THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No 18 OF 1975

Parties —

Kenya Union of Commercial Food & Allied Workers and

Kabazi Cannery Limited

Issue in dispute—Wrongful dismissal and victimization to Daniel N Nganga

1 The Kenya Union of Commercial Food & Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Kabazi Cannery Ltd shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents

2 The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 27th day of May, 1975, and relied on their written and verbal submissions

AWARD

3 The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 13th February, 1975, was received by the Court on 2nd April, 1975, along with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner

Mr D N Nganga who was the Claimants' chief shopsteward at the Respondents' undertaking was dismissed on 27th February, 1974, for refusal to obey certain instructions

He started working for the Respondents on 1st May, 1969, as a general labourer and over the years progressed and had become a handy man in the workshop. His immediate supervisor was a Mr Singh, and the Production Manager at the time was one Mr Omondi

This dispute has been complicated somewhat by the fact that at or about the same time, i.e. end of 1973 and early 1974, the Respondents were concerned at the poor output by the workers and further due to shortage of raw materials, mainly tomatoes, they were contemplating first laying off a good many number of workers which later on developed into a major redundancy exercise. The Claimants have picked on this aspect in order to argue that Mr Nganga, being the chief shop steward, naturally could not agree to any workers being declared redundant or laid off and the Respondents were therefore determined to get rid of this "unco-operative" shopsteward

At the same time there were two other persons, Messrs K. Thagana and Ndirangu Mwaniki who had been dismissed for allegedly drinking tomato juice in which they had added sugar which had also been stolen on 23rd February, 1974

It is evident that in the aforesaid circumstances there was considerable industrial unrest at the Respondents' undertaking and the Court was told that the Ministry of Labour officials from Nakuru were involved in settling the problems and at one stage Mr Kihika Kimani, M.P., had also intervened and used his good offices in getting about twelve workers reinstated by the Respondents. The first informal conciliation was carried out by Mr Omolo on behalf of the Senior Labour Officer, Rift Valley Province, on 12th March, 1974, and he had the following to say regarding Mr Nganga's case —

Daniel Ndungu

(a) It is true Mr Ndungu was asked to receive his letter on 15th February, 1974, and to sign for it in the delivery book but refused. The reason he gave was vague in that he wanted to be told the reasons why first

(b) After refusing to obey his superior's instruction by refusing to receive a letter from him he was then dismissed for 'gross misconduct'. What transpired between Mr Ndungu and his employer about the letter was accepted by both parties although the Union termed it 'victimization'

As Mr Ndungu agreed that he is a general handy-man in the workshop the Chairman then recommended that Mr Ndungu must receive his letter, sign for it in the delivery book and if he has any objection against his transfer then he be reinstated forthwith. This recommendation is given due to the fact that both the Management and the Union agreed that the above procedure was in order

Mr D N Nganga, however, no doubt at the Claimants' instructions or the other way round, did not accept the said recommendation

The matter was then investigated officially by Mr J A Olang. The Chief Industrial Relations Officer, acting on Mr Olang's investigation, forwarded the following findings and recommendations to the parties regarding Mr Nganga —

The Management in this case had every right to transfer Mr Nganga to the Production Section despite the fact that the circumstances surrounding the action at that material time

It has not been indicated why Mr Nganga objected to the transfer. Mr Nganga does not appear to have bothered to convey his decision to the Manager after two days as requested by him. This matter of transfer was not reported to the Union at the time nor did the Union take it up then

All said, Mr Nganga was not going to lose anything if he accepted the transfer. On the whole he was bound to obey the Management's instruction in this regard unless he had good grounds which he should have divulged. Mr Nganga ignored the whole matter and continued to work in the workshop which undoubtedly forced the Management to dismiss him

Having carefully considered the submissions by both parties and with particular consideration of the circumstances that led to the dismissal of Mr Nganga, I have reached the conclusion that his dismissal was justified. Mr Nganga should be paid whatever is legally due from his employer

The Claimants naturally rejected these recommendations also and the matter is now before the Court

The Claimants submitted that Mr Nganga had clashed with his supervisor because once when Mr Nganga had brought some changaa for the supervisor he was not paid Sh 5 for it. Moreover the supervisor did not like Mr Nganga because he had been elected the chief shopsteward by the workers and had therefore started levelling false accusations against him and had continued to accuse Mr Nganga of various offences. This had resulted in Mr Nganga being once transferred to another section but later on because he was found to be indispensable he was brought back to the workshop

Regarding the transfer which Mr Nganga refused to accept and which led to his dismissal the Claimants stated that this transfer was intended to victimize Mr Nganga and prevent him from carrying out his Union duties. Further Mr Nganga had not refused to go on transfer but he had wanted time to think about it but had been dismissed before he could make up his mind. Finally the Claimants pleaded that Mr Nganga had simply declined to accept the letter of transfer which was a very minor offence and warranted only a letter of warning

The Respondents stated that the two reasons for Mr Nganga's transfer were —

"1 That the transfer would enable Mr Ndungu to be more conversant with the company's production activities and procedures

2 The transfer would be a useful tool in eliminating his frequent squabbles with the workshop in charge Mr Singh"

The Respondents further denied most strongly the various allegations of victimization made by the Claimants

The Court has carefully considered all the submissions put forward by the parties and also the reports and recommendations by the Labour Officers as stated hereinabove

The Court would have had some sympathy with Mr Nganga and might have considered giving him the benefit of doubt in the extremely confused situation which was to be found at the Respondents' undertaking at the time he was dismissed had it not been for the fact that when he, Mr Nganga, was given an opportunity by Mr Omolo, the Labour Officer, to save the situation and his Mr Nganga's job, the Claimants and Mr Nganga refused to accept it

The Court finds that Mr Omolo had made a very sensible suggestion in that he wanted Mr Nganga to receive the letter of transfer and then to take up his objections against his transfer through the proper channels. Mr Omolo had suggested that if he accepts the letter then he should be reinstated forthwith. The Court finds that Mr Nganga, after having committed a grave disciplinary offence in refusing to go on a transfer, which the Court is satisfied was not intended to victimize him, missed an excellent opportunity of getting his job back

The Court has no hesitation now in concurring with the investigator's findings and recommendations and finds that Mr Nganga's services were terminated with full justification

For the aforesaid reasons the Court rejects the Claimants' demand

Given in Nairobi this 11th day of June, 1975

GAZETTE NOTICE No 1964

THE TRADE MARKS ACT
(Cap 506)

NOTICE is hereby given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the trade marks advertised herein according to the classes may, within 60 days from the date of this Gazette, lodge notice of opposition on Form T M No 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of Sh 50

Notice is also hereby given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the Registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make if and when it is registered. Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the Registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the Registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him any opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner

Representations of the marks advertised herein can be seen at the Trade Marks Registry, State Law Office, Nairobi

Applications for registration in Part A of the Register are shown with the official number unaccompanied by any letter. Applications for Part B are distinguished by the letter B prefixed to the official number
