THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No 30 OF 1975

Parties —

Hughes Ltd

Amalgamated Union of Kenya Metal Workers

Issue in dispute — The redundancy of 22 employees of Hughes Service Station, Nairobi

1 Hughes Ltd shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and the Amalgamated Union of Kenya Metal Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents

2 The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 22nd day of July, 1975, and relied on their written and verbal submissions

AWARD

3 The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 7th April, 1975, was received by the Court on 2nd May along with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner

This is an application by the Claimants seeking the Court's approval to declare 22 of their employees who were employed at their service station in Nairobi redundant

The application is before the Court under section 9A (6) which reads as follows —

"All cases of redundancy shall be subject to the approval of the Industrial Court"

Soon after the enactment of the aforesaid subsection the Permanent Secretary, Ministry of Labour, issued a circular to all the interested parties dated 31st August, 1971. He subsequently issued another circular on 27th January, 1972, and finally in the light of the experience and the complaints which had been expressed by the parties he issued another circular dated 20th December, 1973

In the present dispute and in another dispute concerning redundancy the parties expressed views indicating that these circulars issued by the Permanent Secretary were in contravention of the law. During the hearing the parties asked the Court to give its views on these circulars regarding their validity and secondly whether the parties were still under an obligation to exhaust their own laid down machinery in the Recognition Agreement

The Court finds that the Permanent Secretary has not laid down a legal procedure in the aforesaid circulars. All that he has done is to produce a workable machinery for dealing with redundancy matters in order to avoid an undue waste of time of the Industrial Court

The legal provision on the question of redundancy has been stated hereinabove and as is obvious it is very short indeed. No wonder the Permanent Secretary had to take the initiative in order to advise the parties how to go about obtaining the approval of the Industrial Court in cases of redundancy

The Court would like to point out that the parties are bound by their own voluntary machinery for settling their disputes in accordance with the provisions of their recognition agreements. This they cannot under any circumstances override and the Permanent Secretary makes it quite clear in paragraph 3 (c) of his circular that where any agreement is not reached within 30 days between the employer and the union at their level the matter should be referred to the Ministry of Labour for conciliation with a view to voluntary agreement being reached

The Court is quite convinced that "at their level" means exhausting fully the parties' own voluntarily laid down machinery in the recognition agreement. In the present dispute it would mean the Joint Industrial Council (JIC)

The Claimants therefore erred in not taking up this matter at the JIC level before reporting a trade dispute to the Minister for Labour

The Respondents on the other hand are also not right in their thinking that the Permanent Secretary's circulars are in contravention of the legal provisions. As stated above, the Permanent Secretary has done no more than lay down a workable machinery for dealing with the redundancy application

Now reverting to the application the Court is satisfied that there are no mala fides in the closure of the Claimants' service station. The Court is satisfied that the Claimants had genuine economic reasons for getting out of a subsidiary sideline business of a service station. The Respondents do not challenge the Claimants on this particular point

That being so the question now before the Court is whether or not the Claimants should be given permission to declare the employees concerned redundant or to order them to be absorbed in their other establishments

During the hearing the Court was told that the Claimants since they indicated their intention to declare these 22 employees redundant have found alternative jobs for eight of them and that two of them had left their employment of their own accord

The employees remaining are 12 as follows —

Clerk	1
Pump attendants	8
Skilled labourers	2
Unskilled labourer	1

The Respondents have strongly resisted this application mainly on the ground that the Claimants being one of the biggest motor trade establishments should have no problem in finding jobs for the aforesaid employees more so because they also side by side with their own business owned another subsidiary company under the name of Eastern Motors

The Respondents also produced a list of employees who had been employed by the Claimants since 1st January, 1975, in their various departments but had left out the former employees at their service station. It is alleged that in addition to continuing the practice of engaging casual labour the Claimants had employed four stores pickers, two mechanics, one stores cleaner, one key puncher, one welder, one carpenter, one sweeper, one office messenger, one clerk and a driver which jobs could easily have been done by the employees in respect of whom the application for redundancy had been made

The Claimants stated that the pump attendants could not have done any of the jobs stated and that it was ridiculous for the Respondents to expect the Claimants to engage full-time employees to replace the casual labour who were required to work on very few occasions

The Claimants clarified that they did not own Eastern Motors but acted only as managing agents for that firm but had the right to hire and fire their employees

The Court notes that these employees are doing no work since the Claimants stopped running the service station since 1st February, 1975, the date when the Claimants terminated the tenancy agreement of the service station which they had with the Kenya Shell Ltd. All these employees have, however, been receiving their wages every month which the Claimants told the Court was in the region of £275 p.m.

The Court has noted that the new operator of the service station offered jobs to these employees but they refused to transfer their employment, obviously because the new operator was going to pay them in accordance with the rates applicable to the Nairobi Petrol Dealers Association employees which rates are lower than the Motor Trade Association rates by about Sh 100

After careful consideration of all the submissions the Court finds that at least three other jobs for which new employees were engaged since January 1975, could have been offered to three employees out of the 12 involved in this dispute. The jobs of stores cleaner, sweeper and office messenger did not need any extensive training and ones which surely pump attendants can do. Eastern Motors employed a clerk and yet there is a clerk on the Claimants' payroll among the said 12 employees

In the aforesaid circumstances the Court while approving the Claimants' application in principle has decided that they should be given permission to declare only eight employees redundant and they should continue in employment four of the remaining 12 employees because they have erred in not offering them the jobs that they could easily have performed and for which the Claimants engaged new employees

The Court firmly believes that it should not be difficult for the Claimants to absorb these four employees in other departments of their establishment without having to get rid of the new employees

The Court noted that when the Respondents produced the list of employees engaged by the Claimants since 1st January, 1975, the list was not challenged or denied

The Court directs that the parties should immediately embark on carrying out redundancy in respect of eight employees for whom permission has been granted by the Court in accordance with the parties' own collective agreement and the principles enunciated in the Industrial Relations Charter

Parties —

Kenya Petroleum Oil Workers' Union
and
Caltex Oil Kenya Ltd

Issue in dispute — Wrongful dismissal of Joel Awuor

1 The Kenya Petroleum Oil Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Caltex Oil Kenya Ltd shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents

2 The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 25th day of July, 1975, and relied on their written and verbal submissions

AWARD

3 The Notification of Dispute Form A" dated 24th April, 1975, was received by the Court on 21st May, 1975, along with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner

The Respondents terminated the services of Joel Awuor on 26th August, 1974. The letter of termination read as follows —

"This is to inform you that the company has decided to dispense with your services with effect from 15th August, 1974, as a result of 2,000 litres premium petrol which left the terminal on 6th August, 1974, without being accounted for

Please arrange to collect your salary and moneys due to you up to and including 15th August, 1974"

The Respondents have offered to pay him a sum of Sh 1,038 being his dues up to 15th August, 1974, and he is entitled to a further payment of Sh 1,351/75 being the provident fund contributions

Mr Awuor started working for the Respondents on 1st January, 1972, as an accounts clerk

The incident leading to his dismissal took place on 6th August, 1974, when it is alleged that 2,000 litres of premium oil left the Respondents' Mombasa depot without authority. On the day in question the Respondents had received an order from a petrol station in Mombasa for 2,250 litres of premium and 2,250 litres of dezol. Mr Awuor was responsible for handling the orders and executing them. It is alleged that on his instructions the operative employee filled the truck—two compartments with premium and the third compartment with dezol. This quantity was entered on the terminal tankcar dip check which is in triplicate. The entries on the copies of the dip check do not tally in respect of the premium petrol. The yellow copy shows that 4,250 litres of premium were filled in the tank whereas the duplicate white copy of the same order is altered in that the "4,250" has been cancelled and there is an entry in ink reading "2,250"

The Respondents allege that Mr Awuor had also prepared the gate pass showing that the products that were leaving the depot were 2,250 litres premium and 2,250 litres dezol but one Mr Mbithi who verified the order with the sales clerk found that the customer had ordered only 2,250 litres premium and 2,250 litres dezol and when he further checked with Mr Awuor regarding the contents of the third compartment, Mr Awuor is alleged to have told him that the extra compartment filled with the premium petrol was an earlier order which was pending. On inquiries being made it was found that there was no previous order pending and further investigations revealed that Mr Awuor had altered the duplicate dip check after the delivery of products and altered it to show two compartments only. The original had not been altered and when Mr Awuor was asked why he had not altered it he answered that he "forgot" to do so.

The Claimants had taken up the matter on behalf of their member, Mr Awuor, and this had resulted in an investigation by the Ministry of Labour. The Chief Industrial Relations Officer forwarded the following findings and recommendation to the parties on 8th April, 1975 —

"Mr Awuor's services were terminated before the Police completed their investigation. If there were evidence incriminating Mr Awuor, the Police could not have hesitated to charge him. The Police could not find any evidence against him hence their inability to charge Mr Awuor

Recommendation

Mr Awuor was wrongfully dismissed and I recommend that he be reinstated into his job without loss of any benefits or wages"

During the hearing the Claimants have relied mainly on the Police investigation report in the matter in which the Police had stated that Mr Awuor could not be charged for theft as there was no evidence against him, further the driver of the truck had also been acquitted by the Court

The Claimants explained that Mr Awuor had made a genuine mistake while filling the dip check and that when he realized his mistake he altered the figure 4,250 to read 2,250 but since the original was already in possession of Mr Mbithi he altered only the duplicate. He did not alter the original because he could not find Mr Mbithi.

The Claimants were further critical that the Respondents had not either followed the provisions of their collective bargaining agreement regarding warning letters or the grievance procedure for solving the parties' problems. They accused the Respondents of having denied Mr Awuor the right to exhaust the grievance procedure.

The Claimants were further critical of the Respondents' written submission which they alleged had contained errors. They asked the Court to find that Mr Awuor's dismissal was wrongful and pressed for his reinstatement without loss of any salary or other benefits.

The Respondents on the other hand submitted that Mr Awuor had been warned once before for a similar incident when he got products out of the depot unaccounted for and he appeared to be an unreliable employee and could not be kept in employment any longer.

The Respondents stated that the dismissal of Mr Awuor was justified as he had tried to falsify the company's accounting system by altering the dips, etc., and had again led the company to lose products through falsification of accounts.

The Respondents felt that the result of the Police investigations did not debar them from taking disciplinary measures against an employee who was found to be unreliable and unsuitable for continued employment.

The Court is rather surprised that for an incident which took place in Mombasa an investigator was appointed by the Ministry of Labour who is based in Nairobi. To make matters worse the Court was told that the investigator did not take the trouble of travelling down to Mombasa to make inquiries on the spot and had merely relied on the parties' letters to him giving their version of the incident. In these circumstances the Court does not intend to place much importance on the findings and recommendations which were forwarded to the parties by the Chief Industrial Relations Officer.

The Court has gone through the whole case most thoroughly and on the balance of probabilities has come to the conclusion that Mr Awuor did indeed falsify company documents. The fact that the Police did not find that a charge of theft was warranted against him has no bearing since it is established that an employee had indeed falsified certain documents in order to deprive his employer of certain products. The Court cannot believe that Mr Awuor had written on the dip check 4,250 litres of premium in error and that subsequently realizing his mistake he had altered it to read 2,250 but could not alter the original because it was not with him. The Court finds that once the tankcar had been filled it was then that Mr Awuor made the alteration in the dip check so that the extra 2,000 litres that was leaving the depot would not be detected by the accounts when tallying with the customer's order.

It is significant that the Respondents had also terminated the services of the watchman who was on duty at that time and all the documents in respect of that termination were made available to the Court. The reason for the watchman's dismissal was that he had allowed the driver of the truck to leave the terminal with 2,000 litres of petrol unaccounted for.

Even though it may not have been proved that Mr Awuor had committed a theft the fact remains that if nothing else, the circumstances of the incident clearly show that Mr Awuor did have an intent to carry out a dishonest deed. It is significant that the Claimants did not call Mr Awuor to give evidence on oath and to tender him for questions by the Respondents and the Court. Further the Claimants' written submission left a lot to be desired in a case of this nature.

The Court has no doubt that Mr Awuor's termination is fully justified under the circumstances. The Court always helps workers in order to give them the fullest possible security of employment where the Court finds that an employer has terminated their services without any justifiable cause or reason. The Court, however, will not extend any sympathy to dishonest workers or those workers who enter into shady deals. The employers are entitled to be protected from such unreliable employees.

The Court accordingly rejects the Claimants' demand for Mr Awuor's reinstatement or payment of any compensation for wrongful termination.

GAZETTE NOTICE No 2810

THE TRADE MARKS ACT
(Cap 506)

NOTICE is hereby given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the trade marks advertised herein according to the classes may, within 60 days from the date of this Gazette, lodge notice of opposition on Form T M No 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of Sh 50

Notice is also hereby given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the Registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make if and when it is registered. Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the Registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the Registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him any opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.

Representations of the marks advertised herein can be seen at the Trade Marks Registry, State Law Office Nairobi.

Applications for registration in Part A of the Register are shown with the official number unaccompanied by any letter. Applications for Part B are distinguished by the letter B prefixed to the official number.
