5. The land and buildings shall only be used for private residential purposes only and not more than one private dwelling-house with the necessary offices and outbuildings appurtenant thereto shall be erected on the land.

6. The buildings shall not cover more than 50 per centum of the area of the land or such lesser area as may be laid down by the Local Authority in its by-laws.

7. The grantee shall not subdivide the land.

8. The grantee shall not sell, transfer, sublet, charge or part with the possession of the land or any part thereof except with the prior consent in writing of the President: no application for such consent (except in respect of a loan required for building purposes) will be considered until Special Condition No. 2 has been performed.

9. The grantee shall pay to the Commissioner of Lands on demand such sum as the Commissioner may estimate to be the proportionate cost of constructing all roads and drains, and sewers serving or adjoining the land and shall on completion of such construction and the ascertainment of the actual proportionate cost either pay (within seven days of demand) or be refunded the amount by which the actual proportionate cost exceeds or falls short of the amount paid as aforesaid.

10. The grantee shall from time to time pay to the Commissioner of Lands on demand such proportion of the cost of maintaining all roads and drains serving or adjoining the land as the Commissioner may assess.

11. Should the Commissioner of Lands at any time require the said roads to be constructed to a higher standard the grantee shall pay to the Commissioner on demand such proportion of the cost of such construction as the Commissioner may assess.

12. The grantee shall pay such rates, taxes, charges, duties, assessments or outgoings of whatever description as may be imposed, charged or assessed by any Government or local authority upon the land or the buildings erected thereon, including any contribution or other sum paid by the President in lieu thereof.

13. The President or such person or authority as may be appointed for the purpose shall have the right to enter upon the land and lay and have access to water mains, service pipes and drains, telephone or telegraph wires and electric mains of all descriptions, whether overhead or underground, and the grantee shall not erect any buildings in such a way as to cover or interfere with any existing alignments of mains or service pipes or telephone or telegraph wires and electric mains.

GAZETTE NOTICE No. 3539

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

(Second Division)

CAUSE No. 19 OF 1965

Parties:

The Knitting Mills Group of the Federation of Kenya Employers
and

The Tailors and Textiles Workers' Union

Issues in Dispute:

- (i) Night transport for workers.
- (ii) Gratuity.
- (iii) Date of implementation and duration of Agreement.

1. The issues were referred to the Industrial Court for settlement in accordance with the provisions of the Trade Disputes Act, 1965.

The parties were heard in Nairobi on 13th August 1965. The Knitting Mills Group called one witness and the Tailors and Textiles Workers' Union called two witnesses.

2. Messrs. Nath Brothers Limited, Sunflag Knitwear and Textile Mills Limited, Midco Textiles (E.A.) Limited, Kenya Knitting and Weaving Works, and Capital Trading Company are known as the Knitting Mills Group of the Federation of Kenya Employers (hereinafter referred to as the Respondents). Members of the Respondents operate factories in Nairobi and Thika and are in competition with one another. The issues which were before the Court were two out of an original 14 which had been referred to the Court early in May, and were before the Court for hearing on 19th July 1965, together with one new issue—date of implementation and duration of Agreement. At the hearing on 19th July 1965, the Tailors and Textiles Workers' Union (hereinafter referred to as the Claimants) informed the Court that agreement had been reached on 12 out of the 14 issues; this subsequently had been denied by a spokesman of the Respondents, and as a result of disagreement, the Court ordered that both parties were to appear again before the Court on 28th July 1965 to present their signed Agreement covering all the original issues in dispute, or alternatively a signed Agreement covering such issues as had been agreed, together with a new Form "A" setting out such issues as remained in dispute. Such an Agreement and a new Form "A" were in due course placed before the Court.

3. (i) The Claimants speaking on their demand for free night transport for all employees on night shift stated that a number of employees had been assaulted and robbed on their way home from work. It was claimed that night shift workers now came to or from work during night hours in fear of being beaten up and robbed. In support of their demand it was stated that certain members of the Respondents were already providing such facilities; they wanted the practice standardized. Reference was made to the Claimants' Agreement with the Tents and Canvas Goods Manufacturers' Group where, they stated, free transport was provided for employees working overtime between the hours of 7 p.m. and 6 a.m. and, also, to a number of larger employers such as International Aeradio and various Airways, where such facilities were provided as a matter of course.

(ii) Gratuity was demanded for employees whose employment was terminated through no fault of their own; this ex gratia payment was not to be confused with redundancy terms. Gratuity was claimed on the following basis:—

- (1) To employees with or over one year's unbroken service, calculated from date of engagement, and up to five years' service— $\frac{1}{3}$ month's pay for each completed year of service.
- (2) To employees with five years' unbroken service and over $\frac{1}{3}$ month's pay for each completed year of service over five years.

The Claimants stated that they had an Agreement on gratuity with one of the members of the Respondents.

(iii) The Claimants asked the Court to make the effective date of the new Agreement as from 1st June 1965. It was their view that the employees had suffered much because of the low statutory wages of the Regulation of Wages (Knitting Mills) Order, 1963, and the standstill in revision of that Order due to the effect of the Tripartite Agreement.

4. On behalf of the Respondents it was stated that, due to circumstances beyond their control, the whole industry was now in a state of depression. Action taken by Tanzania had deprived them of about 40 per cent of their trade. Some employees of member companies had been made redundant and it was possible that more would follow. It would be wrong of the Court to make an Award which would depress the industry further.

(i) On the question of providing night transport for workers, the Respondents stated that three Companies, namely, Midco Textiles (E.A.) Limited, Kenya Knitting and Weaving Works and Capital Trading Company had no workers who regularly finished work during the night. Their night shift commenced at 8 p.m. and finished at 7 a.m. the next morning, and public transport was readily available to cover these hours. The two other Companies, namely, Sunflag Knitwear and Textiles Mills Limited and Nath Brothers Limited, Thika, had a number of workers who commenced work at 11 p.m. and a shift which concluded work at 11 p.m. In so far as Sunflag Knitwear and Textiles Mills Limited was concerned, men only were employed. It was not considered a hardship for them to walk from the factory to their home, and there was no danger to their person. As far as Messrs. Nath Brothers Limited, Thika, was concerned similar circumstances applied as for Sunflag Knitwear and Textiles Mills Limited, and it was emphasized that over 50 per cent of the workers lived within five to ten minutes' walk from the factory.

(ii) The Respondents pointed out that the National Social Security Scheme would commence operation on or about 1st January 1966, and it was submitted that until that Scheme had been in operation for a reasonable time and it had been made clear as to its effectiveness, there should be no award compelling employees to negotiate a Gratuity Scheme in addition to the National Scheme. Even prior to their depressed state the Respondents pointed out that no provision had been made for such capital expenditure. It was further submitted that it would be unwise to apply a Gratuity Scheme to a depressed industry such as the Respondents'.

(iii) The Court was asked by the Respondents not to make any award which would entail retrospective payments, but to make an award which would apply the Agreement as from the 1st of the month following the date on which the Court's award was published, and to make it applicable for a period of not less than 18 months from that date. It was submitted that they understood the Claimants would be requesting the Minister for Labour and Social Services to apply the Court's award and the terms and conditions of their negotiated Agreement to the whole of the knitwear industry in Kenya, as provided for under section 24 of the Trade Disputes Act, 1965. A future implementation date would assist the Claimants in dealing with this matter so that all benefits would apply equally to all employees in the knitwear industry at one and the same time.

AWARD

5. The Court, having given careful consideration to the evidence and submissions of the Parties, awards as follows:—

- (i) Night transport for workers.—Free transport shall be provided for all employees who are required to begin a work shift or work overtime between the hours of 8 p.m. and 4 a.m. and who live outside a radius of two miles and not more than six miles from their places of employment:

Providing that collecting/set down places shall be confined to those places where not less than four employees can conveniently be collected or set down by Company transport.

- (ii) Gratuity.—A Gratuity Scheme shall be inaugurated which shall also take into account the past continuous service of employees up to a maximum of ten years as from the effective date of this Award. The Scheme shall not take into account any service subsequent to the introduction of the National Provident Scheme. The gratuity will only be paid on retirement and not when an employee resigns or is discharged.

Gratuity shall be calculated on the following basis:—

- (a) Under six years of service—ten days basic wage per completed year of service.
- (b) Over six years of service—15 days basic wage per completed year of service.

(On completion of one year's service, a part of any subsequent year in excess of six months will count as a completed year of service for the purpose of the above payment.)

- (iii) Date of implementation and duration of Agreement.—The new Agreement on terms and conditions of service, already agreed between the Parties, shall be effective as from 1st June 1965 and shall continue in force for a period of not less than 12 months.

GAZETTE NOTICE No. 3540

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

(Second Division)

CAUSE No. 28 OF 1965

Parties:—

Messrs. Zimmermann Limited Taxidermists
and

The Kenya Shoe and Leather Workers' Union

Issues in Dispute:

- (i) Travelling allowance.
- (ii) Working hours and overtime.
- (iii) Free transport.
- (iv) Five per cent wages increment for all employees.
- (v) Effective date of Agreement.

1. The issues in dispute were referred to the Industrial Court in accordance with the provisions of the Trade Disputes Act, 1965.

The parties were heard in Nairobi on 26th and 27th August 1965. Each party called one witness.

2. Negotiations between Messrs. Zimmermann Limited (hereinafter referred to as the Respondents) and the Kenya Shoe and Leather Workers' Union (hereinafter referred to as the Claimants), on new terms and conditions of employment to take place of an Agreement which had expired on 31st May 1965 commenced on 9th June 1965. The Respondents are taxidermists and employs 119 unionizable employees in their factory at Ruaraka.

During the negotiations, which ended on 26th July, agreement was reached on the majority of issues. No agreement was, however, reached on five issues, and both parties agreed to refer these issues to the Industrial Court.

3. (i) Presenting their case the Claimants submitted that the Sh. 30 travelling allowance now being paid to workers was totally inadequate to meet the fair and reasonable costs of leave travel. In some instances where an employee had over-spent that amount on travelling and had claimed reimbursement it had been rejected. It was their submission that where an employee had worked efficiently and faithfully for his employer for 12 months it was only right and reasonable that the employer should also consider his employee's family. It was natural for an employee to take his family on leave with him and there was also the cost of taking luggage, to be considered. The Claimants demanded a flat travelling allowance, in cash, of Sh. 60 and considered that a cash allowance was a more satisfactory way of assisting an employee than the present arrangement.

(ii) Work carried out by the employees in the Respondents' factory was both strenuous and exacting and required that workers were always fit and alert. It was for this reason the Claimants pointed out, that they had demanded a 40-hour working week spread over five days; this would ensure that an employee had had a proper period of rest and that he would return to his work on Monday morning fit and able to do a good job of work.

It was the Claimants' further demand that all work worked in excess of the normal daily hours from Monday to Friday should be paid for at 1½ times normal rates. And any work done on Saturday, Sunday and Gazetted Holidays should be paid for at double normal rates. Management was free, they submitted to decide on who should work overtime, and the number of hours to be worked, in the interests of higher production.

(iii) Since the Respondents had discontinued transporting their employees to and from their factory during wet weather a number of employees living between seven miles (Kariobangi) and ten miles (Jerusalem) away had suffered much the Claimants submitted. If an employee travelled to work on foot he arrived tired and if he arrived late he was subject to disciplinary action. The cost of bus fares, which in some cases amounted to Sh. 65 a month, made this form of transport prohibitive. The Claimants demanded free transport between the employees' homes and the factory for all employees. If such free transport could not be provided then, the Claimants submitted the Respondents should provide suitable housing accommodation nearby their factory for their employees, or reimburse bus fares.

(iv) The Claimants demanded a five per cent wage increment for all employees. Details of how an employee's wages were spent were explained to the Court. Increased costs affected all employees and not only those on the minimum rates whose wages the Respondents had offered to increase by five per cent. The Court was asked to award an overall five per cent increase.

(v) The effective day of the new Agreement should be as at 1st June 1965, the Claimants submitted. The old Agreement expired at the end of May and it was normal practice that the new Agreement should be effective on the next day. Notification of amendments to terms and conditions of employment was first sent to the Respondents on 10th May. The Claimants stated emphatically that they had never agreed to the effective date being 1st August 1965.

4. (i) In reply to the Claimants' demand for an increased travelling allowance the Respondents submitted that the increase envisaged by the Claimants would cost them an additional Sh. 3,600 per year. The present rate of travelling allowance was Sh. 30 per person and the main centres or locations where employees went on leave were Fort Hall, Embu, Kiambu, Machakos and Meru. There were also seven employees from Tanzania. Apart from the Tanzania employees, it was submitted, the Sh. 30 allowance was more than enough. It was further submitted that payment in addition to the Sh. 30 allowance was already being paid to employees where receipted bill or travel tickets were produced. The Respondents stated that they did not support the idea of a flat increment of Sh. 30 because they did not feel that a man should be able to harvest a profit from a travelling allowance.

(ii) To reduce the working hours by five would mean the elimination of Saturday morning work. But quite apart from the financial cost, the Respondents pointed out that they would lose a great number of clients as it was the practice of overseas hunters to conclude their safaris and bring in their trophies on a Saturday. The Respondents submitted that they could not afford the loss of either the clients or the additional cost which would amount to Sh. 56,500 over a year.

On overtime they stated that it was common practice to pay overtime at time and a half for week-days and double time for Sundays and Gazetted Holidays.

(iii) On the issue of free transport, the Respondents stated that until January 1965 they had run a Mercedes one-ton closed van for normal purposes, and on mornings or evenings when it was raining heavily the van, when available, was used to take personnel to/from the factory to/from the area of Allsopps Brewery (approximately 2½ miles) where most of their employees live. The Mercedes was sold and a second-hand, more economical, Ford Taunus station wagon was bought in its place. The new vehicle was not a suitable vehicle for transporting people in the event of inclement weather. To provide transport as demanded by the Claimants would mean a capital outlay of not less than Sh. 20,000. In any case the Respondent pointed out, all employees were signed on at the factory and they were under no obligation to transport employees to their homes.

(iv) The Respondents stated that they had offered a five per cent increment to all employees on the minimum rates of their grades only, but the Claimants' demand was for an overall increment of five per cent which would cost Sh. 50,000 per year. The Court was asked to note that with the implementation of the National Social Security Scheme the Respondents would be committed to a five per cent increase which would cost them Sh. 50,000 per year. The addition of the Claimants' demand would result in a crippling ten per cent total which could well prejudice them out of business.

(v) During negotiations in the National Joint Committee, 1st August had been suggested as being a suitable date for implementing agreed changes and the Respondents submitted that they had had the impression that the Claimants accepted that date, until the question of wages had been raised. The Respondent stated they would accept the Court's decision on this issue.

The Respondents submitted that they were most anxious to see that the progress made in the past eight months was sustained and, that in time they hoped some of the unfortunate workers they had been obliged to make redundant in January this year, could be reinstated. This, they stated, would require patience on the part of the Claimant, coupled with genuine efforts on the part of the Management. It was their view that any sudden addition to their existing overheads could undo the considerable progress made during the past months. The Respondents submitted with respect, that the offer to add Sh. 30,000 to existing overheads agreed during negotiations with the Claimants together with the addition of Sh. 50,000 under the National Social Security Scheme was a sufficiently heavy burden for them for the time being. The Court was requested to award accordingly.

AWARD

5. The Court, having given careful consideration to the evidence and submissions of the parties, award as follows:—

(i) Travelling allowance:—

(a) Travelling allowance shall be increased to Sh. 40.

(b) Where an employee's actual travelling costs exceed Sh. 40, he shall be entitled to reimbursement on production of receipted bills or travel tickets.

(iv) Five per cent wages increment for all employees:—

(a) Wages of Sh. 160 and less per month shall be increased by Sh. 14 per month.

(c) Wages of more than Sh. 240 per month shall be increased by Sh. 5 per month.

(v) Effective date of Agreement.—The effective date of the new Agreement shall be as from 1st July 1965.

6. Effect shall be given to this Award as from 1st July 1965.

Given in Nairobi this 23rd day of September 1965.

GAZETTE NOTICE No. 3541

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

(Second Division)

CAUSE No. 17 OF 1965

Parties:

East African Bata Shoe Company Limited
and
Kenya Shoe and Leather Workers' Union

Issues in Dispute:

- (i) Termination of employment.
- (ii) Leave allowance.
- (iii) Housing allowance.
- (iv) Severance pay for Redundant employees.
- (v) Annual leave.
- (vi) Working hours.
- (vii) Safari allowance.
- (viii) Rest period.
- (ix) Compassionate leave with pay in case of accident or death of a member of an employee's family.

1. The issues in dispute were referred to the Industrial Court for settlement in accordance with the provisions of the Trade Disputes Act, 1965.

The parties were heard in Nairobi on 16th and 17th August 1965. Two witnesses were called by the Kenya Shoe and Leather Workers' Union.

2. The Agreement on terms and conditions of employment between the East African Bata Shoe Company Limited (hereinafter referred to as the Respondents) and the Kenya Shoe and Leather Workers' Union (hereinafter referred to as the Claimants) expired on 1st November 1964.

On 20th November, the Claimants submitted their proposed amendments on terms and conditions of employment to the Respondents. Negotiations on a new Agreement commenced on 7th December 1964 and ended on 15th February 1965. During this period of negotiations most of the new terms and conditions of employment were agreed but on the remaining items there was deadlock.

The Claimants declared a trade dispute to the Minister for Labour and Social Services on 2nd March 1965. This was accepted and a conciliator was appointed. As a result of conciliation one more item was agreed.

Both parties agreed to refer the remaining items to the Industrial Court for settlement. A Court Ruling was given on the inclusion of one additional item, "Free electricity to employees who stay in Company houses" which appeared among the issues before the Court. The Claimants considered that as this item had been accepted by the Minister for Labour and Social Services as one of the items in their trade dispute, it should rightly come before the Court. The Respondents, however, proved that they had not accepted to bring it before the Court. The Court ruled that, as both parties had not agreed to it coming before the Court it be struck out.

3. (i) The Claimants submitted that one month's notice of termination of employment by the Respondent was inadequate. Such short notice did not give the employee sufficient time to clear up any outstanding debts which he may have incurred nor did it give him enough time to seek and find other employment. A reasonable notice to terminate employment, the Claimants considered was three months. In their Agreement with Zimmermann Limited employees were entitled to three months' notice. The Court was asked to award accordingly.

(ii) It was submitted that the present system of reimbursing an employee his return bus or train fare at third-class rates to the bus stage or rail station nearest to his home address was no longer a satisfactory leave allowance. Very often an employee had some members of his family and lots of luggage to take home when going on leave and the present leave allowance took no account of this. A more satisfactory arrangement the Claimants contended was to give the employee a cash allowance, it would then be up to the employee as to how this was spent. A reasonable cash leave allowance, the Claimants submitted was Sh. 110.

(iii) On their claim for a house allowance of Sh. 50 the Claimants argued that nowhere in Kenya could a decent house be rented for Sh. 20 per month, the amount currently paid by the Respondents. In Limuru, average housing was renting at between Sh. 50 and Sh. 60 per month. An alternative to paying a house allowance of Sh. 50 would be for the Respondents to provide more suitable housing for their employees; this would be acceptable to the Claimants.

(iv) The Claimants demanded severance pay to employees declared redundant at the rate of 18 days pay for each completed year of service; this was only an additional three days per annum to existing rates. The Claimants said that they were pleased to state that the Industrial Relations Charter accepted the principle of severance pay and that it was left to the parties to agree on the amount. The Court was asked to note that even when a person was unemployed he still had to pay school fees and Graduated Personal Tax. They considered 18 days pay reasonable and asked the Court to award this amount.

(v) Annual leave of seventeen continuous days did not give an employee time to do all the things required of him when he returned to his home, such as rebuilding or repairing his house. Time was also lost in travelling. It was stated that no paid leave was granted by the Respondents prior to 26th October 1961 when their Recognition Agreement was signed. Two other companies Zimmermann Limited, and Raper and Pringle, with whom they had Agreements provided better leave terms. The Claimants considered that their claim for 26 working days annual leave was reasonable and the Court was asked to award accordingly.

(vi) The Claimants demanded a 40-hour working week; this would not inconvenience the Respondents they submitted because the majority of workers were at present working a five-day week. All the Respondents' "work plans" were based on a five-day week and there was no need for employees, who had completed their "work plans", to be called to do work on Saturday mornings.

(vii) A substantial increase in the existing safari allowance rates was demanded. It was stated that the cost of meals and hotel accommodation were always increasing and that the safari allowance rates now paid by the Respondents did not meet reasonable expenses.

(viii) In support of their demand for an extra five minutes increase to their afternoon rest period, to make it the same as for the morning break, the Claimants pointed out that when compared with the distance from the factory to the nearest shop, where an employee went to buy tobacco or a cup of tea, the rest period was very little.

(ix) The Court was asked to decide on the Claimants' demand for 14 days "Compassionate leave" with full pay. The Claimants' demand was on humanitarian grounds. It was stated that when an employee received news that a member of his family had met with an accident or had died he was expected to visit the home; this often involved the employee in much expenditure.

4. (i) It was the Respondents' contention that the Claimants' demand for three months' notice of termination of employment was unfair to the employer and employee alike. The Respondents said that they considered their present one month's notice both fair and reasonable. Termination of employment was usually tied up to contractual obligations and for workers of the Respondents that was one month. It was further stated that the majority of employers had negotiated a one-month period of termination of employment and it was presumed that they found that a satisfactory working arrangement as did the Respondents.

(ii) The Respondents submitted that they had never accepted the principle of leave travelling allowance when proceeding on leave. All workers, they stated, were recruited in Limuru, or from the area or town in which they were to work. How an employee spent his leave or where he went was an employee's own personal affair. The Respondents submitted that the Claimants appeared to have agreed in the first instance, with the current arrangements appertaining to leave allowance and that it was only on 3rd February that the Claimants submitted an amended demand for a cash leave allowance of Sh. 110. For the information of the Court the Respondents pointed out that (a) a leave travelling allowance was given by an Arbitration award of 27th March 1964 and that that award formed part of the Agreement which had expired on 1st November 1964, (b) in awarding a leave travelling allowance the Arbitrator had specifically mentioned that such shall apply within the territorial boundaries of Kenya, and (c) the Arbitrator by way of further clarification had stated that leave allowance was not applicable to those employees who normally resided at their registered home address and travelled daily to and from their work.

The Respondents stated that they employed some 983 unionizable members in Kenya and that the Limuru factory provided employment for the majority of their employees. Of that number 339 were resident in the Respondents' accommodation and 520 lived within an average radius of four miles from the factory. Furthermore, from information which was available to them, the Respondents stated that of some 573 workers residing outside their housing estate at Limuru only some 130 did not reside at their normal homes. The Respondents argued that the Claimants' demand for a flat rate of Sh. 110 to all employees was excessive, unreasonable and had no bearing to reality. At present an employee proceeding on authorized annual leave was entitled to return bus or train fare at third-class rates to the bus stage or rail station nearest to his registered home address (within the territorial boundaries of Kenya). The cost of leave travelling allowances presently being paid was stated to be as follows:—

Sh.		Sh.
1 to 10 ..	70	61 to 70 .. —
11 to 20 ..	164	71 to 80 .. —
21 to 30 ..	121	81 to 90 .. —
31 to 40 ..	67	91 to 100 .. —
41 to 50 ..	16	100 and over .. —
51 to 60 ..	2

(iii) Speaking against the Claimants' demand for a housing allowance of Sh. 50 per month, the Respondents submitted that their present allowance of Sh. 10 per two weeks, to those employees not housed within their estate at Limuru, was reasonable and compared favourably with housing allowance payable in Nairobi where house rents were very much higher than in Limuru. It was stated that at Limuru of the 912 unionizable workers employed there, 339 lived in the Respondents' housing estate. The majority of workers not housed lived in their own houses for which no rental charge was payable. Reasonable housing could be rented in Limuru at a monthly rent of Sh. 35 to Sh. 40. The Respondents' housing allowance represented approximately 55 per cent of the total cost of accommodation at Sh. 40. Housing allowance, it was submitted, was not intended to cover the total cost of renting accommodation, but was given to assist an employee in securing accommodation for which he had to pay rent. The present housing allowance resulted from Arbitration in 1964 and the Respondents submitted that they could not see any change of circumstances which justified any alteration whatsoever.

(iv) The Respondents submitted that severance pay for redundant employees in the scale of 15 days for each completed year of service or part of a year exceeding six months was voluntarily introduced by them on 1st May 1962. At Arbitration in March 1964, the Claimants demanded an increase in severance pay benefit but this was rejected by the Arbitrator. The Respondents considered that their scale of 15 days was fair and in line with general practice.

(v) It was submitted that their present scale of 17 continuous days annual leave was generous and, in some instances, in advance of general industrial practice. The Claimants' demand of 26 working days annual leave, which would amount to 32 days continuous leave per annum, was excessive and unjustified. It was pointed out that because of the nature of the Respondents' manufacturing unit at Limuru the whole factory had to close down for the annual leave. Closing the factory down for the leave period as demanded by the Claimants would be totally uneconomical and impracticable. The Claimants' allegation that prior to their Recognition Agreement the Respondents did not pay any amount of holiday pay to their employees was refuted; this the Respondents submitted was a poor attempt to confuse the Court. The Respondents stated that it was their policy to grant leave with pay even before negotiations were in the hands of the Claimants.

(vi) The Court was told that the Respondents were unable to accept the Claimants' demand for a 40-hour working week. It was stated that the working week throughout industry was generally accepted at 45 hours and that such hours of work were necessary to the Respondents in order that they could complete production and consumer requirements. The Court was asked to consider the loss in production and decrease in individual productivity as a result of increased rest breaks now amounting to 2 hours and 20 minutes in a week. The Respondents believed that shorter working hours would be detrimental to the maintenance of production in the highly competitive footwear industry. The Respondent assured the Court that no worker whatsoever performed any work for them unless such was paid for at the agreed rate, neither had the Claimants at any time raised such an issue with them.

(vii) It was the Respondents' accepted principle with regard to employees travelling on employer's business that the employee should never be out of pocket, the Court was told. This principle, it was stated, was adequately covered by the Respondents' present scale of allowances which were given as follows:—

The following allowances are applicable to all Company employees throughout Kenya. An employee who is required to perform work exceeding seven miles away from his original place of employment shall be entitled to be paid subsistence allowance as follows:—

	Sh.
(a) For any such period of duty exceeding six hours but less than 12 hours	5
(b) For any such period of duty exceeding 12 hours but excluding an overnight stop ..	10
(c) For any such period of duty exceeding 12 hours and including an overnight stop ..	25

The Respondents considered that their present scale of safari allowances were both fair and adequate and were found to be so at conciliation talks in January 1964, and that the Claimants had produced no evidence whatsoever to justify any adjustment at this stage.

(viii) The Respondents stated that they currently granted a rest period of 15 minutes in the morning and 10 minutes in the afternoon and that rest periods were the subject of an Arbitration award in 1964. At that time, it was stated, the Arbitrator made it quite clear that he awarded an additional five minutes, simply on the grounds that the morning working period was of five hours' duration compared with the afternoon period of three hours. It was submitted that a rest break was no more than a temporary period of rest from work; it was not intended so that it should provide an opportunity for shopping and other activities more appropriate for lunch break and other periods outside working hours. The Respondents stated that it was not their policy to provide refreshments for employees at any level and that if an employee wishes to participate in refreshments during rest period he was free to bring such refreshments with him to work. To increase the rest period would be uneconomical to the Respondents' manufacturing operations.

(ix) Any application by an employee for compassionate leave necessary to attend to urgent domestic affairs was always viewed sympathetically by the Respondents, the Court was told. At negotiations, the Respondents stated they had offered to include in their Agreement the clause "at the request of the employee the Company may grant leave in the event of urgent domestic affairs, solely at its discretion and such leave granted, shall be unpaid and subject to the employee providing proof to the Company's Personnel Manager as required" but that this had been rejected by the Claimants.

Management was made up of human beings and at no time in the past, and they hoped never in the future, might it be said that Management had lacked in the common decency of humanitarianism. Any request for compassionate leave in the past had been considered by Management and it was the Respondents' contention that this arrangement had worked very well and would continue to be equally satisfactory in the future.

Summing up the Respondents stressed that their Company operated in a competitive field and that if they were to continue to give employment at reasonable standards, keep competitive costs down and sales up, then every demand put forward by the Claimants must be rejected as every demand put forward involved increased cost either through increased payment or less work and that nowhere throughout the Claimants' submissions could any compensating feature whatsoever be found. It was the Respondents' submission that no case had been made out by the Claimants in respect of their claims either collectively or individually.
