THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 5 OF 1981

Kenya Management Staff Association
and

Kenya Posts & Telecommunications

Parties:

Issue in dispute:

Dismissal of Mr. J. Otianga—PF:22615.

1. The Kenya Management Staff Association shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Kenya Posts & Telecommunications shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 7th, 8th and 29th April, 9th and 11th June, 1981 and in addition to relying on their written and verbal submissions called the following witnesses to give evidence on oath:

Claimants.—Mr. J. Otianga.

Respondents:

Mr. W. Omondi.

Mr. J. E. Onyango.

Mr. M. Gatiga.

Mr. S. M. Mwadiga.

Mr. F. P. Gimode.

AWARD

3. The notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 24th July, 1980 duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 9th February, 1981 together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

Mr. Otianga started working for the Respondents on 16th April, 1968 as an assistant craftsman at a salary of Sh. 260 p.m. Over the years he progressed and at the time of his dismissal by the Respondents on 22nd September, 1978 he had risen to the position of assistant engineer in charge of mechanical workshops at Shimanzi getting a monthly salary of Sh. 2,515.

His services were terminated because it was alleged that he had caused an order to be made for spare parts valued at Sh. 1,328 in respect of the Respondents' vehicle KQG 462 but had instead used them to repair a private vehicle KNH 457 owned by Malik Enterprises.

It is not disputed that KQG 462 was brought to Shimanzi workshops on 9th May, 1978 for the following repairs:

1. Repair brakes and petrol gauge.
2. Carry out police inspection check.

This was entered in job No. 452 of 1978.

It is also not disputed that certain spares were ordered and received on 12th May, 1978 and were paid for on 23rd May, 1978. The firm involved was General Automobile Corporation. The Respondents' order number was 262400 and this firm's delivery note was G. 5480.

On or about 29th July, 1978 someone from the general office in Shimanzi workshops telephoned Mr. M. Gatiga who is an assistant senior investigating officer working for the Respondents as a result of which he started investigations. This person was called to give evidence before the Court by the Respondents and he stated that the payment voucher and an LPO had been prepared in respect of KQG 462 when this vehicle had gone to Malindi. This witness further stated that he established that spare parts were collected by one Willis Omondi and were handed to Mr. Otianga and that Mr. Onyango confirmed that it was so and that the spare parts were handed to Otianga. From the vehicle movement sheet he established that KQG 462 was in Malindi on 12th May. He was shown job card dated 9th May, 1978 and he confirmed that on the job card the LPO number in respect of the items in dispute is 262400 totalling in amount Sh. 1,208. These items appear on the job card and are dated 13th June and are attached to job No. 452/78. Surprisingly this witness said that he had seen this job card for the first time in Court. He insisted that the spares in question had not been used in KQG 462 because on 12th May it was at Malindi whereas on the job card these spares appear to have been used on this vehicle on 13th June. The Court notes that KQG 462 returned to Shimanzi workshop on 13th May. The Court would be making further comments on the evidence of this witness in due course.

The Respondents also called Mr. Willis Omondi who confirmed having brought these spares from General Automobile Corporation and that he had handed them over to Mr. Otianga in his office at the workshop. This witness further said that on 13th May Mr. Otianga did not send him to purchase any spare parts and he saw Mr. Otianga on that day which was a Saturday when he was collected from his house after 9 a.m. by him and he, Omondi, repaired KNH 457. This witness conceded in cross-examination that the only repairs he did on this vehicle were to clean the carburettor and plugs and change the oil.

He said no spare parts whatsoever were used in the repair of this vehicle which was repaired near Otianga's house.

The Respondents also called one Mr. J. E. Onyango as a witness who explained that the procedure at the workshop was that the vehicle came to the workshop with E 27 form. Otianga would examine the vehicle and decide to accept it for repairs, then the driver went back to the general office and obtained a job card from a clerk working under him and the driver then took the duplicate copy of the job card together with E 27 back to Mr. Otianga who would then decide the spare parts required and send one of the mechanics to go and collect the spares for repairs. Once the spares were brought back to the workshop with the delivery note, the delivery note was taken to the office by Mr. Otianga and a clerk wrote out an LPO. This witness accepted that he had signed and stamped invoice No. 831 on 14th June, 1978 as having examined and certified items received and used for Posts & Telecommunications property. He confirmed that this invoice was in respect of order No. 262400 totalling to Sh. 1,208. He added that he had signed the said certificate on the strength of motor vehicle number, delivery note, LPO and invoice and also because Otianga had signed on the invoice. He said that Otianga would know if the spare parts had been used or not. He admitted that a job card was issued being No. 452/78 when the vehicle came to the workshop. He accepted that he was disciplined as result of this incident and was demoted but as a result of subsequent appeals he got back his rank but he lost one increment. In cross-examination he accepted that major repairs were needed for KQG 462 in respect of the police check.

The Respondents' other witness was a driver who stated that he went to Malindi on 13th May and said that there was no problem of brakes and that the clutch of this vehicle had no problem either.

The final witness for the Respondents was Mr. F. P. Gimode whose evidence in brief was that he acted on the instructions he had received from the personnel manager in dismissing Mr. Otianga. He explained and produced the investigator's report addressed to the managing director dated 28th August, 1978. On this report Mr. Gitau the Managing Director had instructed the personnel manager that the three officers should be dismissed forthwith unless the personnel manager held other strong views. The personnel manager had directed Mr. Gimode that there was no need to issue any charge letter to Mr. Otianga and he should be dismissed but the other two, Messrs. Omondi and Onyango, should be interdicted pending receipt of their defence and decision on the same.

So far there is nothing in the evidence produced by the Respondents which would in any way convince that Mr. Otianga had utilized spare parts ordered on behalf of the Corporation in a private vehicle. The Respondents have, however, in the main, relied on a statement which Mr. Otianga is alleged to have made to the Respondents' investigator Mr. Gatiga on 29th July, 1978. It is alleged that in this statement Mr. Otianga admitted the fraud and agreed to refund the whole amount of Sh. 1,328 to the Respondents and asked for forgiveness.

Mr. Otianga of course denied the allegations made against him in respect of this incident. He maintained that the spare parts in question were used in the Corporation vehicle No. KQG 462.

The Claimants strongly contested the alleged confession and Mr. Otianga substantially reiterated his stand during his evidence in Court which he had taken in a sworn affidavit on 26th November, 1979. Paragraphs 4 and 5 read as follows:

"That on 29th July, 1978 one Corporations investigating officer approached me with in his possession a prepared statement relating to the matter herein, the statement report which he asked me to sign before I read it and that he intimidated me into signing it having threatened me he would take the matter before the director in which case I would be dismissed forthright had I not signed the said report.

That further to the facts as hereinabove state, I signed the said document the contents which I was not aware of since I was not given an opportunity to peruse through the same and that I signed the said document as a result of the said coercion and/or intimidation."

The Court has very carefully considered Mr. Otianga's alleged confession and all the evidence that was given by Mr. Gatiga and Otianga relating thereto. To begin with Mr. Gatiga had created the impression that this statement was handwritten by Mr. Otianga himself. In the Respondents' memo in paragraph 6 it is stated, "Attached hereto is a copy of the Claimants' handwritten statement confessing the wrongful acts dated 29th July, 1978 and marked 'R.E.1'. During the hearing it transpired that this was not true and that Gatiga wrote the statement himself but added that it was a question and answer session.

The Court quite accidentally managed to get through the Respondents' witness, Mr. Gimode, Mr. Gatiga's investigation report on this incident which he had made to the managing director on 28th August 1978. From this report it appears that motor vehicle KNH 457 was repaired in the Respondents' Shimanzi workshop yet the Respondents were not able to produce any evidence in Court from any persons working in that workshop to substantiate that. Mr. Gatiga in this report stated that he had personally queried about KNH 457 when he saw it at Shimanzi workshop and he then gives an account of what he thinks must have happened. He wrote as follows in his report:

"What I think is that the motor vehicle KNH 457 must have been repaired with quite a lot of money of the Kenya Post Office but now it is not easy to know as to how much since a P. & T. motor vehicle registration must have been quoted on the delivery note, LPO and the invoice. After the spare parts had been collected and used an LPO No. 262400 dated 18th May, 1978 was prepared by Mr. John Enock Onyango PF. 19949 Motor Transport Officer so as to effect payment of the said spare parts. Mr. Onyango quoted the registration number of KQG 462 on the LPO to indicate that the spare parts were bought for the said vehicle. No doubt Mr. Onyango who is the Motor Transport Officer should have known why motor vehicle KNH 457 was in the garage which he says he did question about. At the same time I do not see how Mr. Onyango could have signed an LPO without knowing whether the spare parts bought by the said LPO were meant for the said vehicle. Mr. Onyango's statement is flagged 'D' in the file for your perusal. The LPO and the invoice and the voucher which paid the supplier is enclosed in the file and flagged 'E' as to the owner of KNH 457 which was repaired with the said spare parts was approached by me and he refused to give any statement. According to the given information Mr. Otianga was paid Sh. 4,300 for the spare parts and labour. Instead of Mr. Otianga using the given money to buy spare parts he used the Corporation's money. No doubt this must have been a racket which has been going on with Messrs. Otianga, Onyango and Omondi. The three are one tribe and the positions they hold in the garage they follow one another. This being the case it is very easy for them to conspire. What I know this has not been the first deed, they must have done many more which are not known. As you can now see the Corporation must have lost colossal of money this way in our garages."

Having said the above Mr. Gatiga suggested that the three involved—Otianga, Onyango and Omondi—should be dismissed on the grounds of dishonesty. Mr. Gatiga then makes a very serious allegation against Otianga in that he writes that this is not the first case where Mr. Otianga has been involved in theft. He said that Otianga was involved in another case in Nakuru where he had stolen a brand new battery and that that Otianga paid for the battery. There is no evidence at all on this incident and the Court wonders why if that was the case and indeed in the present incident, these matters were not handed to the police to be dealt with under the criminal laws of the country.

There is also no evidence at all that Mr. Otianga was paid Sh. 4,300 for spare parts and labour to repair a private vehicle to which Mr. Gatiga has made reference in his report.

The Court was not impressed by Mr. Gatiga's evidence in Court and his confidential report further supports the Court's view that he acted more on conjectures and thoughts on what could have happened rather than on the factual evidence that he could gather. As it is there is no independent piece of evidence to corroborate the so called confession of Mr. Otianga and considering all the circumstances the Court has come to the conclusion that it would be unsafe to rely on the said confession and the Court accordingly has decided to reject it. In all probability the circumstances under which this confession was made as related by Mr. Otianga in his evidence are true as against the version given by Mr. Gatiga.

The Respondents' representative in a lengthy final submission tried to patch up a case against Mr. Otianga on circumstantial evidence only and drew a lot of inferences from various incidents. His attempt to prove his case in this manner has failed because in the circumstantial chain of events that he has described there are big loopholes. To name only a few how come that on an official job card in respect of the Corporation's vehicle KQG 462 under entries dated 13th June spares worth Sh. 1,208 have been used on it. Then there is no evidence as alleged by Mr. Gatiga that a private vehicle KNH 457 was repaired in the Shimanzi workshop and/or that such spare parts were used in this vehicle either in the Shimanzi workshop or outside anywhere.

The Court while acknowledging that Mr. Mbaya for the Respondents did his best to put up a convincing case has come to the conclusion that under the circumstances surrounding this whole business and the documentary evidence that was tendered by the parties in support thereof the Court cannot come to a decision even on a balance of probability against Mr. Otianga. The Court must point out that the Respondents' own witness, Mr. Onyango stated that one of his juniors very much wanted to take his position in the general office at Shimanzi workshop. In these circumstances the Court cannot rule out that it was probably that person who telephoned Mr. Gatiga about an alleged irregularity. This very much smacks of a "fitina".

The Court notes that although three persons are alleged to have been involved in this incident the Respondents' personnel department, notwithstanding Mr. Gatiga's recommendation and the managing director's instructions, dismissed Mr. Otianga without formally charging him and decided to charge the other two—Onyango and Omondi—with the result that both of them are still in employment in the same positions as before and Mr. Otianga finds himself dismissed. The Court is of the view that the Respondents' personnel department should have also formally charged Mr. Otianga even though as far as they were concerned it would have been a mere formality but by not doing so they breached the principles of natural justice. Mr. Otianga was denied an opportunity of clearing himself.

The Court must emphasize that it has carefully considered the delivery note and the cash sale in the name of Mr. Otianga dated 23rd May and 15th June which he produced in cross-examination. The Court can only infer under the circumstances of this dispute that these were in respect of Mr. Otianga's private transaction.

As far as the submissions that Otianga failed to appeal against the decision to dismiss him is concerned the Court finds that Claimants Appendix 7 although headed "Appeal for my leave subsistence allowance" is really an appeal on his dismissal. In any case he had from a very early stage handed over the matter to the Claimants.

The Court also expects that in cases of this nature in such organizations as the Respondents where employees are alleged to have committed criminal offence then the dictates of justice demand that they should be prosecuted in a criminal court and the employees future decided by the outcome of the criminal proceedings. In this case the Respondents did not do so obviously because they knew that they had a doubtful case and instead decided to take the extreme step of terminating a long service employee's employment on an investigator's report which was based more on his own thinking than factual evidence procured by him.

After careful consideration of all the submissions made by the parties and the evidence tendered in support the Court has come to the conclusion that Mr. Otianga has suffered a wrongful dismissal because he had not used the alleged spare parts in a private vehicle. All the documentary evidence including the payment of the relevant invoice clearly shows that it was a legitimate transaction in respect of a Corporation vehicle.

The Court awards that Mr. Otianga should be reinstated to his former employment with the Respondents with effect from 1st August, 1981, without any loss of service. The Court further awards in addition to Mr. Otianga's reinstatement that he should be paid one third salary for all the time that he was out of employment with the Respondents.

GAZETTE NOTICE No. 2173

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 20 OF 1981

Parties:

Railways & Harbours Union (K)
and
Kenya Railways

Issue in dispute:

Wrongful/improper/unfair and unjustifiable termination of G. S. Majanga's services and refusal by the Corporation to accede to the demand for reinstatement.

1. The Railways & Harbours Union (K) shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Kenya Railways shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 23rd and 24th June, 1981 and in addition to relying on their written and verbal submissions called the following witnesses:

Claimants.—G. S. Majanga

Respondents.—H. K. Munyi
M. Dolo.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 16th June, 1980 duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 3rd April, 1981 together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

G. S. Majanga started working for the Respondents' predecessor, the E.A. Railways & Harbours Corporation, in 1967 as a porter. At that time he was in Grade RC III. In 1970 he was promoted to storeman and moved one grade up to RC II. In this post his duties were of clerical nature. The Court is satisfied on this point on the evidence of Mr. Majanga and from the correspondence that was addressed to him by the District Supplies Officer between 1970 to 1976 when he was referred to in the beginning as Assistant Storeman NC II, then Storeman NC II, the Assistant Storeman RC II. It should be noted that the change in grades came about as a result of Omari Commission when NC III and NC II were amalgamated and became RC II as it was felt that there was not much difference between them and they carried the same responsibility.

The Respondents did try to argue during the hearing that after having worked as a storeman Mr. Majanga was then again asked to work as a porter which he did. The Respondents, however, have not proved this point at all. They called no witnesses to prove it and the one document which they submitted as an exhibit does not prove this point either. The Court finds that Mr. Majanga continued to work as an assistant storeman until 11th October, 1976 when he received instructions from the District Supplies Officer, Mombasa, where he had been stationed all along, that he being a porter in RC II should report to the headman for instructions along with three other persons who were named therein. Mr. Majanga objected to this transfer which meant that he was required to revert from his clerical duties to the work of a porter after six years. The District Supplies Officer warned him on 15th October, 1976 that if he failed to report to the headman as instructed on 16th October he would face severe disciplinary action. On 16th October, 1976 he was interdicted in terms of staff regulations G.9(a) for having flatly refused to obey instructions.

On 28th October, 1976 he received a letter in which the alleged misconduct was listed and he was also informed that he could apply for a personal hearing if he so wished. This he did.

This personal hearing stems from the disciplinary procedure as embodied in annexure D clause 11 of the industrial relations machinery 1975 which reads:

"An employee, if he so desire, may be heard in person before an officer other than the officer who charged him."

Mr. Majanga was given a personal hearing but most surprisingly the District Supplies Officer who is alleged to have instructed Mr. Majanga to go and work as a porter from his clerical duties as a storeman and who had interdicted him and had issued him letter 2, decided to chair the meeting during which Mr. Majanga was given the personal hearing! The Court will be referring to this grave irregularity in due course.

On 1st December, 1976 his services were terminated and the letter of termination was signed by the same District Supplies Officer and reads as follows:

"Further to my letter of even reference dated 24th November, 1976 I have to inform you that since you are neither prepared to work as directed nor to obey instructions given to you by your superiors your services with this corporation are no long required.

This letter therefore serves as formal notice to terminate your services with this corporation after thirty days on receipt of this letter. You are not due any leave up to 31st December, 1976.

Please acknowledge receipt of this letter on the duplicate copy attached."

The Respondents have maintained that they acted rather leniently towards Mr. Majanga in terminating his services as they could have summarily dismissed him and that in addition to the notice period they have offered to pay him on his terminal benefits which the Court was told would amount to Sh. 4,000. They relied on the termination clause in the letter of appointment of group "C" staff which is a sort of a card and was produced as an exhibit.

The Court notes that staff regulation C.3(a) reads as follows on the letters of appointment:

"C.3(a) Every permanent and pensionable employee, every temporary employee and every permanent and non-pensionable employee or wages employee in a salary scale derived from the Superscale, Group A or Group B will be given a letter of appointment in the proper form, as also will trainees and cadets. Specimens of these letters are shown as appendices 1-5 of this section. Every employee on contract agreement will be given a properly drawn-up contract setting out the mutually agreed terms and conditions on which the employee will serve. Where any provision of such a contract is in conflict with these regulations the provision in the contract will prevail."

The Court is satisfied that Mr. Majanga was a permanent non-pensionable employee of the Respondents and further that the second sentence of the above C.3 does not apply to him as was submitted by the Respondents. These properly drawn up contracts are certainly to cater for special appointments like those of expatriates, etc.

The Court is satisfied that the Respondents having abandoned their intention to summarily dismiss him should be deemed to have acted under G.12 of the staff regulations. It is quite obvious that the Respondents did not exhaust the procedure specified in G.12 before terminating his services.

Apart from this point the Respondents' District Supplies Officer acted most unreasonably in demoting as far as duties were concerned (not salary) in requiring an employee who had worked for six years as a clerk to revert back and do the work of a porter along with the persons whom he used to supervise to some extent. The Respondents have relied on staff regulation A.2(a) which reads as follows:

"2(a) An employee must serve at such places in East Africa as the head of this department may determine. The employee must devote himself entirely to the duties of his post during such hours of duty as may be prescribed. The services of an employee are not limited to the work which may be specified in his contract of service or letter of appointment, and he may be called upon to perform any reasonable duty for which he may be fitted in connection with the working of the administration."

The Court finds that Mr. Majanga was not called upon to perform "any reasonable duty" under the circumstances of this dispute and he was therefore fully entitled to query this decision by the District Supplies Officer.

It is accepted that every employee must render prompt obedience to all persons placed in authority over him but it should be borne in mind that the orders they are required to obey should be lawful, reasonable and within the norms of good management practices. Mr. Majanga's transfer from clerical duties to work as a porter was neither reasonable nor consistent with good management practices. Therefore he could not validly be charged for having disobeyed the order of his superior.

The Respondents not only erred in this regard in this dispute but went on and committed a very grave irregularity which they tried to justify by completely misinterpreting clause 11 of annexure D of the industrial relations machinery. The Court finds that the District Supplies Officer had no business whatsoever of chairing the meeting where his decision was the subject matter of the complaint. A careful persual of the wording of clause 11 clearly reveals that the words "if he so desires" refer to the aspect of the grievant being heard and does not in any way relate to the words "before an officer other than the officer who charged him". The proper interpretation of this clause 11 is that if the employee desires to be heard then such hearing should be before an officer other than the officer who charged him. Under no circumstances can this hearing be before the same officer who charged him. The Court finds that the Respondents are guilty of a serious administrative error and they have not only violated their own industrial relations machinery but have also acted contrary to the principles of natural justice.

The Court agrees with the Claimants when they say that the Respondents having found that they had made a grave error in this dispute then instead of taking the logical step of handing out a summary dismissal to Mr. Majanga proceeded to act under different regulations which had no relevance to this dispute in order to give him a normal termination. The Court feels that the Respondents were trying to cover up the mistakes they had made.

After careful consideration of all the submissions and the evidence given by the various witnesses the Court has no hesitation in coming to the conclusion that Mr. Majanga has suffered a wrongful dismissal at the hands of the Respondents. The Court has now to decide on his reinstatement and/or compensation.

It is most unfortunate that mainly due to the break up of the Community there has been an almost five years' delay before this dispute found its way to the Industrial Court. Under these circumstances the Court feels that reinstatement would not be in the interest of either party in this dispute but the Court finds that Mr. Majanga deserves the maximum possible compensation that the Industrial Court can award if it does not award reinstatement. The Court accordingly awards that the Respondents should pay Mr. Majanga twelve months' salary by way of compensation for the wrongful dismissal that he has suffered. This compensation is to be in addition to the notice period and the terminal benefits which the Respondents have offered to pay him.

Given in Nairobi on the 8th July, 1981.
