GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 1324

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 73 OF 1984

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers and
Kenya Breweries Limited

Issue in dispute:

Interpretation of clause 30 of collective agreement R.C.A. No. 267 of 1983.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and the Kenya Breweries Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 18th and 19th February, 1985, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of dispute for "A" dated 9th July, 1984, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 14th August, 1984, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The claimants submitted that for twenty (20) years the respondents have asked the workers to pay a negotiated rent from their consolidated wages. This arrangement has continued even after the deconsolidation of wages.

Since rents were fixed by parties' agreement any alteration in the rates can only be effected after such an agreement has been obtained from both parties. In the past and the current agreements there is a provision in clause (21) (a) on this issue as follows:

"Where company housing is available it will be allocated to an employee on an agreed rental basis."

The claimants stated that they were, however, prepared to review rents at a specially convened meeting for the purpose. This view was expressed at a joint industrial council meeting held on 11th April, 1983. When this matter came up again on 20th April, 1983, before the joint industrial council, the respondents made it clear that the rent document was not for discussion but for information and further said that rent to be charged was not a negotiable item and so could not be discussed.

The claimants referred the court to the respondents' submission appendix "c" where the relevant portion of the minutes under "Wages schedule continued" appears in support of the claimants contention.

"They also rejected another paper entitled unionisable staff housing rents which indicated new rent. The management made it clear to the union that the rent paper was not meant for discussion but for information only.

They emphasized that rent is not a negotiable item and was therefore not a subject for discussion in that meeting. They felt, however, that workers should be informed where necessary of the management's intentions. They stated that the rent schedule as contained in that paper would be implemented."

The claimants argued that the respondents having agreed to pay a separate housing allowance to all 2,313 workers including 949 now affected by this dispute, they should have negotiated with them (the claimants) any proposed increases in rents charged on company houses presently occupied by the workers. Instead, they closed the door thus denying the claimants chances of discussing the matter and reaching any meaningful settlement.

The claimants stressed that the wage increases and allowances agreed upon during the last collective agreement never went beyond the permitted wage guidelines to justify the respondents' action to increase rents charged by them. Even if it did, the agreement required them to negotiate such increases with the claimants. The proposed rent increases put before the meeting were manifestly excessive and ranged between 42 per cent and 590 per cent.

The claimants stated that despite previous agreements to pay house allowance to all concerned, to date housed workers are not being paid the agreed house allowances nor are any deductions being effected. This is an open violation of the collective agreement. The collective agreement requires the parties to give sixty days' notice of their intention to change any portion of the agreement. Unilateral increase of rent by the respondents amounts to amending the existing agreement without parties' joint consultation and final agreement. Clause 21 (a) of the collective agreement was to restrict the respondents from increasing rents without obtaining an agreement from the claimants. The respondents raised this important issue on 23rd November, 1983, long after the registration of the current agreement. This agreement expired at the end of February, 1985, and the respondents should be directed to raise any new issues during the next round of negotiations.

The respondents quoted clauses 21 (a) and 30 of the collective agreement, clause 30 provides each employee with a housing allowance as stipulated below:

Scale	KSh.
A	225
B	242
C	269
D	330
E	421
F	534

The respondents stated that during negotiations for the new agreement which was effective from March, 1983, the claimants proposed that the respondents should introduce a separate house allowance to all those employees not housed by the respondents and to stop charging rent to those occupying the houses belonging to the respondents.

The respondents accepted the principle of a separate house allowance to all employees provided the existing rents were raised. This is because it was recognized that the value of some houses would be well below the accepted house allowance. The employees occupying such houses were to be paid the difference between the house rent and their entitlement under house allowance which would be a financial gain to them.

The respondents explained that they went further and presented a valuation of all its property carried out by professional valuers in the country and tabled a list of new chargeable rents which they intended to introduce. The rents were only 35 per cent of the marked value and the highest did not exceed the maximum house allowance which had been agreed upon.

The claimants objected to the new charges while at the same time agreeing that new house allowance be payable to all employees. The respondents were very emphatic on their stand and informed the claimants that the new rent proposals will be implemented. The respondents went ahead as soon as the agreement was registered with present clause on housing and deducted the new rents they had put forward in the joint industrial council meetings. The claimants rejected this and instead that any new rent must be agreed with them. They seemed to accept the principle on increased house rents but were at the time not prepared to discuss this issue until all house allowance arrears even to those housed were paid. The respondents could not accept this.

Efforts to settle the matter failed and even a letter written to the claimants general secretary was not taken seriously but was met with a notice of an illegal strike.

The respondents added that having failed to receive any co-operation from the claimants they decided to abide by the legal requirements of providing housing or house allowance until an amicable agreement was reached or the dispute settled in any other way. The respondents decided to pay house allowance and the arrears to all employees not housed by them. It should be noted that for employees in the respondents houses no rent has been deducted nor have they been paid any housing allowance.

The respondents pointed out that the intention of the claimants was to get the court's ruling that all employees whether housed or not are entitled to house allowance in which case the employees currently housed shall continue benefiting from these facilities while at the same drawing an allowance. This in essence is an unfair labour practice and discrimination against the few that have not been able to obtain company houses.

The respondents asked the court to consider the intentions of the parties in the past meetings which clearly indicate that clauses 21 and 30 were discussed at the same time and that the respondents' offer to the current house allowances were subject to the rents payable by the housed employees being raised.

In conclusion, the respondents further submitted that clause 30 cannot be read in isolation but has to be taken together with clause 21. The two clauses are contained in the same agreement and are complementary to one another.

The respondents stated that they are emphatic about charging the new rents and since the claimants appear not bothered about it in their submission one can only conclude that they have no objection to the respondents' new arrangement. It is therefore the respondents wish that the claimants accept the raised house rents being levied by the respondents on those housed by them or the claimants accept the legal position of their members being provided either with a housing accommodation or a house allowance but not both.

The court finds that the respondents' stand during the joint industrial council meeting of 20th April, 1983, was not proper as the court is satisfied that as far as the rent chargeable by the respondents in respect of their houses given to their employees is concerned, such rent has to be agreed with the claimants as had been done in the past and as agreed in the collective agreement.

The court appreciates that clauses 21 (a) and 30 of the collective agreement are somewhat linked but the question still remains that as required under clause 21 (a) the respondents and the claimants have not agreed on the proposed new rents to be charged by the respondents.

The court is of the view that notwithstanding that sixty days' notice is required to change any provision of the collective agreement the claimants were fully put in the picture by the respondents that they intended to increase the rent which they were charging their 949 employees who are housed by them. But unfortunately for the respondents, their approach to begin with was wrong and the subsequent negative approach adopted by the claimants also did not help matters.

In these circumstances and considering all the submissions made by the parties the court finds that the respondents should charge the old rents in respect of the 949 employees housed by them until such time as they agree with the claimants on the new rents. The court further directs that the backdating of such increased rents should also be discussed provided that such backdating will not be beyond February, 1984. The court directs the claimants and the respondents to immediately meet and discuss the respondents' proposals for increasing the rents as tabled by them at the meeting of April, 1983.

GAZETTE NOTICE No. 1326

THE TRADE MARKS ACT
(Cap. 506)

NOTICE is given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the trade marks advertised herein according to the class may, within 60 days from the date of this Gazette, lodge notice of opposition on Form TM. No. 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of KSh. 50.

Notice is also given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make if and when it is registered. Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified, it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him an opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.

Representations of the marks advertised herein can be seen at the Trade Marks Registry, State Law Office, Nairobi.
