GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 3698

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 9 OF 1964

Parties:—

The Tobacco Workers' Union (Kenya)
and
East African Tobacco Company Limited

Issues in dispute:—

- (a) Housing allowance for employees not living in Company housing.
- (b) Increase in disturbance allowance payable to employees when permanently transferred.
- (c) Revision of redundancy terms.
- (d) Revision of grievance procedure.

1. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 7th and 9th October 1964 and the testimony of three witnesses was taken.

GENERAL BACKGROUND

2. The Tobacco Workers' Union (Kenya) shall be hereinafter referred to as the Union and the East African Tobacco Company Limited shall be hereinafter referred to as the Respondent.

A comprehensive agreement covering Rules of Employment constituting the Terms and Conditions of Service for Workers exists between the parties hereto as from 18th June 1959, a copy of which is attached to the Respondent's memorandum. From then on fairly harmonious relations have existed between them and it can be truly said that the Respondent is one of the leading employers of labour as far as wages and other benefits for the workers are concerned.

The aforesaid agreement came up for revision and discussions between the parties were held in June 1964. Eleven items were considered and agreement was reached on seven of these, leaving the four issues in dispute as detailed above. A dispute having been declared the matter was referred to the Ministry of Labour and Social Services for conciliation. A conciliator was appointed but the proceedings ended in deadlock and the matters were then referred to this Court.

MAIN SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF THE UNION

3. (a) Housing allowance.—On this issue the Union claims that those employees who at the moment are not residing in the housing provided by the Respondent should be paid a housing subsidy to enable them to meet part of the high rental they have to pay to other landlords, this the Union claims would be fair and equitable because the employees housed by the Respondent are paying an economical rent. The Union urges that this disparity is causing discontentment amongst the workers and further maintains that the employees should be helped to obtain decent accommodation as with their present wage they cannot afford more than a room or so and are living in great congestion and unhygienic conditions. The housing subsidy claimed is Sh. 50 in addition to the Statutory Housing Allowance.

(b) Disturbance allowance.—The Union claims that the 30 per cent of basic salary for three months being paid at the moment is inadequate and should be increased to 50 per cent to enable an employee to meet his increased expenditure resulting from a transfer which is imposed by the Respondent. The Union further states that the employees furniture and property is often damaged in transit and this coupled with the fact that the employee has to find his own housing makes the 30 per cent allowance much too low. The Union also demands travelling allowance under this heading.

(c) Revision of redundancy terms.—The Union claims that the existing terms under this item are not sufficient and that whenever an employee is declared redundant he should be paid one month's salary for every year of service to enable him and his family to live until another job is found. The Union considers that the one-third of a month's salary for every year of service is quite inadequate. The Union further wants three months' salary, in addition to the aforesaid demand of one month's salary for every year's service, to be paid under this heading, and states that the following factors should be considered when employees are dismissed due to redundancy:—

- (i) Individual merit.
- (ii) Principle of "last in first out" should apply.
- (iii) Domestic responsibilities and private circumstances should be taken into account.
- (iv) The Respondent should discuss with the Union the personal problems involved before dismissing the employee concerned.

(d) Revision of grievance procedure.—The Union contends that the basis of good industrial relations between workers and management is the grievance procedure and therefore it should be one which is acceptable to both parties as being fair and equitable. The present procedure leaves much to be desired and gives the Respondent an opportunity to exploit the workers unnecessarily. The Union suggests that clause 4 (2) (b) of the agreement on Recognition and Negotiating procedure should be amended to the following effect:—

4. (2) (b) Any employee who commits an offence or misdemeanour of a serious nature but which in the Respondent's opinion does not warrant dismissal will be warned verbally by his superior in the presence of the accredited Union representative. If the employee commits another offence a letter of warning shall be issued to him which shall cease to have effect after six months. On the third offence a final letter of warning should be sent with a copy to the Union which again shall cease to be effective after six months.

MAIN SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF THE RESPONDENT

4. (a) Housing allowance.—The Respondent states that as the minimum rate of pay for its employees is Sh. 200 per month there is no obligation whatsoever on the Respondent's part to provide accommodation for the said employees. The Respondent recognizes that any assistance it could offer would be useful and therefore built Tobacco Village at Shauri Moyo, Nairobi, where only 387 employees out of a total of 1,153 are housed and who pay rent to the Respondent. The monthly wage being paid by the Respondent is inclusive of a housing element as it is the Respondent's policy to work towards a clean wage. The Respondent contends the Union has made out absolutely no case for a housing subsidy.

(b) Disturbance allowance.—The Respondent states that the disturbance allowance being paid at present is ample. It is on the basis of 30 per cent of the employee's salary for three months or for one month if he is housed by the Respondent. The Respondent further pays full transport charges and in-transit expenses for the employee, his wife and his children, between the ages of 3 and 16, if they are accompanying him. The Respondent is paying travelling expenses also which have been agreed with the Union. The Respondent pays an accommodation allowance to cover in-transit expenses according to the scales agreed between the Respondent and the Union. The Respondent maintains that the Union's claim for a travelling allowance is not an issue in the present dispute.

(c) Revision of redundancy terms.—The Respondent states that its current terms under this heading are very generous. Two months' basic wages or salary with effect from the date of an employee's dismissal is paid in addition to one-third of one month's wage or salary for each completed year of service with the Company. Provident fund benefits in accordance with the Rules are also paid to the employees. The Respondent states that in considering employees for dismissal due to redundancy the qualifications will be in the order given:—

- (i) Individual merit.
- (ii) Length of service.
- (iii) Domestic responsibilities and private circumstances.

The Respondent, as a matter of courtesy, cannot declare redundancy without first of all informing the Union and explaining the circumstances. The Respondent claims that its terms are as generous as those offered by any other good employer in the country.

(d) Grievance Procedure.—The Respondent considers that subsection (2) (b) of section 4 is essential in the interests of both employees and management because it sets out clearly what obligations exist on either side when disciplinary action has to be taken. The Respondent sympathizes with the Union in the matter of having a clear-cut procedure to be followed in giving warnings and suggests that the following new section be introduced as subsection (e) and the existing (e) to be renamed (f):—

"Any written warning given to an employee as in (b) above shall be entered in the employee's employment record card and shall remain valid for a period of twelve months from the date of issue. If, within the twelve-month period, the employee commits a similar or any other offence which does not warrant dismissal, he will be further warned in writing in his employment record card, and the two warnings shall remain valid for a period of twelve months from the date of the second warning. If, within this twelve-month period, the employee commits a further offence which does not warrant dismissal, he will be issued with a final letter of warning, which will render him liable to summary dismissal for any other offence he may commit thereafter. A final letter of warning will remain valid for a period of twenty-four months from the date of issue."

The Respondent feels that the whole matter of verbal warning should be left entirely at the discretion of supervisors who may give as many verbal warnings as they consider necessary before giving a written warning.

AWARD

5. The Court has considered very carefully the foregoing submissions and notes that the Respondent, like other employers, operates in a competitive labour market where rates of pay must be, to a great extent, determined by the market-going rates and that for the Union to be successful it has to be established that the Respondent's terms and conditions of employment are below the market rates.

The Court, therefore, makes the following award:—

(a) Housing allowance.—The Court is completely satisfied that when the minimum wage was negotiated between the parties on 5th September 1959 a housing element was taken into account. The relevant minute regarding housing is quoted below:—

“(a) Wages and increments

(iii) The rates agreed and as shown in Appendix “X” are inclusive of a housing element (stated by Management to be Sh. 30) and no other payment shall be made by the Company in respect of housing.

(b) House Rents.—It is agreed to maintain the “status quo” with regard to deductions for rent in cases where the employer leases housing facilities to its staff. The existing percentage deductions for rent, together with the minima and maxima at present in force, will remain unchanged.

The management stated that it is the Company's policy to move towards economic rents in the future, and that the concession now made with regard to maintaining the present rent structure did not imply that it was prepared to negotiate in future on rents.

Signed by:

A. J. J. SPENCE,
Chairman.

L. O. OBO,
for the Union.

K. R. MACLAREN,
for the Company.”

The Court feels that the houses in Tobacco Village should be used to alleviate the condition of the lower-grade employees and therefore recommends that these houses should be allocated to workers earning less than Sh. 400 per month. Apart from this recommendation the Court makes no award under this heading.

(b) Disturbance allowance.—The Court finds justification for a slight increase and therefore awards an amendment to the Rules of Employment Constituting the Terms and Conditions of Service for workers, clause 15, subparagraph (b) as follows:—

Permanent.—In the event of a permanent transfer from one station to another, the Company will pay for a period of three months following the date of arrival at the new station, a disturbance allowance of 40 per centum (forty per centum) of basic salary. Thereafter the new place of work shall be deemed to be the employee's headquarters and disturbance allowance shall cease.

(c) Revision of redundancy terms.—The Court awards that the present entitlement of one-third of one month's basic wages or salary for each completed year of service with the Company, as contained in clause 23, subparagraph (b) of the aforesaid Rules of Employment, shall be replaced by a new subparagraph as under:—

(b) payment of 15 days basic wages or salary for each completed year of service with the Company.

All the other subparagraphs of clause 23 shall remain as they are.

The following factors shall be taken into consideration when an employee is declared redundant and shall be in the order as stated:—

(i) Individual merit.

(ii) Length of service, that is, last in first out.

(iii) Domestic responsibilities and private circumstances.

Clause 23, subparagraph (f) of the Rules of Employment is amended accordingly.

(d) Grievance procedure.—The Court accepts the Respondent's offer to introduce a new subsection (e) but substitutes a period of one year in place of two in the last sentence. The new paragraph shall read as follows:—

“(e) Any written warning given to an employee as in (b) above shall be entered in the employee's employment record card and shall remain valid for a period of twelve months from the date of issue. If, within the twelve-month period, the employee commits a similar or any other offence which does not warrant dismissal, he will be further warned in writing in his employment record card, and the two warnings shall remain valid for a period of twelve months from the date of the second warning. If, within this twelve-month period, the employee commits a further offence which does not warrant dismissal, he will be issued with a final letter of warning, which will render him liable to summary dismissal for any other offence that he may commit thereafter. A final letter of warning will remain valid for a period of one year from the date of issue. A copy of the final warning should be sent to the Union.”

The existing subparagraph (e) shall be renamed (f) and the Court awards accordingly.

Given in Nairobi this 27th day of October 1964.

President.
