ORGANIZATION OF LOCAL PRODUCTION.

THE Secretary of State for the Colonies has had under consideration the question of the organization of local production. He considers that cultivation should be encouraged primarily of commodities required to make the Protectorate independent of importation and secondly of foodstuffs and commodities required for war purposes for export in case of shipping becoming available, that first importance must be given to the first category but that commodities such as flax and sisal should be encouraged to the utmost extent of probable shipping facilities. Third importance should be given to commodities which can be stored without damage and without undue detriment to the farmer through his receiving no return on his outlay. The Secretary of State desires that it should be definitely understood that the shipping position is certain to get worse and that no machinery or implements can be reasonably expected from England unless it is possible to obtain priority for flax machinery. Even in the case of native hoes he is still unable to give any indication that outstanding orders can be executed but he will not fail to continue to press the Ministry of Munitions on this point.
