A Wells & Co, Ltd, Progress Works, Stirling Road Walthamstow, London, E 17

L S Mayer (London), Ltd, Sackville House 38-40 Piccadilly, London, W1

(d) Towels and Towelling of U S A Origin—

No further import licences will be issued for these items for the time being

(e) Indian Cotton Textiles—

No further import licences will be issued against fixed offers for the time being

(f) African Traders—

African traders are once again reminded that they are entitled to exactly the same facilities in regard to import licences as any other trading community in the Colony. Statements which have been recently made that African traders are not entitled to these facilities are quite untrue. African traders are also informed that advice and assistance regarding imports will be made available upon request at the office of the Imports Controller P O Box 1567, Nairobi

(g) Gold—

The issue of import licences for reasonable quantities will be resumed as heretofore

(h) Tyres and Tubes—

The Tyre Controller regrets to advise that the supply position is still difficult, particularly as regards sizes of tyres and tubes for motor cars. Many permits to purchase are outstanding which cannot be honoured immediately but it is hoped that the bulk of supplies covered by such permits will be available in the near future. Consignments are now being cleared at Mombasa and will be railed to up-country destinations as soon as possible.

As regards the future, considerable quantities of tyres and tubes have been allocated for supply to East Africa from the United Kingdom, South Africa, India and Canada, and if these can be shipped promptly by the supplying countries the position should be materially improved in about two to three months.

(i) Samples—

Importers are once again advised that samples from hard currency areas will not be admitted unless import licences can be issued for bulk quantities. Interested merchants should, therefore, apply to the office of the Imports Control in the first instance before ordering samples to ascertain whether bulk quantities will be admitted.

(j) Imports of Goods of Hard Currency Origin from Sterling Sources—

Several instances have recently occurred where importers have ordered goods of hard currency origin from sterling countries with sterling import licences. It is once again necessary to issue a warning that any goods so imported will be liable to seizure and confiscation.

(k) Confectionery from the United Kingdom—

It has been decided that import licences will be issued for 1947 up to the limit of the quota made available by the United Kingdom supply authorities.

(l) Agricultural Machinery and Tractors—

These items have the highest priority both as regards licensing and clearance at Mombasa.

It appears that rumours have become current that delay in the receipt of supplies is due to the inefficient operation of Imports Control. Such rumours are not founded on fact. Interested farmers and others are invited to visit the office of the Imports Controller to examine for themselves the steps that have been taken to secure supplies of these most important items.

Whilst H M Government in the United Kingdom has rendered all possible assistance in the procurement of agricultural machinery for East Africa it has been made quite clear that little more can be done beyond importers reiterating to their principals the urgency of their orders which are very considerable and many of which are long outstanding.

This situation is due to a world shortage of iron and steel labour difficulties and other factors beyond the control of Government and the repercussions are not felt by Kenya alone but are world wide.

(m) Cotton Piecegoods—

A few isolated instances have arisen where importers have refused to comply with distribution instructions and in other instances have deliberately delayed dispatching goods to provincial distributors. It is necessary to stress that controlled distribution is carried out in the general interest and to ensure that supplies reach all parts of the Colony. Any importer who fails to carry out distribution instructions or deliberately delays consigning goods in accordance with such instructions will be liable to have his name deleted from the importers list without notice for a period of not less than six months.

(n) Cement—

The United Kingdom authorities have advised that owing to shortage of fuel and other factors, supplies of cement from that source will be considerably reduced. It is with considerable reluctance, therefore, that Government has had to withdraw the facility of the supply of five bags of cement without permit for the time being.
