WORKING PARTY ON DISCRIMINATORY LAWS

THE Government has set up a Working Party to consider what laws in force in Kenya are discriminatory, either in themselves or in their practical effect. The expression "discriminatory" is defined in section 13 of the Kenya Order in Council 1963 (L.N. 245 of 1963).

The general effect of a discriminatory law is to afford advantages to one section of the community or to subject one section of the community to disabilities. It is not always readily apparent whether a particular law will operate so as to confer these advantages or disabilities, and the Working Party would therefore welcome any views which members of the public or voluntary associations may have to express as to the practical effect of laws in this connexion.

Representations should be addressed to the Legal Draftsman, Attorney-General's Chambers, P.O. Box 112, Nairobi, not later than 1st October, 1963.
