GAZETTE NOTICE No. 2105

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT
CAUSE NO. 103 OF 1989

Parties:
Kenya Shoe and Leather Workers Union
and Orbitsports Limited

Issue in dispute:

Dismissal of Jason Kisangani.

THE Kenya Shoe and Leather Workers Union shall herein-after be referred to as the claimants and the OrbitSports Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi and relied on their written and verbal submissions. The respondents also called their Personnel Manager, Mr. E. O. Mkan, to give evidence on oath.

The claimants did not call any witness.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 22nd September, 1989, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 21st December, 1989, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The grievant was employed by the respondents on 1st May, 1978, as a ball stitcher earning a salary of KSh. 475 and KSh. 120 house allowance per month. At the time of his dismissal on 5th May, 1988, he was earning a salary of KSh. 1,120 and house allowance of KSh. 280 per month. He was dismissed after having served the respondents for a period of 9 years and 10 months.

The incident that led to the grievant's dismissal happened on 5th May, 1988, between 1.00 p.m. and 2.30 p.m. It is alleged that at the material time the grievant was assigned work in the Testing Department. He subsequently abandoned his duties and disappeared, only to be found at 2.30 p.m. taking a shower during working hours.

This dispute was reported to the Minister for Labour on 15th June, 1988. Thereafter, the dispute was investigated by the Ministry and the findings and recommendation were released to the parties on 24th July, 1989. The Ministry's findings were that "Mr. Kisangani absented himself from his normal work place without permission from his immediate supervisor only to be found bathing during working hours..... Hence, he violated the work rule. Further to that his summary dismissal was found to have been rather too harsh a disciplinary measure in view of almost 11 years service he had rendered to the respondent."

The Ministry recommended that the grievant's summary dismissal be reduced to normal termination of service which would entitle him to his lawful terminal dues in accordance with the parties collective agreement in force at that time.

This decision was acceptable to the claimants but it was turned-down by the respondents and now the matter is before the court for consideration.

The claimants prayed the court to either award the grievant's reinstatement back to his former job with full rights and benefits in addition to payment for the days he has been out of employment, or alternatively award Mr. Kisangani terminal dues as follows:

- (i) Notice (two-and-a-half months),
- (ii) 20 days pay for each completed year of service as contained in our C.B.A.
- (iii) Days worked,
- (iv) Leave/prorata,
- (v) Leave travelling allowance,
- (vi) 12 months compensation for loss of employment.

The respondents urged the court to find that the grievant had behaved in a manner amounting to gross misconduct and instant summary dismissal was called for as a remedy. They prayed the court to reject the claimants' demands.

The court finds it clearly established that the grievant was found having a bath at a time when he should have been working. So he has committed a misconduct. The different versions given by the grievant as to the reason why he was having a bath during working hours do not help his case.

The claimants general secretary's statement during the hearing that the respondents had offered to pay the grievant a sum of KSh. 10,000 in settlement of his claim was denied on oath by the respondents personnel manager, the personnel manager's denial on oath has to be accepted by the court as there is no evidence on oath from the claimants to support the allegation that KSh. 10,000 was offered.

There is, however, a point in favour of the grievant and that is his rather long service with the respondents and which prompted the Ministry of Labour to recommend that the summary dismissal should be reduced to normal termination. It appears that the investigator did not study the benefits that accrue to a worker on normal termination and if the grievant is awarded all the benefits under the normal termination then it would amount to rewarding a worker with a big sum of money for committing a gross misconduct at his place of work.

The grievant's conduct was also deteriorating lately as evident from the warning letters.

In view of the aforesaid, the court while upholding the Ministry of Labour's findings, awards purely on compassionate grounds that the grievant should be given a normal termination, but the total amount of his terminal benefits must not exceed KSh. 7,700.

Dated the 19th April, 1990.

Judge.
