Issue in dispute —

Dismissal of Mr Mutunda Muduka

1 The Amalgamated Union of Kenya Metal Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Marshalls (E A) Ltd shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents

2 The parties were heard in Nairobi on 2nd October and 25th November, 1975, and relied on their written and verbal submissions. The Claimants called Mr M Mudaka to give evidence and the Respondents called the following witnesses to give evidence in Court —

Mr P G Sergeantson
Mr Sammy M Githenji
Mr H E Ondemo
Mr G Bidinyu

AWARD

3 The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 18th June, 1975, was received by the Court on 1st August, along with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner

The person involved in this dispute although referred to in the Notification of Dispute Form "A" as Mutunda Muduka is in fact Mr Mutunga Mudaka. This is accepted by both the parties. He was employed as a driver by the Respondents on 2nd December, 1968, and was summarily dismissed on 19th August, 1974

The facts leading to his dismissal are that on 14th August, 1974, one Mr Bowes brought a Peugeot car registration No KJP 989 for repairs and servicing at the Respondents' Motor Gallery in town. He was attended to by Mr Sammy Githenji who completed the Service Instruction Sheet which was then signed by the customer. This Service Instruction Sheet was produced as an exhibit during the hearing and shows ten different items that were to be carried out and in between item 9 and 10 but without a number it is written "fit S/wheel on front and N/S and front N/S keep as S/wheel". Then just below item No 10 it is written "Nothing in the car"

One Mr Herbert E Ondemo, who was assisting Mr Githenji at the reception then acting on the Service Instruction Sheet made an entry in the drivers book which had been allocated to Mr Mudaka. The entry read as follows —

Date	Name	Description	No
"14 8 74 855	(no spare wheel)	No jack	KJP 989 925"

Mr Ondemo then handed the book and the Service Instruction Sheet to Mr Mudaka who was asked to drop Mr Bowes at his office in Koinange St and then to take the car to the Central Workshop in the Industrial Area. When the car arrived at the Central Workshop the askari on duty, Mr G Bidinyu, saw it and allowed it to go in. He made an entry in a book in which he recorded under the heading spares the word "nil"

Mr P Sergeantson, who is the Manager of the Central Workshop, having received information that there was no spare wheel on the car instigated inquiries and as a result of his investigations he recommended a summary dismissal of Mr Mudaka

The Claimants took up the matter on his behalf and an Investigator was appointed after the dispute was reported to the Minister for Labour

The Claimants subsequently boycotted the investigation after writing a rather objectionable letter to the Chief Industrial Relations Officer on 10th January, 1975, criticizing the exercise of investigation generally and stating that they would not co-operate with the Investigator unless he acted as a Conciliator

The findings and recommendations forwarded to the parties by the Chief Industrial Relations Officer are as follows —

"Findings

This is a straightforward case in which the Company should be commended for having installed necessary security measures in their working premises to protect the security of their customers against damages or theft. It is unfortunate that the Company suffered this loss of the spare wheel as already outlined

Mr Mutunda was given the responsibility of taking customers' vehicles for repair from the Motor Gallery to the Central Workshop. He was charged with an important duty of taking care of the vehicles and also of caring for the tools and other property left in the customers vehicles

It is obvious that the spare wheel in question disappeared somewhere while the car was in transit between the said two points. The spare wheel was found on the car at the Reception Room and booked as required. Mr Mutunda who was responsible for the car between the two points must be answerable for the disappearance of the spare wheel

However, since it was difficult to prove a case of theft against Mr Mutunda, he should, in the nature of things, be given the benefit of doubt

Recommendations

Having regard to the observations made above, I recommend that the dismissal of Mr Mutunda be reduced to termination of service and he should be paid terminal benefits in accordance with the collective agreement between the parties"

The Claimants asked the Court to award full 12 months' compensation for loss of employment to Mr Mudaka as he had been wrongfully dismissed without any justification by the Respondents. They criticized the Respondents for high handed behaviour and said that the maximum compensation would act as a deterrent to such other employers in the country. The Claimants relied on the remark "nothing in the car" on the entries in the drivers book to show that there was never at any time a spare wheel in the aforesaid vehicle. Therefore the question of it being lost did not arise at all. They further strongly stated that if the Respondents had suspected Mr Mudaka of theft then they should have reported the matter to the police

The Respondents pleaded that notwithstanding the entries in the driver's book and the Service Instruction Sheet the fact remained that when Mr Bowes had brought the car to the Motor Gallery there was a spare wheel on it in a tray under neath the boot as is usual in that type of car. They relied on the investigation carried out by Mr Sergeantson who as an ex-police officer with ten years service had the necessary experience to conduct such investigations and stated that they were satisfied that Mr Mudaka had committed gross negligence which had resulted in the loss of a customer's spare wheel and therefore merited summary dismissal. Mr Sergeantson also produced two documents from the personal file of Mr Mudaka, one was a note dated 18th April, 1972, signed by Mr Ward reading as follows —

"Driver Mutunga was involved in bringing two 404 saloons to Central Workshop upon which the spare wheels were subsequently found missing. These were—

on 11 4 72 KNS 429
on 14 4 72 KNU 703

both these wheels were replaced and charged to Central Workshop Repeat Work"

The other one was a Service Instruction Sheet with the following words written on top —

"KMG 278 Mr J D Kiambi 404 sal

5874 Driver Mutunga

Battery Lucas changed for Exide "

The Respondents further led evidence that on 14th August, 1974, in the afternoon when Mr Mudaka was driving another car out from the Central Workshop a new jack was found in that car, when he was asked to whom the jack belonged he said he did not know. This jack up till now is lying with Mr Sergeantson and no one has claimed it.

The Court has given very careful consideration to this dispute and the evidence that has been given by the various witnesses. The Court finds that Mr Sammy Githenji was not a reliable witness. The manner in which he made entries from item 9 onwards coupled with the mistake regarding item No 10 in his statement made on 14th August, 1974, with the fact that he had clearly written "nothing in the car" cast a grave doubt on his evidence when he says that he saw the spare wheel in the car.

Mr Herbert Ondemo clearly stated in his evidence that as was the routine he interpreted "nothing in the car" to mean that there was no spare wheel, no jack and no wheel brace in the car and he had therefore made the aforesaid entries in the driver's book before giving it to Mr Mudaka for driving the car to the Central Workshop. He also agreed in evidence that if it was alleged that the driver had lost a spare wheel, on the strength of his entry in the driver's book the driver could not be held responsible.

The Court attaches absolutely no importance whatsoever to Mr Ward's note and the other note in Mr Mudaka's personal file as there is no evidence to show that any allegations were made against him in respect of the matters stated therein or that he was served with any letter of warning. The same applies to the incident when a jack was found in the car he was driving out on 14th August, 1974. The Court could like to state that mere suspicions are just not good enough to persuade it when it comes to deciding such an important matter as a worker's employment.

After a complete and careful appraisal of the whole evidence the Court is left with a very unsatisfactory picture in which it cannot be ruled out that—

- (a) there was no spare wheel to begin with, and
- (b) if there was a spare wheel then Mr Sammy Githenji should be the first person to bear the blame for gross negligence for clearly writing on the Service Instruction Sheet "nothing in the car" particularly when Mr Herbert Ondemo stated that the entry on the Service Instruction Sheet like this one is meant to indicate whether or not there is a spare wheel, jack, etc., in the car, and
- (c) that there is a racket going on at that place in which the reception officers and the drivers are involved and take advantage of unsuspecting customers in stealing spare parts from their cars.

Since the Respondents have cleared Mr Sammy Githenji and Mr Herbert Ondemo, the Court can find no reason why under the circumstances Mr Mudaka should be blamed for the loss of the spare wheel. On a balance of probabilities the Court finds that Mr Mudaka was not responsible for the loss of the spare wheel if it was in the car on the morning of 14th August, 1974.

The Court has come to the conclusion that the Respondents have wrongfully dismissed the services of Mr Mudaka as the Court does not accept the explanations given by Mr Githenji through the Respondents' spokesman that he had written "nothing in the car" because it was taken for granted that since work was to be done on the spare wheel it was there.

The Court awards that Mr Mudaka should be paid four months' wages by way of compensation for his wrongful dismissal.

In conclusion the Court would like to tell both the representatives of the Claimants and the Respondents that they have taken their personal attacks against each other and their sarcastic comments on each other to a point of utter nausea. The Court would advise them to conduct themselves in a more restrained manner when they appear in Court in future.

GAZETTE NOTICE No 3970

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No 64 OF 1975

Parties —

Kenya Engineering Workers Union
and

Engineering and Allied Industries Employers' Association

Issue in dispute —

Wage increase to compensate workers for the high cost of living

1 The Kenya Engineering Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and the Engineering and Allied Industries Employers' Association shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2 The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 14th day of November, 1975, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3 The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 21st August, 1975, was received by the Court on 5th September, along with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The parties have a collective agreement in force on wages and terms and conditions of employment which is due to expire on 31st October, 1976. This agreement was registered by the Court on 5th September, as RCA 148/74.

Under the above collective agreement the workers received the following two increases —

Sh 48/75 with effect from 1st September, 1974

Sh 48/75 with effect from 1st September, 1975

Nearly 6,000 workers are subject to this agreement and they are employed by 29 engineering firms in Mombasa and Nairobi.

Following H E the President's May Day speech the Claimants submitted a demand to the Respondents for a 35 per cent special wage increase with effect from 1st May, 1975. A meeting of the Joint Industrial Council (JIC) was called to discuss this matter on 24th June, 1975, and it is not disputed that the Respondents offered to implement the wage increase due on 1st September, 1975, at an earlier date together with a "sweetener" of Sh 19/90. This offer, however, was rejected by the Claimants who were not satisfied with the amount offered.

The matter was the subject matter of conciliation and the Claimants alleged that at one stage the Respondents gave a "whisper proposal" of an increase of Sh 30 p.m. The Respondents, however, rejected this as sheer gossip of no consequence since it is only the JIC where alterations can be made to the terms of employment in accordance with the recognition agreement.

The Claimants produced a chart dating back to 1970 with all the increases that had been granted to workers since that date up to the latest increase of Sh 48/75 on 1st September in order to justify their demand for a wage increase of 35 per cent.

The Claimants also produced a comparative chart in order to prove that the Respondents' level of fringe benefits was lower than many other industries in the country.

The Respondents vigorously pleaded that a valid collective agreement should not be tampered with before its expiry date and that since the Claimants had rejected their offer of Sh 19/90 as stated hereinabove the Court should now reject their demand and that offer should be considered to have been withdrawn.

The Respondents further pleaded that the engineering industry was in a poor state just now and was going through a very difficult time. This had resulted in redundancies in the industry and many more were being visualized and were on the way. The Respondents produced documentary evidence obtained from their members in support of this submission.

The Respondents finally submitted that in any case the wage rates paid by them were fairly high and the wage increases that had been granted under the current collective agreement had amply compensated the workers for the increase in the cost of living.

The Court would like at the very outset to rule out the Claimants' approach in support of their demand for a 35 per cent wage increase in that they have gone as far back as September, 1970, in order to justify it. The Court must do so by virtue of Guideline number (iv) which reads as follows —

"The workers' wages should not normally be eroded by price increases. Compensation for price increases other than those caused by increased taxation may be granted, based on the rise of the Nairobi Wage Earners' Price Index from the time of the most recent revision of wages and salaries. Since tax increases must be borne by all members of society it is not justified to ask that price increases caused by taxation be compensated in the same way as other price increases."

It is quite obvious that the relevant date is from the time of the most recent revision of wages and salaries which in this case would be 1st September, 1974.

The report from the Employment Promotion Division shows that during the period 1st September, 1974 to October, 1975, the cost of living has gone up by 18.2 per cent during which period the workers had been paid an increase of 11 per cent for the lowest paid group falling to about half that rate for the higher paid employees.

As stated earlier the Claimants want a further pay increase of 25 per cent bringing total compensation during the life of the agreement to 39 per cent which would place them well ahead of the price increases. The Court finds that the Claimants are not justified in making such a high demand.

Having made the above finding the Court is not happy either at the stand which has been taken by the Respondents in that having made an offer at the JIC level now during the hearing they argued that that offer was conditional and that they are not willing to mutually revise the existing collective agreement. On the evidence before it the Court has come to the conclusion that the Respondents have conceded their willingness to grant increases to these thousands of workers for inflation. The Court, however, has paid attention to the difficulties that are being faced by the engineering industry just now.

The Court would like to record with satisfaction that the Claimants' General Secretary, as was proved by documentary evidence, has indeed when approached by a member of the Respondents' group to make representations at the higher level proved to be most helpful in order to secure appropriate protection for the products produced by that particular firm. The Court has also noted with pleasure that the Minister of Commerce responded to the Claimants' General Secretary's representations with considerable speed. It is up to the Respondents' members to either approach the Minister direct or enlist the help of the Claimants in order to eliminate any undue competition which they may be faced with imported goods.

After careful consideration the Court awards that the workers should be granted an additional wage increase of Sh 34/40 p.m. with effect from 1st September, 1975. The Court has no doubt that when the current collective agreement is revised this increase will be taken into consideration.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the Registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the Registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him any opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.
