GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 230

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 57 OF 1981

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers and Gailey and Roberts Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Wrongful termination of Paul Ambenge.

1. The Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Gailey and Roberts Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 14th January, 1982 and in addition to relying on their written and verbal submissions called the following witnesses to give evidence on oath:

Claimants.—P. Ambenge

Respondents:

B. M. Mwangi
J. H. Musonga
J. M. Mambo
Julius Kimbati.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 11th March, 1981, duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 27th October, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

Mr. P. Ambenge worked for the Respondents since 1st September, 1971, as a clerk grade 2 and his services were terminated summarily on 23rd May, 1980. He was offered the following terminal benefits which he has refused to collect:

"7 days pay in lieu of leave not taken ... ..	312.50
Pro-rata leave travelling allowance ... ..	291.00
Provident fund contribution ... ..	4,933.00
	5,536.50"

The Claimants took up the matter on his behalf and the dispute was investigated by the Ministry of Labour.

It is a matter of regret that two rather contradictory findings and recommendations found their way to the parties in this dispute the first one which was apparently received by the Respondents only had the following finding and recommendation:

"From the submissions it is apparent that Mr. Ambenge could not explain some spare parts transaction that he had personally involved himself in. The colleagues at work that he implicated as accomplices in what was an attempt to cheat the company denied any knowledge and involvement in placing orders for spare parts not needed by the company.

This would then leave one to implicate Mr. Ambenge with the attempt to defraud the company. Though Mr. Ambenge did not have any warnings in his employment record and though he had worked with the company for long I find that the action taken by the employer was not too harsh under the circumstances of attempted fraud. I therefore find the union's last request of the dismissal being reduced to normal termination not even plausible under the circumstances."

The other one dated 29th January, 1981 gave the finding and recommendation as follows:

"Mr. Ambenge was suspected by the company to be conniving with other persons to defraud the company. He was called for an explanation by the management which is said to have been unsatisfactory.

It appears, however, that while the management suspected that something was going on wrong and most probably with Mr. Ambenge's help no clear evidence in my opinion has been produced to hold Mr. Ambenge as the person who was defrauding the company.

There is some evidence though to show that Mr. Ambenge added some items in the lists which went to unknown person. The persons mentioned by him all refused having received any of those items.

Mr. Ambenge had not received any warnings and I am of the opinion that the management acted rather harshly in dismissing him.

I recommend that Mr. Ambenge's dismissal be reduced to normal termination of service. He should under the circumstances be paid his terminal dues."

The Court notes that the earlier report was not signed by anyone in the Ministry but in view of the doubt that has arisen as a result of this the Court has decided not to place any reliance on either of these two reports and the Court has come to its own conclusion on the evidence and the submissions made before it during the hearing.

The Court is satisfied that at least on two occasions involving two firms Silanga Ltd. and Orbit Enterprises Mr. Ambenge had made additional entries in his own handwriting involving six valves and seven tips. The mechanics who were assigned to work on these two jobs gave evidence on oath and stated that the items which were added on the spares list and in respect of which workshop requisition was raised were not asked by them and in fact were not necessary or required to carry out the jobs that were required by the customers. They both denied having received these items. The customers, however, received invoices showing the aforesaid spare parts as having been used on their jobs and they raised objections with the result that the Respondents after having carried out investigations had to issue credit notes to both the firms for the amount of Sh. 3,041.70 and Sh. 5,065.90.

Mr. Ambenge admitted having made these entries but said that the mechanics came and told him that they needed these additional items for the jobs and therefore he wrote it before them and that he handed over these items to the mechanics concerned. Both the mechanics denied either having asked Mr. Ambenge to make these entries or receiving these spares.

The Court is satisfied that Mr. Ambenge was involved in the requisition of the spare parts for fictitious jobs and/or of spare parts that were not required for on going jobs. The Court notes that the Respondents have suffered a known loss of spare parts worth Sh. 20,000. It was submitted on Mr. Ambenge's behalf that he alone could not have carried out this fraud as there were two other clerks involved in this exercise. The Court, however, is not concerned with any criminal aspect of this dispute as the proven fact remains that he raised a requisition in respect of spare parts which were not needed for those jobs and which spares the mechanics concerned did not receive. It is obvious that there is more to it than what was revealed and it is up to the Respondents to institute a thorough investigation to unearth this racket.

After careful consideration of all the submissions and the evidence given by the witnesses the Court finds that Mr. Ambenge was guilty of a gross misconduct and deserved a summary dismissal and the Court accordingly rejects the Claimants' demand. Mr. Ambenge should go and collect the terminal benefits that the Respondents have offered him amounting to Sh. 5,536.50.

Given in Nairobi the 26th January, 1982.

Judge.
