GAZETTE NOTICE No. 4882

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 46 OF 1985

Parties:

Kenya Shoe and Leather Workers' Union
and

Orbitsports Limited

Issue in dispute:

Eleven (11) per cent wage increase and sixteen (16) per cent wage increase.

THE Kenya Shoe and Leather Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Orbitsports Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. This dispute was first mentioned on 27th June, 1985 and the court fixed it for hearing on 16th September, 1985. On 16th September, 1985 when the parties appeared before the court they requested to be given time to settle the dispute and the court ordered the dispute to be stood over generally.

The dispute was again mentioned on 4th and 5th February, 1986, when the hearing was again fixed for 10th June, 1986, which date incidentally happened to be a public holiday.

It was again mentioned on 30th June, 1986, and the hearing was fixed for 1st September, 1986, and on this date the respondents requested for an adjournment.

Finally, the parties were heard in Nairobi on 10th October, 1986, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 28th December, 1984, duly signed by the parties, was received by the court on 27th May, 1985 together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

This dispute involves sixteen (16) old employees of the respondents who were upgraded from category V to a new category VI during the parties negotiations of the 1982/84 agreement.

The claimants submitted that the 16 employees were upgraded to category VI at a basic salary of KSh. 750 and that they were entitled to 11 per cent wage increase after placing them in that category.

The claimants further stated that during negotiations, the respondents had agreed to give a further wage increase (above 20 per cent) if the government reinstated export compensation scheme. They stated that this was mutually agreed by the parties after giving the employees 20 per cent increase for two years. They, however, admitted that no discussions were held to consider the 16 per cent wage increase even though they had forwarded their proposals.

The respondents strongly submitted that it has been the parties' practice over the years to negotiate the percentage increase and then add such increase on the existing rates and set out the new rates incorporating the percentage increase in the revised collective agreement.

They further submitted that the parties have never set out minimums in any grade and that when the parties created category VII, the 16 employees were given an automatic rise of KSh. 5 on top of the 11 per cent wage increase for the first year which brought them to KSh. 750 per month.

The respondents strongly denied that they had undertaken to reopen negotiations for a further increase during the life time of the collective agreement in question. They also stated that the claimants are trying to back out of the agreement they had signed and which had been registered by the court without any objection from them. They further submitted that the mutual agreement dated 14th July, 1982, on which the claimants had relied, had been overtaken by events as the collective agreement was signed in December 1982 and that the export compensation bill was tabled during negotiations. The claimants were at liberty to insist on a 36 per cent wage increase but instead agreed to a 20 per cent wage increase being fully aware of the developments re: export compensation scheme.

The respondents further stated that after the agreement was signed, the claimants wrote to the Minister for Labour informing him that the issues in dispute had been settled.

After careful consideration of the parties' submissions, the court notes that the parties have never set out basic minimums on the various grades in their agreements and that the figures in their collective agreements are arrived at after the agreed percentage increases had been added. This, they did in the collective agreement in dispute.

The relevant clause is worded as follows:

Wages:

The wages of all permanent employees of this company, as from the effective date of this agreement shall be as follows:

1st Year Increment of 11 per cent

Category	KSh. p.m.
I wages	533.00
II wages	581.00
III wages	677.00
IV wages	704.00
V wages	745.00
VI wages	750.00

2nd Year Increment of 9 per cent

Category	KSh. p.m.
I wages	581.00
II wages	632.50
III wages	738.00
IV wages	767.00
V wages	812.00
VI wages	817.50

Employees in each of the above category have been previously fixed and will have to wait for twenty-four (24) months of the duration of the agreement, before their categories can be changed.

The court also notes from the above figures that if the figures shown in various categories were basic minimums as the claimants allege then it was their duty to make sure that the clause was worded in the manner in which they wish to interpret it now. It is of no use for them to sign a clearly worded agreement and then later on to come and say that they had signed the agreement by mistake.

The court has warned both the employees and the trade unions several times in its awards that they should take utmost care to make sure the agreements they sign contain exactly what they allege to have been discussed at the joint negotiating meetings.

After a careful consideration of all the submissions, the court finds that the claimants have not made out any case and their demands are rejected. The court notes that another collective agreement between the parties subsequent to the one in dispute is already in force.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 128 OF 1985

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food & Allied Workers
and
Unga Limited

Issue in dispute:

Termination of service of Mrs. Lucy Shabani.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Unga Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 2nd September and 22nd October, 1986, and relied on their written and verbal submissions and they called the following witnesses:

Claimants.—Mr. Mburu, Mr. Edward Giceru and Mrs. Lucy M. Shabani.

Respondents.—Mr. E. K. Songwa.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 18th July, 1985, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 16th October, 1985, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Labour Commissioner and the Minister for Labour.

The grievant in this dispute Lucy Shabani was employed by the respondents from 9th December, 1963, as a trainee accounts clerk at a salary of KSh. 200 per month. After completing her probationary period on 1st May, 1964, she was confirmed as accounts clerk at an annual salary of £475. She earned various promotions and was deployed in other departments over the years in the respondents establishment. At the time of her termination her duties included those of a secretary, labour relations, petty cash cashier and receptionist, and she was earning KSh. 3,655 per month.

The circumstances that led to her dismissal started when between 26th and 30th January, 1984, it was alleged she had misused a vehicle KTG 234. This allegation she firmly denied. Mrs. Shabani stated that she took the said vehicle KTG 234 from C.M.C. on Mr. Songwa's instructions who had also instructed her to keep the car away from the head office and workshop because he did not like the car to be allocated to someone else. The car was taken out of the workshop by a casual driver and she later drove it away and parked it at Jericho Lumumba Estate near a Baptist Church.

Mr. Songwa was, at the time issuing instructions from his house following a road accident. On the morning of 27th January, 1984, she rang Mr. Songwa at his home on Upper Hill and told him that the car would be driven to his home as he had instructed. She took Mr. Mburu, the company driver, to drive the car while she followed in another car. The car was then left with Mr. Songwa, who later came for KSh. 300 being reimbursement for fuel he had used on the same vehicle.

After all this Mrs. Shabani was finally suspended from duty and eventually given a normal termination. She reported the matter to the claimants and their effort to resolve this matter at their level failed and a dispute was then reported. The Ministry of Labour investigated the matter and their findings and recommendations were that the respondents action to terminate Mrs. Shabani's services was justified.

This decision was unacceptable to the claimants and the matter was finally brought before the court for adjudication.

The claimants submitted that Mrs. Shabani had carried out a lawful order from her superior to park the car away from the headquarters for reasons best known to Mr. Songwa, the workshop manager. Mr. Songwa confirmed this when he was called to testify before the court. He retracted his earlier written statement which had made the respondents to arrive at a decision to terminate Mrs. Shabani's services.

Mr. Songwa when giving evidence on behalf of the respondents confirmed that he was forced by a Mr. Njeru, his boss, to match his statement with that of the driver who had actually lied. This, he did in order to save his job. He further confirmed that he lied to implicate Mrs. Shabani who actually never used the car during the days in question, the truth being that the car was driven by his girlfriend Yunis Amira of 1st Bank of Chicago for about a week as he could not drive himself after the accident. So, in fact Mrs. Shabani was not responsible for anything about the car after 27th January, 1984.

The shopsteward's testimony confirmed that the driver's statement was different from that he made in the claimants office where he had said the truth and not what he was later telling the court.

The respondents, however, felt that Mrs. Shabani had on her own volition taken the company car without authority and made a number of unauthorized journeys resulting in the company spending KSh. 17,000 in repairs. They blamed Mrs. Shabani for being unfaithful to the respondents and considered themselves very lenient in handing down to her a normal termination under these circumstances. They asked the court not to place reliance on Mr. Songwa's new version of the story as this was meant to confuse the court after he had ceased to be an employee of the respondents.

The court has carefully analyzed the evidence given by the witnesses and finds that Mr. Songwa's behaviour in this whole episode to have been most dishonest. The court finds that he had received the car from Mrs. Shabani on or about 26th January, 1984, after which the car in question was misused by his girlfriend one Yunis Amira. However, in order to escape any criticism and disciplinary action against him he had made a statement to the management implicating Mrs. Shabani in the misuse of the car who as a result lost her job. The court finds Mr. Songwa's conduct to be despicable to say the least because through it he had misled the respondents in terminating Mrs. Shabani's services although she had committed no wrong.

The court has no hesitation in finding that Mrs. Shabani has suffered a great injustice in this case. She has indeed suffered a wrongful termination.

The court finds that this is a case where maximum compensation should be awarded to the grievant and the court awards that the respondents should pay Mrs. Lucy Shabani 12 months' salary by way of compensation in addition to the terminal and retirement benefits that she has been offered.

Given at Nairobi the 3rd November, 1986.
