GAZETTE NOTICE No. 3698

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 26 OF 1969

Parties:—

Kenya Motor Engineering and Allied Workers' Union
and

Motor Trade and Allied Industries Employers' Association

Issue in dispute:—

"Conflicting Outside Interests", i.e. whether or not employees are free outside their normal working hours to engage in any activities which would be in conflict with their duties as full-time employees of their employer.

1. The Kenya Motor Engineering and Allied Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and the Motor Trade and Allied Industries Employers' Association shall hereinafter be referred to as Respondents.

2. The parties appeared before the Court on 23rd October 1969, 28th November 1969, 17th February 1970, 28th February 1970, 15th July 1970, 24th July 1970, and finally on 12th November 1970. During the hearing of this dispute the parties relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. After the parties had made their opening submissions on 28th November 1969, they agreed to restart the negotiations through their advocates with a view to arriving at an amicable settlement. The parties adopted this course at a suggestion made by the Court.

Thereafter the parties and their advocates exchanged their respective proposals but could not reach an agreement. Eventually they asked the Court to resume the hearing which was done on 12th November 1970. On this date the parties' proposals were as follows:—

Claimants' Proposed Clause for Inclusion in the Agreement

"Whilst every employee is entitled to use his leisure hours for his own benefit, it must be borne in mind that all employees owe a duty of fidelity to their respective full-time employers. An employee may not during his term of employment engage himself for reward in business whereby such employee entices away from his full-time employer any person who to the knowledge of the employee has been a regular customer of or in the habit of dealing with the full-time employer. This duty of fidelity varies with each employee depending on his seniority and the confidential position which he may enjoy with his full-time employer."

Respondents' Proposed Clause for Inclusion in the Agreement

"Whilst every employee is entitled to use his leisure hours for his own benefit it must be borne in mind that all employees owe a duty of fidelity to their respective full-time employers. An employee may not during his term of employment engage himself for reward in any business whereby such employee renders services for or supplies goods to any person who to the knowledge of the employee has been a customer of or has dealt with the full-time employer except with the knowledge and consent of such full-time employer. This duty of fidelity varies with each employee depending on his seniority and the confidential position which he may enjoy with his full-time employer."

The parties addressed the Court at length on their respective proposals, after which the Court awarded that the following clauses should be embodied in their current agreement:—

1. Whilst every employee is entitled to use his leisure hours for his own benefit, it must be borne in mind that all employees owe a duty of fidelity to their respective full-time employers.
2. An employee may not of his own volition during his term of employment engage himself for reward in any business with an established customer who has normally dealt with his employer, and shall not at any time do anything for reward which might inflict harm on his employer's business.
3. This duty of fidelity varies with each employee depending on his seniority and the confidential position which he may enjoy with his full-time employer.

Dated this 12th day of November 1970.

GAZETTE NOTICE No. 3699

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 33 OF 1970

Parties:—

Tailors and Textiles Workers' Union
and Acif Limited

Issue in dispute:—

Payment of mid-month's advances.

1. The Tailors and Textiles Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Acif Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 30th of November 1970, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. There is at present a valid and binding Agreement between the parties, regulating terms and conditions of employment of the Respondents' employees. This agreement became effective from 12th May 1969, and is valid for a period of 21 months from that date.

The relevant clause on the payment of wages is 14 and reads as follows:—

"All monthly paid employees shall be paid on the last day of each month. In the event of the last day of any month falling on Sunday or a gazetted Public Holiday then wages will be paid on the last working day prior to such Sunday or gazetted holiday."

Notwithstanding the above the Respondents used to give mid-month advances to their employees in the past three years but discontinued the practice from the beginning of this year. During the hearing the Court was not informed of the reason why the Respondents had discontinued the practice.

As was to be expected, the workers resented this and the Claimants took up the matter on their behalf. The Respondents, however, refused to change their attitude and the matter has come to the Industrial Court after the machinery laid down in the Trade Disputes Act 1965 had been duly exhausted.

The Claimants submitted that the payment of a mid-month advance was a common practice in Kenya and, particularly, in the textile industry all the employers gave this facility to their workers. The total number of employees affected by this dispute is about 400 and they were being subjected to a great hardship by the non-payment of a mid-month advance—the reason being the low wages paid to them.

The Respondents on the other hand relied on the statutory provisions currently in force in Kenya as embodied in section 53—subsection 2 (c) of the Employment Act which stipulates when wages shall be due:—

"In the case of an employee employed daily, weekly, fortnightly, monthly or on a journey at the expiration of the day, week, fortnight or calendar month or on the completion of the journey respectively."

In addition to this they submitted that in accordance with clause 14 of their Agreement with the Claimants they were fully justified in withdrawing the practice of the payment of a mid-month advance which in fact was nothing but payment of wages every fortnight.

The Court finds that this is so in that the money which the Claimants refer to as the "advance" is in fact an advance payment of wages due under the contract. Apart from the statutory provisions, the parties' own agreement on this point is very clear as laid down in clause 14 quoted hereinbefore.

The fact that an employer pays a mid-month advance to his workers does not confer a legal right. The matter remains entirely at the discretion of the employer.

In view of the foregoing facts the Court is inhibited from making an award as demanded by the Claimants and after a careful consideration of all the submissions the Court must refuse to make an award ordering the Respondents to start paying the mid-month advance. An award in favour of the Claimants would amount to a revocation of clause 14 which has been voluntarily agreed by the two parties.

However, the Court is somewhat disturbed by what would, in the absence of any other satisfactory explanation, appear to be lack of social conscience on the part of the Respondents. The level of wages in this country is such that many progressive employers, and these are in a majority, look upon it as a social duty to arrange payment of mid-month advances in order to enable their workers to obtain basic necessities of life throughout the month. This is done notwithstanding the fact that in many instances the Contracts of Service are monthly.

The Court would like to stress that in the maintenance of sound human and industrial relations an employer needs to be mindful not only of his legal obligations, but also of other moral and social obligations which, if ignored, could damage industrial peace and endanger good human relations.

The Court is certain that if the Respondents view the issue in this light, they will be able to appreciate the Claimants' wishes and, legal and contractual obligations apart, treat it with the sympathy it deserves.

Unfortunately, the Court can do no more than this to assist the Claimants in their present predicament.

GAZETTE NOTICE No. 3710

THE TRADE MARKS

(Cap. 506)

NOTICE is hereby given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the trade marks advertised herein according to the classes may, within 60 days from the date of this Gazette, lodge notice of opposition on Form T.M. No. 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of Sh. 50.

Notice is also hereby given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the Registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make if and when it is registered. Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the Registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the Registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him any opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.

Representations of the marks advertised herein can be seen at the Trade Marks Registry, State Law Office, Nairobi.

Applications for registration in Part A of the Register are shown with the official number unaccompanied by any letter. Applications for Part B are distinguished by the letter B prefixed to the official number.
