GAZETTE NOTICE NO 1016

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No 30 OF 1969

Parties —

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers and

B A T Kenya Ltd

Issues in dispute —

Claimants—

- 1 Salary and wages
- 2 Duration of agreement
- 3 Effective date of agreement
- 4 Effect of devaluation of the pound sterling on Provident Fund
- 5 Amendment to recognition agreement so as to include staff in grades A, B and C

Respondents—

- 1 Salary and wages
- 2 Duration of contract
- 3 Effective date

1 The Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants, and the B A T (K) Ltd shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents

2 The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 18th and 19th day of February 1970, and relied on their written and verbal submissions

AWARD

3 The parties referred this dispute to the Court on 18th August 1969, and put forward their respective versions of the issues in dispute. The Court held a preliminary hearing with a view to deciding what the issues in dispute were and on 13th October 1969, the Court ruled the issues in dispute to be as follows —

- 1 Salary and wages
- 2 Duration of agreement
- 3 Effective date of agreement
- 4 Amendment to recognition agreement so as to give the Claimants the right to negotiate on behalf of staff in grades A, B and C

On 26th June 1967, the parties entered into an agreement effective from 1st June 1967, for a period of two years whereby the Respondents' workers were granted wages and salary increases. The relevant clauses in the agreement are as follows —

"1 Effective date and duration

(a) That this agreement shall be effective for a period of two years, commencing on the 1st June 1967

(b) That if either party wishes to terminate or to alter any clause in this agreement it must give a minimum of two months' notice prior to the expiry date of the agreement. In this event, the parties will enter into negotiations on the terms and conditions of a new agreement and until such time as the negotiations are finalized, the present agreement will continue in force

2 Basic wages and salaries

That all employees in grades 2-10 and shamba workers will receive wages and salary increases as follows, otherwise present salary scales will remain —

Grade	Amount Sh
2	38
3	38
4	30
5	26
6	24
7	24
8	28
9	28
Leaf Department
8	13
9	13
10	12
Shamba workers	15 "

The Court notes that during the hearing the Claimants stated that the aforesaid agreed increases were implemented by the Respondents in such a manner that when a worker received his yearly increment he reverted to the old scale with the result that next year he received a very nominal increase of about Sh 4 or whatever the difference was between the next point in the scale and his new rate. The Respondents repudiated this allegation most strongly and stated that except in those cases where a worker was at the maximum of the scale in his respective grade he was raised, when his yearly increment was due, not to his next point in scale but to the next after that thus skipping one point in the scale with the result that the workers benefited more than their annual increments

The Court accepts this explanation and finds that the Respondents implemented their 1967 agreement properly and gave the full benefit to the workers. It is quite clear from the aforesaid agreement that the parties agreed that the salary scales would remain the same and in fact the negotiations which have led to the present dispute were also undertaken on the same premise

The Respondents' final offer to the Claimants is as follows and is tied to a 30 month duration of contract —

URBAN GRADES

Grade	Proposed increment	Per cent- age of increase	Proposed new monthly rates
	Sh	cts	Sh	cts
2	40	00	1,170	00
3	40	00	1,045	00
4	28	42	858	42
5	28	42	647	42
6	22	14	486	18
7	21	56	451	22
8	21	56	413	56
9	21	56	389	56

RURAL GRADES

8	13	72	5 54	285	48	354	08
9	13	72	7 21	222	74	291	34
10	13	72	9 54	169	80	218	80

The Court notes that this offer would cost the employers £10,310 p a. The Respondents maintained that the final offer was reasonable as their new wages and salaries were fair and more than competitive

The Claimants stated amongst various other arguments that they were not sure whether the Respondents' offers were over and above the annual increments. As it was they suspected that their offer would turn out to be less than annual increment to which the workers were entitled. They argued that the cost of living in the country did not reflect the current position as rents were not taken into account which had increased tremendously since 1965. They asked the Court not to be misled by what appeared at first sight to be good rates for the various grades being paid by the Respondents on the ground that the terminal benefits paid by the Respondents were much inferior to those being paid in other firms. They also alleged that the Respondents had not created any new jobs and on the contrary had declared many workers redundant

The Court notes that the Claimants' final demands were as follows —

Grade	Demand Sh
2-3	79
4, 5, 6	64
7, 8, 9	50 (Rural)
8, 9, 10	29 (Urban)

The Claimants' demands were on the basis of a two-year contract. They also relied on the fact that the Respondents had increased the prices of their products in anticipation of the wage and salary increases which they contemplated for their workers. This was of course denied by the Respondents who clarified that the increases were as a result of the Finance Act, 1969 and referred the Court to the relevant provisions therein affecting their products

The Respondents further stated that wages and salaries for urban grades 2-6 and rural 8-10 are reviewed at the end of each year and unless one's work during the year has been extremely poor they are normally given an increment and occasionally more than one increment. They pointed out that the cost to them for a single increment was £5,740 p a and by the time the 30 months' contract expired the cost of labour would have gone up by approximately £11,480. They rejected the submission that the cost of living during the last two years had gone up and referred the Court to relevant extracts from Government publications on the subject in support of their contention

The Claimants have asked the Court to award the effective date of the new agreement to be 1st June 1969, because the previous agreement ceased to have effect on 31st May 1969. They accused the Respondents of having adopted delaying tactics designed to force the workers to suffer. In their opinion the Respondents had no reason at all for refusing to meet their demands and stated that the Respondents had been aware all along that the workers expected new agreement effective from 1st June 1969

The Respondents on the other hand relied very strongly on the wording of clause 1 (b) which is reproduced hereinabove, particularly to the words "and until such time as the negotiations are finalized the present agreement will continue in force". The Court finds that these words are very clear and unambiguous. The notification of dispute form was signed by the parties on 18th August 1969, but as stated earlier the hearing was delayed because the parties failed to agree on the issues in dispute with the result that the Court decided the issues for them on 13th October 1969, and fixed the hearing of the dispute for 16th 18th December 1969 The Claimants' advocate unfortunately was asked on these dates to appear in the High Court, in fact the High Court date was imposed on him with the result that the hearing of this dispute was put off until February this year The Court has given this matter very anxious thought and has come to the conclusion that the workers should not suffer due to the unavailability of their advocate which in any case was beyond his power Accordingly the Court has decided to award the effective date to be 1st October 1969, and further rules that the duration period should be 30 months from that date

On the issue of wage increases the Court has very carefully gone through the very lengthy and elaborate written and verbal submissions made by both the parties, out of which only a few important submissions appear hereinabove, and has come to the conclusion that under the present economic conditions in the country—the pressing problems of unemployment, etc—the Respondents' offer is very reasonable indeed Accordingly the Court awards that the workers should be granted wage and salary increases as proposed by the Respondents which are set out hereinabove The Court would like to add that these increases should be implemented in the same manner as the Respondents implemented the 1967 agreement and if the Claimants come to know of any case where the previous agreement or the present Court award is not implemented as stated by the Respondents in Court during these proceedings then they should avail themselves of the Respondents' offer made in Court to draw their attention to such cases which the Respondents have undertaken to rectify immediately

Amendment to Recognition Agreement so as to give the Claimants the Right to Negotiate on Behalf of Staff in Grades A B and C

At present there are about 789 workers who are called the graded staff and some 68 workers in categories A, B and C on the Respondents' establishment In addition there are the top level members of management

The Claimants have made a very strong plea for them to represent the 68 odd workers in categories A, B and C on the ground that these workers were not part of the management by any means and that they should not be denied their right of freedom to associate and bargain collectively They stated that these workers could not initiate any disciplinary proceedings and in fact did not exercise any such powers They pointed out that these workers had tried to form their own association but were prevented from so doing by the Respondents and since Kenya was a party to ILO Conventions 87 and 89 the Court should rule that these workers could be represented by the Claimants

The Claimants accused the Respondents of trying to keep as many workers out of union membership as possible

The Respondents took the Court through the historical background leading up to the present situation and referred the Court to their own agreement and to the agreements between the Kenya Federation of Labour (KFL) and the Federation of Kenya Employers (FKE) on the subject of union representation in respect of those who exercise confidential, directive, administrative, representational and supervisory functions at the lowest level of management to whom disciplinary decisions are delegated The Respondents produced to the Court all the relevant documents on this highly controversial subject and submitted that whether looked at from their agreements with the Claimants or the agreement of the FKE and Central Organization of Trade Unions (K) (COTU) to which both the Claimants and the Respondents belong, employees in grades A, B and C must continue to be outside union representation until mutually acceptable interpretation of the aforesaid categories of workers is reached between either the Claimants and the Respondents or the FKE and COTU

The Court is inclined to accept this suggestion and in fact in a previous ruling has impressed upon FKE and COTU to proceed with this matter urgently and to revise and finalize the definition of the various categories of workers, if any, who cannot be represented by unions In the present case, however, the Claimants have relied on the minutes dated 20th April 1962, of a meeting held on 11th April 1962, of a special subcommittee appointed on 6th December 1961, to examine the existing definitions of supervisory staff They strongly maintained that even in accordance with the definitions of "confidential, directive, administrative, representational and supervisory" which were agreed at this meeting, most of the 68 workers involved in this issue should be allowed to join the Claimants who should be given the right to represent them

The Respondents during the hearing stated that they had at all times been willing to go through these jobs when occasion demanded in order to determine whether or not any of these workers due to change in their jobs could be granted the benefit of union representation They were willing at all times to carry out this exercise

In view of the fact that the Claimants have decided to rely in this case on the various definitions agreed in April 1962 the Court has come to the conclusion that a committee should be formed for the purpose of going through the jobs of each one of these 68 or so workers involved in this issue in order to determine whether or not such jobs fall within these definitions The Court has decided that this committee should be composed of three persons and should include one member each from the Claimants and the Respondents, and the chairman of this committee should be the Vice-President of the Court, Mr R M Mwili This committee is required to go into the details of the jobs of these workers in order to determine whether or not they fall within the aforesaid definitions of non unionizable employees This committee should make its recommendations to the Court within a period of six months of the date of the Court award After the recommendations of the said committee have been received the Court will proceed to make a formal award on this issue
