THE ENERGY ACT

(No. 12 of 2006)

ENERGY (IMPROVED BIOMASS COOKSTOVES)
REGULATIONS, 2013

1. These Regulations may be cited as the Energy (Improved Biomass Cookstoves) Regulations, 2013.
2. These Regulations shall apply to manufacturers, importers, distributors, technicians, and contractors of improved biomass cookstoves; and institutions using biomass fuels for cooking and heating purposes.

3. In these Regulations, unless the context otherwise requires –

“Act” means the Energy Act No. 12 of 2006;

“approved” means consent or no objection given by the Commission;

“biomass” has the meaning assigned to it under the Act;

“commission” has the meaning assigned to it under the Act;

“contractor” means a person that provides goods or services to another entity under terms specified in a contract;

“cookstove” means a device where biomass fuel produces heat for cooking and heating applications through combustion;

“improved biomass cookstove” means a biomass cookstove with increased efficiency as per the relevant Kenyan Standards;

Institutional users” means the institutions listed in the First schedule.

“manufacturers” means a person that makes cookstoves, components or products through a process involving raw materials, components, or assemblies;

“distributors” means a person that is involved in sourcing and warehousing cookstoves from manufacturers to retailers and end users.

“technician” means a person licensed by the Commission to undertake the installation of biomass cookstoves

4. All

(1) Improved biomass cookstoves shall be manufactured and tested for compliance to the relevant Kenyan Standard KS 1814-1:2005 and any other relevant Kenyan Standards.

(2) Imported improved biomass cookstoves shall be subjected to destination inspection for compliance with the relevant Kenyan Standard KS 1814-1:2005 and any other relevant Kenyan Standards.

(3) Distributors shall distribute only improved biomass cookstoves that are in compliance to the relevant Kenyan Standard KS 1814-1:2005 and any other relevant Kenyan Standards.

(4) Users of improved biomass cookstoves catering for more than ten people, as described in First Schedule, shall acquire cookstoves that are in compliance with the relevant Kenyan Standard KS 1814-1:2005 and any other relevant Kenyan Standards.

(5) Installers of improved biomass cookstoves shall be required to issue an installation completion certificate and a user manual with appropriate illustrations in any of the official languages.

(6) Institutional users of improved biomass cookstoves shall be required to maintain records of manufacturer, specifications, annual biomass consumption, date of installation, distributor, technician, contractor and certificate of completion.

5. (1) A person shall not install any improved biomass cookstove unless they hold a valid licence issued by the Commission.

(2) A person wishing to be licensed by the Commission as a technician shall be required to—

(a) meet the required qualifications as set out in the Second Schedule.

(b) A person w to ) fill an application form as set out in the Third Schedule and

(c) pay to the Commission the fee set out in the fourth schedule.

(3) The Commission may, upon receipt of an application, grant to the applicant either of the following classes of technician licence—

(a) Class J1 Licence, which shall entitle the holder to carry out installation and maintenance of improved biomass cookstoves for households;

(b) Class J2 Licence, which shall entitle the holder to carry out installation and maintenance of improved biomass cookstoves for households and institutions;

(c) Class J3 Licence, which shall entitle the holder to carry out installation, maintenance and specification for importation of improved biomass cookstoves for households and institutions.

6. (1) A person shall not manufacture, import, distribute, or install any kind of improved biomass cookstoves unless the person holds a valid licence issued by the Commission.

(2) A person wishing to manufacture, import, distribute, or install any kind of improved biomass cookstoves shall make an application to the Commission in the form prescribed in the Fifth schedule.

(3) Where under this regulation a person who is not a technician applies to be licensed by the Commission as a manufacturer, importer, distributor or contractor, that person shall be required to have in their employment a licensed improved biomass cookstoves technician.

(4) The Commission, upon receipt of an application under this section, may grant one of the following licences –

(a) Class B1 Licence, which shall entitle the holder to carry out manufacturing, distribution and installation of household improved biomass cookstoves only, in which case the licensee shall be required to have in employment at least a Class J1 technician;

(b) Class B2 licence, which shall entitle the holder to carry out distribution and installation of household and institutional improved biomass cookstoves, in which case the contractor shall be required to have in employment at least a Class J2 technician;

(c) Class B3 licence, which shall entitle the holder to carry out manufacturing, distribution and installation of household and institutional improved biomass cookstoves, in which case the licensee shall be required to have in employment at least a Class J2 technician;

(d) Class B4 licence, which shall entitle the holder to carry out importation, distribution and installation of household and institutional biomass cookstoves, in which case the licensee shall be required to have in employment at least a Class J3 technician.

(4) An application for the licensing as a manufacturer, importer, distributor, or contractor shall be made to the Commission in the manner prescribed in the fifth (5) schedule and such application shall specify the class of licence in respect of which the application is made.

(5) Any person applying for a licence under sub-regulation (4) shall pay to the Commission the fee prescribed in the sixth schedule.

7. (1) The Commission upon receipt of an application may approve or reject a licence application and in the event that it rejects an application, it shall write to the applicant giving reasons for such refusal.

(2) The Commission may require or cause an applicant under these Regulations, to be examined, in such manner as it may determine, upon any matter or thing in connection with the application for the purpose of engaging in or undertaking improved biomass cookstoves manufacturing, importation, distribution or installation.

(3) The Commission shall determine all applications expeditiously and in any case, not later than ninety days from the date of receipt of the application.

(4) A licence issued under this Regulation shall be valid for one year from the date of issue.

8. (1) The Commission or its agent may carry out inspection, in relation to the manufacture, importation, distribution or installation of improved biomass cookstoves in accordance with the Act.

(2) Upon request and after inspection, the Commission shall issue a compliance certificate where the manufacturer, importer, distributor, contractor or user of improved biomass cookstoves complies with these Regulations.

(3) An inspection under sub-regulation (2) shall be carried out at the licensee's cost and the compliance certificate shall be valid for a period of one year.

(4) Where the Commission finds that the provisions of these Regulations have been contravened by a manufacturer, importer, distributor, contractor, technician or user, or that a condition has arisen which has the potential of contravening these Regulations, the Commission or its agent may issue a non-compliance notice thereof.

(5) A notice issued under sub-regulation (4) shall state—

(a) the specific provisions which have been or are likely to be contravened;

(b) the measures which should be taken to rectify the contravention; and

(c) the period within which the notice shall be complied with.

(6) The users, where applicable, shall upon request of the Commission or its agent provide any information required in order to ascertain the performance of the improved biomass cookstoves in a format set out in the seventh (7) schedule.

9. (1) The Commission may suspend or revoke any licence issued under these Regulations upon being satisfied that the licensee has contravened any of the terms and conditions of the licence or any provision of the Act.

(2) Upon the suspension or revocation of a licence under sub regulation (1), the Commission shall by written notice to such licensee, which shall set out the reasons thereof and such notice may disqualify the licensee from holding a licence or a particular type of licence for such period as the Commission deems fit.

(3) Any licence issued by the Commission, expires and an application for renewal is not made for two consecutive years shall, the applicant upon application for renewal shall be required to give compelling reasons to the Commission as to why the licence ought to be renewed unless the licence holder had before expiry of the licence had informed the Commission in writing of the intention and reasons why they do not to renew the licence.

(4) Where the Commission suspends or revokes the licence of a manufacturer, importer, distributor, contractor or technician, it shall remove the name of the holder from the register of licensees for the period being licenced under these Regulations.

(5) Every licence shall, unless previously suspended or revoked, shall remain in force until it expires and shall not be transferable and may subject to such conditions as may be specified by the Commission, be renewed.

(1) A manufacturer, importer, distributor, contractor or technician shall provide a warranty to the customer for the improved biomass cookstoves for the periods set out in the relevant Kenyan Standards.

(2) A manufacturer, importer, distributor, contractor or technician shall ensure the warranty period is clearly indicated on any displayed improved biomass cookstove product.

10. (1) An application for renewal of a licence shall be made at least thirty days before the expiry date of the licence in the manner prescribed in the Fifth (5) schedule.

(2) All licensees shall be required to submit annual returns of their activities to the Commission in the format prescribed in the Eighth (8) schedule.

(3) Where, upon application, it is shown to the satisfaction of the Commission that a licence has been lost, destroyed or defaced; the Commission may issue a duplicate licence.

11. (1) A manufacturer, importer, distributor, contractor or technician shall provide a warranty to the customer for the improved biomass cookstoves for the periods set out in the relevant Kenyan Standard KS 1814-1:2005 and any other relevant Kenyan Standards.

(2) A manufacturer, importer, distributor, contractor or technician shall ensure the warranty period is clearly indicated on any displayed improved biomass cookstove product.

12. Any person who—

(a) By self, servant, or agent undertakes or carries out any improved biomass cookstoves manufacture, importation, distribution, contracting or installation work without being the holder of a licence then in force appropriate to the work undertaken or carried out or without being under the direction of such a licence holder;

(b) contravenes or fails to comply with any of the terms and conditions of any licence issued under these Regulations or willfully gives false or misleading information relating to these Regulations;

(c) submits or causes to be submitted to the Commission or its agent a completion certificate, where applicable, which the person knows or has reason to believe is false in any material particular therein;

(d) being an owner or occupier of any institution or any developer or contractor of any premises, causes or permits to be carried out upon the institution any improved biomass cookstoves installation work in contravention of these Regulations or;

(e) contravenes or fails to comply with any of these Regulations or who fails to comply with any prohibition or order of the Commission under any of these Regulations, commits an offence and shall, on conviction, be liable to a fine not exceeding one million shillings, or to imprisonment for at term not exceeding one year, or both.

GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 5745

THE CENTRAL BANK OF KENYA

(Cap. 491)

MONETARY POLICY STATEMENT, DECEMBER, 2012

The Principal Objectives of the Central Bank of Kenya

The principal objectives of the Central Bank of Kenya (CBK) are:

- (1) To formulate and implement monetary policy directed to achieving and maintaining stability in the general level of prices;
- (2) To foster the liquidity, solvency and proper functioning of a stable, market-based, financial system;
- (3) Subject to (1) and (2) above, to support the economic policy of the Government, including its objectives for growth, and employment.

Without prejudice to the generality of the above, the Bank shall:

- Formulate and implement foreign exchange policy;
- Hold and manage Government foreign exchange reserves;
- License and supervise authorised foreign exchange dealers;
- Formulate and implement such policies as best promote the establishment, regulation and supervision of efficient and effective payment, clearing and settlement systems;
- Act as banker and adviser to, and as fiscal agent of, the Government; and
- Issue currency notes and coins.

The CBK therefore formulates and conducts monetary policy with the aim of keeping overall inflation at the Government's medium-term target which is currently 5 percent. The achievement and maintenance of a low and stable inflation rate together with adequate liquidity in the market facilitates higher levels of domestic savings and private investment, and therefore leads to improved economic growth, higher real incomes and increased employment opportunities.

The Bank's monetary policy is therefore designed to support the Government's desired growth in the production of goods and services and employment creation through achieving and maintaining a low and stable inflation.

Instruments of Monetary Policy

The CBK pursues its monetary policy objectives through the following instruments:

- Open Market Operations (OMO) refers to actions by the CBK through purchases and sales of eligible securities to regulate the money supply and the credit conditions in the economy. OMO can also be used to stabilise short-term interest rates. When the Central Bank buys securities on the open market, it increases the reserves of commercial banks, making it possible for them to expand their loans which increase the money supply. To achieve the desired level of money supply, OMO is conducted using:
  - Repurchase Agreements (Repos): Repos entail the sale of eligible securities by the CBK to reduce commercial banks' deposits held in CBK. Currently, Repos (often called Vertical Repos) have a fixed tenor of 7 days. Reverse Repos are purchases of securities from commercial banks by the CBK during periods tighter than desired liquidity in the market. The late Repo, sold in the afternoon, has a 4-day tenor and is issued at an interest rate 100 basis points below the Repo on that day.
  - Term Auction Deposits (TAD): TAD are used in extreme market conditions when the securities held by the CBK for Repo purposes are exhausted or when CBK considers it desirable to offer longer tenor options. The CBK acquires deposits through a transfer agreement from commercial banks at a price but with no exchange of security guarantee. Currently, the deposits are transferred to the CBK for a 14, 21, or 28 day period after which they revert back to the respective commercial banks' on maturity of the transfer agreement.

Horizontal Repos are transacted between commercial banks on the basis of signed agreements using government securities as collateral, and have negotiated tenors and yields. Commercial banks, short of deposits at the CBK, borrow from banks with excess deposits on the security of an appropriate asset, normally Government securities. Horizontal repos help banks to overcome the problem of credit limits, thus promoting efficient management of interbank liquidity. They are not strictly monetary policy instruments but modes of improving liquidity distribution under CBK supervision.

- Central Bank Rate (CBR): The level of the CBR is reviewed and announced by the Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) at least every two months and its movements, both in direction and magnitude, signals the monetary policy stance. The CBR is the base for all monetary policy operations in order to enhance clarity and certainty in monetary policy implementation. Whenever the Central Bank is injecting liquidity through a Reverse Repo, the CBR is the lowest acceptable rate by law. Likewise whenever the Bank wishes to withdraw liquidity through a Vertical Repo, the CBR is the highest rate that the CBK will pay on any bid received.

Movements in the CBR are reflected in changes in short-term interest rates. A reduction of the CBR signals an easing of monetary policy and a desire for market interest rates to move downwards. Lower interest rates encourage economic activities and thus growth. When interest rates decline, the quantity of credit demanded should increase.

Efficiency of the repo and interbank markets is crucial for the transmission of monetary policy decisions. By fixing the tenor for bills sold in the repo market, the MPC aims to sharpen the signalling process. The CBK monitors, but does not intervene, in the overnight interbank money market which is conducted by the banking industry.

- Standing Facilities: The CBK, as lender of last resort, provides secured loans to commercial banks on an overnight basis at a penal rate that is over the CBR. The rules governing the operation of the CBK Discount Window are reviewed from time to time by the Bank. Currently, banks utilising the CBK Overnight Window are charged the CBR plus a serious penalty. Moreover, banks making use of this facility more than twice in a week are scrutinised to establish whether prompt corrective action is required.
- The Cash Reserves Ratio (CRR): In accordance with the law, the CRR is the proportion of a commercial bank's deposit liability which must be deposited at CBK at no interest. These deposits are held in the CRR Account. The ratio is currently 5.25 percent of the total bank domestic and foreign currency deposit liabilities. To facilitate commercial banks' liquidity management, commercial banks are currently required to maintain their CRR based on an average from the 15th of the previous month to the 14th of the current month and a minimum CRR of 3 percent on a daily basis. A reduction in the CRR releases liquidity thus enhancing the capacity of commercial banks to expand credit. An increase in the CRR tightens liquidity and could also dampen demand-driven inflationary pressures.
- Foreign Exchange Market Operations: The CBK can also inject or withdraw liquidity in the banking system by engaging in foreign exchange transactions. A sale of foreign exchange to banks withdraws liquidity from the system while the purchase of foreign exchange injects liquidity into the system. Participation by the CBK in the foreign exchange market is usually motivated by the need to acquire foreign exchange to service official debt and build its foreign exchange reserves where the statutory requirement is to use the Bank's best endeavours to maintain a foreign reserves equivalent to a three year average of four months' import cover. The CBK does not participate in the foreign exchange market to defend a particular value of the Kenya shilling but may intervene to stabilise excess volatility in the exchange market. The following regulatory measures have been introduced, through Prudential Guidelines of banks, to support stability of the exchange rate:
  - (i) Limiting the tenor of swaps and Kenya Shilling borrowing where offshore banks are involved to a tenor of not less than one year.
  - (ii) Limiting the tenor of swaps between residents to not less than seven days.
  - (iii) Reduction of the foreign exchange exposure ratio of core capital from 20 percent to 10 percent.
  - (iv) Requirement that local banks obtain supporting documents for all transactions in the Nostro accounts of offshore banks.
  - (v) Suspension of the use of Electronic Brokerage System by banks.
- Licensing and Supervision of Financial Institutions: The Bank uses the licensing and supervision tools to ensure the health and efficiency of the banking system; this includes vetting potential managers for suitability both with respect to qualifications and character.
- Communication: The increasing use of communication media ensures a wider dissemination of monetary policy decisions and background data thereby increasing the efficiency of information transmission. The regular interaction between the MPC and the Chief Executive Officers of commercial banks through the Kenya Bankers Association (KBA) has ensured that monetary policy decisions and their underlying logic are transmitted to the banking sector. The CBK website is an important source of up-to-date data on all aspects of the financial market including interest rates, exchange rates and results of auctions of Government securities.

Legal Status of the Monetary Policy Statement

1. Section 4B (1) of the CBK Act requires the Bank to submit to the Minister for Finance, at intervals of not more than six months, a Monetary Policy Statement for the next twelve months which shall:
  - (i) Specify policies and the means by which the Bank intends to achieve its policy targets;
  - (ii) State reasons for adopting such monetary policies and means; and
  - (iii) Contain a review and assessment of the progress made in the implementation of monetary policy by the Bank during the period to which the preceding Monetary Policy Statement relates.
2. The Minister shall—by the law under subsection (1) - lay every Statement submitted under subsection (1) before the appropriate committee of the National Assembly not later than the end of the subsequent session of Parliament after the Statement is so submitted.
- 3a. The Bank shall—by law—publish in the Kenya Gazette:
  - (i) Its Monetary Policy Statement; and
  - (ii) Its Monthly Balance Sheet.
- 3b. The Bank is further required to disseminate key financial data and information on monetary policy to the public.

4. In subsection (2), the expression “appropriate committee” means the committee of the National Assembly appointed to investigate and inquire into matters relating to monetary policy.

Executive Summary

This Monetary Policy Statement provides the policy stance for the period from January to June 2013. It also reviews the outcome of the monetary policy stance adopted between July and December 2012.

The monetary policy stance adopted by the Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) in the second half of 2012 resulted in the decline in inflation, exchange rate stability, and achievement of the targets in the monetary programme. Overall inflation declined from 10.05 percent in June 2012 to 3.20 percent in December 2012 reflecting an easing in food prices, stabilisation of world oil prices as well as easing demand pressure in the economy. Similarly, non-food-non-fuel inflation declined from 9.31 percent to 4.81 percent during the period. Both inflation measures were within the 5 percent Government medium-term target for overall inflation by the end of the period. The Central Bank of Kenya (CBK) foreign exchange reserves remained above the statutory requirement of an equivalent of 4 months of import cover thereby providing a cushion to the foreign exchange market against external shocks. In addition, improved liquidity management ensured stability in the interbank market while the Central Bank Rate (CBR) remained the pivot for all monetary policy operations.

Given the positive outcomes of a low and stable inflation rate and exchange rate stability, the MPC embarked on a gradual easing of the monetary policy stance in July 2012. The Bank has ensured that credit growth is consistent with the price stability objective. The policy stance from January to June 2013 will therefore be aimed at maintaining the overall inflation within the 5 percent Government target. The Bank will also continue building its foreign exchange reserves in line with the statutory requirement.

During the period January to June 2013, monetary policy will seek to constrain the annual growth in broad money supply, M3, to 16.8 percent in January 2013, 18.4 percent by March 2013 and 16.1 percent by June 2013. The Net Domestic Assets (NDA) of the Bank is planned to decrease from Ksh -69.7 billion in January 2013 to Ksh -71.0 billion in March 2013 and further to Ksh -79.2 billion in June 2013 which is consistent with the Extended Credit Facility (ECF) programme targets for the period. However, the annual growth in credit to the private sector is projected at 17.0 percent in January 2013, 16.5 percent in March 2013 and 16.8 percent in June 2013. The ECF targets for Net International Reserves (NIR) of the CBK are USD 4,490 million in March 2013 and USD 4,640 million in June 2013. The monetary policy stance will ensure that movements in the short-term interest rates are in line with the inflation objective.

Uncertainty over the full resolution of the eurozone problems and balance of payments pressures attributed to the high current account deficit remain the main risks to the macroeconomic outlook. However, the CBK remains vigilant to these risks and will take appropriate actions to maintain price stability. Lastly, the Bank will continue with its regular interactions with stakeholders in the financial and real sectors, including the Kenya Bankers Association, and timely release of relevant data. This will enhance the transmission of monetary policy signals and coordinate market expectations.

1. Introduction

This Monetary Policy Statement (MPS) presents the policy guidelines and broad targets for the CBK over the period January to June 2013. It also presents the policy outcomes in the period July to December 2012.

During the second half of 2012, the monetary policy stance adopted by the MPC resulted in the decline and flattening of inflation within the Government medium-term target of 5 percent as well as exchange rate stability. The main threats to exchange rate stability remain the uncertainty over the full resolution of the eurozone problems and balance of payments pressures due to the high current account deficit. The current macroeconomic stability will be supported by successful elections in March 2013 through enhanced confidence in the economy. However, a notable outcome of the monetary policy stance adopted in the period was the reduction of demand for credit to finance private consumption and imports. Consequently, the proportion of exports financing imports stabilised during the period thereby moderating the pressure on the exchange rate.

Monetary policy formulation and implementation continues to be guided by the Extended Credit Facility (ECF) programme where targets for Net Domestic Assets (NDA) and Net International Reserves (NIR) are the operational parameters. The Bank also continues to monitor targets for key monetary aggregates such as broad money supply, M3, and credit to the private sector. The Bank's participation in the foreign exchange market will continue to be guided by the need to accumulate and maintain foreign exchange reserves at or above the statutory level of four months of import cover as well as purchasing foreign exchange to meet the Government's external obligations, and ensuring stability of the value of the Kenya shilling.

The rest of this policy statement is organised as follows. Section 2 reviews the outcome of the monetary policy stance proposed in the June 2012 MPS while Section 3 outlines the current economic environment and outlook for the period January to June 2013. Section 4 concludes by outlining the monetary policy stance for the period January to June 2013.

2. Actions and Outcomes of Policy Proposals in the June 2012 Monetary Policy Statement

The overall aim of the Monetary Policy Statement for June 2012 (30th MPS) was to set monetary policy targets that would ensure low and stable inflation, encourage growth and ensure long-term sustainability of public debt. It also aimed at enhancing financial access within the economy. Following a decline in the risks to the inflation outlook, the frequency of MPC meetings was also reviewed from monthly to bi-monthly in July 2012. The following are the outcomes of the policy proposals in the 30th MPS:

(a) Inflation

Price stability remains the primary objective of monetary policy formulation and implementation. During the second half of 2012, both overall and non-food-non-fuel inflation declined and flattened within the Government medium-term target of 5 percent (Chart

1). The decline in inflation reflected a sustained decline in food prices, stabilisation of world oil prices and easing demand pressure in the economy. In particular, overall inflation declined from 10.05 percent in June 2012 to 3.20 percent in December 2012 while non-food-non-fuel inflation dropped from 9.31 percent to 4.81 percent.

(i) Credit to Private Sector

The gradual easing in the monetary policy stance adopted by the MPC since July 2012 was expected to support a non-inflationary credit expansion to the key sectors of the economy in the remainder of 2012 in order to stimulate economic activity. The slowdown in the annual credit growth in the first three quarters of 2012 had supported the decline in non-food-non-fuel inflation during the period. However, during the last quarter, growth in private sector credit at both the aggregate and sectoral levels reversed its downward trend and started rising in November 2012 (Chart 2). This was mainly attributed to the gradual reduction of the CBR from 18.00 percent to 13.0 percent by September 2012 and further to 9.50 percent by end of December 2012. Consequently, annual private sector credit growth increased from 7.12 percent in October 2012 to 10.42 percent in December 2012.

(i) Monetary Programme

The monetary programme targets were generally achieved during the second half of 2012. This is a reflection of the inflation outcome during the period (Table 1). Monetary policy was conducted based on the monetary aggregate targeting framework in order to achieve the price stability target. The targets pursued under the framework are consistent with those for NDA and NIR in the ECF programme.

The velocity of money remained fairly stable at about 2.2 during the second half of 2012. However, the money multiplier remained unstable and oscillated between 5.9 and 6.8 during the period following a notable rise in cash in till of banks with improved liquidity conditions. The predictability of money demand has continued to be affected by the unstable money multiplier and general decline in the velocity of money in circulation.

(ii) Interest Rates and Liquidity

The gradual easing of the monetary policy stance coupled with Open Market Operations resulted in improved liquidity and stability in the interbank market in the second half of 2012. Consequently, short-term interest rates declined gradually during the period (Chart 3). The average interbank rate declined from 17.09 percent in June 2012 to 5.84 percent in December 2012. Similarly, interest rates on Treasury bills and bonds declined during the period. Improved liquidity conditions in the market reflected higher maturities of Government securities, reduced uptake of private sector credit, and the existing flexibility in liquidity management where banks are required to comply with the CRR based on monthly averaging as well as the provision that banks could overdraw their CRR account to a daily minimum of 3 percent of total deposits.

Reflecting improved liquidity conditions in the market, banks only accessed funds totalling Ksh 0.03 billion from the CBK Discount Window as a last resort in the second half of 2012 compared with Ksh 8.09 billion in the first half. This was attributed to the high penal rate above the CBR on the CBK Discount Window which also encouraged banks to consider other sources of liquidity before seeking for funds from the Window.

Chart 3: Trends in Short Term Interest Rates (%)

Source: Central Bank of Kenya

Consistent with the developments in short-term interest rates, average commercial banks' lending and deposit interest rates declined gradually between June and December 2012 (Chart 4). The average commercial banks lending rates decreased from 20.30 percent in June 2012 to 18.15 percent in December 2012 while the average deposit rates declined from 7.88 percent to 6.80 percent during the period. Consequently, the average ex ante interest rate spread declined from 12.41 percent to 11.34 percent in the period. Small banks had the lowest spread during the period while large banks had the highest spread.

The CBK has continued to work with the Kenya Bankers Association to provide avenues that reduce the cost of doing business for banks. Banks have integrated with mobile phone financial platforms and moved into the Agency Banking networks that have lowered transaction costs. Credit Reference Bureaus have also improved credit profiling process and lowered the costs of information search and risk. Despite these developments, lending interest rates have remained high suggesting that these cost reductions are yet to be fully transferred to bank customers.

(a) Exchange Rates and Foreign Exchange Reserves

- (i) During the second half of 2012, the Kenya shilling exchange rate remained stable against the major world currencies but strengthened against the regional currencies (Chart 5a and 5b). The exchange rate against the US Dollar fluctuated within the narrow range of Ksh 83.90 and Ksh 86.07 in the second half of 2012 compared with a range of Ksh 82.27 and Ksh 88.44 in the first half. Exchange rate stability during the period was supported by improved liquidity management in the interbank market, continued build-up of foreign exchange reserves by the CBK that enhanced confidence in the market on the Bank's capacity to respond to external shocks, resilient foreign exchange inflows through diaspora remittances, and improved macroeconomic stability that resulted in confidence in the economy and increased purchases of equity by foreigners at the Nairobi Securities Exchange (NSE). Diaspora remittances remained resilient in 2012, averaging USD 97.59 million per month and amounting to USD 105.7 million in December 2012.

In the region, the Kenya shilling strengthened against the South African Rand and Uganda Shilling but remained stable versus the Tanzanian shilling. The weakening in the Uganda Shilling was attributed to temporary suspension of budget support by the country's development partners, which reduced foreign exchange inflows into Uganda significantly. The South African Rand has generally weakened on account of the eurozone problems coupled with reduced foreign exchange inflows from exports of minerals due to prolonged labour unrests by miners.

Source: Central Bank of Kenya

Although the total exports earnings continue to finance a higher proportion of total imports of goods and services, this proportion stabilised at about 61 percent in 2012 (Chart 5c). The downward trend witnessed in 2011 has terminated on account of the tight monetary policy stance adopted during the period that slowed down private sector borrowing to finance consumption related imports. This moderated the pressure exerted by a high import bill on the exchange rate.

However, the current account deficit estimated at about 10 percent of GDP by the end of 2012 remains high and has been exerting pressure on the exchange rate. The persistent problems in the eurozone have also been affecting exchange rate stability with a tendency for the Shilling to depreciate when the Euro comes under pressure.

Chart 5c: 12-Month Cumulative Exports/12-Month Cumulative Imports (%)

- (ii) The level of official foreign exchange reserves held by the CBK increased from USD 5,262.6 million (4.25 months of import cover) in June 2012 to USD 5,680.6 million (4.31 months of import cover) in December 2012 (Chart 6). The build-up in reserves was supported by purchases of US Dollars amounting to USD 567 million during the period and receipts of an equivalent of USD 110.63 million disbursements in November 2012 from the IMF through the ECF programme. The build-up in reserves during the period provided a cushion to the foreign exchange market against external shocks.

(b) Economic Growth

Data from the Kenya National Bureau of Statistics (KNBS) shows that the economy registered a notable recovery in the third quarter of 2012 following improved macroeconomic stability characterised by a low and stable inflation, and robust agricultural sector performance due to improved rains (Chart 1). Economic growth in the quarter was 4.7 percent up from 3.4 percent and 3.3 percent in the first and second quarters, respectively. The growth performance was also attributed to a shift in the monetary policy stance in July 2012 when the MPC started easing its monetary policy stance to stimulate private sector credit growth to support economic activity. There were also strong performances in the fishing, manufacturing, and transport and communication sectors during the period. However, growth decelerated in the construction, hotels and restaurants, and mining and quarrying sectors during the third quarter of 2012. Volatile world oil prices, security concerns in the country, and the persistent eurozone problems remained the main impediments to a stronger growth recovery in 2012.

Note: Long term average contribution of the respective sectors to real GDP are given in brackets

(c) Fiscal Developments and Debt

The fiscal measures implemented by the Government in the first half of the fiscal year 2012/13 2012 were consistent with the monetary policy objectives. In particular, the borrowing plan ensured that the build-up in domestic debt was consistent with the thresholds set in the Government Medium Term Debt Management Strategy. Consequently, the Debt-GDP-ratio declined from an estimated 47.5 percent in June 2012 to 46.4 percent in December 2012. Domestic borrowing activities were supported by comparably lower interest rates that prevailed during the period.

(d) Banking Sector Developments

The CBK continued to implement measures aimed at enhancing the efficiency of the banking sector as well as financial inclusion. This is expected to improve the monetary policy transmission mechanism. Commercial banks' branch network increased from 1,197 in June 2012 to 1,213 in December 2012 while the number of ATMs increased from 2,205 in 2011 to 2,381 in 2012. In addition, the Agency Banking model has taken root with the number of agents standing at 16,336, and having transacted Ksh195.8 billion by December 2012. In addition, the Bank licensed an additional deposit taking microfinance institution in November, 2012 to enhance financial access. Nairobi continued to establish itself as the financial hub for the region. The number of representative offices of large international banks opened in Nairobi stood at five by end of December 2012 while Kenyan banks had opened 269 branches outside Kenya.

As already indicated, mobile phone money transfers have continued to affect financial intermediation through reduction of transaction costs. The latest innovation is a mobile phone based facility which allows borrowing and interest earning savings introduced in November 2012. The facility has already netted more than Ksh 1.0 billion in savings. Several banks have continued to partner with telecommunication companies to offer financial services on telecommunication platforms. Financial innovations have changed the design and conduct of monetary policy.

(e) MPC Market Surveys, Stakeholder Forums and Communication

The MPC continued to conduct its bi-monthly Market Perception Surveys in the second half of 2012. The results of these surveys informed the monetary policy decisions during the period. The results were shared with the commercial banks and other participants from the private sector. The coverage of the Market Survey captured respondents from Nairobi and around the CBK branches in Mombasa, Kisumu and Eldoret, and Currency Centres in Nakuru, Nyeri, and Meru. There has been a consistent full response rate by banks while that of non-bank private sector institutions has been increasing. The MPC during the period also improved its communication initiatives to enhance understanding of monetary policy developments by the market. Despite reverting to its bi-monthly MPC Meetings in September 2012 only a short version of the Press Release was produced. The MPC also continued to simplify its Press Releases to make them more understandable and more focused to the public, media, financial sector and other stakeholders. The MPC Press Releases were also published in the widely circulating local dailies.

2. The Current Economic Environment and Outlook for January to June 2013

(f) International Economic Environment

The global economy is projected to pick-up gradually from an estimated growth of 3.2 percent in 2012 to 3.5 percent in 2013 (Table 2). Although the ongoing policy actions by respective governments have lowered the crisis risks in the eurozone and the United States, only modest growth rates are projected. However, sub-Saharan Africa and East African Countries (excluding Kenya) are forecast to grow at 5.8 percent and 6.1 percent, respectively, in 2013. Given that over 40 percent of Kenya's exports are to the East African region, the strong growth projection for the region is expected to benefit Kenya's export sector. Global inflation that eased from 4.9 percent in 2011 to an estimated 4.1 percent in 2012 is projected to decline further to 3.7 percent in 2013. This reflects the impact of the aggressive monetary policy measures implemented by most countries in 2011 and 2012 to rein in inflationary pressures and dampen exchange rate volatility.

Despite the projected positive outlook for the global economy in 2013, the euro area continues to pose a large downside risk to this global outlook. In particular, the projections of prolonged stagnation in the eurozone indicate sustained risks to the regions recovery if the momentum for reform is not maintained. These developments could slowdown the performance of Kenya's tourism and horticulture exports and exert pressure on the exchange rate.

IMF World Economic Outlook (October 2012)

(g) Domestic Economic Environment

(i) Economic Growth

The Government Budget Policy Statement projects real GDP to grow by 5.6 percent in 2013 compared with a projection of about 5 percent in 2012. This is expected to be driven by a stable macroeconomic environment, improved weather conditions that will stimulate agricultural production, as well as completion of key infrastructure projects in the roads and energy sub-sectors. Over the medium-term, growth is expected to pick up to over 6 percent. In addition, the MPC Market Perceptions Survey conducted in December 2012 showed sustained confidence in the economy due to stable macroeconomic environment, expected pick up in credit growth with the declining interest rates, expected recovery of the global economy, prospects for increased regional trade within the EAC countries which are expected to grow faster, and implementation of a devolved Government system expected to spur growth in the counties. However, the slow recovery of the eurozone economies which are the main markets for Kenya's horticultural exports and insecurity have been noted to be the main risks to the growth outlook. Successful elections in 2013 are expected to enhance investor confidence in the economy with a likely rise in capital inflows.

(ii) Foreign Exchange Market

The exchange rate is expected to remain stable in the remainder of the fiscal year 2012/13 in spite of the continued pressure from the current account of the balance of payments. The monetary policy measures in place projected easing of imports of machinery and equipment towards the roads and energy sector infrastructure development, and sustained rise in foreign exchange inflows through foreign direct investment and diaspora remittances are the main factors expected to support exchange rate stability in 2013. In addition, less pressure is expected from food imports due to improvement in the weather conditions throughout the country which is expected to boost food production. The MPC Market Survey for December 2012 corroborated this evidence of an expected stable exchange rate. However, the main risks to exchange rate remain the uncertainty over the full resolution of the eurozone problems and balance of payments pressures attributed to the high current account deficit.

(iii) Inflation

Overall inflation is expected to remain within Government target bounds in the second half of the fiscal year 2012/13 on account of improved food supply and lower energy costs following good rains across the country, general stability in the exchange rate, and the monetary policy measures that have been put in place by the CBK. This inflation outlook is corroborated by the results of the December 2012 MPC Survey. However, the main risks to the inflation outlook include a likely increase in consumption related expenditure during the period around the March 2013 elections and volatile world oil prices. The delayed resolution of the eurozone problems could also result in exchange rate volatility with pass-through effects to domestic prices.

(iv) Interest Rates

Interest rates are expected to decline gradually with the easing of the monetary policy stance by the MPC following the decline of inflation and improved liquidity conditions in the market. Sustained Open Market Operations by the CBK will also ensure stability of the interbank market interest rates around the CBR.

In addition, the MPC Market Perceptions Survey for December 2012 showed that lending rates were expected to decline gradually following the decline in inflation and inflation expectations and the sustained easing of monetary policy stance by the MPC coupled with enhanced engagements of the Bank with commercial banks through the KBA. The Bank has also continued to monitor developments in non-performing loans with a view to ensure that they do not affect the stability of the banking sector. The main risk to the outlook on interest rates is the international economic developments or supply side factors which could prompt additional measures by CBK to alleviate any adverse expectations with respect to inflation and/or exchange rate movements.

(v) Fiscal Policy

The fiscal measures announced by the Government during the Budget Statement for the fiscal year 2012/13 are consistent with monetary policy objectives. The borrowing plan should ensure that domestic debt remains within the thresholds set in the Medium Term Debt Management Strategy.

(vi) Confidence in the Economy

Various indicators show that confidence in the economy remains strong (Table 3). The Standard & Poor's rating agency affirmed Kenya's rating at "B+ with a stable outlook" while Moody's assigned the country a "B1 rating with a stable outlook". This supported the Fitch Rating previously reported. The NSE-20 index over the period has shown that the stock market has remained buoyant with the foreign participation reaching an all-time high in December 2012. The cumulative diaspora remittances continued to grow, rising from USD 1,080.8 million in the 12-months to June 2012 to USD 1,171.1 million in the 12-months to December 2012. Confidence in the banking sector will be enhanced following implementation of new Prudential and Risk Management Guidelines for banks that will strengthen corporate governance and business practices. Credit risk in the banking sector also remains low.

3. Future Direction of Monetary Policy (January – June 2013)

Monetary policy in the second half of the fiscal year 2012/13 will focus on: setting monetary targets which are consistent with the objective of achieving and maintaining a low and stable inflation, encouraging growth, and ensuring the long-term sustainability of public debt; and, enhancing access to banking services in order to improve the monetary policy transmission to the benefit of economic growth.

(a) Monetary Programme and Foreign Exchange Reserves

The monetary targets for the second half of the fiscal year 2012/13 are based on the indicators in the updated Budget Policy Statement for 2012/13 that are presented in Annexe 1, and the ECF programme targets. The monetary targets for the period are presented in Table 4. Monetary policy will seek to constrain the annual growth in broad money supply, M3, to 16.8 percent in January 2013, 18.4 percent by March 2013 and 16.1 percent by June 2013. The Net Domestic Assets (NDA) of the Bank is planned to decrease from Ksh -69.7 billion in January, 2013 to Ksh -71.0 billion in March 2013 and further to Ksh -79.2 billion in June 2013. The NDA targets are consistent with the ECF programme for the period. However, the annual growth in credit to the private sector is projected at 17.0 percent in January 2013, 16.5 percent in March 2013 and 16.8 percent in June 2013. The ECF targets for Net International Reserves (NIR) of the CBK are USD 4,490 million in March 2013 and USD 4,640 million in June 2013. The monetary policy stance will ensure that movements in the short-term interest rates are in line with the inflation objective.

These monetary targets are expected to enable the Bank maintain overall inflation within the 5 percent Government target for the medium-term in order to anchor inflation expectations. The CBK will continue to build its foreign exchange reserves in line with statutory requirement in order to enhance the country's capacity to absorb shocks that impact the foreign exchange market. The monetary policy stance will ensure that short-term interest rates remain stable which will encourage growth and ensure the long-term sustainability of public debt. The Bank will also continue to enhance the effectiveness of its monetary policy instruments with regard to speed and magnitude of impact.

The Bank will continue to monitor developments with respect to the Monetary Targets and make any necessary reviews. The achievement of the targets set will depend on stability in the international prices of oil, normal weather conditions, and continued commitment by the Government to operate within the domestic borrowing ceiling for the fiscal year 2012/13. Monetary policy implementation will be based on monthly targets for NDA, RM and broad money supply, M3, to be achieved through Open Market Operations. The Repos and Term Auction Deposits will be used to withdraw any excess liquidity in the banking system on a timely basis and where necessary Reverse Repos will be used to inject liquidity.

The success of CBK's monetary policy measures to fight inflation will depend on the effectiveness of the institutions charged with the responsibility of managing the supply side of economy that would have a direct impact on food and fuel prices. In addition, the current macroeconomic stability will be supported by successful elections in March 2013 through enhanced confidence in the economy.

(b) Measures to Extend Access to Financial Services and Enhance Market Efficiency

The Bank will continue to support development of new products and innovations towards enhancing financial access. Improvements in access to financial services have been shown to support economic growth. Appropriate legislation aimed at ensuring that such innovations are regulated accordingly to enhance market confidence will be identified and recommended. The monitoring of new financial derivatives in the market that could have adverse effects on market stability will be sustained.

Stakeholder forums with the banking and real sectors will be sustained in order to enhance the monetary policy transmission mechanism. Measures to enhance the uptake of Horizontal Repos among banks will also be identified and implemented, while stakeholder forums with Chief Executive Officers and Treasury Managers of banks will be held both to obtain feedback and to explain the background to MPC decisions. The MPC will also continue to brief the market on its decisions with a view to coordinate market expectations.

GLOSSARY OF KEY TERMS

Overall Inflation

Overall inflation is a measure of inflation in the economy calculated as the weighted year-on-year movement of indices of all consumer price items of goods and services sampled by the Kenya National Bureau of Statistics. The inflation measure is affected by the commodity components in the market that may experience sudden inflationary spikes such as food or energy. It may therefore not present an accurate picture of the current state of the economy, nor does it purport to measure the cost of living.

Reserve Money

Reserve Money is computed as the CBK's monetary liabilities comprising currency in circulation (currency outside banks and cash held by commercial banks in their tills) and deposits of both commercial banks and non-bank financial institutions held with the CBK. However, it excludes Government deposits.

Money Supply

Money supply is the sum of currency outside banks and deposit liabilities of commercial banks. Deposit liabilities are defined in narrower and broader senses as follows: narrow money (M1); broad money (M2); and extended broad money (M3). These aggregates are defined as follows:

M1	Currency outside banking system + demand deposits
M2	M1 + time and savings deposits + certificates of deposits + deposit Liabilities of Non-Bank Financial Institutions (NBFIs)
M3	M2 + residents' foreign currency deposits.

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT ASSESSMENT STUDY REPORT FOR THE PROPOSED ELDO-CITY MIXED USE DEVELOPMENT PROJECT, KIPLOMBE/KUINET, ELDORET, UASIN GISHU COUNTY

PURSUANT to Regulation 21 of the Environmental Management and Coordination (Impact Assessment and Audit) Regulations, 2003, the National Environment Management Authority (NEMA) has received an Environmental Impact Assessment Study Report for the above proposed project.

The Proponent (Eldo City Ltd.) intends to construct 803 residential houses, a primary school, recreational areas, a health center and a club house on Plot L.R. No. Kiplombe/Kuinet Block 10 (Shirika) 187, Eldoret.

The following are the anticipated impacts and proposed mitigation measures:

Environmental Impacts	Mitigation Measures
Air pollution, dust generation and noise pollution	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Spray of water during construction work.</li> <li>• Control of speed and movements of construction vehicles.</li> <li>• Use of low-sulphur diesel for diesel-operated machinery.</li> <li>• Use of ear protection aids by construction workers.</li> <li>• No unnecessary hooting by project and occupants vehicles.</li> <li>• Restriction of construction activities to day time</li> <li>• Use of attenuated equipment.</li> <li>• Temporarily fencing off noisy machinery such as vibrators.</li> </ul>
Clearing of vegetation	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Planting of indigenous trees long perimeter fence.</li> <li>• Planting of grassed lawns.</li> <li>• Establishment of flower garden around project site.</li> </ul>
Disturbance of soil structure	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Put soil traps around perimeter fence and on steep areas.</li> <li>• Landscaping with tree and grass planting.</li> <li>• Maintaining specified routes for construction vehicles.</li> <li>• Control earthworks.</li> <li>• Use of light machinery and equipment.</li> </ul>
Destruction of habitat	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• No off-road driving.</li> <li>• Control of earthworks.</li> </ul>

- Generation of solid waste
- Re-use of soil, construction debris and other waste.
  - Proper containment and disposal of solid waste.
  - Contracting a licensed waste collection and disposal company.
  - Creation of awareness on proper solid waste disposal.
  - Reuse of timber off-cuts and wooden support for fuel.
- Increased demand for water and electricity
- Conservative use of water and electricity.
  - Provision of adequate water storage facilities.
  - Installation of rainwater harvesting structures.
  - Re-use of water where possible, mainly at construction phase.
  - Explore additional sources.
- Occupational health and safety risks
- Use of suitable personal protective equipment
  - Site to be sprinkled with water to minimize dust.
  - Use of stable ladders and other climbing/support structures.
  - Sensitize workers on construction safety measures.
  - Cleanliness and organization at the construction site
  - Fencing or covering of risky areas such as deep pits.
  - Safety signage.
  - Use of permit-to-work authorizer for risky jobs.
  - Engagement of skilled laborers.
  - Insurance of workers.
- Fire hazards and accidents
- Acquire fire fighting facilities.
  - Sensitize workers in fire safety.
  - No storage of inflammables on site.
  - Keep well stocked first aid box.
  - Proper handling and use of tools and machinery.
- Increase in traffic flow
- Adequate road warning signs to traffic regulations.
  - Set driving speed limits and erection of road bumps.
  - Provision of acceleration and deceleration lanes.
- Security
- Guarding of site by a reputable security firm.
  - Constant site patrol.
  - Adequate screening of visitors to the site.
  - Collaboration with existing security machinery.
  - Partnership with neighbours and police in community policing.
- Generation of waste water
- Proper connection of waste water and sewage to septic tanks as per approved design.
  - Provision of storm water drains.
  - Proper decommissioning of waste water and septic tanks.

- Public health and safety
- Ensure use of provided pit latrines by construction staff.
  - Proper handling and disposal of solid waste.
  - Operation of noisy machinery at daytime only.
  - Control of visitors to the site.
  - Safe decommissioning of all structures and connections thereof.
  - Installation of adequate water supply.
  - Controlled developments around the facility.

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT ASSESSMENT STUDY
REPORT FOR THE PROPOSED DEVELOPMENT OF A PETROL
STATION ON PLOT NO. 1642, AIMI MA KILUNGU, MUKAA
DISTRICT, MAKUENI COUNTY

PURSUANT to Regulation 21 of the Environmental Management and Coordination (Impact Assessment and Audit) Regulations, 2003, the National Environment Management Authority (NEMA) has received an Environmental Impact Assessment Study Report for the above proposed project.

The Proponent (Josser Family Stores Company Ltd.) intends to construct a petrol station consisting of two underground fuel tanks, service pumps, machine/toilet room block, cafeteria/ shops /office block and a grass lawn area, storm drainage, waste water management system and oil interceptors, entry and exit road-works and associated civil works.

The following are the anticipated impacts and proposed mitigation measures:

Environmental Impacts      Mitigation Measures

Fuel and lubricants spillage	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Scoop any accidental oil spills and dispose off at a designated sanitary sites.</li> <li>Use well serviced vehicles to transport materials.</li> <li>Service vehicles in garages away from construction site.</li> <li>Designate a loading and offloading bay against site drainage to ensure spills do not flow into area streams.</li> <li>Construct fuel interceptors as provided in the project designs.</li> </ul>
Increased demand for water	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Provide adequate water storage facilities during works.</li> <li>Re-use water where possible.</li> <li>Ensure construction works coincide with the rain season.</li> <li>Harvest rainwater using appropriate technology.</li> </ul>
Loss of biodiversity / vegetation	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Confine excavation within the specified foundation walls and in context of architectural designs.</li> <li>Avoid machine excavation on site and use manual labour to the specifications of the engineering designs.</li> <li>Encourage the re-planting of local vegetative species on areas next to the petrol station.</li> <li>Undertake back filling of excavated area with site soil to restore site biota.</li> </ul>

Soil erosion

- Ensure guttering of roof, harvest and appropriately channel the water.
- Encourage replanting of local vegetative species next to the petrol station.
- Direct vehicle movement to non-excavated areas.
- Undertake back-filling and compaction of excavated areas after completion of works.
- Appropriately channel storm water.

Storm water challenge

- Guttering to control water flow.
- Rain water harvesting for site use, and for irrigation and landscaping.
- Good drainage for car park.
- Dig backyard terraces.

Underground fuel storage and handling

- Use properly maintained machinery, hoses and fittings to prevent leaks.
- Ensure there are no fuel spills during offloading.
- Install a monitoring well next to the fuel tanks to check on leaks.
- Use a hydrometer or dipstick to monitor density/specific gravity.
- Make the cement screeds in all chambers using water proof material.
- Regular tests to ensure integrity of installations.
- Install oil interceptors.

Solid waste disposal

- Create awareness to construction crew/petrol station staff on the need for minimising waste generation and good waste disposal.
- Segregate waste for appropriate disposal.
- Ensure waste is disposed in designated or licensed sites only.
- Contractor shall clear all waste arising from construction works.
- Appropriately connect sewerage to main septic tank.

Dust emission

- Use of nose masks, dustcoats, mouth masks and gloves should be encouraged for site workers.
- Periodic sprinkling of water to minimise dust at peak project period.
- Awareness creation on health risks linked to inhaled dust.
- Use of protective gear.

Fire outbreak

- Storage tanks shall be fabricated in accordance with the standard design for flammable and combustible liquids.
- The installation of the storage tanks shall be supervised by an engineer specialized in the petrol storage systems.
- All cables used shall be well-insulated and in sealed conduits.
- Ensure stock refilling takes place during off peak times.
- Ensure a NO SMOKING warning is appropriately erected within the petrol station.
- Ensure well serviced tankers are used for refilling services.
- Install appropriate fire fighting equipment in the petrol station.
- Ensure workers are appropriately trained on the handling of highly flammable petroleum products.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Designate separate vehicle serving yard as required by law.</li> </ul>
Security concerns	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Employ security personnel to guard the facility.</li> <li>Maintain records of all visitors to the site.</li> <li>Create awareness on the importance of security and penalties for breach.</li> <li>Post security agent contacts in open areas.</li> <li>Encourage neighborhood watch for security purposes.</li> </ul>
Occupational health and safety	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Secure insurance for workers.</li> <li>Provide PPEs such as helmets, dust coats and gloves to workers.</li> <li>Post warning signs and site evacuation maps including assembly points in case of an emergency.</li> <li>Have a readily accessible emergency exit.</li> <li>Record, report and investigate accidents and incidents as they occur.</li> <li>Make daily lists of workers and personnel on site.</li> <li>Post in secure open areas contacts for health emergency services, first aid kits and fire fighting equipment.</li> <li>Create awareness on operational health and safety.</li> <li>Secure all tools and equipment safely and label appropriately.</li> </ul>

The full report of the proposed project is available for inspection during working hours at:

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT ASSESSMENT STUDY REPORT FOR THE PROPOSED POWER GENERATION OF GEOTHERMAL POWER PROJECT, NAKURU COUNTY

PURSUANT to Regulation 21 of the Environmental Management and Coordination (Impact Assessment and Audit) Regulations, 2003, the National Environment Management Authority (NEMA) has received an Environmental Impact Assessment Study Report for the above proposed geothermal power project in Nakuru County.

The Proponent (Marine Power Generation Company Ltd) is proposing to construct a geothermal power project in Nakuru County.

The following are the anticipated impacts and proposed mitigation measures:

Possible Impact	Mitigation measures
Vegetation and habitat loss	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Minimize clearing and removal of natural vegetation for construction of roads and the well site.</li> <li>Replant areas along the road sides with local species.</li> <li>Introduce local indigenous perennial species of woody plants by seed or cuttings.</li> <li>Ensure minimal disruption of migration routes of fauna.</li> <li>Minimize width of the well site access roads to about 5 metres.</li> <li>Employ selective bush clearing to ensure sapplings regrowth.</li> </ul>
Effluent discharge	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Hold brine in drainage ponds nearest to the source and prevent it from coming in contact with vegetation, wild animals or livestock.</li> <li>Introduce local acacia species rather than exotic species such as eucalyptus around brine ponds.</li> </ul>
Human-wildlife conflicts	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Project management will work with Kenya Wildlife Service to establish a wildlife monitoring scheme that will help avoid any injury or loss as a result of wild animals.</li> <li>Project management will educate staff on peaceful co-existence with wild animals.</li> <li>Work with KWS to enforce wildlife regulations and anti-poaching laws.</li> <li>De-obstruct dispersal zone for wild animals that move outside Suswa, Hells Gate and Mount Longonot National Parks.</li> <li>Design infrastructure such as overhead pipelines to minimize their impact on wildlife habitat and movements.</li> <li>Fence only individual areas such as wellheads and office blocks thus minimizing interference with wildlife and grazing areas.</li> <li>Monitor animal distribution and density to aid environmental decision-making.</li> </ul>
Water Pollution	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Hold the brine in ponds which should be isolated by well-maintained game and livestock-proof fences to prevent accessibility by animals.</li> <li>Dispose of drilling water and brine by deep re-injection.</li> </ul>
Introduction of exotic animals and plants:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Environmental personnel should design and enforce regulations on exotic animals and pets.</li> <li>Enforce livestock movement regulations.</li> <li>Require workers to have all their domestic pets vaccinated.</li> <li>Design and implement an exotic species monitoring system to ensure compliance with set regulations.</li> <li>Regulate growing of ornamental plants or crops that are exotic inside and outside workers houses.</li> <li>Uproot any exotic plants germinating accidentally.</li> <li>Environment department staff should</li> </ul>

Water supply augmentation	monitor appearance of exotic plants at construction sites and settlement areas and take emergency action. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Use brine or steam condensate from the first well for drilling.</li> <li>• Drill additional boreholes.</li> <li>• Water trucking from Kengen storage tanks.</li> </ul>	Risks and accidents	well testing and power plant operations. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Use low-noise geothermal technology in drilling and power plant construction.</li> <li>• Introduce and enforce speed limits.</li> <li>• Sprinkle water on dusty sections of roads.</li> <li>• Educate workers on the dangers of fire and what they should do to prevent fires.</li> <li>• Monitor the degree of dryness of fuel material and proportionate increase in the risk of fire.</li> <li>• Install a fire preparedness and response system and train workers on emergency preparedness including fires and leaks, risk assessment evaluation and mitigation.</li> </ul>
Death of animals from road accidents:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Install and enforce speed limits for all project vehicles.</li> <li>• Use forced speed reduction tools such as bumps, humps and barriers at appropriate points along the projects roads and the Mai Mahiu-Narok highway.</li> <li>• Establish warning signs regarding accident prevention and reduction.</li> </ul>

THE NATIONAL ENVIRONMENT MANAGEMENT AUTHORITY

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT ASSESSMENT STUDY
REPORT FOR THE PROPOSED MBITA CAUSEWAY
REPLACEMENT BRIDGE & DECOMMISSIONING OF THE EXISTING CAUSEWAY

PURSUANT to Regulation 21 of the Environmental Management and Coordination (Impact Assessment and Audit) Regulations, 2003, the National Environment Management Authority (NEMA) has received an Environmental Impact Assessment Study Report for the above proposed project.

The Proponent (Kenya National Highways Authority) intends to construct of Mbita causeway replacement bridge and approach roads of 500M on either side to bitumen standards on road in Homabay County.

The following are the anticipated impacts and proposed mitigation measures:

Environmental Impacts      Proposed Mitigation Measures

Soil erosion and siltation	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Extent of vegetation removal shall be minimized to the area of works to prevent extent of soil erosion.</li> <li>• Avoid removal of overburden during rainy period</li> <li>• Installation of silt fences.</li> <li>• Stock piling away from drainage channels.</li> <li>• Placing of low bumps around the piles of fine grained materials.</li> <li>• Consider reuse of stock piled top material.</li> <li>• Temporary vegetation, seeding or other suitable stabilization methods.</li> <li>• Stabilize all cuts and fill slopes immediately with accepted landscaping practices.</li> </ul>
Noise generation	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Selection of equipment with less noise generation (as stated by the manufacturer) to be used.</li> <li>• The earth moving equipment shall be periodically checked and maintained for noise levels.</li> <li>• The workers shall be provided with adequate PPE such as earplugs to reduce impact of high noise levels.</li> <li>• Operate noise-generating equipment during regular working hours to reduce the potential of creating noise nuisance during night.</li> <li>• Provide the workers in charge of drilling with adequate PPE such as ear plugs.</li> <li>• Selection of equipment with less noise generation to be used.</li> </ul>
Dust generation	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The site cleared shall be periodically watered to reduce emission of dust particles.</li> <li>• The workers shall be provided with PPE such as nose masks and goggles to reduce impact on health.</li> <li>• Provide workers in charge of blasting with nose masks.</li> <li>• Phasing the blasting for a period.</li> <li>• Use a plant that has integrated dust arrestors technology</li> <li>• Use of water sprays to prevent the dust</li> </ul>

Oils and hydrocarbons wastes from the drilling machinery	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• from being air borne.</li> <li>• Disposed off to appropriate site.</li> </ul>
Vibration Generation	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Operate machine with caution to avoid oil spills in the lake.</li> <li>• Use of explosives to break up rocks in the construction sites or quarries should comply strictly with the relevant legal requirements.</li> <li>• Use technology that produces less vibrations</li> <li>• Blast once a week or a fortnight to avoid enormous impact in short duration.</li> <li>• Implant explosives of recommended amount by the geology and mines department.</li> <li>• Evacuate any persons close to the buffer zones at least 10 minutes before blast provide relevant information to neighboring communities and other stakeholders when explosive devices are to be used.</li> </ul>
Solid waste and waste water generated	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Skips and bins should be strategically placed within the campsite and construction site.</li> <li>• The skips at the construction campsite should be adequately designed and covered to prevent access by vermin and minimize odor.</li> <li>• Empty skips and bins regularly.</li> <li>• Disposal of solid waste at approved site.</li> <li>• Provision of portable sanitary convenience for construction workers to control sewage waste.</li> </ul>
Increased traffic	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Provide adequate and appropriate road signs to warn Causeway users of the construction activities</li> <li>• Raw materials such as sand, rocks should be adequately covered within the trucks to prevent any escaping into the air or along the roadway.</li> <li>• The trucks should be parked on the proposed site until they are off loaded.</li> <li>• Heavy equipment should be transported early in the morning with proper pilot age.</li> <li>• Use of flagmen should be employed to regulate traffic flow.</li> </ul>
Vehicular emissions	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Periodic emission.</li> <li>• Check for vehicles are required.</li> <li>• Clean fuel shall be used for vehicles.</li> </ul>
Water quality degradation	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Properly service machines (floating equipment) to avoid oil spills/hydrocarbon leaks on the lake.</li> <li>• Avoid discharge of untreated waste from the campsite to the lake.</li> <li>• Washing of construction equipments should not be done at the lake shores. This is to avoid petrochemical leaks.</li> <li>• Controlled construction of substructure to minimize impact on water turbidity.</li> </ul>
Personal injuries/ workers safety	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Restrict excavation where structures are to be made.</li> <li>• Provision of lifelines, personal safety nets or safety belts and scaffolding for</li> </ul> construction workers.

Creation of Pits and Trenches that may cause injuries to human Beings and Animals, form pools of water that May be breeding sites for mosquitoes

security

HIV/Aids prevalence

Underage persons working in the project

Alcoholism and drug addiction

Awareness and public education and participation in the project

To break the poverty cycle and diversify sources of Income

- Adequate communication with workers and signage to alert workers and users of the causeway.
- Fence off the quarry site and restrict entry.
- Provide proper drainage to avoid pools of water.
- Rehabilitation of quarry after completion of operation.
- The provincial administration to provide security to strengthen community policing.
- Awareness creation on HIV/ Aids and behavior change approach to be adopted.
- Ensure no minors work in the construction.
- Ensure no alcohol or drug consumption during works.
- Schedule meetings/ Barazas.
- Encourage workers / Operators to take advantage of Credit facilities to educate their children and venture into income generating activities.

The full report of the proposed project is available for inspection during working hours at:

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS TO THE KENYA GAZETTE

THE following notes are for the guidance of persons submitting "copy" for inclusion in the Kenya Gazette, Supplement, etc.:

- (1) The Kenya Gazette contains Notices of a general nature which do not affect legislation. They are, therefore, submitted to the Government Printer directly.
- (2) Legislative Supplement contains Rules and Regulations which are issued by the Central Government. Because of this, they must be submitted to the Government Printer through the office of the Attorney-General.
- (3) Bill Supplement contains Bills which are for introduction in the National Assembly.
- (4) Act Supplement contains Acts passed by the National Assembly.

All "copy" submitted for publication should be prepared on one side of an A4 sheet no matter how small the Notice is, each page being numbered and should be typewritten with double spacing. Copy should be clear, legible and contain no alterations.

Particular attention should be paid to the following points:

- (i) Signature must be supported by rubber-stamping or typing the name of the signatory in capital letters.
- (ii) Dates must be correct and filled in where necessary.
- (iii) Care should be taken to ensure that all headings to Notices and references to legislation are up to date and conform with the Revised Edition of the Laws of Kenya.

EXTRACT FROM THE CODE OF REGULATIONS, SECTION D—

Kenya Gazette

"D 34. (1) Communications for the Kenya Gazette should reach the Government Printer not later than 9 a.m. on Friday of the week before publication is desired. The Government Printer will not publish communications received after that hour until the next subsequent issue of the Gazette.

(2) Ministries will be required to pay for the Kenya Gazette and to meet the cost of advertising in it.

It is emphasized that these notes are for guidance only, but it is requested that persons submitting copy for publication first satisfy themselves that such copy is complete in every respect.
