THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 80 OF 1985

Parties:

Kenya Plantation and Agricultural Workers' Union
and Belingwe Estate

Issues in dispute:

House allowance in respect of 14 ex-employees.

Severance pay in respect of 11 ex-employees.

Leave travelling allowance in respect of wives and children of 14 ex-employees.

THE Kenya Plantation and Agricultural Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Belingwe Estate shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 15th April, 1986, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 23rd October, 1982, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 1st August, 1985, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The respondents are situated in Makuyu Division of Murang'a District, in the Central Province. This estate was once owned by a Mr. T. Fraser, who sold 2,416 acres of land out of the 3,000 total acreage. The sale was to the former employees who formed a society called Muthithi Farmers Co-operative Society Limited. This transfer took place on 31st December, 1980. Mr. Fraser was left with only 10 acres of land which he decided to retain as his permanent residence. During the time he ran the estate he had a regular labour force of 44 employees who were later reduced to 27 employees after the sale of the above mentioned 2,416 acres of land.

The respondents were also a member of the Kenya Coffee Growers Association with whom the claimants had a collective agreement governing the wages and other terms and conditions of employment.

The year 1980 is rather important in this dispute because it is the time Mr. Fraser transferred the biggest portion of the estate to the co-operative society as stated above.

The claimants in their submissions argued that 11 former employees of the respondents were not paid their severance pay when the rest of the 33 ex-employees were paid their severance dues.

The claimants on this issue are therefore, seeking payment of severance pay or dues as laid down by the parties collective agreement in clause 7 (b) which provided:

"Severance pay at the rate of one week's pay for every completed year of service."

The respondents in their reply to the claimants' arguments stated that the claimants were misleading the court because they (respondents) were aware and sure that the said former employees were paid some of their severance pay dues in 1966 amounting to KSh. 105,000. The respondents further stated that the last and final payment of KSh. 50,000 of the severance pay to all former employees was made in 1984. They further argued that the union was free to check the records to satisfy themselves that their members were paid all their entitlements under severance pay since every employee collected his or her dues in the presence of the two witnesses who certified the payments.

On the question of payment of house allowance, the claimants stated that 14 former employees of the respondents were not paid their housing allowance for a period of 36 months or three (3) years period from 1978 upto 1980. They demanded payments of housing allowance at a rate of KSh. 55 per month per employee making a total of KSh. 31,920.

The respondents replied that the question of housing allowance was officially raised with the Ministry of Labour by the claimants in 1977 and after several meetings it was agreed that only seven (7) employees had a valid claim for payment of housing allowance. The seven (7) employees were accordingly paid their housing allowance dues amounting to KSh. 17,220. The respondents further explained that the list of 14 former employees consisted of employees who moved out of the respondents' free accommodation on their own to go and live in their own houses they built on their land. The respondents did not ask them to vacate the houses.

Lastly, the claimants raised the issue of leave travelling allowance in respect of wives and children of the 14 former employees. They argued that 14 wives and their children were not paid their leave travelling allowance which they were entitled to be paid as agreed in the parties collection agreement.

The respondents argued that in the year 1979 and 1980 there were only three (3) families registered with the respondents in accordance with the parties collective agreement. The three (3) families mentioned in 1979-80 were later paid their entitlement at the rate of KSh. 30 for the wife and KSh. 12 for each child respectively.

The respondents requested the court to note that the policy for such payment was strictly adhered to as it could be abused if unregistered members of the staff families were left to benefit under this item.

The court after careful consideration of all points raised by the parties in these disputes tends to agree with the respondents that they paid a sum of KSh. 155,000 as severance pay to their former eleven employees. However, to ascertain and make sure that no one entitled to this payment was left out the Thika District Labour Officer under his chairmanship should convene a meeting of those concerned to verify the severance payment records. If after such investigations it is established that some employees were not paid their full entitlement then the respondents will have to make the necessary payments.

On the issue of house allowance in respect of 14 former employees, the court is satisfied that the respondents did put up some twenty-one (21) permanent "finnernmore" houses in 1954 as directed by the government and the employees continued to live in those houses upto 1966 when they moved out. The court further notes that section 9 of the Employment Act requires an employer to pay a "sufficient sum" as housing allowance if free housing accommodation is not provided by him.

It is further noted that the parties with the assistance of the Ministry of Labour entered into an agreement on 14th October, 1977, stating that no further claims on housing allowance would be entertained.

The court finds before it two agreements—one dated 14th October, 1977, between the parties under the chairmanship of Mr. A. Omondi, District Labour Officer, Thika, on the subject matter of housing to some of the employees and the other one dated 22nd June, 1982, in the presence of the conciliator again by the parties on the three (3) issues in dispute of severance pay, house allowance and leave travelling allowance. The court has noted that it was submitted on behalf of Mr. T. Fraser, representing the respondents that he was bullied and shouted down during the conciliation meeting and was forced to sign the said agreement against his will. The court finds it difficult to believe that and has come to the conclusion that both these agreements have to be honoured by the parties. Based on this finding as stated earlier in the award the respondents appear to have paid all the severance pay dues to their former employees but as a final check the District Labour Officer, Thika, will once again go over the records to ensure that no employee is missed out from the severance pay payments.

On the question of house allowance considering all the submissions and in accordance with the agreement in the presence of Mr. A. Omondi the court must find that the claimants have no claims under this item so their demand for house allowance arrears amounting to KSh. 31,920 is rejected. Mr. Omondi quite clearly stated in his letter on the matter of housing that no other claims for any other employee will be entertained both by the claimants and the Ministry of Labour in future in connection with houses. So the agreement of 22nd June, 1982, has to be read in conjunction with this letter.

Finally Mr. Fraser clearly undertook on 22nd June, 1982, to pay leave travelling allowance for a wife and one child at the rate of KSh. 30 for wife KSh. 12 for one child per year with effect from 1978. He must honour this. The court, therefore, awards that the respondents should pay the 14 ex-employees a sum of KSh. 42 per year for the years 1978, 1979 and 1980. This would entail a payment of KSh. 1,764 which the respondents should make to the claimants forthwith.

Given at Nairobi the 11th June, 1986.

Judge.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 111 OF 1985

Parties:

Kenya Plantation and Agricultural Workers' Union
and
Kenya Canners Limited

Issues in dispute:

Wages; Annual leave; Compassionate leave; Leave travelling allowance; Medical benefits; Safari allowance; Transport to place of work; Termination of employment; Service pay; Duration of agreement; Working hours; Overtime and Probation.

THE Kenya Plantation and Agricultural Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and the Kenya Canners Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 13th and 14th May, 1986 and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 12th July, 1985, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 1st October, 1985, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The respondents employ over 2,000 unionizable workers in their plantations who are represented by the claimants.

The plantation sector is engaged in the growing of pineapples and coffee with the acreage under plantation being 10,000 and 1,000 acres respectively.

These disputed issues arise from the parties attempt to renew their three year collective agreement which had been effective from 1st July, 1981 and expired on 30th June, 1984.

After a series of preliminary meetings at their own level which ended up in disagreement, the claimants reported a trade dispute on 8th December, 1984, over the thirteen issues now before the court.

The claimants in their submissions to the court quoted the following figures of the cost of living rise as submitted by the Division of Manpower Planning during the period July 1981 to 30th June, 1984:

(a) Lower Income Group

Cost of living rise: 47.84 per cent.

Due compensation percentage 35.88 per cent up to 47.84 per cent.

(b) Middle Income Group

Cost of living rise: 57.35 per cent.

Due compensation percentage 43.0 per cent.

(c) Upper Income Group

Cost of living rise: 51.71 per cent.

Due compensation percentage 38.78 per cent.

Wage Increase

The claimants are demanding 50.2 per cent increase for a two-year agreement.

The respondents offered to increase their employees' wages in a three-year agreement as follows:

1st year	11 per cent increase.
2nd year	8 per cent increase.
3rd year	9 per cent increase.

Total—28 per cent increase for a period of three years. It is noted that both the claimants and the respondents have indicated that the wages guidelines stipulations be applied. The respondents further pointed out that other benefits enjoyed by the workers be also considered when granting any wage increases.

The court, after careful consideration of all the points raised by the parties, makes the following award for a period of three years.

percentage
1st year	15.
2nd year	12.
3rd year	10.

Annual Leave

The current clause on this item provides for 24 working days or 23 consecutive days.

The claimants are demanding an improvement on this item.

- (i) employees with 1 to 3 years service—35 working days;
- (ii) employees with 4 and 5 years service—42 working days;
- (iii) employees with over 5 years service—48 working days.

The claimants demand long leave to enable employees to go to their rural areas and develop them.

The respondents felt that claimants had missed the whole purpose of leave. They pointed out that the majority of agreements in the agricultural sector provide for a twenty-four (24) working days annual leave and that this is above the statutory minimum requirement. Furthermore, it would be very costly to them if additional leave was granted.

After careful consideration the court rejects the claimants' demand.

Compassionate Leave

The claimants demand leave of absence with full pay for employees attending trade union and management courses. The respondents wish to point out that this matter be treated separately as the title implies. Furthermore, they have no objection to allowing their workers from attending such courses or conferences organized for them.

The court noted views of both parties but since the issue of paid educational leave has been overtaken by events the court has decided not to make any award on this item.

Leave Travelling Allowance

The current clause provides for KSh. 100 to be paid as a flat rate but in the event of an employee incurring additional expense the same is reimbursed upon the production of satisfactory documentary evidence.

The claimants are demanding that this flat rate paid be increased to KSh. 500 and that any additional fares met be reimbursed as is in the current provision of the collective agreement.

The claimants further demand that in addition to the above payment, the employees' dependents, that is wife and children, up to four children, be reimbursed KSh. 100 and 80, respectively. This should apply if the wife and up to four children are living with the worker on the estate.

The respondents offered to increase the current flat rate of Sh. 100 to Sh. 110 per employee and to maintain the reimbursement part of this clause.

The court has considered the points for payment of increased travel allowance and makes the following award:

A flat rate of KSh. 125 per employee and reimbursement of additional fares on production of genuine tickets or receipts.

Medical Benefits

The current clause of this item has ten subsections. The claimants are demanding to increase the number of days stated under clause 10 subsection (a) to 60 days from 30 days.

The claimants further demands that reimbursement of medical expenses incurred in private hospitals be paid. The claimants further demand that in the event of death of an employee while in service, the respondents should provide transport and meet burial expenses.

The respondents objects to inclusion of such item in the collective agreement as issues pertaining to death and eventual burial of employees should be given the humanistic treatment they deserve and should not be made a subject of union/employer negotiations. The respondents went on to say that they have always been considerate and will continue to be so with a deceased's body and would hate to debate this matter.

The respondents concluded by saying that the decision by some companies to sign contracts on this important issue should not cloud the court's mind because in the respondents' opinion they have been misguided and have drifted away from the true African values and traditions.

After careful consideration of all the submissions the court rejects the claimants demands under this item.

Safari Allowance

The current provision on this item provides for:

(i) away from base for 24 hours period, KSh. 50.

(ii) Away and back on the same day.

Breakfast	KSh. 10
Lunch	KSh. 15
Dinner	KSh. 15

(iii) Away with overnight stop, to be paid (i) and (ii) above but up to two days.

The claimants are demanding that (i) above be increased to KSh. 200 and (ii) above be increased to KSh. 30 and 60 respectively. They are also demanding (iii) above to be maintained but the period be increased to four days. The respondents would like to maintain current provisions but increase all meal allowances by KSh. 5.

The court noted that there are only few drivers of the respondents who travel away from base.

Meal	CBA Current Rate	Respondents Offer	Claimants Demand	Court Award
Breakfast	10.00	15.00	30.00	17.50
Lunch	15.00	20.00	45.00	25.00
Dinner	15.00	20.00	60.00	27.00
Night Allowance	50.00	50.00	200.00	75.00

Transport to Place of Work

The claimants are demanding that their members be provided with transport to the various estates where they are supposed to work. The claimants stated that the estates are far apart and employees spend their time walking long distances.

The respondents stated that the employees are normally deployed to work at estates where they are housed. In case any of the employees are assigned to work elsewhere, transport is provided by them. The court noted this would be a very expensive exercise if it was to be carried out the way the claimants proposed and the court therefore feels that the present arrangements made by the respondents are adequate. The claimants demands are rejected.

Termination of Employment

The claimants propose a longer period of notice to terminate the services of an employee depending on the years of service starting with 30 days notice and going up to four months notice for those with more than 15 years service.

The respondents rejected the demand on the ground that a longer period of notice for termination of service would not be in the good interest of either the employee or the employer.

The court rejects the claimants' demand.

Service Pay

The court directs the parties to discuss this issue during their next revision of the collective agreement as it appears that serious discussions were not held this time.

Duration of Agreement

The claimants' demand the period of the agreement to be reduced to two years.

The respondents maintain that previous practice be continued and three years period should be maintained.

The court awards with the consent of the parties that the duration period of the agreement being revised should remain three years but that it is clearly understood that the next collective agreement shall be of two years duration.

Working Hours

Overtime

Probation

The court rejects the claimants' demands some of which will no doubt be affected by the recent developments.

Milling Corporation of Kenya Limited

Issue in dispute:

Dismissal of:

John Mokaya.
Peter Adero.
Zakaria C. Sagero.
Titus K. Ngata.
Miss Hellen Magongo.
Miss Jane W. Kihanya.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Milling Corporation of Kenya Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 10th April, 1986 and relied on their written and verbal submissions. The respondents also called the following witnesses to give evidence:

Clement Kitolel,
Richard Ongutu.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 20th November, 1983 duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 19th November, 1985 together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner. The respondents maintain an average workforce of 265 people in various job categories and deal mainly with flour milling. The factory is situated at Nakuru.

The background of employment of each grievant is as follows:

John Mokaya was first employed as a "stacker" at a monthly salary of Sh. 420 with effect from 1st March, 1978. He was promoted to the position of security guard from the month of November 1980 at a monthly salary of KSh. 700. He had two warnings which were not valid at the time of his termination on 15th February, 1983.

Peter A. Adero was initially engaged as a "loader" at a monthly salary of KSh. 420 effective 2nd May, 1979. He was promoted to the post of "foreman" in the flour store at a monthly salary of KSh. 700 effective 1st March, 1980. His monthly salary was increased to KSh. 900 with effect from 1st November, 1980. He was dismissed on 15th February, 1983.

Zakaria C. Sagero was initially employed by the respondents as a loader at a salary of KSh. 420 effective from 2nd May, 1979 and he remained a loader until he was terminated on 15th February, 1983.

Titus K. Ngata was initially employed by the respondents at a monthly salary of Sh. 420 as from 2nd May, 1979. He was promoted to the position of "junior head packer" at a monthly salary of Sh. 700 effective from 1st January, 1981. He was terminated on 15th February, 1983.

Miss Hellen Magongo was initially employed by the respondents as a packer at a monthly salary of KSh. 400 with effect from 2nd May, 1979 and she was terminated on 15th February, 1983.

Miss Jane W. Kihanya was initially employed by the respondents as a packer at a monthly salary of KSh. 400 effective from 3rd October, 1979. She had a valid written warning given to her on 26th July, 1982 for being absent from duty without permission. She was terminated on 15th February, 1983.

The claimants told the court that their six members were simply dismissed by the respondents on allegations based on witch hunting. They denied the allegation that their members had used abusive language towards the top members of the management when they were campaigning for their co-operative election. The claimants continued to tell the court that campaigning was permissible and their members had done it peacefully without causing disturbances within the precincts of the respondents. The claimants further told the court that after the elections, the management was infuriated because they were not elected by the workers to be the officials of Ugali Co-operative Society, and therefore the management was witch-hunting to get grounds to enable them to sack their members. The claimants accused the then managing director of the respondents to be ignorant on matters related to the industrial relations, therefore the punishment meted to their six members was harsh and that the respondents should have issued them with warning letters if anything. The claimants concluded their submissions by telling the court that as far as they were concerned, proper procedure was not followed, and in view of this, the claimants requested the court to order the reinstatement of the six grievants and to award them compensation.

The respondents denied all the allegations made by the claimants and told the court that the services of the six employees were terminated on 15th February, 1983 because of gross misconduct which they committed during working hours on 11th February, 1983 when they intentionally went out of their way and used the affairs of Ugali Co-operative Society to spread provocative and malicious rumours against the two top members of the management—the managing director and the chief accountant. The respondents further told the court that both the managing director and the chief accountant were not members of the said Ugali Co-operative Society and had not even showed any desire to contest in these elections. In any case they were barred by the co-operative society rules. The respondents further accused the six employees to have started spreading rumours that the chief accountant was seeking the post of the chairman in their society and urged other employees to reject him as he was tribalistic and did not give loans and advances to the staff members. The respondents continued to tell the court that the grievants knew that their utterances were false and were capable of creating hatred between the employees and the management and tribal animosity among the various employees. The respondents further told the court that when the investigation was carried out it was discovered that the six employees had continued to spread the damaging rumours during lunch hour on that day urging other employees not to vote for any Kalenjin as they held two top executive positions in the corporation. The situation had become so chaotic that the management had to act quickly to stop the rumours and slanderous campaign against senior members of the management by the six employees.

Giving evidence on behalf of the respondents, Clement Kitolel who was Salary Section head of the respondents, told the court that when he went to buy a bale of maize he found Peter Adero, Zakaria Sagero and other employees at the loading bay, talking to one another and they mentioned the managing director and the chief accountant saying they were tribalistic and did not give loans and therefore a Kalenjin should not be elected to hold any post in the society. He ended his evidence by telling the court that he reported the matter to the top management and he was subsequently asked to investigate, and having investigated he found that the six employees were responsible for spreading the aforesaid malicious rumours.

Another respondents' witness, Richard Ongutu, told the court that Peter Adero had walked into his office during working hours and told him that under no circumstances a Kalenjin should be elected as an official since the top positions of the corporation were held by the Kalenjins who had oppressed other tribes and on top of that they did not give them loans or advances. Richard Ongutu ended his evidence by telling the court that when he went to the company canteen he found the same allegations being waged against the managing director and the chief accountant and the Kalenjins in general.

The respondents concluded their submission by telling the court that they had reduced the dismissals to normal termination and that they had paid the grievants their full terminal benefits and therefore requested the court to uphold their decision of termination.

In considering this dispute the court has taken into account the submissions by the two parties and before making a ruling the court has the following observations to make. The court noted the fact that the claimants denied the allegations against their members saying that it was normal for their members to campaign for the elections which were taking place that afternoon. The claimants believed that their members were innocent and the management was only retaliating by victimizing their six members because no member of the top management was elected as an official of the Ugali Co-operative Society. The respondents had singled out the six employees to have inflicted other employees not to vote for them. The court however is satisfied that the managing director and the chief accountant were not seeking to be elected to any office in the co-operative society. The court also noted the fact that the claimants did not call any witness to back up their claims and on top of that none of the grievants was present in court and this gave the court an impression that they were not really interested in pursuing their claims. On the other hand the respondents gave a comprehensive report about the allegations against the six employees. The respondents called two witnesses to support their submissions, namely Kitolel and Richard Ongutu. The court finds that these two witnesses told the court the truth about the events that took place on that day which led to the dismissal of the six employees by the respondents.

The court was also convinced that the six employees knew very well that the managing director and the chief accountant were not interested to be elected as officials of the co-operative society, yet they went out of their way and became militant and used abusive language while campaigning and also made serious allegations that the managing director and the chief accountant were tribalistic and were giving loans and advances on tribal basis. They went as far as saying that no Kalenjin should be elected to hold any post in the society. The court finds this behaviour of the six employees as a threat to peace and cordial working relationship between the various tribes working for the respondents. The court has also taken into account the investigation report carried out by the Ministry of Labour, which had ruled in favour of the respondents. Lastly the court also noted the fact that most, if not all, of the six employees had collected their final dues.

The claimants submitted affidavits from the grievants after the hearing was over and the court notes that the reason given by them for not attending the hearing was that they had received no communication. If this be true then the claimants neglected to inform their members of the hearing date and under these circumstances the court cannot help them.

After careful consideration of all the submissions the court rejects the claimants demands.

Given on the 6th June, 1986.

No. 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of KSh. 50.

Notice is also given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make if and when it is registered. The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him any opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.
