The respondents are a small family firm and they manufacture T-shirts, vests and briefs. They are also a member of the Mombasa Knitwear Group of Federation of Kenya Employers (F.K.E.). The group has entered into several collective agreements with the claimants the latest of which became effective as from 1st February, 1982.

The claimants told the court that the dispute arose as a result of the respondents refusing to implement the requirements of the 1982 collective agreement clause No. 18 which states:

"Casual employees will become permanent on completion of (5) months continuous service from the date of the employment, it was further agreed that the Union would discuss and fix with each employer the basis on which wages of casual employees will be calculated and paid."

The claimants went ahead to tell the court that the respondents have been taking on casuals in a dubious manner in order to defeat the above-mentioned clause, i.e. taking them on and off and making sure that no one had continuous service for five months and also making it difficult for the authorities to check as they were not maintaining proper records. The claimants also told the court that after the signing of the collective agreement on 1st September, 1982, the claimants pursued the two issues immediately after the registration but without success and the respondents continued to flout clause 18 of the said agreement. The claimants gave an example of the other members of the group who had settled and confirmed their casual employees:

Messrs. E.A. Garments factory Ltd.

July, 1982 27 employees.

November, 1982 7 employees.

March, 1983 1 employee.

April, 1983 1 employee.

May, 1983 1 employee.

July, 1983 2 employees.

Total 39.

Messrs. Kamyu Industries Ltd.

February, 1982 15 employees.

March, 1982 3 employees.

April, 1982 1 employee.

January, 1983 1 employee.

March, 1983 5 employees.

April, 1983 8 employees.

May, 1983 3 employees.

Total 40.

The claimants went on further to say that the respondents refused to implement the rates the claimants had agreed with the other members of the group, namely Messrs. E.A. Garment Factory Ltd. and Messrs. Kamyu Industries Ltd. and this prompted the claimants to report a trade dispute to the Ministry of Labour. Even at this stage, the claimants continued to tell the court that the respondents were reluctant to sign Form "A" to enable the Ministry of Labour to refer the dispute to Industrial Court, and they only agreed to do so when the claimants resorted to strike action. Therefore the claimants are asking the court to order the respondents to confirm the employees who had worked for the respondents continuously for more than five months into permanent employment who according to them were about 55. Finally the claimants asked the court to increase the daily rates paid to casual employees by the respondents effective from 1st February, 1982.

The respondents reacted against the demands by the claimants by telling the court that they are a small family business started in 1959 and are financially poor and therefore not able to meet the claimants demands. The respondents went ahead to tell the court that their factory was gutted by fire in 1980 and the services of the employees at that time were terminated. They went further to say that in late 1981 some of the machinery was repaired and they started operations.

The respondents also told the court that the analysis by the Division of Manpower Planning and Development (D.M.P.D.) has established that none of the 55 employees that the claimants want to be made permanent has worked continuously for 5 months all of them had broken service. The respondents stated that out of 55 casuals only two employees had been offered permanent employment. Out of the two Makau Mwikya had accepted to be permanent and Lucas Otieno had preferred not to work on permanent basis. The respondents submitted that D.M.P.D. had confirmed that since the firm is a small concern, it could only accommodate 20 permanent employees. The respondents also touched on clause 18 of the collective agreement which they say apart from providing that a casual employee who works for a continuous period of 5 months be made permanent, also provides:

"Union would discuss and fix with each employer basis on which wages of casual employees will be calculated and paid."

The respondents argued further that the employers within the group do not have the same ability to pay such wages, and because of the respondents financial difficulties, they could only pay casual statutory wages. Therefore, the respondents asked the court to uphold the respondents' stand.

The court has taken into account the written and verbal submission by both parties and the two reports prepared by the D.M.P.D. The court is satisfied that the respondents had been taking casuals on and off and that they did not flout clause 18 of the collective agreement signed by the parties on 1st September, 1982, and effective from 1st February, 1982. Even the Division of Manpower Planning and Development (D.M.P.D.) confirmed this when they were asked by the court to go and spot check the activities of the respondents and also look into their records. The court finds it proved that none of the 55 employees had continuous casual service for a period of five months and they had broken services. The court also looked into the financial side of the respondents and was convinced that while other members of the group, namely Messrs. E.A. Garments Factory Ltd. and Kamyu Industries Ltd. had had continuous operations without interruption, the factory of the respondents was gutted down by fire and they had to stop operations for almost two years. In view of this it would be a futile effort by the court to order the respondents to take 55 employees as permanent as it is quite obvious that the respondents would not be able to pay them. The court therefore rejects the claimants' demand that 55 employees be confirmed as permanent.

On the second issue the claimants demand that the casual rates should be increased to KSh. 25.10 per day or KSh. 3.13 per hour. The respondents offered to continue paying the statutory rate of KSh. 21.10 per day.

In view of the respondents refusal to negotiate higher rates for their casual employees, the court finds it necessary in view of what the other members of the group have done to make an award on this issue.

After careful consideration of all the submissions, the court awards that the respondents should pay their casual employees KSh. 25.10 per day, with effect from August, 1983, and not 1st February, 1982. The parties can work out the arrears due to the casual employees affected with the assistance of the Provincial Labour Officer, Mombasa. The casuals must personally collect their dues through the Mombasa Labour office.

The court award is effective only up to 31st January, 1984. Given in Nairobi on the 6th August, 1985.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 55 OF 1984

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers
and

National Cereals and Produce Board

Issue in dispute:

Dismissal of Benjamin Ndumbi.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and National Cereals and Produce Board shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi, on 16th January, 1985, 21st February, 1985, and 15th July, 1985, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 7th April, 1984, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 31st May, 1984, together with statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The claimants have a negotiated collective agreement with the respondents on industrial relations matters connected with wages and terms and conditions of service.

The respondents being a statutory board in Kenya has its marketing and distribution depots in various towns of the country including Kitui where the dispute arose.

The dispute arose as a result of the respondents terminating the services of Benjamin Ndumbi for having lost 83 bags of white maize under his charge from the depot store during the month of January, 1981. Mr. Ndumbi had earlier admitted being responsible for the loss and agreed to pay the board a sum of KSh. 7,470 being the cost of the maize but he failed to do so.

Benjamin Ndumbi was first employed by the respondents in Mombasa as a labourer on 20th December, 1965. On 1st November, 1979, he was promoted to the position of stores clerk until the end of the year 1980 when he was transferred to Kitui depot as from 2nd January, 1981. Mr. Ndumbi was earning a salary of KSh. 1,030 per month at the time he was dismissed.

The claimants stated that on Saturday, 24th January, 1981, at about 2.30 p.m. Mr. Ndumbi being in charge of store number 1 at Kitui handed over the store keys to the acting depot manager, John Marambe and left for the weekend. On return to duty the following Monday, 26th January, 1981, Mr. Ndumbi found that some work had been done in his absence by other members of staff and that made him anxious that the acting depot manager should check the stock. Mr. Ndumbi found that those who worked in his absence during the weekend had received 7 lorry loads of maize and off-loaded 4 lorry loads on Sunday, 25th January, 1981. The same workers had been detailed to report to work early in order to off-load another 3 lorries. The claimants went on to say that the receiving advice showed that the total number of bags off-loaded that weekend were 2,444 bags. When Mr. Ndumbi checked the store, he found that the stock was completely mixed up. The work took 6 days to rearrange and that is when 83 bags of maize were found missing. Mr. Ndumbi took steps to report the shortage to their head office as he noticed that the acting depot manager was not keen to take this bold step. Furthermore, on his return from leave Mr. Kakanda, who was the depot manager was briefed but he never instituted investigations into the loss of 83 bags. However, instead of depot manager carrying out investigations, Mr. Ndumbi was called to Nairobi head office only to be told that he should make good the loss. The personnel and administration manager pressed Mr. Ndumbi to pay for the loss of 83 bags worth KSh. 7,470 within 10 days. The claimants stated that this demand could not be met in view of the low income the employee was earning and the fact that he had not been proved to be the culprit. The claimants did not understand why the police were not asked to investigate this matter when Mr. Ndumbi had demanded so.

The claimants pointed out to the court that Mr. Ndumbi had worked for a period of 15 years without having been issued with a letter of warning. The claimants felt that the termination of Mr. Ndumbi's services was unlawful, unjustified and unfair. They did not see reason why Mr. Marambe should not be held responsible for this loss when the store in question was opened and work carried out in Mr. Ndumbi's absence.

The respondents narrated the events leading to Mr. Ndumbi's dismissal and stated that on 26th January, 1981, a physical stock checking was carried out by John Marambe, the depot cashier, who was at the material time the acting depot manager. It was discovered that there was a shortage of 83 bags of white maize in Mr. Ndumbi's store. Mr. Ndumbi was called upon to explain how this shortage occurred but he was unable to do so. A thorough check of the documents was carried out to ascertain whether the shortage was real or whether it was being shown owing to bad recording. It was, however, established that there was an actual shortage. Mr. Ndumbi then admitted the shortage and made a promise to pay for the maize which was worth KSh. 7,470.

The following day, the acting depot manager, who was also the depot cashier, wrote to the managing director at their head office and reported the shortage. Immediately Mr. Ndumbi was summoned to Nairobi to explain the loss. He admitted the shortage and pleaded with the management to be given time to pay it. He had asked for two weeks to find the money but failed to do so. The respondents realizing that Mr. Ndumbi was not taking the matter seriously as he had made no effort to pay, decided to terminate his services and pay him all his entitlement in accordance with the board's terms and conditions of service. The respondents thought that the matter had finally ended but they were shocked to find after a long time that the claimants were complaining that Mr. Ndumbi's services had been wrongfully terminated. However, when the issue was explained to the claimants they wrote back to confirm that they no longer wished to pursue the case further.

The respondents went on to say that nothing was heard of this case for the next two years when the respondents got a letter which was dated 24th March, 1984, from the secretary-general of the claimants. The respondents replied to the letter immediately and pointed out that the claimants had in the first place not raised this dispute until 4 months after the services of Mr. Ndumbi had been terminated and when the matter was raised the claimants had closed it after investigations. The respondents saw no reason for them to resurrect it and further wondered why Mr. Ndumbi had brought a letter on 24th April, 1983, which was purported to have been written on 18th March, 1981. The respondents considered this to be an act of dishonesty on the part of the claimants as the letter had been conveniently back-dated for a period of two years.

The respondents in conclusion informed the court that the dispute had been investigated by the Ministry of Labour who recommended that the services of Mr. Ndumbi had been correctly terminated. There was therefore no point in the claimants resurrecting the matter.

The court has evaluated the evidence from a number of witnesses who gave evidence in court. The court after careful consideration rejects the claimants' demand for reinstatement or paying more compensation to Benjamin Ndumbi for the loss of his job as the court finds that there are discrepancies in the evidence given by the claimants' witnesses and their statements cannot be relied upon. The court notes that there was a long delay on the part of the claimants in presenting their case to the authorities concerned in accordance with the Trade Disputes Act which requires that a trade dispute which involves a dismissal must be raised within 28 days. In this dispute the claimants took over 4 months to lodge the complaint about the termination of Mr. Ndumbi and after having done that they closed the file only to resurrect it after two years.

The court further notes that an internal investigation had been carried out which proved beyond doubt that there was a shortage and Mr. Ndumbi had admitted liability for it. The loss that Mr. Ndumbi occasioned the respondents amounted to KSh. 7,470.

In view of what transpired, the court concurs with the decision initiated by the respondents and agrees with the recommendations of the Ministry of Labour to the effect that Mr. Ndumbi's termination of service was fully justified. The court notes that Mr. Ndumbi has been paid his terminal benefits. The court rejects all the other demands made by the claimants on his behalf.

Given in Nairobi the 31st July, 1985.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 74 OF 1984

Parties:

Tailors and Textiles Workers' Union
and

National and Seasun Garment Factory Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Dismissal of Julius Chilumo and Felex Mwatsuma.

THE Tailors and Textiles Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and the National and Seasun Garment Factory Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 18th June, 1985. The respondents were represented by an advocate of the high court Mr. Nowrojee and the grievants were represented by the union's secretary-general. The parties relied on their written and verbal submissions. The claimants called Julius Chilumo and Felex Mwatsuma as witnesses. The dispute was mentioned on 5th October and 29th November, 1984, but no action could be taken as the claimants did not appear on those dates.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 18th December, 1983, duly signed by both parties was received by the court on 20th August, 1984, along with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

Julius Chilumo and Felex Mwatsuma used to work as casuals for the respondents. Julius Chilumo was employed in February, 1978, and Felex Mwatsuma in August, 1979. They continued working as casual machinists up to November, 1980, when it is alleged they were verbally dismissed by the respondents.

The claimants told the court that the respondents were members of the Mombasa and Coast Tailors Employers Association which had a collective agreement with the claimants which expired on 31st July, 1982. At the time of the dismissals of the grievants both parties were bound by the said agreement. The claimants stated that in November, 1980, employees of the respondents discovered that they were not being paid as per the agreement and demanded for their wages to be adjusted and be paid the arrears for the period they were underpaid by the respondents. On 30th November, 1980, all weekly paid employees including the two grievants decided not to collect their weekly pay unless adjusted as per the agreement. The respondents refused to meet their demand and on 2nd December, 1980, the respondents put a condition that those who did not collect their pay would be dismissed. All the workers accepted the pay except the two grievants who were dismissed. The claimants told the court that the respondents were against the trade union movement and made their employees to sign a letter that they are not members of any trade union. This had resulted in employees who wanted trade union protection to pay their union dues directly as the respondents were opposed to it. The claimants told the court that the two grievants were their paid-up members and produced receipts to prove their membership and right of representation by the claimants.

According to the agreement in question, the claimants stated that the daily rates were KSh. 28.40 from 1st August, 1979, and KSh. 32.05 from 1st August, 1980, while the respondents were paying KSh. 19.60 throughout. The claimants are demanding KSh. 4,730 as underpayment for Julius Chilumo and KSh. 4,321.50 for Felex Mwatsuma. The two grievants gave evidence on oath and agreed that they signed casuals' weekly payment forms before receiving their pay but denied having known the contents of the forms which included "I am not a member of any union."

The respondents told the court that the claimants had no right to represent the grievants as they were not their members and that there were no dismissals proved. The respondents said that the two grievants dismissed themselves as they refused to work and that Felex Mwatsuma collected his final dues and signed having received them in full settlement. The advocate for the respondents told the court that the grievants had knowingly signed to say they were not members of any union, to mislead the respondents and therefore stopped now from bringing these claims.

The court considered the claims as to point out that the respondents were not in a position with the employers knowledge or otherwise is their right. Moreover in accordance with the industrial relations practice in the country the negotiated rates in the collective agreements apply to all unionizable employees and not to union members only. The court finds the respondents in this dispute failed to honour the collective agreement in force between the claimants and the Mombasa and Coast Tailors Employers Association of which group the respondents were members at the time. The court notes that Felex Mwatsuma collected his final dues and signed a document stating that he had no more claims against the respondents. The present claim before the court is an after-thought on his part and so the court rejects his claim. Julius Chilumo refused to collect his dues until the case was determined. In his case the court awards that he should be paid KSh. 4,321.50 being the underpayment.

The court finds that wrongful dismissal has not been proved and as such the claimants other demands, i.e. notice and full compensation for wrongful dismissal, are rejected.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 99 OF 1984

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers
and

Machakos District Co-operative Union Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Wage increases.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Machakos District Co-operative Union Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 28th June, 1985, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 25th June, 1984, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 20th December, 1984, along with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The respondents are a co-operative union registered under the Co-operative Societies Act (Cap. 490), and are made up of farmers co-operative societies in Machakos District of Kenya.

The claimants and the respondents entered into a collective bargaining agreement which was not registered but was implemented as from 1st October, 1980. The effective date of the next agreement is 1st October, 1982, and should last for two years expiring on 31st September, 1984.

The claimants are demanding a wage increase of:

Lower income group, 22 per cent.

Middle income group, 24.96 per cent.

Upper income group, 25.9 per cent.

The respondents have not offered any wage increases. This is because the respondents are not in a position financially to compensate the workers for the increase in the cost of living. The respondents state that as the salary scales have annual increments, the employees can benefit from that while they are sorting out the finances. However, it should be noted that at the time of negotiations the respondents had made an offer of 5 per cent increase.

The claimants submitted that they had first entered into a collective agreement with the respondents since 1968. The last collective agreement entered into by the parties expired on 1st October, 1982, and since then there has been no wage increase. The claimants stated that a series of meetings were held at which the parties agreed upon certain items but registered a deadlock on claimants' demands on wage increases. The claimants then reported a trade dispute on 14th October, 1983, and on 26th January, 1984, the trade dispute was accepted and a conciliator was appointed by the Ministry of Labour to endeavour to solve this dispute on proposed wage increases. The claimants went on to say that during the first meeting which took place on 17th May, 1984, the respondents agreed to offer only 5 per cent as an overall increase. Later at another meeting that followed, the respondents withdrew the offer of 5 per cent which surprised the claimants.

The claimants pointed out that their demands were based on cost of living indices but the respondents would not agree to compensate them. The respondents gave reasons that the coffee prices had dropped and that they did not find themselves in a position to pay the increases demanded by the claimants. The claimants, however, refuted the argument that coffee sales went down during that period as the respondents could not substantiate it.

The claimants further wish to point out that the cost of living indices at the material time were as follows:

Lower income group, 22 per cent.

Middle income group, 24.96 per cent.

Upper income group, 25.9 per cent.

The claimants therefore requested the court to award them the increases as demanded for two years as from 1st October, 1982, and reject any irrelevant arguments by the respondents.

The respondents stated that the collective bargaining agreement between the parties expired on 1st October, 1982, and contrary to what the claimants stated, the workers have received annual increments given as at 1st October, 1982, 1st October, 1983, and 1st October, 1984. These annual increments are normally given in addition to any negotiated wage increases.

The respondents, however, admit that no negotiated wage increases have been given in addition to the above by the respondents since October, 1982. The reason being that they are in a serious financial hardship and could not therefore consider paying the increases. The respondents told the court that a probe team appointed by the Minister of Co-operatives in early 1982 to investigate their affairs came up with a shocking report which amongst other things showed that the respondents were in a loss situation from September, 1976 to March, 1982, to the tune of KSh. 18,628,421. The balance sheets of the respondent show the following trading results:

Year	Surplus/Loss
1979	457,949
1980	174,273
1981	4,599,487
1982	3,447,859
1983	1,511,206

The respondents went on to say that they would like the court to note that there is a loan amounting to KSh. 12,564, KSh. 619.40 which is apparently irrecoverable as it had been very irregularly given but it has to be repaid. This gives a false impression about the respondents liquidity position. Furthermore, there are creditors to whom the respondent owes in excess of 5 million shillings which amount is overdue and most of the creditors have filed suits.

In conclusion the respondents informed the court that the Commissioner for Co-operatives dissolved the management committee and a new team was elected which has met serious problems. In order to survive it is therefore necessary for the current management committee to be given a chance and breathing space to reconstitute the affairs of the respondents. The respondents therefore plead that a wage increase would just be the wrong thing for the committee as this would enhance its already too heavy a burden.

The D.M.P.D. confirmed that the 5 per cent wage increase was offered by the respondents during the negotiations. The general manager of the respondents had explained that every year they set aside 5 per cent of the wage bill so that in case the government increases the minimum wages, the respondents will be able to meet the government directives.

After careful consideration of all the points made by both parties in this dispute, the court finds that the claimants have a case for compensation for cost of living as the court feels that the difficulties the respondents are facing stem mainly from mismanagement of their affairs and not due to lack of finances caused by natural disasters such as drought, famine, diseases of the crop and general poor prices of coffee on the world market.

The court finds that the workers are entitled to a wage increase but not their full entitlement due to the respondents financial difficulties.

The court awards the following wage increases:

1st October, 1982, 5 per cent on wages as at 30th September, 1982.

1st October, 1983, 5 per cent on wages as at September, 1983.

1st October, 1984, 5.5 per cent on wages as at 30th September, 1984.

The duration of the agreement be 3 years.

Given in Nairobi on the 2nd August, 1985.

GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 3370

THE TRADE MARKS ACT

(Cap. 506)

NOTICE is given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the trade marks advertised herein according to the classes may, within 60 days from the date of this gazette, lodge notice of opposition on Form TM. No. 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of Sh. 50.

Notice is also given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make if and when it is registered. Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him any opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.
