GAZETTE NOTICE No. 2326

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 3 OF 1981

Parties:

Kenya Bakers and Confectioners Workers' Union
and Wrigley Company (E.A.) Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Recognition.

1. The Kenya Bakers and Confectioners Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Wrigley Company (E.A.) Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 10th and 11th March, 30th April, 25th June and 6th July, 1981, and relied on their written and verbal submissions. The Court called S. Muhanjji, Secretary-General of Kenya Union of Commercial, Food and Allied Workers to make submission on the issue in dispute.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 24th April, 1980, duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 7th January, 1981, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The Respondents are a firm engaged in producing and distributing chewing gum in Kenya and neighbouring countries. They started producing chewing gum locally in May 1971 and employ approximately 107 persons 86 of whom are in the production and maintenance side in the factory with another three in factory administration and the remaining are in administrative, marketing and selling office.

The Respondents have a recognition agreement with the Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers (hereinafter referred to as the Commercial Union) effective from 28th March, 1972. The Respondents and the Commercial Union have since entered into collective agreements with the latest one being dated 18th November, 1980, effective from 1st September, 1980, for a period of two years from that date. This collective agreement has been registered by the Industrial Court Under RCA. No. 26 of 1981.

The Claimants were registered as a trade union on 6th December, 1977, and thereafter they proceeded on a membership drive in various industries and by May 1978, 41 out of 56 unionisable employees of the Respondents had joined them. These workers revoked their membership of the Commercial Union. They started paying their union dues to the Claimants directly and apparently are doing so up till now. The Claimants then approached the Respondents for recognition which was refused and the Claimants reported a trade dispute to the Minister for Labour. A Ministerial investigation committee was appointed and its findings were released to the parties on 18th April, 1980. The findings of this committee were that both the Claimants and the Commercial Union could rightly claim to represent workers in the Respondents' employment and the Chief Industrial Relations Officer proceeded to state as follows in the findings:

"I would have been inclined to recommend that Bakers Union whose constitution specifically covers sweets making industry which the company is engaged in if:

- (a) The majority of the workers belong to this union.
- (b) The Commercial Union was not effectively representing the workers and did not enjoy the majority of workers as its members.
- (c) The Commercial Union by its constitution was grossly inappropriate to represent the workers of the company.
- (d) The Commercial Union had neglected to seek collective agreement for some years. But as noted above already it has a current collective agreement with the company that is due for renewal of its expiry on 31st August, 1980.

After careful consideration of the above observations it is recommended that the Commercial Union should continue representing the workers of the company in view of the fact that it seems to have done it effectively since 1974 and besides, it has collective agreement with the company on terms and conditions of employment."

During the hearing the Court decided to invite the Commercial Union also to make submission in this dispute as it affected them directly. The Secretary-General, S. Muhanji, accordingly made submissions in this dispute. The Court has taken Mr. Muhanji's submissions also into consideration before making its award.

The relevant membership clause in the Claimants' constitution is rule 3 (a) which reads as follows:

"Membership of the union will be open to all employees engaged in bakeries and to all employees engaged in pastries, biscuits, cakes, confectionery making and sweets making factories provided such employee is not less than 16 years of age."

The Court would now like to refer to a letter dated 24th November, 1977, written by the Deputy Registrar of Trade Unions to COTU (K) Domestic and Hotel Workers' Union and the Federation of Kenya Employers in connection with Civil Appeal No. 26 of 1977 which arose out of his refusal to register the Claimants. Towards the end of this letter the Registrar wrote as follows:

"I have examined the registered constitution of the Commercial Union and am satisfied that the applicants are not eligible to join this union. In view of the High Court decision I am left with no alternative but to register Kenya Bakers and Confectioners Workers' Union which I am now proceeding to do.

May I add that under the provisions of the Trade Unions Act an order made by the High Court on appeal against refusal to register a trade union is final."

Mr. Muhanji originally had claimed in Court that the Commercial Union's constitution where it covered workers engaged in "food processing" was wide enough to cover workers engaged in making breads, pastries, sweets, confectioneries, biscuits, cakes, etc. Notwithstanding this he explained that as a result of a mutual understanding with the Domestic Union they had left certain bakeries like Whitehouse Bakeries, Elliotts Bakeries and House of Manji to deal with the Domestic Union.

The Senior Deputy Registrar of Trade Unions as recent as 18th February, 1981, has given a ruling in the following terms:

"I have critically examined rule 3 (a) (1) of the registered constitution of the Commercial Union vis-à-vis rule 3 (a) of the Bakers Union which governs its membership and I am quite satisfied that those workers who are eligible to join the former union would not qualify for membership of the latter union. I have no doubt in mind in saying that the registered constitution of the two unions do not overlap in any way and are certainly distinct and differing in contents.

I might add that prior to the registration of the Bakers Union as a trade union on 6th December, 1977, I did inform COTU (K), Domestic Union, FKE and the Permanent Secretary for Labour that members of the Bakers Union would not join the Commercial Union. Needless to say I would never have registered the Bakers Union under the Trade Unions Act if its constitution was overlapping with that of the Commercial Union."

During the course of the proceedings Mr. Muhanji submitted in Court that in the wider interest of the workers involved since they had all now joined the Claimants he had decided to let them remain with the Claimants. He, however, was very critical of the method which was employed by the Claimants in recruiting the Respondents' employees into their membership. Mr. Muhanji stressed that his union had always co-operated with the other trade unions in the country and arrived at mutual understanding several times in order to protect the interest of the workers but he stressed that the membership of the workers was always voluntary and of their own free will. He also criticized the Registrar of Trade Unions for the role he had played which had led to this present dispute. These allegations were, of course, strongly denied by the Claimants.

Mr. Muhanji's latest submission has made the task of the Court considerably easier and after a careful consideration of all the submissions the Court awards that the Respondents should now recognize the Claimants and the Court directs that they should do so immediately after the announcement of the award.

The Court while making this award also rules that the latest collective agreement which was negotiated and signed between the Commercial Union and the Respondents and which has been registered by the Industrial Court covering the Respondents' unionisable employees should continue to be honoured by the Claimants and it should remain in force until its effective date. With this exception the Claimants will be at liberty to make all other representations on behalf of the workers to the Respondents after the parties have signed a proper recognition agreement which they should do immediately.

In the end the Court would like to express its appreciation of Mr. Muhanji's (the Secretary-General of the Commercial Union), very mature and very responsible approach which he exhibited in this dispute in placing the interest of the workers first and foremost.

Given in Nairobi on the 28th July, 1981.

GAZETTE NOTICE No. 2327

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 13 OF 1981

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial & Allied Workers
and Meru Central Farmers' Co-operative Union Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Salaries and wages increase.

1. The Kenya Union of Commercial Food & Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Meru Central Farmers' Co-operative Union Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 7th May and 18th June, 1981 and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 2nd December, 1980 duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 2nd March, 1981 together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The Respondents are a co-operative union formed by 22 societies within Meru District and about 600 of their employees are affected by this dispute which has arisen as a result of the Claimants' efforts to negotiate a first ever collective agreement between them—a recognition agreement between the parties was entered into on 8th December, 1975.

It is unfortunate that nearly two and half years elapsed before the process of collective bargaining between them was set in motion when the Claimants submitted their proposals on the proposed collective agreement on 30th October, 1978. The parties then had negotiating meetings which again were characterized by lengthy time lapses. The parties, however, managed to agree upon all the items except those of salaries and wages and effective date. This latter item was also settled in due course and it was agreed that the effective date should be 1st October, 1979 and the collective agreement would remain in force for a period of two years from that date.

The crucial meetings as far as this dispute is concerned are the ones held on 21st August, 1979 and 31st January, 1980. At the first meeting of 21st August the parties reached an agreement on the various categories and the minimum rates for those categories and the incremental rates per year in respect of them as follows:

	Minimum wages	Incremental
	p.m.	rate p.y.
Ungraded staff	400	40
Drivers: (a) Grade III .. .	600	60
(b) " II .. .	700	60
(c) " I .. .	800	60
Clerical: (a) General clerk ..	750	60
(b) Accounts/Bank ..	900	60

The rates for the mechanical grades and the annual increments were also agreed.

It was also agreed at this meeting that serving employees earning above the agreed minimum wages continue with the present wages to be changed by the annual increments when due.

The Respondents have very strongly submitted that as far as they are concerned that is the agreement and the Claimants were now trying to back out of an agreement which they themselves made with them. They asked the Court to find in their favour.

The Claimants on the other hand have argued that these minutes were never confirmed and signed and that at a meeting held on 31st January, 1980 their representative had made this point clear where under minute No. 14 of 1980 it is stated as follows:

"Mr. Ruthiri from Commercial Union did not agree with this minute because it was of 21st August, 1979 although it was stating that the next meeting would take place on 21st August, 1979. His argument was that this minute was of the Management Committee but requested to be shown the sub-committee meeting minutes which were held on 21st August, 1979.

After going through files it was found that the sub-committee minutes existed. Mr. Ruthiri claimed not to have received both minutes although they were dispatched. It was agreed that Mr. Ruthiri be given the two copies of the minutes and that the filing system of minutes should be improved."

The Court notes that at the same meeting the item of salary increase was also discussed when Mr. Ruthiri stated that the purpose of the meeting was to finish the negotiations where they had left as the effective date of the salary increase was not finalized and that he wanted 30 per cent increase in the salary for all the employees. The Respondents' representatives wondered why the 30 per cent issue was brought in now when it had not been included in the previous negotiations to which Mr. Ruthiri retorted that because the same wage increases had been given to non-unionisable staff.

The Claimants' main argument is this 30 per cent increase to the managerial staff which they stated should also have been extended to the unionisable employees as they were lowly paid workers and their needs were greater than those of the management staff.

The Claimants stressed that what the Respondents call agreement on salaries and wages was in fact no more than what was already in force as far as the workers were concerned in that they were getting the same annual increments which the Respondents alleged the Claimants had agreed to continue and to finish the matter there. The Claimants strongly objected to this and said the workers were entitled to an additional compensation for the cost of living increases in addition to the annual increments.

The Claimants had in the beginning demanded a 30 per cent increase for the first year and a 30 per cent increase for the second year but they later clarified that they wanted a 30 per cent increase spread over two years in addition to the annual increments as stated above.

The Division of Manpower Planning & Development indicates that the annual increments ranging from Sh. 40 to Sh. 60 each year as had been agreed between the parties would amount to between 10 per cent per year for the lowest paid employees to 5 per cent for the highly paid employees and this was within the acceptable limits of the guidelines. This report also reveals that the cost of living from January, 1974 up to September, 1979 had gone up by about 100 per cent which meant maximum compensation entitlement was 61 per cent with an additional 2 per cent for GDP growth. It was on this basis that the Respondents had awarded the management staff increases totalling 60 per cent, 30 per cent each year.

The Court notes that since 1974 the workers' wages have gone up as a result of the statutory increases announced by the Government.

Whereas the Court agrees with the Respondents that at the meeting of 21st August a substantial amount of agreement was reached on the issue of salaries and wages the fact that the management proceeded to award themselves compensation for the cost of living increases as stated hereinabove to the extent of about 60 per cent is indeed a very valid reason why the Claimants should have decided not to finalize the agreement already made but to actually back out of it. This management increase of 60 per cent is a very crucial factor in this dispute and after carefully considering all the aspects of this dispute particularly the fact that there is a big drop in the payment to farmers due to a drop in coffee prices and that the Respondents are now being managed by a Commission under the chairmanship of the District Commissioner and that the farmers have not yet been paid their advances the Court has come to the conclusion that the Claimants are justified in reopening the wage and salary negotiations and are entitled to a small increase. This sort of situation where the management help themselves to a big salary increase and restrict the workers to mere annual increases as they were getting in the past can indeed be very explosive. The Court has to take this into account in arriving at a fair and just conclusion in this dispute. The Court must blame the Claimants also for not having raised this point of compensation for cost of living increases earlier in the negotiations instead of just timely going along with the Respondents' suggestions. In these circumstances the Court feels that for the first year of the collective agreement workers should get only what the Claimants have agreed but for the second year the Court awards that the workers should get a wage increase of 5 per cent on their salary as at 30th September, 1980 inclusive of the annual increase for the second year.

The Court has made this award keeping in view all the submissions which were made by the parties in this dispute and also because this first ever collective agreement between them will be expiring shortly on 30th September, 1981 when they will be at liberty again to take a realistic look at the workers' entitlement for wage increases vis-a-vis the guidelines in force and the Respondents' economics.

GAZETTE NOTICE No. 2328

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 21 OF 1981

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food & Allied Workers
and
East African Meat Products Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Dismissal of Mr. Timothy Lusala.

1. The Kenya Union of Commercial Food & Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and E.A. Meat Products Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 16th and 17th June, 1981 and in addition to relying on their written and verbal submissions called the following witnesses to give evidence on oath:

Claimants.—Mr. T. Lusala.

Respondents.—Mr. J. W. W. Sim.

AWARD

3. The notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 19th September, 1979 duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 6th April, 1981 together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

Mr. Lusala was employed by the Respondents as a watchman on probationary terms on 7th June, 1976 and was confirmed in his employment on 31st August of the same year.

In May, 1978 he had his position changed to that of a senior watchman with supervisory duties over the other two watchmen.

The Court was informed that Mr. Lusala up to the time of his dismissal on 14th November, 1978 was a good employee who used to report to the Respondents every incident that occurred in and around the factory and that he also used to report on any vehicles and strangers seen in and around the factory during his daily duty beats. Up to the time of his dismissal he had not been served with any written warning for misconduct, shortcomings or any other offence.

On 28th October, 1978 the Respondents discovered that some hog casings in plastic barrels were missing from chiller No. 5 in the factory. The Respondents suspected several of their employee to have been involved one way or the other in the disappearance of the casings. Mr. Lusala being one of the suspects was handed over to the police for investigation and questioning but was eventually released after being detained for about a week. No case was preferred against him.

On reporting for duty after release he was served with a letter of summary dismissal from the Respondents' service which read:

"The company believes that in this case you were aware of wrong-doings going on but you failed both to prevent them or to report them."

Apart from that general assumption no conclusive evidence was given against Mr. Lusala to prove the accusations.

During the hearing the Respondents insisted that Mr. Lusala was dismissed because they had lost confidence in him over the disappearance of the goods from their factory.

In their submission the Claimants, however, wondered why the other employees who were investigated and questioned by the police and released were not meted out similar punishment as Mr. Lusala. They reiterated that the Respondents had failed to prove convincingly beyond any reasonable doubt that Mr. Lusala had actually been involved physically or otherwise in the disappearance of the hog casings, insisting that loss of confidence claim in itself alone was a loose criterion which could not constitute a lawful and reasonable ground for his instant dismissal.

The issue of Mr. Lusala's dismissal was subject of an investigation by the Ministry of Labour whose findings and recommendation were:

"The management decided to dismiss Mr. Lusala because they could no longer trust him as he failed to prevent or report a theft that occurred at the company's premises. The evidence produced to confirm the above was that Mr. Lusala was found by one of the watchmen to be directly involved in the theft and also that he was held by the police after the theft for a week. The fact that the police charged another employee and not Mr. Lusala is a clear indication that he was not directly involved as implied by the witness. When the witness was interviewed and requested to explain why he did not report Mr. Lusala to the management for carrying company's properties away while he was the watchman on duty he gave a lame excuse of Mr. Lusala being his senior. When told to give the reason for his termination from the company he claimed that Mr. Lusala wrongly reported him to the management that he was sleeping on duty and he lost his job. From this statement it can be concluded that the witness was prepared to lie and assist the management to remove Mr. Lusala from his employment simply to revenge. I therefore conclude that Mr. Lusala was wrongly dismissed.

I recommend that Mr. Lusala be either reinstated in his job without loss of any benefit and be paid half pay for the period he was laid off or he be paid all his terminal benefits together with a compensation of five months' wages."

During the hearing the Respondents called Mr. J. W. W. Sim who is their managing director since July, 1979 to give evidence. This witness narrated the loss of the hog casings from chiller No. 5 and said that when Mr. Lusala, the senior watchman and the supervisor in charge of chiller No. 5 were interviewed by him they stated that they knew nothing about the theft. He, however, added that another watchman stated that he had opened the factory on several occasions during the evening for the supervisor of chiller No. 5. This watchman had also said that he had seen Kisili, the supervisor, taking certain goods out and that Lusala was present on all these occasions. The Court must reject this part of Mr. Sim's evidence as mere hearsay and if it was to be of any help to the Respondents this watchman should have been called to give evidence. The Respondents had intimated that they would be calling another witness, Wallace Mungai, who the Court understands is the name of this watchman but during the hearing they did not do so.

The Court was told by the Respondents that W. Mungai had given a statement to the investigator appointed by the Ministry of Labour. The Court, however, cannot rely on an unsworn statement which in any case is not subject to cross-examination. Moreover, the investigator despite this watchman's statement found against the Respondents in this dispute.

The Court wonders why this particular watchman had kept quiet and had not reported the matter to the factory manager on the very first occasion when he alleges that he saw certain things being removed from the factory by the supervisor in the presence of Lusala. The Court notes that the supervisor was charged in a criminal court but he was acquitted.

The Court must comment on the system which the Respondents had in force regarding the keys in that one key for each chiller was kept by the supervisors during the day which they left with the watchman on duty at the main gate for the night when they left the factory. The Court finds this rather odd for security purposes but since the Respondents feel that it suits their operations the Court leaves it at that. The fact, however, remains that the watchman on duty during the night has the keys to the various chillers.

Mr. Lusala who is the senior watchman was required to make random checks during the night and in addition to this he was required to do his own shift also along with the other watchmen. Obviously a person in Lusala's position cannot be expected to do justice to his job under these conditions in that he was a sort of supervisor in charge during 24 hours and at the same time was required to do his own shift.

The Court has very carefully considered the various aspects of this dispute and finds it difficult to believe that these casings could not have been stolen without Mr. Lusala's knowledge. There appear to have been ample opportunities for others to do so without Mr. Lusala knowing anything about it and the Court after weighing the various probabilities has come to the conclusion that the Respondents had no legitimate grounds for losing confidence in Mr. Lusala. The Court finds that Mr. Lusala has suffered a wrongful dismissal and the Court awards that he be paid five months' salary by way of compensation as recommended by the Ministry of Labour. The Court is not inclined to award reinstatement in this dispute.

Given in Nairobi the 27th July, 1981.

Notice is also given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the Registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make if and when it is registered. The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the Registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the Registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him any opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.
