GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 5422

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT
CAUSE NO. 36 OF 1990

Parties:

Kenya Building, Construction, Civil Engineering and Allied Trades Workers' Union.

and

Samuel Muchai and Sons Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Dismissal of Forty-five (45) Employees.

THE Kenya Building, Construction, Civil Engineering and Allied Trades Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Samuel Muchai and Sons Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. This dispute was fixed for hearing on 6th August, 1990, but the court was unable to proceed with the hearing for reasons which were made known to the parties. However, the parties were eventually heard in Nairobi on 24th September, 1990, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 27th September, 1989, and signed by the parties was received by the court on 26th February, 1990, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The respondents are a limited liability company involved in building and civil engineering work throughout Kenya. They are not members of the Kenya Association of Building and Civil Engineering Contractors with which the claimants have entered into both recognitions and collective agreements; and as such the parties have neither a recognition agreement nor a collective agreement between them.

This dispute concerns 45 employees of the respondents who were engaged between July, 1987 and April, 1988, but lost their jobs on 7th May, 1988. The claimants alleged that the employees were dismissed by the respondents without appropriate notices and reasons for their dismissal. But the respondents maintained that 35 out of 45 grievants were employed as stone dressers and cutters on piece rate basis of between Sh. 2.50 and Sh. 3.00 per running foot, and the remaining 10 employees were engaged on regular terms of employment.

The court would now like to deal with the incident that led to the alleged dismissal of these 45 employees. The claimants told the court that the dismissal of the grievants came about because they had complained to the District Labour Officer, Kisumu that the respondents were underpaying them. The labour officer investigated the matter and found that only 10 regular employees of the respondents were underpaid by Sh. 6,445. The respondents conceded the underpayment on the ground that they did not know the correct rates payable to the workers. On 28th June, 1988, they deposited the said amount with the Labour Office, Kisumu, in full and final settlement of the matter.

However, the respondents meanwhile were charged at Kisumu Resident Magistrate's Court in Criminal Case No. 440 of 1988, and the particulars of the charge were that between 12th May, 1988 and 5th July, 1988, they wilfully failed to produce their records of employment of all the labourers employed by them to the District Labour Office, Kisumu, contrary to section 52 of the Employment Act (Cap. 226), laws of Kenya. They pleaded guilty to the charge and were fined Sh. 200, or, in default, one month imprisonment.

The claimants stated that they approached the respondents with a view to discussing the issue of the grievants' dismissal, but the latter maintained that 35 out of the employees were on piece rate work, while the remaining 10 regular employees were transferred to other sites at Nairobi and Eldoret due to shortage of work at Kisumu site, but they refused. Efforts to resolve the matter by the parties at their own level failed, and on 5th August, 1988, the claimants reported a formal trade dispute to the Minister for Labour in accordance with section 4 of Trade Disputes Act and Mr. T. A. Osiru of Eldoret Labour Office was appointed to act as an investigator. On 15th September, 1989, the Chief Industrial Relations Officer released the findings and recommendation to the parties.

The respondents accepted the findings and recommendation, but the claimants rejected them on the ground that the decision was based on a side issue of underpayment whereas the main issue was to determine whether the dismissals were justified or not. The matter was finally referred to the court for consideration.

The claimants, prayed the court to award the following demand to the grievants:

- (a) Maximum compensation for wrongful dismissal.
- (b) Wages for days worked.
- (c) Leave due.
- (d) Underpayment of Sh. 72,655.35.
- (e) Housing allowance since the date of engagement of each employee.
- (f) Appropriate notice.

The respondents prayed the court that the claimants' demands should be rejected.

This dispute concerns 45 former employees of the respondents who were allegedly dismissed for having raised with the District Labour Officer at Kisumu, the issue of underpayment by the respondents. The matter was thoroughly investigated by the district labour officer and the results were that the respondents had underpaid their 10 regular employees by Sh. 6,445. This amount was deposited by the respondents with the Labour Officer, Kisumu, from where the 10 grievants were subsequently paid their rightful entitlements. During the investigations as aforesaid, the question of dismissal of the 45 grievants did not feature anywhere. But even if it did, the respondents have incontrovertibly convinced the court during their submission that the 35 grievants were engaged on piece work rate.

In this type of industry union members are mainly composed of unskilled or bottom scale employees who are usually gathered at the gates; and are taken on by employers to do odd jobs at the site for which wage payments are based largely on the physical effort of an individual or group and the quantity of the units produced. The claimants have vehemently asserted that the grievants were unlawfully and wrongfully dismissed by the respondents, but their case was regrettably poor in all aspects of presentation and substance. They have indeed failed to adduce any or satisfactory evidence on the kind of work the grievants were doing, neither did they produce letters of appointment of the grievants by the respondents to back up their demands. It is no use for them to expect that the court would look for the necessary information from other quarters. The court must emphasize that it is primarily the duty of the party making a demand to make very comprehensive and detailed submission on the issue at hand to justify their demand.

The court is convinced that the claimants stumbled on this matter in the course of their frantic efforts to recruit some members into their union from the respondents' undertaking; and, in order to win their membership, they decided to bring it to court as a test case. The court agrees with the respondents' submission that the matter had been settled by the District Labour Officer at Kisumu to the grievants' satisfaction. The respondents also made full and final payment to the 10 regular employees who were underpaid, and the matter should have ended there.

The claimants tried to convince the court that the settlement of the matter by the district labour officer was irrelevant, but the court cannot allow them to turn around and say that the labour officer should not have handled the matter.

The respondents had fully co-operated with the Ministry's official and had tabled all the relevant documents pertaining to this issue before him; and, under the circumstances, the court feels that it would be unfair for the claimants to resuscitate the matter.

Having come to this conclusion, the court finds that the 45 grievants have no cause of action against the respondents in this dispute and their demands are accordingly rejected as baseless.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 44 OF 1990

Parties:

Transport and Allied Workers' Union (K)
and
Kenya Aerotech Limited.

Issue in dispute:

Termination of services of John L. Limisi.

THE Transport and Allied Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Kenya Aerotech Limited, shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 23rd July, 1990, and relied on their written and verbal submissions. In addition the respondents called the Senior Company Supervisor, Francis Mbuguyu, to give evidence on oath on their behalf.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 21st August, 1989, and duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 8th March, 1990, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The grievant was employed by the respondents on 17th August, 1981, as a security officer, and he worked in this capacity until 19th May, 1988, when he was suspended from duty on half pay on the allegation that he stole foreign newspapers from a British Airways aircraft in the morning of 17th May, and fought the respondents' Senior Supervisor, Francis Mbuguyu, who is a witness in this case.

The grievant's services were subsequently terminated on 3rd June, 1988, on the same grounds after serving the respondents for a period of 7 years. At the time of his termination of services, the grievant was earning a salary of Sh. 1,221 per month and house allowance of Sh. 125.

The matter was taken up by the claimants, on behalf of the grievant, with the respondents but the latter stood their ground. The dispute was therefore formally reported to the Minister for Labour, who appointed S. M. Manguye of Nairobi Labour Office to act as an investigator. On 26th July, 1989, the Chief Industrial Relations Officer forwarded the following finding and recommendation to the parties:

"FINDINGS:

. . . although Limisi's previous warning had expired at the time of his termination, the incident that took place on 17th May, 1988, in which he fought his superior whilst on duty is an indication that Mr. Limisi had not completely reformed.

The records showed that he had been involved in similar incidents before, and was warned accordingly.

. . . the management made a fair decision to terminate Mr. Limisi's services after it had been sufficiently proved that Mr. Limisi had physically assaulted his superior officer during working hours. At least one eye witness had testified to this. Needless to emphasize that disciplinary rules in any organization must be strictly adhered to. Mr. Limisi was, therefore, responsible for breach of discipline, an action which inevitably led to termination of his employment.

RECOMMENDATION:

. . . I am inclined to recommend that Mr. Limisi's termination of service be upheld. He should be paid all his terminal benefits plus payment offered by the respondents."

The respondents accepted the report, but the claimants rejected it, and the dispute is now before the court for consideration.

In this case, the root cause of the grievant's suspension and subsequent termination of his services originated from the alleged theft of the foreign newspapers from British Airways aircraft on 17th May, 1988. However, during the disciplinary committee meeting held on 26th May, 1988, the grievant was exonerated from the theft, and yet in his letter of termination dated 6th June, 1988, the grievant was accused of the same offence, and also for fighting the senior supervisor, Francis Mbuguyu. The respondents maintained that, although there was no direct evidence which implicated the grievant with the theft of the foreign newspapers, their action in terminating his services was justified on the ground that he fought the supervisor and also disobeyed lawful instructions.

But in his evidence, Mr. Mbuguyu told the court that, after he had taken the foreign newspapers away from the grievant, he invited him to the office for further questioning at which the latter pleaded forgiveness; and, when he declined, a "scuffle" ensued between them over the foreign newspapers whereby the grievant slapped and kicked him.

No doubt, Mr. Mbuguyu suffered some injuries during the scuffle as indicated on the medical report, for which he was treated by the respondents' doctor. The respondents averred that the grievant's behaviour in attacking the supervisor amounted to serious misconduct which called for summary dismissal under clause 16 (c) (vii) of the parties' collective agreement and section 17 (e) and (d) of the Employment Act, Cap. 226, laws of Kenya. However, they were lenient to him and instead decided to terminate his services. On the other hand, the claimants have denied that the grievant assaulted the supervisor because there was no evidence on record from an independent witness who was present during the fight or assault. Furthermore, they contended that the respondents terminated the grievant's services before it was established that he actually assaulted the supervisor.

The court would like to stress once again that it has no intention of restricting an employer's right to hire and fire, unless it is proved that such hiring and firing amounted to an unfair labour practice. It would appear from Mr. Mbuguyu's evidence that there was a fight or scuffle between him and the grievant over the foreign newspapers during which he was slapped and kicked; and, in view of the fact that there is no corroborative evidence on record from a witness, especially Mr. Ouma, of what actually happened, the court under the circumstances finds that the grievant's misconduct at the material time was not intentional, for he acted impulsively or thoughtlessly and instinctively. The disciplinary committee which met on 25th May, 1988, should have seriously applied its mind to this important point in the whole episode of this case. Furthermore, the disciplinary committee erred in condemning the grievant without even giving him an opportunity to be heard in his own defence, and for this reason their decision to terminate his services is invalid.

As regards the grievant's disobedience of lawful order, the court feels that, given the same set of circumstances as stated hereinabove, his misconduct was minor or trivial and did not amount to wilful and deliberate flouting of his contractual conditions of employment.

In view of the foregoing observations, and on serious consideration of the parties' submissions and the evidence tendered, the court takes exception to the Ministry's findings and recommendation, and has come to the conclusion that the grievant's services were wrongfully terminated, but not to the extent of awarding him reinstatement because of his past unsatisfactory employment record. In the circumstances, the court, therefore, awards that, in addition to all his terminal benefits, the grievant should be paid six months' salary as compensation for wrongful termination of his services.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 63 OF 1990

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers
and

Coffee Research Foundation

Issues in dispute:

1. Medical Treatment.
2. Pension Fund Gratuity.
3. House and House Allowance.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Coffee Research Foundation shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 31st July, and 3rd September, 1990, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 9th February, 1990, and signed by the parties was received by the court on 15th May, 1990, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The respondents, which are wholly owned by the Government through the Coffee Board of Kenya by virtue of section 4 of the Coffee Act (Cap. 333), were incorporated on 19th August, 1964, under the Companies Act (Cap. 486), as a company limited by guarantee, but without share capital. The foundation's principal role is to promote research into and investigate all problems relating to coffee and such other crops and systems of husbandry as are associated with coffee throughout Kenya including the productivity, quality and suitability of land in relation to coffee planting; and on matters ancillary thereto.

Because of their aforementioned relationship with the Coffee Board of Kenya and the fact that they have their own Board of Directors, the respondents, like the Coffee Board of Kenya, have been classified under the Ministry of Agriculture as a parastatal, and both have since 1989 been up-graded to category "D". In the circumstances, the respondents are governed by the regulations applicable to all parastatals when negotiating with the unions.

This dispute affects some 484 unionisable employees who work at the respondents' research centre, Ruiru, and various estates, majority of whom are based at the headquarters, Ruiru. The main source of income for the respondents' operations and activities is derived from 1 per cent cess which is levied by the Coffee Board of Kenya, on all coffee produced in the country. The respondents also receive some revenue from the sale of coffee from their estates through the Coffee Board of Kenya. Another source of income is from the sale of some seeds and seedlings to coffee farmers throughout the country. These sources are supplemented by the Government and other external agencies.

The parties have had dealings with each other since March, 1975, when the respondents accorded the claimants recognition, and the present dispute arose during the parties negotiations to revise or review their fifth and latest collective agreement which was effective from 1st October, 1986 to 30th September, 1988. On 4th October, 1988, the claimants submitted to the respondents their proposals for a revision or review of the aforesaid collective agreement, and on 23rd February, 1989, the latter sought the necessary authority from the inspectorate of state corporations, Office of the President, to negotiate with the former. This was given in terms of the inspector's letter Ref: No. OP. 9/21/2A/TSC/VII/(29), dated the 21st April, 1989.

The parties subsequently held several J.N.C. meetings at their own level and under the chairmanship of an executive officer of the F.K.E. and agreed on all the issues except the three in dispute. They agreed further that the main agreement should be signed and submitted to the court for registration to facilitate implementation. The agreement was finally signed by the parties on 30th August, 1989, and formally registered, subject to the aforementioned letter dated 21st April, 1989, from the Office of the President, by the court on 15th January, 1990, under the following entry:

RCA No. 6 of 1990

The three issues in dispute, on which the respondents have expressed their financial inability to pay, are now before the court for consideration. After an exhaustive consideration of the parties' submissions and the P.R.D. report in this matter, the court notes that about 87 per cent of the employees who are affected by this dispute are stationed at the headquarters—i.e. Ruiru and only 13 per cent are based at outside stations. The court is also cognisant of the fact that although the respondents' major role is essentially to promote research into and investigate all problems relating to coffee, their operations and income cannot be divorced from the coffee industry which is currently facing deep market crisis. The P.R.D. report is quite explicit on this matter, and unless coffee prices improve, the respondents' financial base will be adversely and greatly eroded.

With this unsatisfactory state of affairs in mind, and keeping in view the public role which the respondents play in the coffee industry, the court awards as follows on each issue.

1. Medical Treatment

As indicated in the P.R.D. report, the bulk of the respondents' employees are stationed at the headquarters (Ruiru), and the dispensary thereat attends to 60 to 100 patients a day, or 1,200 to 2,000 cases per month, out of which only 1 per cent are referred to medical specialists. The rest of the employees, about 13 per cent, are scattered in outside substations, and they visit Government health centres or hospitals in cases of sickness.

On serious consideration of the parties' written and verbal submissions, and also taking into account the directive from the Office of the President on this issue, the court feels that the existing arrangement is adequate. The claimants' demand on this issue is, therefore, rejected.

2. Pension Fund / Gratuity:

The parties have no dispute on pension scheme under this issue, but their differences arose on payment of gratuity to the grade I staff. The claimants' stand is that the qualifying period for this category of staff should be reduced to five (5) years continuous service from the date of engagement and that the requirement of fifty-five (55) years should be done away with. The respondents are opposed to this demand on the ground that the scheme for this grade of employees is non-contributory; and if the demand is allowed, it would mean that after a period of five (5) years an employee in this grade would resign or commit an act of gross misconduct and demand gratuity entitlement.

The court has given anxious thought to this issue and has come to the conclusion that it is unfair for the respondents to tie the granting of gratuity to this low income group of employees to their retirement age of 55 years. The court, therefore, awards that, if an employee leaves the employment of the respondents after the completion of 7 years continuous service, other than for disciplinary reasons, then he shall be entitled, in addition to his other terminal benefits, to a gratuity at the rate of 10 days for each completed year of service, based on the rate of monthly pay of the employee at the time of the termination of his service.

The court further rules that this award should not be back-dated and the employees' years of service to be taken into account shall commence from the date of the court award.

3. House and House Allowance:

On careful consideration and analysis of the parties' submissions and the P.R.D. report on this issue, the court notes that 63 per cent of the respondents' unionisable employees are provided with accommodation; and for those who occupy rented houses, the rates of pay are comparable to civil services rates. But the court is surprised to note that the rates of house allowance have not been adjusted since October 1984 to date. In accordance with the wage guidelines, the employees are entitled to compensation on house allowance of about 14.4 per cent for the period 1st October, 1984 to 30th September, 1988.

In the circumstances, the court awards as hereunder on each item:

(a) Staff living in own house

The status quo should be maintained.

(b) "Self-house" Accommodation Allowance

Nil award. However, the parties should review the allowances during their next round of negotiations.

(c) Rented Accommodation House Allowance

The court feels that there is some justification in improving the house allowance under this item, and accordingly awards an increase of Sh. 55 to all the unionisable employees in occupation of rented accommodation with effect from 1st October, 1988.

CAUSE No. 65 of 1990

Parties:

Railway Workers Union (K)
and

Kenya Railways Corporation

Issues in dispute:

Unfair, unjustifiable and or wrongful dismissal of Mr. Simon Kiarie, ex-locomotive driver, grade RB II.

THE Railways Workers Union (K) shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Kenya Railways Corporation shall hereinafter be referred to as respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi, on 22nd, 29th and 31st August, 1990, and relied on their written and verbal submissions

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute form "A" dated 24th August, 1988, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 16th May, 1990, together with statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

Simon Kiarie, was employed by the respondents on 15th January, 1953, as a cleaner. He gradually moved up through the ranks to the position of fireman and eventually in 1968 he was promoted to the post of locomotive driver grade RB III.

However, on 4th September, 1972, he was demoted to locomotive driver grade RD IV, but on 1st June, 1975, after 24 years he was re-promoted to his former grade of locomotive driver RB III. He was on 2nd April, 1984, dismissed from the service with the loss of all privileges.

The circumstances which led to the grievant's dismissal happened on 23rd August, 1983, at around 06/15 hours. It is alleged that at the material time Mr. Kiarie as locomotive driver entered Kikumbulyu Railway Station, against signals and as a result he caused a head on collision between his train (A42) and another train from Mombasa to Nairobi No. A25. The accident caused extensive damage to locomotive Nos. 9307, 9312 and 9321 as well as several wagons.

The claimants took up the matter on behalf of the grievant on 20th August, 1984. The parties were unable to settle the matter at their own level. As a result this dispute was reported to the Minister for Labour on 14th January, 1987.

Thereafter, investigations were carried out by the ministry and the findings and recommendations were conveyed to the parties on 1st July, 1988.

The ministry's findings were that the respondents had denied Mr. Kiarie the opportunity to defend himself. Consequently Mr. Kiarie was pre-judged and a wrong and unfair decision was taken against him. It was recommended that Mr. Kiarie's dismissal be reduced to normal termination which would enable him collect all his terminal dues in addition he should be paid six (6) months' salary as compensation for lieu of service.

The decision was turned down by the respondents and now the matter is before the court for consideration.

The claimants prayed the court to award the grievant as follows:

(a) Reinstate him to his former job without loss of benefits.

(b) Payment of salary for all the period he has been out of employment.

(c) Payment of half salary withheld during the interdiction period.

The respondents felt that Mr. Kiarie was properly punished and rejected the claimants demand for reinstatement. They prayed the court to uphold their action.

The court has carefully scrutinized the parties submissions both written and verbal.

The claimants have not really come out with any worthwhile submission on behalf of the grievant except perhaps the allegation that a member of the joint enquiry committee had a vested interest in that he had brought about Mr. Kiarie's dismissal and wanted his action to be upheld.

The court notes that the joint enquiry committee which investigated this accident was composed of senior officers from the railway headquarters. They were the deputy chief mechanical and electrical engineer, assistant chief traffic manager (operation) and principal engineer (construction).

This committee interviewed all the crew of both trains, the staff and other railway workers at Kikumbulyu Station and found that Mr. Kiarie was solely responsible for the accident.

The court is not swayed by the claimants submission that one member of the joint enquiry committee influenced the other two members to come out with a decision against Mr. Kiarie.

The court finds that Mr. Kiarie was given every opportunity to defend himself, so no principle of natural justice was violated.

The grievant due to his negligence caused an expensive accident and endangered human lives. The punishment that he was given is the standard punishment for this type of offence which is dismissal.

The court cannot find any reason to change the respondents decision in this case and the claimants demand is accordingly rejected.

Dated the 13th October, 1990.
