Issue in Dispute

Hours of Work

1 The Kenya Local Government Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants No 1 of the Association of Local Government Employers comprising of the Nairobi and Mombasa Councils shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2 The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 2nd day of October 1969 and the 17th day of November 1969 and relied on their written and verbal submissions. The Respondents also called two witnesses Mr George Muchiri and Mr Stephen Elisha both Chief Fire officers employed by the Nairobi City Council and the Mombasa Municipal Council respectively.

AWARD

This dispute has arisen between the parties on the question of the working hours of Fire Brigade and Ambulance Service employees of the Respondents.

The Claimants had raised this matter with the Nairobi City Council as far back as September 1965 but it was deferred. It was raised again on 25th January 1968 when at a Joint Works Committee meeting it was recorded that on 22nd July 1966 the reduction of working hours in the Fire Section, City Engineer's Department was approved in principle. The implementation of this decision was, however, postponed for various reasons and pending the approval of 1968 estimates by the Minister for Local Government.

Nothing further transpired until June 1968 when the Claimants after having waited all this time for some positive result reported a trade dispute on this issue to the Ministry of Labour.

The Claimants mentioned the following three items as being in dispute —

- 1 Refusal by the Council to reduce number of working hours in the Fire Brigade and Ambulance services
- 2 Refusal by the Council to pay overtime to fire brigade staff
- 3 Refusal by the Council to provide transport to and from the place of work to fire brigade staff

The trade dispute was accepted and a conciliator was appointed on 27th June 1968.

As a result of conciliation the following agreement was reached between the Claimants and the Nairobi City Council —

- (1) The parties would adopt three-shift system of fifty six hours of work for the Fire and Ambulance Services to begin on the 7th August 1968. Thereafter the system will remain in operation for six months. At the expiry of the six-month period should there be any changes to the contrary, the parties may meet and discuss the matter again.
- (2) Those leaving work between 7.30 p.m. and 6 a.m. will be provided with transport by the Council.

The Nairobi City Council implemented this agreement in August 1968.

As far as Mombasa Municipal Council is concerned, the position is that after pressure from the Claimants on the same matter, the Council most reluctantly agreed, to carry out a similar experiment as in Nairobi as from December 1968.

The Claimants now contend that the aforesaid experiment carried out at Nairobi and Mombasa proves conclusively that the number of hours per week for workers in fire and ambulance services can be and should be reduced to fifty-six hours. This would not, in any way, affect the efficiency of these services or their availability to the public when required. They argued that the creation of new jobs was one of the priorities of the Kenya Government and the adoption of fifty six hours per week by the Respondents would lead to about 75 new jobs. In view of great unemployment the Claimants could not accept a situation whereby their members were being over-worked. The Claimants maintained that any additional expenditure required was available and would be perfectly justified under the circumstances.

The Claimants rejected the Respondents' allegations that during the experimental period leave to workers had to be suspended and that fifty-six hours per week are completely unworkable.

The Respondents, on the other hand, strongly submitted that the experiment had proved that the reduction of working hours from 72 to 56 was unworkable without the addition of new staff. The Respondents pointed out that they suffered from a shortage of finance and were unable to carry out some essential work. They further stated that an important factor has been a serious loss in both Nairobi and Mombasa of hours devoted to training. The Respondents called their respective Chief Fire Officers as witnesses. Both these officers gave an account of how they had fared in providing services to the community during the experimental period and what effect it had had on the workers. They stated that they had been under great pressure during this time as services had to be curtailed, leave had to be cancelled and certain training programmes had to be discontinued. Both of them, however, stated that they were in favour of a reduction of hours from 72 to 60.

The Court notes that the Respondents in their submissions had suggested that as a compromise the number of hours might be reduced from 72 to 66 per week and asked the Court to make an award on those lines.

The Court has very carefully considered the submissions made by the parties and the evidence given by the two Chief Fire Officers from Nairobi and Mombasa. The Court must express the view that continuity of training is essential in order to maintain a high standard of efficiency in fire and ambulance services to which the public is entitled. The Court has to approach such services with great caution as human safety and prevention of damage to property and goods depends very much on their efficiency and the speed with which they can be made available.

In arriving at its findings the Court has also taken into consideration that any reduction in the number of hours per week is bound to lead to the creation of new jobs and estimates that its award will lead to about 50 new jobs being created in Nairobi and Mombasa.

The Court has decided to accept the recommendations of the two Chief Fire Officers at Nairobi and Mombasa and accordingly awards that with effect from 1st January 1970 the number of hours per week at both these places shall be 60 hours in respect of fire and ambulance services.

1 The Kenya Engineering Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and the Engineering and Allied Industries Employers' Association shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2 The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 21st and 22nd day of October 1969 and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

Despite the fact that the parties have appeared before the Industrial Court on four different occasions with the Respondents appearing either collectively or as individual employers the industrial relations in the engineering industry have, by and large, been stable and harmonious. The established pattern of collective bargaining, over the years since June 1960 is that apart from the wage issue (which has been revised after a fixed period as agreed) all other terms and conditions of employment have been settled either through voluntary negotiations or through awards of the Industrial Court and have continued in force without being tied down to a duration period.

In accordance with the above practice the last wage revision took place on 23rd February 1968 and the Joint Industrial Council resolved that new consolidated rates of wages should become effective on 1st March 1968 and should remain in force for a period of 18 months. Again no comprehensive agreement was drawn and the parties chose to rely on the Joint Industrial Council minutes for other terms and conditions of service.

There is no doubt that this system was apparently working satisfactorily but the fact remains that it is desirable in the parties own interest that all their obligations should be reduced to writing to eliminate any doubt and trouble in future.

The manner in which the present dispute has arisen proves the point as in December 1968 the Claimants forwarded demands to the Respondents on the terms and conditions of service, other than wages, before the expiry of the wage agreement that is on 31st August 1969.

The Respondents naturally resisted this with the result that they were confronted with a threat of strike for failure to negotiate on fringe benefits. The Respondents notified a trade dispute and showed their willingness to go to Industrial Court on the issue namely whether the parties should negotiate amendments or additions to the existing agreement prior to the expiry date already agreed between the parties. This did not help matters and the Claimants called out employees on strike on the 25th and 27th January 1969.

As a result of meetings which were held subsequent to the strike the following agreement was reached —

- "1 It was noted that no comprehensive signed agreement on current terms and conditions of service exists for employees of the Associations' members
- 2 It is resolved that the Union will submit, to the Association, a draft agreement
- 3 Fourteen days after the Union has submitted its draft to the Association, a meeting will be convened to resolve the terms of the memorandum with a view to having it signed"

On 20th February 1969 the Claimants submitted to the Respondents a draft agreement covering terms and conditions of service. The Respondents replied by setting out what in their view constituted the current terms and conditions. These items were rejected by the Claimants and the parties embarked on meetings which ended in deadlock both at their own meetings and at the conciliation proceedings conducted by the Ministry of Labour.

During the proceedings the Claimants asked the Court to rule that the effective date for the fringe benefits should be 16th November 1968. The effective date for the wages having been agreed between the parties at 1st September 1969.

The Court has very carefully gone through the submissions of the parties on this point and has come to the conclusion that there is no reason whatsoever for awarding a different effective date for the fringe benefits to the agreed effective date for the wages i.e. 1st September 1969. The Court is satisfied that the workers will not suffer any undue hardship or injustice by this. In fact the Claimants are as much responsible for this state of affairs as the Respondents.

The Claimants main arguments for increased wages and demand for a higher level of fringe benefits are that the engineering industry as a whole is thriving, the employers are making big profits and no new jobs have been created by them. In fact the Respondents conceded that the figure of those in employment in the engineering industry dropped from 3,523 in 1967 to 3,300 in 1968 but pointed out that the decline was largely due to the impact of neighbouring countries decentralization legislation.

The Claimants produced a table showing the wage rates and fringe benefits in eight other industries, namely Motor Industry, East African Power and Lighting, Balfour Beatty, E.A. Oxygen, Oil Industry, Brewing Industry, E.A. Industries and Emco Glass Works, and argued that the Respondents wages and fringe benefits were much inferior than these industries.

The Respondents on the other hand drew the Court's attention to the fact that the engineering industry was rapidly amenable to automation, particularly with larger members where was production was involved. They rejected the comparison made by the Claimants on the grounds that different economic factors were involved in different industries. In any case they submitted that their wage rates and fringe benefits were not inferior as alleged by the Claimants. The Respondents stated that the business of their members was seriously affected by the competition from small engineering firms who "got away by paying much lower rates".

The Court has very carefully considered the written and verbal submissions made by the parties on the various issues in dispute before making its award.

1 Wage Increases—The current wages are as follows —

Works Employees

Group 8	Sh 1/40 per hour=Sh 273 per 195-hour month
Group 7	Sh 1/42 per hour=Sh 276/90 per 195 hour month
Group 6	Sh 1/50 per hour=Sh 292/50 per 195-hour month
Group 5	Sh 1/66 per hour=Sh 323/70 per 195-hour month
Group 4	Sh 1/80 per hour=Sh 351 per 195-hour month
Group 3	Sh 2/25 per hour=Sh 438/75 per 195-hour month
Group 2	Sh 2/97 per hour=Sh 579/15 per 195-hour month
Group 1	Sh 4 per hour=Sh 780 per 195 hour month

Clerical

Group A	Sh 4/55 per hour=Sh 887/25 per 195 hour month
Group B	Sh 3/80 per hour=Sh 741 per 195-hour month
Group C	Sh 2/80 per hour=Sh 546 per 195-hour month
Group D	Sh 2/10 per hour=Sh 409/50 per 195-hour month
Group E	Sh 1/70 per hour=Sh 331/50 per 195-hour month

The Court awards that the above rates should be increased by 20 cents an hour (Sh 39 p m) for the first year with effect from 1st September 1969, and 10 cents (Sh 19/50 p m) for the second year with effect from 1st October 1970.

In arriving at the above increases the Court has taken into consideration the fact that housing and leave allowance are consolidated in the wage structure and the Court is not prepared to break up the consolidated wage rate and make separate awards on these two items.

The Court further rules that these wage increases should be granted to all workers whether or not they are on the aforesaid wage rates.

2 Normal Working Hours—The current agreement on this item is as follows —

(a) Works Employees—Employees normally shall be required to work a total of forty-five hours per week. Hours worked in excess of this amount should be considered as overtime.

(b) Security Staff—Watchmen working 12-hour shifts will be classified in Group 6 and will receive the agreed monthly rate for Group 6 for a 72-hour week.

Watchmen on a special roster working 8-hour shifts will be classified in Group 8 and will receive the agreed monthly rate for Group 8 for a 56-hour week.

Gatekeepers working an 8-hour day will be classified in Group 8."

The Court can see no reason to vary it and therefore makes no award.

3 Annual Paid Leave—The current agreement on this item is as follows —

"Eighteen working days leave excluding Gazetted Public Holidays will be granted on completion of each twelve months' service and this will be taken at the Company's convenience.

Saturdays shall be counted as a working day for leave purposes, whether it is normally worked on or not."

The Court sees no reason to vary it other than to point out that the annual leave should be taken on the anniversary date of engagement of a worker subject to the employer's convenience.

4 Leave Travelling Allowance—Nil award

5 Overtime Rates—The Court is not prepared to vary the existing rates but rules that an employee who completes his normal working day and is then required to stay on should be granted overtime without the hours for the week being taken into account.

6 Safari Allowance—The Court awards that when a worker is required to spend a night away from his place of employment he should be paid a safari allowance of Sh 30 per night. For other safaris not requiring a worker to spend a night away from his home he should be paid the following allowances —

Sh 3	Breakfast
Sh 5	Lunch
Sh 7	Dinner

7 Sick Leave—The Court awards as follows. An employee who is unable to carry out his duties by reason of sickness, shall be entitled in any period of twelve months, to full-pay for a period of forty-five days and half-pay for a further period of forty-five days in any one sick-year, provided that the employee produces a bona fide medical certificate testifying to the need for such absence.

8 Medical Treatment—Nil award

9 Housing Allowance—Nil award

10 Notice During Probationary Period—The Court awards that the employment of a worker on probation shall be terminated by seven days' notice on either side.

11 & 13 Redundancy Payments and Long Service Gratuity and Service Benefits—The current provisions on these two items appears under the heading 'Redundancy' and 'Retirement Benefits' as follows —

"Redundancy"

When cases of redundancy arise, the method of dealing with the problem should be discussed with the Union before any action is taken. In cases of termination of service on grounds of redundancy prior to the completion of one year's unbroken service the employee shall be entitled to payment for the number of working days proportionate to his leave-earning service with the employer.

Retirement Benefits Gratuity

1 A gratuity for long service employees who are ineligible to join the Provident Fund scheme is to be calculated as follows —

After 1 to 5 years' service—1 week's pay for each completed year.

From 5 to 10 years' service—1½ weeks' pay for each completed year.

After 10 years' service—2 weeks' pay for each completed year.

2 A gratuity for long service employees who joined the Provident Fund but, due to age, do not qualify for much benefit and who have served many years with a company will be calculated in accordance with the following rules —

(1) Employees who have already left the service of the Association shall not be deemed within the scope of this agreement.

(2) The only service catered for under this agreement will be the service prior to July 1963 or when the individual Company's Provident Fund was introduced.

(3) The formula for calculating this payment shall be the same as that introduced by the Conciliation Agreement in respect of employees ineligible to join the Provident Fund (See 1 above).

(4) The starting date would be 1st July 1965."

The Court awards that a worker on being declared redundant should get two weeks' pay for every completed year of service provided that where a worker is entitled to a benefit under either a Provident Fund or Gratuity Scheme, then he should get only one benefit which is more advantageous to him.

The Court further awards that a worker who is entitled to a benefit under the gratuity scheme as above should be entitled to it if he loses his employment for any reason other than on resignation or on disciplinary grounds.

12 Laundering of Uniforms and Overalls—The Court awards that those workers who have been given uniforms and overalls in compliance with the Court's previous award should be issued with 1 kilo washing soap per month.

14 Shift Differential—The Court awards as follows —

Where a Company operates a three 8-hour shift roster employees on the night shift shall receive in addition to their normal earnings a Night Shift Allowance of cents 15 (fifteen) per hour for hours worked on the night shift.

Where a Company operates a two 12-hour shift roster employees on the night shift shall receive in addition to their normal earnings a Night Shift Allowance of cents 15 (fifteen) per hour for eight of the hours worked and the remaining 4 (four) hours of the shift shall qualify for overtime rates.

15 Effective Date and Duration—The Court rules that its award along with other items which have been agreed between the parties should be effective from 1st of September 1969 and should remain in force for a period of two years from that date.
