THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No 18 OF 1972

Parties —

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers

and

Grain Milling Group

Issue in dispute —

Free transport to all night shift employees in Grain Milling Group

1 The Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and the Grain Milling Group shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents

2 The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 28th day of July, 1972 and relied on their written and verbal submissions. The Claimants also called Mr Alex Sila as a witness

AWARD

3 This dispute goes back several years when the question of the provision of free transport for workers on night shift was referred to the Industrial Court in Cause No 45/69. At that time the Court ruled as follows on this issue —

At this stage the Court would like to rule in order to clear the way for the parties to start negotiations on the issue of 'provision of transport for night shift workers' that this item is negotiable between the parties. The Court cannot see any reason why this item should fall within the management prerogative. The negotiable items are broad enough to render this item negotiable."

Since then the matter was very much in discussion but no settlement could be reached with the result that the Claimants reported the existence of a trade dispute to the Ministry of Labour on 24th February, 1971. The dispute was accepted and an investigator was appointed. The Respondents made a point that the dispute had been discussed solely in the context of Nairobi.

The parties were asked by the investigator to put forward in writing their respective submissions on the issue in dispute which they did. On 8th December, 1971 the Permanent Secretary, Ministry of Labour, forwarded to the parties the investigator's findings and recommendation which he suggested should be used as a basis for the settlement of this dispute. The findings and recommendation are as follows —

- (i) the company will not create a precedent if they introduce night transport system
- (ii) there is discrimination when the people of other races than Africans are being provided with night transport facilities,
- (iii) there is no doubt that the workers have to risk their lives when travelling on foot after mid-night,
- (iv) when going or leaving duty at night employees are exposed to extremes of weather,
- (v) no agreement could be reached at meetings voluntarily held between the Union and the management
- (vi) the company is able to provide means of transporting its African staff in the same as in the case of Asians

In view of the above I recommend that night shift workers be provided with free transport from their homes to the place of work and back."

The Respondents were not able to accept these findings because they felt that the investigation had not been thorough. The Claimants on the other hand were only too happy to accept them. The parties then decided to refer the matter to the Industrial Court and signed the Notification of Dispute Form 'A' on 10th February, 1972. The Certificate by the Labour Commissioner was signed on 3rd June, 1972.

During the hearing the Claimants' arguments in support of their demand briefly were as follows —

- (a) That employees are exposed to attack on their persons by thugs and miscreants,
- (b) that employees are occasionally subjected to interrogation by the Police whilst proceeding to or returning from work,

(c) that some employees taking a short cut across railway property have been prosecuted for trespass,

(d) that employees travelling to and from work are exposed to chilly and cold weather,

(e) that certain other employers provided free transport for employees on night shift,

(f) that investigators have recommended that free transport should be provided."

In addition the Claimants called one witness who explained the difficulties of the night shift workers and how many of them came to the factory as early as 8 or 9 p.m. and slept there so that they could start work at 12 midnight.

In addition, the Claimants had lined up another eight witnesses to support on oath most of their aforesaid complaints. But since the Respondents do not deny that the workers suffer inconvenience during night shift work and that on some occasions some of them have been subjected to unpleasant experiences as put forward by the Claimants on their behalf, the Claimants did not call these witnesses.

The Respondents, however, strongly maintained that they could not stand the additional financial burden of providing free transport to all night shift workers. They pointed out that their industry was engaged in the production of basic foodstuffs for the vast majority of the people in the country and their products were subject to price control. Any additional financial burden would force them to approach the Government for an increase in the price of their products.

The Respondents also explained in detail the practical difficulties involved in the implementation of this demand and submitted that the real concern of everyone should be to improve the standard of living of the workers and not to utilize funds in providing additional amenities as free transport for night shift workers.

The Court understands and appreciates the difficulties and the considerable inconvenience the workers suffer as a result of night shift work but the Court cannot take seriously the Claimants' demand that if free transport cannot be provided for workers then night shift work should stop. This sort of step would lead to immediate redundancies and under utilization of the vast investment which has gone in the grain milling industry with great harm and serious repercussions to the economy of the country. The answer to this problem lies somewhere else.

The Court notes that some years back arrangements were made by the Respondents with the Kenya Bus Services Ltd to run a midnight bus which would call on their respective factories at the appropriate time and would operate to and from the residential areas to the industrial area. This experiment failed because the workers were asked to pay Sh 15 towards the cost of travel and they refused.

The Court feels that primarily it is the worker's duty to find his own way to and from the place of his employment whatever the time of his shift. But at the same time it is the strong view of the Court that every good employer should view sympathetically the genuine difficulties of his work force such as are encountered by the night shift employees. A good employer should tackle this problem which very much borders on workers' welfare with proper understanding.

The Court has also taken into consideration the very important point that the Respondents have increased the number of workers in their employment from 1,200 in 1968 to the present figure of 1,600.

After a careful consideration of all the submissions the Court has come to the conclusion that the Respondents should make arrangements to provide transport for night shift workers but the Court feels that the whole burden should not be borne by the Respondents alone therefore the Court rules that each night shift worker should contribute a sum of Sh 7/50 p.m. towards such transport. The Court further directs that the parties should immediately work out the details of such an arrangement, if necessary with the assistance of the Chief Industrial Relations Officer, Ministry of Labour, Nairobi.

Finally the Court rules that its award for the time being apply to Nairobi area only.

Given in Nairobi this 21st day of August, 1972

THE TRADE MARKS ACT

(Cap 506)

NOTICE is hereby given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the trade marks advertised herein according to the classes may, within 60 days from the date of this Gazette, lodge notice of opposition on Form TM No 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of Sh 50

Notice is also hereby given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the Registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make if and when it is registered. Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the Registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the Registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him any opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner

Representations of the marks advertised herein can be seen at the Trade Marks Registry, State Law Office, Nairobi
