THE INDUSTRIAL COURTCAUSE No. 2 OF 1977*Parties:—

Kenya Chemical Workers' Union
 and
 East Africa Industries Ltd.

Issues in dispute:—

1. New minimum rates of and general wage increase covering July, 1976 to June, 1979.
 2. Housing allowance deconsolidation.
1. The Kenya Chemical Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and East Africa Industries Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.
2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 22nd day of March, 1977 and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARDS

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 13th November, 1976, duly signed by the parties were received by the Court on 18th January, 1977, along with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

This is the first time that the parties to this dispute have resorted to the Industrial Court for the settlement of their dispute arising out of a collective agreement although they have been negotiating for many years now.

The latest collective agreement between the parties came into effect from 1st July, 1973 and was to run for a period of 36 months. Under this agreement workers were granted a 10 per cent wage increase for each of the three years, on 1st July, 1973, 1st July, 1974 and 1st July 1975, making a total average wage of 30 per cent. Following the May Day Presidential announcement on minimum wages the parties negotiated a supplementary agreement which provided a wage increase of 5 per cent with effect from 1st July, 1975.

On 20th May, 1976, the Claimants submitted their new proposals on terms and conditions of service. Negotiations started on 4th June, 1976 and a total of eleven meetings took place. The parties reached agreement on 15 items out of 17.

There was no agreement on wages and deconsolidation of housing allowance and conciliation proceedings did not help matters much.

The changes in the fringe benefits are going to cost the Respondents about 4 per cent.

The Respondents have all along resisted the Claimants' demands on the ground that they were prepared to make an offer on the general wage increase which would be strictly within the Guidelines which have been issued by the Minister for Finance to the Industrial Court. The parties' respective positions on this issue are as follows:—

Respondents

- 10% increase with effect from 1st July, 1976
- 7.5% increase with effect from 1st July, 1977
- 7.5% increase with effect from 1st July, 1978

Claimants

- 18% increase with effect from 1st July, 1976
- 15% increase with effect from 1st July, 1977
- 15% increase with effect from 1st July, 1978

The Claimants have made a vigorous submission in this dispute, first in attacking the Guidelines as they strongly felt that the Guidelines in Kenya were working to the detriment of the workers. They put forward the view that the Guidelines should be withdrawn and the parties should be left to negotiate freely on such important matters as wages and housing allowance.

The Claimants stated that in 1973 the Respondents had made a total profit of Sh. 56,000,000 and for 1976 it was expected that it would go up to Sh. 92,000,000. This was mainly due to the hardwork and the great team spirit that had been displayed by the workers in this industry.

The Claimants were particularly critical of the Respondents because according to them the Respondents had adopted a system of cheap labour in that they employed on an average about 350 casual workers which meant that the company was saving Sh. 3,816 per day as they spent Sh. 4,800 p.d. on casuals whereas if the same employees were on monthly terms they would cost the Respondents Sh. 8,616 per day.

The Claimants did not accept that the Respondents had lost any business due to the loss of Tanzania and Uganda markets and the cancellation of an order from Zanzibar because the demand for their goods in Kenya had increased tremendously as a result of which the Respondents had been able to record such big profits.

The Claimants rejected the comparison table which had been produced by the Respondents illustrating that the Respondents' employees were amongst the highest paid in the country on the ground that the Respondents had not given full details of the other benefits like the provision of staff quarters and housing allowance which were provided by the other employers quoted by the Respondents in that table.

The Claimants submitted that the Respondents informed them that they would increase their employment by 25 per cent over the next three years commencing from July, 1976 to June, 1979, if the Claimants agreed to a wage increase of 5 per cent for each year totalling 15 per cent for the three-year period. The Claimants said that they rejected this ultimatum and during conciliations at one stage they were prepared to accept a 45 per cent increase on the basis of 15 per cent for each year to settle the dispute as they were prepared to drop their demand on housing allowance as well if their offer was accepted. The Respondents had offered them a 10 per cent wage increase for each year making in all 30 per cent for the three-year period but since then they seemed to have changed their approach.

The Claimants submitted that they had been guided by the increase in the cost of living in formulating their demands which had gone up by 68.1 per cent from July, 1973 to February, 1977. They further claimed their share of the growth in the economy of the country for the period 1971 to 1972. They asked the Court to also take into account the recent increases announced by the Government on the basic essential commodities which in their opinion worked out at an extra increase of 18½ per cent.

They reminded the Court that the 10 per cent increase which they had received in the latest agreement was to compensate them for the cost of living increases during the lifetime of the previous agreement and they stated that they wanted the Court award in line with their demand as the Respondents had not pleaded inability to pay nor had they indicated that they will not increase the employment by merely doubling the number of casuals.

Housing Allowance Deconsolidation

The Claimants stated that they were encouraged by the sentiments expressed by the Court on this issue in a recent award and also by the Court's comment in the motor industry dispute (Cause No. 37 of 1976) on this subject.

The Claimants pointed out that although at one time they were entitled to a separate housing allowance they had consolidated it into the monthly wage but that was way back in 1966. The situation now was vastly changed because the rents currently being charged were very high and they feel that the workers should be entitled to a separate housing allowance which they proposed to be Sh. 250 p.m. in order to grant some sort of relief to the over-burdened employees by high cost of living.

The Respondents have vigorously resisted the Claimants' demands mainly on the ground that in their opinion it was better to create more employment opportunities for Kenyans than to substantially increase the already extremely high wage levels.

The Respondents' Chairman had at one stage put forward a proposition to the Claimants' General Secretary that if the Claimants reduce their demand by 5 per cent p.a. for the next three years then there was a possibility that the Respondents would increase their regular labour force by almost 20 per cent over the same period in view of their on-going expansion programme.

The Respondents in brief relied on the following important points in making their offer as has been stated hereinabove:—

- (a) Their loss of Uganda and Tanzania markets.
- (b) Their on-going expansion programme which is likely to create more employment depending on the Court's award.
- (c) The provisions of the Wage Guidelines.
- (d) The extremely favourable existing terms and conditions of service.
- (e) The fact that price increase requests arising from wage increases are disallowed by the Price Controller."

The Respondents also drew the Court's attention to the following benefits which they provided for their employees:—

- (a) Free luncheon at the cost of £41,000 p.a.
- (b) Free transport to shift employees at the cost of £13,000 p.a.
- (c) Free excellent medical facilities at the cost of £17,000 p.a.

These welfare facilities cost the Respondents a total of £71,000 p.a. or 8 per cent of the total wage bill."

The Respondents pleaded with the Court that the award should be strictly within the spirit and letter of the Guidelines as it would then enable them to carry on their expansion programme and create more job opportunities as indicated by them.

On the issue of deconsolidation of housing allowance the Respondents submitted that the parties themselves had consolidated the housing allowance into the basic wages in 1966 and if the rents for houses had increased since 1966 these increases had been reflected in the consolidated wages over the years. The Respondents vehemently opposed the Claimants' demand on this issue as they felt that it would be used to inflate wages artificially through the negotiation process.

The Court realizes that through the parties' own voluntary negotiations over the years they have brought the wage level of the Respondents' employees to a level where they can be ranked among some of the highest in the country. The lowest basic wage for non-clerical in the Respondents' undertaking is Sh. 662 p.m. and the lowest clerical is Sh. 994 p.m.

As a matter of fact under the 1973 agreement the position was as follows regarding the wages for the various grades:—

"Grade	New Wages 1st July to 30th June, 1976	Sh. p.m.
Sp	...	1,396
I A	...	1,165

V	...	633
VI	...	577
A	...	1,583
B	...	1,359
C	...	1,117
D	...	950"

It should be noted that these wages were increased as follows with effect from 1st July, 1975 to 30th June, 1976:—

"Sh. p.m.

The Court has now to decide what wage increase to grant to these employees for the duration of the next collective agreement which the parties have agreed would be effective from 1st July, 1976 and would run for a period of three years from that date.

The Employment Promotion Division analysis shows that if the awards were to be backdated to July, 1976, then the appropriate cost of living compensation would be 64.5 per cent since July, 1973, up to June, 1976, less 35 per cent wage increase granted during the life of the current agreement which leaves 29.5 per cent uncompensated, two thirds of which amounts to 19.7 per cent for a two-year period agreement. The E.P.D. further point out that if this figure is compounded with the Claimants' demand of 10.5 per cent for the G.D.P. per capita growth of the economy (from July, 1970 to June, 1973) then the compounded figure is 32.3 per cent.

The Court has carefully studied the Employment Promotion Division report particularly Table I of that report which shows the declining rate of compensation for cost of living increase in accordance with the relevant Guideline.

Unfortunately for the Claimants the maximum ceiling for compensation permissible under the Guidelines covers all types of labour costs including housing since this is one of the items included in the calculation of cost of living indices.

The Court notes with satisfaction that the Central Bureau of Statistics has undertaken a survey of rents in all the major towns in the country in order to get a proper picture of the rental situation that prevails currently.

The Court having got a distinct impression from the Claimants during the hearing that if they were awarded a reasonable increase then they would not press for a separate housing allowance has decided to make a nil award on the issue of deconsolidation of housing allowance.

After careful consideration of all the submissions made by the parties and in accordance with the Guideline issued by the Minister for Finance and Economic Planning to the Industrial Court the Court makes the following award on the issue. The Court must state that it has seriously taken into consideration the Respondents' offer of creating more regular job opportunities over the next three years in formulating its award.

1. New minimum rates of and general wage increase covering July, 1976 to June, 1979.

The Court awards that the workers should get the following wage increases:—

10% with effect from 1st July, 1976

12% with effect from 1st July, 1977

12% with effect from 1st July, 1978

The Court further directs that the minimum rates should also go up by the above percentages.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No 3 OF 1977

Parties:—

Tailors & Textiles Workers' Union
and

Garment Manufacturing Mass Production Group of F.K.E.

Issues in dispute:—

1. Annual paid leave.
2. Maternity leave.
3. Severance pay on redundancy.
4. Wages.
5. Effective date of agreement.

1. The Tailors and Textiles Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and the Garment Manufacturing Mass Production Group of F.K.E. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 23rd day of March, 1977 and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 6th December, 1976 duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 19th January along with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The parties had negotiated and signed a collective agreement which was effective from 1st August, 1974 and was of two years' duration from that date ending on 31st July, 1976. This agreement was revised by a supplementary agreement as far as wages were concerned following upon the Presidential Decree of 1st May, 1975. As a result of this agreement new minimum rates were set and it was stipulated that every employee will benefit by not less than and not more than Sh. 40. The supplementary agreement has also expired since 31st July, 1976.

The Claimants forwarded their demand for revising the said agreement on 11th March, 1976 and the first meeting took place on 19th July, 1976. A series of meetings followed thereafter but the parties could not resolve the issues in dispute. Efforts by the Ministry of Labour through its conciliation services also did not yield any success and the matter is now before the Court. The Claimants have naturally based their demand on the issue of wages on the ground of the increase in the cost of living since the last collective agreement was signed and have also pleaded that the wage rates in this industry, although the oldest in the country, were the lowest when compared to other much younger industries. They asked the Court to treat the workers employed by the Respondents in the category of low paid employees in relation to the Guidelines.

The Claimants accused the Respondents of having adopted a light-hearted approach towards their demands during negotiations and attributed this to the younger generation employers who at times ridiculed their own previous representatives by saying that they were uneducated and had therefore brought the wage and fringe benefit levels so high. The Claimants stressed that the Respondents had made only one offer throughout negotiations which was their first and final offer. This represented a first increase of 7½ per cent and a 5 per cent wage increase for the second year. The Claimants had put forward demands which they had subsequently reduced to 30 per cent wage increase for the first year and 25 per cent wage increase for the second year.

The Respondents vigorously opposed the Claimants' demand on the ground that their Group comprised some 40 employers in this industry out of a total of 400 employers engaged in similar business the majority of whom would naturally not be bound by their collective agreement with the Claimants or by the Court award in the present dispute.

The Respondents pointed out that the garment manufacturing industry in the country was highly competitive, the most serious competition was posed by imported garments. They stated that in 1975 Kenya had imported garments and related products valued at K.Sh. 70,351,430. During the same period 1,000 tons of second-hand clothing valued at K.Sh. 22,024,366 were imported.

The Respondents further pleaded that they had been hard hit by the total ban on all fabrics and textiles importation into the country since May 1976 which meant that the Respondents and the others in the clothing industry had to depend entirely on local mills for supply of fabrics and textiles which local mills are not able to meet. Further the prices of local fabrics had gone up by 60 per cent since November 1976 and had gone up again in March 1977.

The Respondents referred to the grave situation in their industry where most of the machinery was operated at less than 70 per cent capacity which was an extremely serious situation in a labour intensive industry.

The Respondents denied that they had taken the Claimants lightly during negotiations and pleaded that job opportunities in their undertakings could quite easily decline if they were asked to meet the financial burden necessitated by the Claimants' unreasonable demands. The Respondents referred to about 12 letters from their members setting out the state of employment and the future prospects in support of their contention.

The Court notes that the cost of living as reflected in the wage earners cost of living index has gone up by 35 per cent up to February 1977 and if the relevant Guideline was strictly to be applied to the dispute before the Court the overall compensation would average about two thirds of the cost of living, declining progressively as a percentage of wages for those in the higher paid groups which in this case would amount to 23.3 per cent.

The Court would like to add that the recent increase in certain essential food items is provisionally estimated at about 9.5 per cent but the trade unions are of the view that it would be much higher than the Government figure.

The Court has also taken into consideration the Claimants' submission that in the previous negotiations they had been denied the workers' share in the increase in the country's economy as reflected through the Gross National Product.

The Court must, however, place due weight and give proper consideration to the fact that garment making is a labour intensive industry as the 40 odd members in the Respondents' group employ about 2,000 workers and as such are sensitive to any instant labour cost increases of a large order.

The Court must also take into consideration that there are about 360 other employers in the country who have in their employment about 13,000 workers who would not be affected by the parties' collective agreement or the Court award in this dispute.

Wages and Effect Date

Although the Respondents have asked the Court that the effective date of the collective agreement should be the date of the Court award the Court must reject their submission on this point. The Court is satisfied that the Claimants did not delay the submission of their demands for revising the collective agreement in any way. In fact they submitted their demands about 4½ months before the expiry of the previous agreement. In these circumstances and in view of the prevailing situation in the country the Court is not prepared to impose a further hardship on the workers by denying them the benefits of wage increases and fringe benefits with effect from 1st August, 1976. The Court has accordingly decided to award that the effective date should be 1st August, 1976 the parties having themselves agreed to a two-year duration of the collective agreement.

After careful consideration of all the submissions the Court awards that the workers should get a wage increase of 12½ per cent on their basic wages with effect from 1st August, 1976 and another increase of 15½ per cent on their basic wages with effect from 1st April, 1977.

Annual paid leave

The Court has decided not to make any variation on this issue for the time being and the Claimants' demand is accordingly rejected. The Court directs that the existing entitlement of 24 days consecutive days with full pay should continue.

Severance pay on redundancy

The Court awards that an employee declared redundant shall receive severance pay at the rate of 15 days' pay for every completed year of service.

Maternity leave

The existing provision on this item is as follows:—

"An employed woman shall be entitled to unpaid leave up to a maximum of 12 weeks subject to the employee producing a medical certificate signed by a medical practitioner or a person acting on his behalf in charge of a dispensary or medical aid centre.

Provided that:—

- (i) Childbirth in respect of an employed woman shall not be deemed to be sickness as provided for in paragraph 6 of this agreement, and the employer shall not be required to meet medical costs incurred thereon;
- (ii) An employed woman in receipt of maternity leave shall not incur any loss of privileges during such period."

The Court awards that the above provision should continue in force except to the extent as amended by the relevant provision on maternity leave in the Employment Act 1976.

Given in Nairobi this 14th day of April, 1977.

Dismissal of Mr. I. G. E. Kinuthia.

1. The Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and the Barclays Bank International Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 30th day of March, 1977 and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 27th November, 1976 duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 20th January, 1977 along with the statutory certificate signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

Mr. Kinuthia joined the Respondents as a clerk at their Murang'a branch in September 1970. He was dismissed by the Respondents on 2nd September, 1974 under clause 4 (a) (iv) (2) of the collective agreement between the parties. This clause reads as follows—

"4. Termination of Employment—Section Heads and Clerical, Technical and Subordinate Staff

(a) Gross Misconduct and/or Serious Neglect

Any of the following acts on the part of an employee shall constitute gross misconduct and/or serious neglect and shall justify instant dismissal—

(iv) if he convicted on a criminal charge of an offence involving, on his part, moral turpitude.

For the purposes of this clause, an offence involving moral turpitude on the part of an employee is an offence involving active dishonesty and also an offence involving actual violence.

The following would involve moral turpitude:

1. All crimes concerning the misappropriation of property belonging to third parties (i.e. larceny, burglary, embezzlement, house breaking, fraud).
2. All crimes involving violence.
3. Treason."

The facts leading to the dismissal of Mr. Kinuthia that on 8th August, 1974 he was involved in an incident at a bar in Murang'a township with another person and on 10th August, 1974 he was arrested and charged with the offence of threatening the breach of the peace contrary to section 95 (1) (b) of the Penal Code. The particulars of the offence in the charge sheet were as follows:—

"Issack Kinuthia s/o Tithuini. On the 8th day of August, 1974 at about 9.30 p.m. at Filos bar in Murang'a Township within Murang'a District of the Central Province, with another not before court, created a disturbance in a manner likely to cause a breach of the peace."

On 12th August he appeared before the Magistrate and pleaded guilty by uttering the words "We disturbed the peace of public. It is true". The Magistrate fined him Sh. 100.

The Respondent used the above incident and Mr. Kinuthia's conviction as the main reason for dismissing him.

The Respondents have further put forward a point that on or about the same time as the above incident Mr. Kinuthia had incurred a shortage of Sh. 630/05 during the course of his duties as a temporary cashier and that Mr. Kinuthia failed to report the shortage to the accountant immediately it came to light in accordance with the laid down procedure and it was only through the efforts of the balancing team that the shortage was discovered.

The acting manager of the Respondents' Murang'a branch made a report to the head office on the aforesaid incident and Mr. Kinuthia's conviction and further stated as follows in paragraph two:—

"Mr. Kinuthia has been in charge of balancing the day's work and it is now that we are learning that work for three days has not balanced. On top of this, when Mr. Kinuthia reported for duty on Saturday morning after being absent on the whole of Friday he was put temporarily on cash duties. Again we now learn that he incurred a shortage of Sh. 630/05 which was not reported."

The Respondents further put forward as an exhibit during the hearing a memo from their Murang'a branch manager to the head office dated 22nd August, 1974 in which the termination of Mr. Kinuthia's services was requested on the ground that he had once before on 7th April been arrested and fined for drunken and disorderly behaviour for which he had been verbally reprimanded. It was further stated in this memo that Mr. Kinuthia was developing into an alcoholic and in spite of warnings he often reported late for work with a hangover. On two occasions an accountant had to help him to the car to reach home as he was unable to walk owing to a high degree of intoxication.

The Claimants have challenged this dismissal on the ground that although Mr. Kinuthia had pleaded to the charge as stated above he had done so only to avoid being remanded in custody for a long period as was happening so often and he found the easy way out of pleading guilty to a minor charge and remain free to resume his duty. The Claimants refuted that Mr. Kinuthia had been violent and said that he had been attacked by someone in the bar and therefore he was not guilty of moral turpitude and the aforesaid clause in the collective agreement could not be invoked against him.

The Claimants further submitted that there was no proper warning in Mr. Kinuthia's record and that the inter office memos between the Respondents' Murang'a branch and the head office had not been communicated to Mr. Kinuthia, neither had any explanation been asked from him.

The Claimants attacked the Respondents' Murang'a branch manager at the time by saying that he was a person with an unstable mentality.

The dispute was the subject matter of an investigation by the Ministry of Labour and the Permanent Secretary had forwarded the following findings and recommendation to the parties—

"Findings

It is true that Mr. Kinuthia was arrested and charged with creating a disturbance in a manner likely to cause breach of peace to which he pleaded guilty. He was accordingly convicted and sentenced to a fine of Sh. 100 or two months imprisonment in default.

This offence was committed outside Mr. Kinuthia's work place and for all we know, the offence had nothing whatever to do with his duties.

The other mistake stated against Mr. Kinuthia could have only resulted in a warning letter being issued.

Recommendation

From all consideration the dismissal was wrongful and unjustified. I should have recommended reinstatement but for the strained relations between the employee and the employer. In the circumstances I recommend the payment of six months' salary to Mr. Kinuthia as compensation for loss of career."

The Court has noted in the Respondents' submission that the Investigator had concluded his investigation without interviewing any representative from their side despite the fact that the Investigator was offered all the opportunity to do so. They felt that the Investigator's findings and recommendation were wrong as they had strictly complied with the provisions of the collective agreement in force which makes no mention of the place where the offence takes places as this was immaterial.

The Claimants have made a point that the clause in the collective agreement on which the Respondents have relied was too wide and was being repeatedly used to the detriment of the bank employees and they had several times during the review of the collective agreement made attempt to have it amended but in the spirit of give-and-take they had not pressed this point and referred it to the Court. This time, however, they were seriously going to pursue this matter.

The Court is inclined to agree with the Claimants' submission that the clause under which Mr. Kinuthia's services had been terminated is very wide indeed. The Respondents too are correct to a certain point in their approach but the Court feels that notwithstanding the wide scope of the relevant clause it should be utilized judiciously and in a reasonable manner within the narrow confines of the master and servant relationship. It would indeed be very harsh on a bank employee who got involved in a fight outside the bank after office hours to suffer a termination by the exercise of the powers given to the Respondents in this clause.

Apart from the charge sheet and Mr. Kinuthia's plea of guilty there is no further evidence before the Court to indicate what type of violence if at all is attributable to Mr. Kinuthia in the bar at Murang'a.

After careful consideration of all the submissions the Court finds that the Respondents defaulted in applying the aforesaid clause so broadly in terminating Mr. Kinuthia's services and as such Mr. Kinuthia has suffered a wrongful dismissal.

In view of the evidence before the Court which was not contradicted by the Claimants the Court is satisfied that Mr. Kinuthia was not a satisfactory employee and sooner or later would have had to bear the consequences or reporting for duty with big hangovers. The Court is therefore not inclined to award his reinstatement more so because the Claimants reported a trade dispute on this matter on 19th January, 1976 his services having been terminated on 7th September, 1974.

The Court feels that Mr. Kinuthia deserves three months' salary by way of compensation for the wrongful dismissal that he has suffered which includes the notice period in accordance with the collective agreement and the Court so awards in his favour.

Given in Nairobi his 15th day of April, 1977.

GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 1037

THE TRADE MARKS ACT

(Cap. 506)

NOTICE is hereby given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the trade marks advertised herein according to the classes may, within 60 days from the date of this Gazette, lodge notice of opposition on Form T.M. No. 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of Sh. 50.

Notice is also hereby given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the Registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make, if and when it is registered. Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the Registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the Registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him any opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.

Representations of the marks advertised herein can be seen at the Trade Marks Registry, State Law Office, Nairobi.

Applications for registration in Part A of the Register are shown with the official number unaccompanied by any letter. Applications for Part B are distinguished by the letter B prefixed to the official number.
