On the occasion of the Accession of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth the Second, Her Majesty was graciously pleased to address the following messages to the Royal Navy, the Army, the Royal Air Force, and the Colonial Service —

THE ROYAL NAVY

On my accession to the Throne I wish to send a message of gratitude to the Royal Navy and all my other Naval Forces for the distinguished services which they rendered during the reign of my Beloved Father. He received his early training in the Royal Navy and maintained throughout his life a close personal interest in the ships and men of the Naval Services. As the wife of a serving officer I, too, have a specially intimate link with the Royal Navy. I have seen both at home and overseas how its great traditions, tested and proved in two world wars, are constantly maintained by all who serve under the White Ensign. I shall endeavour to keep in touch with the activities and welfare of all ranks and ratings of my Naval Forces throughout the Commonwealth. Grateful for their services in the past, proud of their present efficiency, and confident that they will uphold their high standards I send to them all this expression of the trust which I and my peoples throughout the Commonwealth repose in them —ELIZABETH R

THE ARMY

I wish on succeeding to the Throne to address a message to all ranks of my Armies thanking them for the notable services which they rendered to my Beloved Father during his reign and assuring them of my confidence in their loyalty and efficiency. My own service in the Auxiliary Territorial Service and my personal association with individual Regiments of British and Commonwealth Forces have given me some experience of the varied and onerous tasks which they are called upon to discharge. Devotion to duty, a good-humoured acceptance of hardship when necessary and an undefeatable endurance in adversity are characteristics of the Military Forces which have brought us victory in war and security in peace. I know that I can rely upon them to respond to any call upon their allegiance with the same competence and enthusiasm with which they served my father. I shall always take a close personal interest in all that concerns their welfare and efficiency —ELIZABETH R

THE ROYAL AIR FORCE

On my accession to the Throne I wish to assure my Air Forces at home and overseas of my gratitude for their services to my Beloved Father and of my confidence in their loyalty and efficiency. My father won his wings as a young man and watched with pride the rapid development of the Royal Air Force and its sister Forces throughout the Commonwealth. I was glad to be able to present his Colour to the Royal Air Force in the United Kingdom last year, and I value highly my own association with the Royal Auxiliary Air Force. In a short time the Air Forces of the Commonwealth by their skill and courage have earned a reputation and established traditions of which they may well be proud. Their heroic exploits in the Second World War will never be forgotten. Now in far-flung stations over the world they play a constant and always hazardous part in protecting the security of our territories and communications. I assure them of my personal solicitude for their welfare and I trust that they will continue to display that pride of service and unswerving allegiance to the Crown which they have ever shown —ELIZABETH R

THE COLONIAL SERVICE

I desire on my accession to the Throne to express to all members of the Colonial Service my warm appreciation of the ability and devotion with which in the past they have performed their manifold and responsible duties. The splendid traditions of the Service are well known to me and are rightly a source of pride to its members. I know that I can depend with confidence on their unfailing loyalty and on their continued and steadfast devotion to the well-being of the peoples whom they serve —ELIZABETH R

MEMORANDUM OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

This Bill will confer on the Legislative Council and on committees of the Council and on Members thereof certain powers, privileges and immunities which are considered necessary to ensure the satisfactory discharge of the business of the Legislative Council

The Bill is divided into five parts

Part I contains provisions for a short title and interpretation. The only definition in clause 2 to which specific attention need be invited is that of "precincts of the Council"

Part II sets out privileges and immunities which the Bill will confer on the Council and Members thereof. Clause 3 confers on Members immunity from legal proceedings in respect of words spoken before, or written in a report to, the Council or any committee thereof. Clauses 4 and 5 ensure that Members of the Council will not be arrested for civil debt while going to, attending at or returning from a sitting of the Council and that no process of any Court shall be served or executed within the precincts of the Council while it is sitting. Clauses 6, 7 and 8 contain provisions relating to the admission of strangers to the Council and its precincts

Part III contains provisions empowering the Council and any committee thereof to order the attendance before it of witnesses and the production of books and documents. These powers are, however, subject to the following limitations, namely—

- (a) no public officer may, except with the consent of the Governor, produce any book or document or give evidence relating to any naval, military, air force or civil department or relating to any matter affecting the public service, nor may secondary evidence of any such book or document be given,
- (b) every person summoned as a witness is entitled to the same right or privilege as he would have before a court of law, and
- (c) where a witness refuses to answer a question or produce any document on the ground that the same is of a private nature and does not affect the subject of inquiry the Speaker may excuse him from answering the question or producing the document or may order him to do so

Part IV deals with offences and penalties. Clause 16 makes it an offence intentionally to give false evidence before the Council or any committee thereof. Clause 17 creates certain offences relating to admittance to the Council. Clause 18 makes it an offence, inter alia, to disobey an order to attend as a witness or to produce any book or document or to answer any lawful and relevant question, to offer to any Member or officer of the Council any bribe, to publish any false or scandalous libel on the Council. Clause 19 prohibits any Member of the Council accepting a bribe or other reward, in respect of his doing anything to promote or oppose any matter before the Council or any committee thereof. The acceptance of a bribe is punishable by a penalty recoverable at the suit of the Attorney General

Part V contains provisions of a miscellaneous nature, the most important of which are clauses 24 and 25. Clause 24 gives protection from criminal and civil proceedings to persons publishing anything by the authority of the Council and clause 25 protects persons publishing without the authority of the Council any extract from or abstract of any proceedings if the Court is satisfied that the publication was made bona fide and without malice

No additional expenditure of public moneys will be incurred if the provisions of this Bill become law
