GAZETTE NOTICE No. 478

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 67 OF 1980

Parties:

Kenya Management Staff Association
and Twiga Stationers and Printing Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Termination of services of Miss A. R. Shah.

1. The Kenya Management Staff Association shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Twiga Stationers and Printing Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 27th, 28th and 29th January and 5th February, 1982, and in addition to relying on their written and verbal submissions called the following witnesses to give evidence on oath:

Claimants.—Miss A. R. Shah.

Respondents.—A. R. Shah.

AWARD

3. The Minister for Labour signed the reference of this dispute to the Industrial Court on 15th October, 1980, in accordance with section 8 of the Trade Disputes Act. The Court received the notification of dispute from the Minister with the relevant statutory certificates on 22nd October, 1980.

Miss Armit Shah was employed by the Respondents in 1967 as a secretary at a salary of Sh. 450. Her services were terminated by a letter dated 21st July, 1976, in which the Respondents told her that they regretted having to terminate her services with them from that date and enclosed a cheque for Sh. 17,533 made up as follows:

	Sh.
"Salary in lieu of three months notice"	6,000
Leave due from January 1967 to 31st March, 1976	11,533
	17,533

Miss Shah did not accept the dues that were offered her as she maintained that she had suffered a wrongful dismissal and in any case was entitled to far more dues than those offered by the Respondents.

There is a delay of three years before the Claimants reported the dispute to the Minister for Labour on her wrongful termination. The dispute was investigated by the Ministry of Labour and the Permanent Secretary forwarded the Ministry's findings and recommendation to the parties in rather cryptic language reading as follows:

"It was found out the parents of Miss Shah left this country in 1973 while she remained and worked until 1976. She did not remain in Kenya against her will, a fact proved by that she went abroad to see her parents and came back to work for the same company. There was no proof given for the alleged earning of two salaries by Miss Shah by both parties. However, the management never issued her with any written warnings nor reasons for the termination. The termination was therefore found to be wrongful.

After careful consideration of the facts contained in this report I recommend that Miss Shah should be paid all the money in company's possession plus three months' salary as compensation for wrongful termination."

As can be observed the Ministry recommended that Miss Shah should be paid all the money in company's possession without specifying in any way what the money was and the amount which the Ministry found to be in the Respondents' possession on behalf of Miss Shah.

The Claimants followed up this report by forwarding to the Respondents a claim for Sh. 250,820 on Miss Shah's behalf as follows:

	Sh.
"3 months salary as compensation for wrongful termination (Sh. 7,500 x 3)"	22,500
6 months salary in lieu of notice	45,000
Leave of 30 days not taken for 10 years (1967-1976) Sh. 7,500 x 10	75,000
Bonus of Sh. 5,000 for 10 years service as stated in letter of appointment	50,000

THE REGISTERED LAND ACT

(Cap. 300, section 35)

ISSUE OF A NEW LAND CERTIFICATE

WHEREAS Willie Nyaga of P.O. Box 182, Embu in the Republic of Kenya, is registered as proprietor in absolute ownership interest of all that piece of land containing 1.62 hectares or thereabouts, situated in the District of Embu, known as Parcel No. Kagaari/Kigaa/1529, registered under Title No. Kagaari/Kigaa/1529, and whereas sufficient evidence has been adduced to show that the Land Certificate issued thereof has been lost. Notice is given that after the expiration of sixty (60) days from the date hereof, I shall issue a new Land Certificate provided that no objection has been received within that period.

Dated the 27th January, 1982.

K. MWANIKI,
Land Registrar,
Embu District.

	Sh.
Benefits from printing industries which states inter alia that after a continued service of 2 years the employee shall be paid 15 days off duty or 15 days salary or so that's 75 days or 3½ months x Sh. 7,500	26,250
Salary for months April, May, June, July, 1976, which was not paid during her termination ..	30,000
Refund of bills met by Miss Shah due being sick and which was to be paid by the Respondents	2,070
	250,820"

The Respondents refused to accept this claim and even refused to sign the Notification of Dispute Form "A" for referring the dispute to the Industrial Court with the result that the Minister for Labour had to use his powers under the Trade Disputes Act to forward it to the Industrial Court on 7th October, 1980.

The Respondents during the hearing did not seriously challenge the Ministry's findings that Miss Shah had suffered a wrongful dismissal and in fact conceded that that was so but they have vigorously opposed the Claimants' demand of Sh. 250,820 which towards the end of the hearing the Claimants increased to Sh. 300,000 by adding a demand for house allowance as well on her behalf. The Respondents called these claims grossly inflated and exaggerated and denied in toto certain items of the claim. The Court will go into these in due course. The Respondents submitted that she was entitled to Sh. 27,000 only.

A letter of appointment dated 1st April, 1967, addressed to Miss Shah and signed by the Respondents' managing director, A. R. Shah, figured prominently in this dispute. Some interesting facts emerged regarding this letter because Miss Shah admitted that she was given the letter in 1974 as she needed it to join a trade union and also to protect her from the other directors. This letter reads:

"With reference to the recent interview with the undersigned we hereby confirm your employment with us as a personal secretary to the managing director, Mr. A. R. Shah, with effect from 1st April, 1967.

Your salary will be Sh. 450 p.m. and future increments negotiable mutually. You will be on probation period of 3 months and after the completion of probation either party has to give 6 months notice in respect of the termination of services. Every year end you will be paid a bonus of Sh. 5,000. You will have all the benefits of the printing industry. You will be entitled for 30 days paid leave in one year and also sick leave.

Your working hours will be from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. from Monday to Friday and 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday. You will be provided with the transport and company's car will be given to your personal use. We wish you best luck in this company."

Mr. Shah while giving evidence stated that he did not recollect having issued this letter and stated that whenever he went overseas he left certain signed blank letterheads with her, as he trusted her implicitly, to enable her to draft and forward certain business letters in his absence. He admitted that the signature on the letter was his.

The Respondents' learned advocate made a lengthy submission in respect of this letter of appointment in order to prove it fallacious and touched on the six months' notice for termination, Sh. 5,000 bonus which he said was most unusual as it specified a fixed figure and also was almost the same as her full year's salary and on the provision of a company car for her personal use. He argued that it was most unusual that a secretary could be employed on these terms.

The Court has very carefully considered all aspects relating to this letter of appointment and has come to the conclusion that A. R. Shah issued this letter to Miss Shah and he fully knew what was written therein even though it had been drafted by Miss Shah. So to all intents and purposes of this dispute the Court finds this to be a valid letter of appointment.

One other extremely important point in this dispute is to determine what was Miss Shah's actual salary per month at the time of the termination of her services. She claimed that she was receiving two salaries, one of Sh. 2,000 being official and another unofficial salary of Sh. 5,500 which was paid to her through petty cash vouchers in order to avoid taxation. Surprisingly Miss Shah was able to produce the so-called petty cash vouchers for salaries of other staff members of the Respondents but could not produce even a single voucher to her own salary.

At the Claimants' request all the salary records were produced in Court by the Respondents and the Court agrees with the Claimants that they are, to say the least, most unsatisfactory. The Respondents conceded that Miss Shah's salary at the material time was Sh. 2,000 only but strongly denied that there was any system of payment of salaries through petty cash vouchers for whatever purposes. Mr. Shah explained that he used to make certain advance and overtime payments to certain employees and even the salaries were paid through petty cash vouchers but denied that anybody was paid an official and an unofficial salary.

The Court has given anxious thought to this particular aspect of this dispute and concurs with the Ministry of Labour's findings that there was no proof given of this alleged earning of two salaries by Miss Shah by either party. One other point which the Court has taken into consideration in making its findings on this particular point is that after Miss Shah left the Respondents' employment the next employment she got was at a salary of Sh. 3,000 only. If in fact she had been earning Sh. 7,500 as claimed by her it is highly unlikely that she would have opted for a job which offered her less than half of what she used to earn from the Respondents. The Court finds that her salary was Sh. 2,000 p.m. and that her claim for a salary of Sh. 7,500 p.m. has not been proved.

The Court having found that there was a valid letter of appointment issued to Miss Shah in 1974 but backdated to 1st April, 1967, and having found that her monthly salary was Sh. 2,000 p.m. now has to decide what dues she is entitled to from the Respondents.

The Respondents have raised the question of Limitation Act and have pleaded that her claim can go back six years only from the date the Claimants reported the dispute to the Minister, i.e. 16th May, 1979. They pleaded that this was in accordance with an earlier Industrial Court ruling in Cause No. 7/81 which was between the Domestic and Hotel Workers' Union and Hotel Inter-Continental.

The Court finds that certain parts of Miss Shah's claim are indeed time-barred under the Limitation Act and that her claim except for accrued leave has to be limited to June 1973.

Having made the above findings the Court finds that Miss Shah is entitled to the following dues:

	Sh.
(1) Six months' salary as compensation for wrongful termination	12,000
(2) Six months' salary in lieu of notice	12,000
(3) Payment in lieu of accrued leave for the period 1st January, 1967 to 31st March, 1976 ..	18,000
(4) Bonus of Sh. 5,000 for the period 1st June, 1973 to 1st June 1976	15,000
(5) Salary for months April, May, June, July, 1976	8,000
(6) Refund of medical bills	2,070
	67,070

The Claimants have also forwarded a claim for Sh. 26,250 which they have worded as follows:

"Benefits from printing industry which states inter alia that after a continued service of 2 years the employee shall be paid 15 days off duty or 15 days salary or so that's (15 x 5) 75 days or 3½ months x Sh. 7,500."

In view of the fact that her letter of appointment states that she will be given the benefits of the printing industry the Court has decided to give her a further 3½ months' salary in respect of this claim as claimed on her behalf at the rate of Sh. 2,000 only, i.e. Sh. 7,000.

The Court finds that there is no merit in her claim for house allowance and it is accordingly rejected.

The Court has, as it appear above, decided to give Miss Shah six months' salary by way of wrongful termination which along with six months' salary in lieu of notice would give her full 12 months' salary as the Court finds that Ministry of Labour's recommendation of three months' compensation was not adequate under the circumstances of this dispute.

The Court accordingly awards that the Respondents should pay Miss Shah a sum of Sh. 74,070 being her dues and compensation for the wrongful dismissal that she has suffered.

Given in Nairobi the 23rd February, 1982.

Judge.

A. K. ARAP KERICH,
Members.
