THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 3 OF 1980

Parties:

Kenya Management Staff Association
and

Coffee Research Foundation

INTERPRETATION APPLICATION RULING

The Court announced its award in the above dispute on 29th August, 1980, and awarded Dr. Okioga 12 months' salary by way of compensation in addition to his other entitlements. The relevant part of the Court award reads as follows:

"After careful consideration of all the circumstances the Court awards that the Respondents should pay Dr. Okioga 12 months' salary by way of compensation for the wrongful dismissal that he has suffered. He should also be paid all his other entitlements. This is the maximum compensation that the Court can award Dr. Okioga under the Trade Disputes Act."

The Respondents have paid Dr. Okioga a sum of Sh. 114,405/20 and are resisting the Claimants' demand for an additional sum of Sh. 21,900 representing three months' pay in lieu of notice and Sh. 1,760 which the Respondents have deducted by way of rent.

The Respondents' main submission in brief is that when the Court awards compensation then the employee's contractual rights are deemed to have been included and taken care of in that compensation. The Court must say that Mr. Kamau who appeared for the Respondents made an interesting submission which he put forward very clearly. The fact however, remains that the Court does take into consideration the points he put forward when assessing the amount of compensation to be awarded to a person who has been wrongfully dismissed. These are factors like notice period, attempts by the dismissed person to secure other employment in order to mitigate his loss, to what extent the employee contributed to his own dismissal, prospects of future employment and loss of other benefits, etc.

The Court after having found that Dr. Okioga was wrongfully dismissed had two alternatives before it as laid down in section 15 (1) of the Trade Disputes Act (old section 9A (1)) as follows:

"(1) In any case where the Industrial Court determines that an employee has been wrongfully dismissed by his employer, the Court may order that employer to reinstate that employee in his former employment, and the Court may, in addition to or instead of making an order for reinstatement, award compensation to the employee:

Provided that such compensation shall not exceed—

(i) in a case where reinstatement is ordered, the actual pecuniary loss suffered by the employee as the result of the wrongful dismissal;

(ii) in any other case, 12 months' monetary wages."

The Court decided to award Dr. Okioga compensation and awarded him 12 months' salary but proceeded to state that the Respondents should also pay him all his other entitlements. The Court did not use the words terminal benefits. There is no dispute as to what are Dr. Okioga's entitlements which the Claimants have argued are his legal right and which the Court awarded him. These are salary in lieu of notice, leave travel allowance, long service award, retirement benefits, medical claims and subsistence allowance and housing benefits.

The Court would like to point out that when it makes an award of compensation and the Court intends that pay in lieu of notice should form part of the compensation then the Court states so very clearly. In this award, the subject matter of this interpretation application, the Court did not say so and further made it very clear that in addition to the compensation Dr. Okioga should be paid his other entitlements also.

The Court cannot accept the Respondents' view point that compensation and legal entitlements should not exceed 12 months' salary. Under the first alternative the Court could have awarded Dr. Okioga's reinstatement and awarded him the actual pecuniary loss suffered by him as a result of the wrongful dismissal, i.e. full salary for all the time he was out of employment. To accept the Respondents' submission would be to give a very restrictive interpretation to section 15 (1) (ii).

After carefully considering the submissions made by both the parties the Court finds that the Claimants' interpretation of the Court award is correct. In fact if what the Claimants stated is true that the Respondents forwarded the full amount as worked out by the Claimants to their lawyers it appears that the Respondents themselves interpreted the award properly. The Court has no reason to doubt the Claimants' statement.

The Court accordingly directs the Respondents to pay Dr. Okioga a sum of Sh. 23,660 in addition to the sum of Sh. 114,405/20 which they have already paid him under the Court award. This would be subject to statutory deductions if not already made.

Interpretation Application Ruling

The Court announced its award in the above dispute on 20th June, 1980 and awarded the reinstatement of Mr. M. Kioko with effect from 1st July, 1980. The Court further awarded that for all the time he has been out of employment the Respondents should pay him half salary for all those months.

The Respondents have reinstated Mr. Kioko as awarded by the Court but the Claimants have applied to the Court for interpretation of the award because they maintain the Respondents have refused to pay Mr. Kioko the following further benefits in accordance with the Court award.

1. Mr. Kioko was not paid half salary for July, 1978 amounting to Sh. 698/30.
2. Mr. Kioko was entitled to Sh. 280 p.m. as he occupied a house provided by the Respondents and was therefore entitled to be paid this amount from July, 1978 to 15th October, 1979 (when he was ejected from the house) amounting to Sh. 4,340. In addition they claimed another Sh. 3,910 being house allowance at the rate of Sh. 460 from 15th October, 1979 to 30th June, 1980 from the total of Sh. 8,250 the Claimants deducted a sum of Sh. 2,590 which the Respondents had paid to their member leaving a balance of Sh. 5,659.10 to be paid to Mr. Kioko.
3. Mr. Kioko was not paid for the annual leave for the time he was out of employment.
4. Mr. Kioko was not paid Sh. 600 being leave travelling allowance for two years.
5. Mr. Kioko was not paid the annual increments from 1st September, 1978 to 30th June, 1980 at Sh. 65 p.m.

The Respondents resisted this interpretation put forward by the Claimants on the ground that the Claimants were making additional demands which were not mentioned in the award. On house allowance, Mr. Kombo representing the Respondents stated that he had advised the Respondents to pay one half of house allowance entitlement to Mr. Kioko on the basis of a consolidated salary but the Respondents had not agreed to it.

The Respondents asked the Court to reject the Claimants interpretation.

The Court must point out that during the hearing the parties did not mention clearly the housing benefit which was enjoyed by Mr. Kioko, the Court award therefore is silent on this point. The Court finds that Mr. Kombo's suggestion to the Respondents was proper and the Court therefore rules that the Respondents should pay Mr. Kioko half of his housing emoluments only for all the time he was out of employment. This should be in addition to the half salary awarded by the Court.

As far as annual increment is concerned this should be added to Mr. Kioko's salary and then it should be halved.

The Claimants other demands are rejected.

Issue in dispute:

Wrongful dismissal of Mrs. Margaret Odongo and Mrs. Miriam Oyugi.

1. The Domestic and Hotel Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Lutheran Church of Kenya shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 2nd October, 11th and 19th November, 1980 and in addition to relying on their written and verbal submissions called the following witnesses:

Claimants:

Mrs. M. Odongo.
Mrs. M. Oyugi.
B. Odongo.

Respondents.—Dina Awiti.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 29th August, 1979 duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 16th July, 1980 together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

This dispute involves a nursery teacher Mrs. M. Odongo who also performed the duties of a headmistress and was given a certain allowance for those duties and a cleaner Mrs. Oyugi, both of whom used to work for the Respondents' church organization in Kenya.

Mrs. Odongo worked for them from 1st November, 1973 and was dismissed on 22nd June, 1976.

Mrs. Oyugi was employed by the Respondents sometime in 1975 and was dismissed on 15th July, 1976 for absentsing herself from duty without leave or lawful cause.

The Claimants took up the matter of their dismissals and reported the dispute to the Minister for Labour. The Ministry's findings and recommendation on both of them were forwarded to the parties on 17th April, 1978 and read as follows:

"Mrs. Odongo

It is evident that the relationship between Mrs. Odongo and her employer was cordial before the employees wrote a letter of general complaint to COTU(K).

The letter written by Mrs. Onyango and other employees made serious accusation that the manager was practising racial discrimination against Africans and the management will favour the terms and conditions of service of the Kisumu Municipality. Very unfortunately the allegations were not proved or supported by evidence and worst still, Nyanza Provincial office replied to the manager stating that the area office is satisfied that there is no racial discrimination against Africans but urged that the Municipality's nursery school wages be implemented immediately. They also found that accusation of dismissal of staff was not correct and the information therefore false and untrue. This kind of accusation made on unproven facts is not conducive to good industrial relations and cannot be encouraged at all.

It is my considered opinion that the employers' action of terminating Mrs. Odongo's services was justified.

Mrs. Oyugi

It is not disputed that she asked for and was granted leave of absence but she did not report on duty on time. Perhaps she thought that since she had brought a reliever it would not make any difference even if she reported on duty late. Whatever the case the union decided to be silent on the question of reporting for duty late. It is clear that she absented herself and therefore her dismissal was justified. She should therefore be paid any of her dues that may not have been paid".

The Claimants did not accept the above recommendations and the dispute was brought to the Court.

The Court notes that the main reason for the dismissal of Mrs. Odongo was because her services and conduct were quite unsatisfactory and the Respondents completely lost confidence in her as headmistress and nursery school teacher. The crucial letter which caused the Respondents to lose confidence in her was an alleged joint complaint forwarded to COTU area secretary, Kisumu, by eight employees of the Respondents in which it was alleged that the Respondents were practising racial discrimination against Africans. The Court finds that there was no truth in such a wild allegation and further that at least two of the signatories, Dina Awiti and Luce Otieno, had not signed the said complaint. Dina Awiti gave evidence on oath and denied having signed it and there is no employee by the name of Luce Otieno and the nearest name to it is Lucas Otiende. The Court further believes that the perpetrator of this mischief was Mrs. Odongo who was raising complaints regarding her own salary. It is significant that at the same time her husband, Benjamin Odongo, who was the chairman of the Respondents' management committee which was running the nursery school where Mrs. Odongo was employed, had been relieved of his duties as the chairman.

The Claimants called Mr. Odongo to give evidence and he proved to be a most unsatisfactory witness and made certain crucial statements which because they were false he had to withdraw them. This witness has not helped the Claimants' case at all and the Court is not prepared to accept any part of his evidence as it is quite clear that he was the man responsible for dismissing the several other teachers which were mentioned by the Claimants in their memo. In fact he was the man who used to draft the letters which were then typed and signed by Rev. Tapio Laitinen.

The Court is not prepared to condone such irresponsible behaviour as was shown by Mrs. Odongo in making such unfounded mischievous allegations against her employer and expect either to win reinstatement or compensation after having suffered a dismissal. Both Mr. and Mrs. Odongo had their personal vendetta with the Respondents and on the facts as produced to the Court during the hearing the Court cannot help Mrs. Odongo at all in this dispute. The Court finds that the Ministry of Labour's finding that recommendation were proper in this case and therefore rejects the Claimants' demands in respect of her.

In the case of Mrs. Oyugi the Claimants have tried to elicit sympathy of the Court by saying that she was a widow and had a number of children whom she found very difficult to support. The Court while sympathising with Mrs. Oyugi on her plight has to apply its mind to her conduct in employment where in any case she had not served for long. The Court can find no reason why the Respondents should have victimized her if indeed she had not absented herself from duty as alleged by them. In this case also the Ministry of Labour's findings and recommendation are proper and the Court accepts them and rejects the Claimants' demand made on her behalf. The Court finds that she was justifiably dismissed.

Claimants.—B. S. Don.

A. Shamshudin.

Respondents:

P. B. Burugo.

N. Nthueri.

N. N. Kamau.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 26th January, 1980 duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 23rd July together with statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

Both these persons were employed by the Respondents as drivers until April/May, 1979. Mr. Ali Shamshudin was dismissed on 23rd April and Mr. Sheikh Don was dismissed on 3rd May, 1979. Both of them had been suspended on 10th April prior to being dismissed. At the time of their dismissal they were earning, including all allowances, between Sh. 3,500 to Sh. 4,000 p.m.

The facts which led to their dismissal are not in dispute. These are that on 8th April, 1979 these two drivers were assigned to drive to Kisii. In the morning Sheikh Don collected a safari allowance for both of them amounting to Sh. 420 at Sh. 210 each.

Mr. Njau was on duty that morning and was in charge of allocating duties to drivers. Sheikh Don handed Mr. Njau Sh. 250 with instructions that he should give it to his co-driver, Ali Shamshudin. It is not disputed that Mr. Njau did give this money to Ali Shamshudin near the KBL Club and that Sheikh Don had left for Kisii without a co-driver.

Sheikh Don did the trip to Kisii alone and Ali Shamshudin produced a medical certificate saying that he had sprained his left ankle and therefore could not make the journey.

The Respondents dismissed both of them under the above circumstances maintaining that they had committed a gross-misconduct in that they had violated the standing instructions that no driver should make a long journey alone.

There are certain points to which the Court must apply its mind before coming to a decision in this dispute. To begin with, it is quite clear that Mr. Njau was indeed if not a party to this arrangement at least very careless and negligent in the performance of his duties. In his statement when the Respondents were investigating this matter he stated that he was on duty until 12.30 p.m. and that while he was going he gave the money to Ali Shamshudin whom he met near the KBL Club. In Court while giving evidence he stated that he went off duty at 11 and that he had no other spare drivers whom he could have assigned duties if an appointed driver had failed to turn up.

The Respondents had received information that these two drivers had conspired to this arrangement with the purpose of letting an outsider drive their lorry and trailer in place of Ali Shamshudin presumably in order to gain experience. This suspicion was not proved correct as when Sheikh Don was ambushed at Gilgil on his way back from Kisii he was alone in the lorry. It must, however, be said against Sheikh Don that at Gilgil he told the Respondents' officials that his co-driver was near about but later on he admitted that he had driven all alone.

Ali Shamshudin produced a medical certificate signed by Dr. R. K. Gyagenda certifying that he had sprained his left ankle. This certificate is dated 8th April and he was given off duty for two days. Mr. Njau did not see him limping when he gave him Sh. 250 at the KBL Club and in his statement which he made in the presence of shopstewards he stated as follows:

"I received the said money which was Sh. 210 and because I was not feeling well I went to my house and slept.

I did not leave my house until in the morning of 10th April, 1979 when security guards came to my house and told me that I was wanted by the senior security officer."

The Claimants' advocate tried to trace Dr. Gyagenda in Eastleigh but stated that he was not to be found anywhere, at least not in Eastleigh.

Sheikh Don stated that after he had filled up his lorry at the petrol station and Ali Shamshudin had not shown up he decided to make the journey alone to Kisii. When asked why he did not come back to the Respondents' depot he said there would have been no one there to whom he could have reported and therefore he had to make this journey alone.

The Court was also told that if a driver collects his allowance and for any reason does not make the journey then that allowance is taken care of in the subsequent journeys which he might make.

In these aforesaid circumstances the Court cannot fathom the real reason why these two persons got involved in this so called conspiracy. Sheikh Don did not gain anything extra and there is no evidence that he trained any outsider on the Respondents' lorry and trailer. Ali Shamshudin did receive Sh. 210 plus an additional Sh. 40 which someone owed him but then according to the evidence before the Court he would not have been paid an allowance for any subsequent journey he would have made. So there does not seem to be any question of fraud.

At the same time, however, these people did commit an offence in that the Respondents' lorry and goods all worth nearly one million shillings were exposed to the risk of a serious accident by being driven by one driver only all the way from Nairobi to Kisii and back.

The Respondents did not produce any circular clearly warning their drivers that long journeys by single drivers will not be entertained. They did, however, maintain that all the drivers knew of these instructions and in the investigation carried out by the Respondents' security officer it is stated that both drivers committed an offence contrary to the following regulation:

"Once a driver is assigned for any safari and the vehicle is loaded, and in good mechanical condition he and his co-driver must proceed to their destination unless otherwise, that must be approved by the departmental head. Failure to comply with the regulations laid down a driver is committing a misdemeanour offence."

The Court has given anxious thought to this dispute but in view of the conduct of Mr. Njau the charge hand on duty on 8th April the Court has come to the conclusion that the dismissal of these two drivers was harsh indeed. The Court thinks that a severe reprimand would have been appropriate in the absence of a clear warning to all the Respondents' drivers that anyone of them making the journey alone would result in instant dismissal.

The Court has come to the conclusion that both these drivers have suffered a wrongful dismissal and the Court awards that they should be reinstated to their jobs as drivers on the same salary scale which they were enjoying when they were dismissed, with effect from 1st January, 1981. The Court further rules that they should not be paid any salary for the time that they were out of employment but their services should be deemed to have continued without any break.

Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the Registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the Registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him any opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.

Representations of the marks advertised herein can be seen at the Trade Marks Registry, State Law Offices, Nairobi.
