and Medium enterprises (MSME) within the potato value chain and low implementation of the potato regulations especially at the County Governments. Despite these challenges, there is a great potential for transformation and growth of the Kenya Potato Industry.
- 1.5 The Government has invested in several activities in the promotion and development of the potatoes. Such include research in production of High quality seeds, establishment of cold storage facilities in collaboration with County Governments. This is aimed at increasing the shelf life of tubers during peak production and eventually stabilize market prices. Additionally, in order to protect the farmers and the sector from cheap imports, the EAC Partner States agreed to levy a duty rate of 30 percent to vegetable products including potatoes, peas, and tomatoes for a period of one year, awaiting the finalization of the review of the EAC Common External Tariff.
- 1.6 The Crops (Irish Potato) Regulations, 2019 were developed to provide an enabling environment for the development of the potato value chain. The potato regulations are further aimed at supporting the development of the potato value chain through generation of accurate market information to guide planning and investment, providing farmers with focused production advisory services to meet market standards for produce that is safe and can trade locally, regionally and internationally. They also promote use of best practices in production in order to avail foods that are free of pesticide residues and other contaminants which will ultimately minimize the cost of health care. The regulations also ensure a level playing field for value chain players and dealers in the various segments scheduled crops value chains.
- 1.7 Further to the concerted efforts in the promotion and development of the value chain, it has been found necessary to establish and operationalize a National Potato Taskforce to fast-track progress in this value chain, and safeguard farmers' livelihoods amidst a complex trade environment.
- 1.8 The Taskforce shall be answerable to the Cabinet Secretary with the following terms of reference:

2.0 SPECIFIC TERMS OF REFERENCE

ENVIRONMENTAL AND SOCIAL IMPACT ASSESSMENT STUDY REPORT FOR THE PROPOSED ELDAMA RAVINE SEWERAGE PROJECT IN BARINGO COUNTY

INVITATION OF PUBLIC COMMENTS

PURSUANT to regulation 21 of the Environmental Management and Co-ordination (Impact Assessment and Audit) Regulations, 2003, the National Environment Management Authority (NEMA) has received an Environmental Impact Assessment Study Report for the above proposed project.

The project will involve construction of primary and secondary sewer network within Eldama Ravine Town and construction of waste water treatment works. The proposed investment entails construction of a 2Nr streams of waste water stabilization ponds with capacity to treat 5111 m<sup>3</sup>/d comprising of the following components;

Inlet works and exhauster discharge bay, 2Nr facultative ponds, 8Nr maturation ponds, 10Nr sludge drying beds, grade 9 staff houses, waste water laboratory, associated facilities and amenities.

The following are the anticipated impacts and proposed mitigation measures:

Impacts	Proposed Mitigation Measures
Bio-Physical Environment
Impacts on vegetation resources	• Compensatory planting of trees i.e. plants at least twice the number of trees, about 900 in total either on farmer's land or in public land within the project area.
	• Vegetation should only be cleared along the project corridor.
	• Areas to be cleared should be agreed and demarcated before the start of the clearing operations.
	• Also stage vegetation clearance is recommended so as not to clear the entire corridor all at once.
Water resources	• The use of existing cleared or disturbed areas for the contractor's camp, stockpiling of materials etc. shall be encouraged.
	• Isolate solid wastes disrupted from the works during excavations for safe disposal. The wastes should be collected and
