GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 5738

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT
CAUSE NOS. 39 AND 85 OF 1987

Parties:

Kenya Engineering Workers Union
and Emco Steel Works Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Demotion, wage deduction and suspension of Mr. Emmanuel Okumu.

THE Kenya Engineering Workers Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Emco Steel Works Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 16th October, 1990, and on 1st November, 1990, and relied on their written and verbal submissions and in addition the parties called the following witnesses to give evidence on oath:

Claimants.—Emmanuel Okumu—the grievant.

Respondents.—Daniel Kazungu the head of the melting department.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 20th March, 1986 and 19th August, 1987, duly signed by the parties were received by the court on 23rd June, 1987, and 23rd December, 1987, respectively together with statutory certificates signed by the Labour Commissioner.

These disputes were registered by the court as cause Nos. 39 and 85 of 1987, respectively, but on the mention date of Cause No. 39 of 1987, the claimants informed the court that there was another dispute coming to court regarding the same grievant and the same employer and thus Cause No. 39 of 1987 was stood over generally to await Cause No. 85 of 1987, and they were subsequently consolidated.

Emmanuel Okumu was first engaged by the respondents on 26th November, 1977, as a loader in the scrap yard at a consolidated salary of Sh. 486.60 per month and placed under group "J" as per union/management C.B.A.

On 26th May, 1980, he was promoted to a new position of "trainee scrap yard supervisor" at a consolidated salary of 581.10 per month on a 3 months probation and he was promised that if he completed his probation successfully or satisfactorily he would be confirmed to scrap yard supervisor.

On 21st June, 1980, Mr. Okumu was given a letter of confirmation as scrap yard supervisor and his salary was raised to Sh. 831.10 per month and moved to a grade "B".

The circumstances leading to Mr. Okumu's suspension, demotion and subsequent deduction of salary and withdrawal of his house allowance were as follows:

1. On 9th April, 1984, Mr. Okumu was suspended for 4 days without pay for allegedly causing damage to the roof of the arc furnace after a charge consisting of 3,650 kg. of scrap was prepared under Mr. Okumu's supervision.
2. On 10th September, 1984, a charge consisting of 4,460 kg. of scrap prepared under Mr. Okumu's supervision exploded. He was again suspended for 4 days without pay.
3. And finally that on 3rd May, 1985, an alloy steel scrap was charged in the basket contrary to the standing instructions that no basket should be loaded with alloy steel. Once again on this occasion Mr. Okumu was suspended for 4 days without pay.

The grievant was finally demoted from scrap yard supervisor back to the grade of loader—group "J" and his salary reduced from Sh. 1,550 per month to the salary of job group "J" of Sh. 859.10 per month and a house allowance of Sh. 140 and personal allowance of Sh. 200 were withdrawn.

The claimants took up the matter on behalf of the grievant with the respondents but the parties were unable to settle the matter at their own level and hence this dispute was reported to the Minister for Labour.

The Ministry of Labour carried out investigations and the Chief Industrial Relations Officer conveyed the findings and recommendations to the parties on 13th August, 1986.

Findings

Investigation revealed that Mr. Okumu had been served with three disciplinary letters holding him responsible for explosions and roof damage of the furnace.

It was also established that Mr. Okumu was accordingly punished for the same offence instantly by being suspended without pay.

Mr. Okumu appealed against suspension but the management rejected the appeal but they accorded him all the possible opportunity to improve his shortcomings but his performance did not improve.

Instead he kept on repeating similar mistakes for the fourth time and this culminated in his demotion.

In view of the above revelations it is obvious that the management acted leniently in that instead of terminating his services they chose to demote him.

However the ministry felt that the management acted illegally by deducting the grievant's salary which is contrary to the law and recommended that the management decision of demoting the grievant should be upheld but they had no right to deduct his salary and should be restored and paid the difference which was deducted illegally.

This recommendation was rejected by the respondents and the dispute was brought to court for consideration.

The claimants stated that their member was engaged by the respondents in 1977 and up to 1983, Mr. Okumu had no problems with his immediate boss in the melting department.

They further stated that the grievant's problems started when the then immediate boss in melting department left and Mr. Kazungu took over as the head of the department.

The claimants alleged that due to Mr. Okumu's trade union activities in the respondents undertaking, there were clashes between Mr. Okumu and Mr. Kazungu to the extent that Mr. Kazungu used his managerial position to frustrate Mr. Okumu.

The claimants prayed the court to award the grievant as follows:

1. The grievant's grade and salary be restored to that of group "B".
2. Restore his personal allowance of Sh. 200 per month from July 1985 to July 1990 for 61 months.
3. Restore his house allowance as contained in the C.B.A.
4. Overtime payments based on the "B" grade/group as opposed to "J" group on which his overtime was being based.
5. Payment of his bonuses.
6. His suspension without pay on those four occasions amounting to a total of 16 days which he had forfeited be paid back to him.
7. And finally his demotion from the scrap yard supervisor to a loader be scrapped and he be restored to the post of scrap yard supervisor.

The respondents submitted that the grievant's suspension, wage deduction and demotion were not in any way related to his union representation nor to his clashes with the melting departmental head Mr. Kazungu as is alleged by the claimants.

The respondents further stated that there was no hostility between Mr. Okumu and Mr. Kazungu to the extent that Mr. Kazungu as alleged by the claimants.

The respondents finally prayed the court to uphold their action and reject the claimants demands.

The court finds it established that the three incidents of 9th April, 10th September, 1984 and 3rd May, 1985, did occur and caused damage to the respondents' property. The court, however, cannot pin the entire blame on the grievant. Admittedly he was a scrap yard supervisor but was he expected to examine each and every item of scrap that went into the baskets? To do so would place a very heavy burden on him. It would be reasonable for him to rely to some extent on his subordinates.

The court cannot also overlook the fact that during an Indian expatriates time the grievant performed his duties well but all the aforesaid incidents occurred when Mr. Kazungu had become the head of the melting department. Added to this is the respondents' insistence that all their supervisors should resign from the claimants' membership or be demoted to lower grades. In fact with the exception of the grievant and another supervisor all the others complied with the respondents' directives. Subsequently both the grievant and that other supervisor suffered demotion.

The court has carefully considered the parties' submissions and has come to the conclusion that under the circumstances of this dispute the grievant has by now been punished enough for the aforesaid three incidents. The court therefore directs that his demotion should now be revoked and the court accordingly awards that the grievant should be promoted back to the post of scrap yard supervisor with effect from the 1st December, 1990 and all the emoluments that go with that post should be accorded to him from that date.

Dated the 21st November, 1990.

Judge.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Kenya Co-operative Creameries Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. This dispute was fixed for hearing on 21st August, 1990, but on the material date the respondents applied for an adjournment. The claimants did not object to the adjournment, and the matter was then fixed for hearing on 1st and 2nd October, 1990, when the parties were finally heard in Nairobi. In addition to relying on their written and verbal submissions, the parties called the following witnesses to give evidence on oath on their behalf:

Claimants.—Mr. George Otieno.

Mr. Malonza Kunywoki.

Respondents.—Mr. Muya Mutebu.

Mr. Stanley Muiruri.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 19th December, 1989, and duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 3rd January, 1990, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The parties have had dealings with each other since 1962, when the respondents accorded the claimants recognition, and have since entered into several collective agreements to date.

The grievants were employed by the respondents in their factory at Dandora as general hands in August, 1981, and February 1983, respectively, at monthly basic wages of Sh. 928 each. At the time of the termination of their services on 16th February, 1987, the grievants were each earning Sh. 1,160 per month and house allowance of Sh. 225. They had also served the respondents for a period of 5½ and 4 years respectively.

The incident which led to the termination of the grievants' services occurred in the course of their employment or duties on 15th January, 1987. The respondents stated that on the material date the grievants were, during the course of their duties, assigned trolleys for the removal of some waste packing paper and any other litter from the factory floor to the dumping yard outside the factory. During the same shift, the Wellsfargo security guards, who were on hire by the respondents to provide security services at the factory and were on patrol at the time, noticed a suspicious lorry that was parked at the exit of the factory building, with four men standing near it. They hid in the darkness so as to see what was happening; and, at about 7.15 p.m. they saw a man pushing a trolley out of the factory towards the lorry. The guards had also seen the respondents' sentry at the time, Mr. Malonza Kunywoki, who is the claimants' second witness in this dispute, open the gate for him, and the four men emptied the trolley of several packets of milk into the lorry through a side door which they had opened. The incident was repeated at about 7.45 p.m.; and at about 8.00 p.m. the guards emerged from their hiding place and headed straight for the lorry which had by then been moved from the exit to the loading bay. They identified the lorry as belonging to the respondents, Reg. No. KWW 684, and also noticed several contraband packets of milk inside it. The senior supervisor, Mr. Waitaha, and the assistant factory manager, Mr. Muiruri, who is the respondents' second witness in this case, were informed, and on inspection of the lorry it was discovered or found that 482 and 3 half litre packets of fresh and Maia milk respectively had been irregularly stolen or illegally removed from the factory and stacked up in the lorry. After some investigation, the grievants were, on 20th January, 1987, suspended and their services were subsequently terminated on 16th February, 1987.

The claimants took up the matter with the respondents, but the parties failed to settle it at their own level. The dispute was investigated by the Ministry of Labour and its findings were that the grievants were involved in the attempted theft of the milk and the termination of their services was, therefore, justified. It was recommended that the management's action should be upheld and the grievants be paid their terminal benefits in accordance with the parties' collective agreement.

The ministry's recommendation was turned down by the claimants and the matter is now before the court for consideration. The claimants finally submitted that the termination of the grievants' services was unjustified and amounted to their victimization. They, therefore, prayed the court to reinstate them with full benefits.

In their concluding submission, the respondents stated that the action they took in terminating the grievants' services was indeed lenient because the offence was very serious and merited summary dismissal. They strongly maintained that the grievants were justifiably terminated for abusing their work tools by using them to the detriment of their employer and prayed the court to uphold their action.

The dispute before the court concerns the termination by the respondents of the grievants' services on the ground that they misused the trolleys assigned to them by either ferrying packets of contraband milk or negligently allowing other persons to use them for dishonest purposes. In their submissions and from the evidence on record, the parties are in complete agreement that in the evening of 15th January, 1987, the aforementioned packets of contraband milk were found in the respondents' lorry, Reg. No. KWW 684. The security guard, Mr. Mutebu, who is the respondents' star witness in this case, testified that from his hideout he witnessed the whole episode of this matter: a man pushed a trolley full of packets of milk out of the factory to the lorry which was parked at the exit of the factory and also four men helped him to load the lorry. He remained at his vantage hideout for one hour—i.e. from 7.00 p.m. to 8.00 p.m.—while an attempted theft was taking place under his nose only to appear at the scene after the four men had retreated into the factory. The first grievant told the court that an identification parade was immediately conducted at which Mr. Mutebu was unable to identify the man who was alleged to have pushed a trolley and the four men who assisted him in loading the lorry with the packets of contraband milk. In fact Mr. Mutebu unequivocally admitted his inability to identify the culprits when he testified. In the absence of any evidence of identification of the culprits, the respondents' case on this score is, therefore, weak.

The claimants have vehemently denied that the grievants were participants in the attempted theft of the contraband milk, and in view of such a strong denial and lack of identification, it is difficult to say that the respondents have adduced sufficient evidence to unmistakably implicate the grievants in the attempted theft of the contraband milk.

Turning now to the grievants' carelessness on negligence, the court has to determine, on the basis of equity and using its own commonsense and knowledge of industrial relations, whether there has been a sufficient proof of each of these shortcomings to warrant the termination of the grievants' services, and the case must be considered in the light of their position and duties. An employee may be aware of his individual responsibilities to take care for the safety of others without supervision, as in the case of a bus driver. Other employees are entitled to expect that their work will be supervised to ensure that a careless or negligent act is not overlooked, as in the case of a factory hand such as the grievants' whose work is checked by a supervisor.

No doubt, there could have been some pilferages in the respondents' undertaking, but the respondents were not in a position to establish, on the balance of probabilities that the grievants were responsible. In civil cases the law requires a man claiming to have been injured to prove that the injury was occasioned by the wrong of the other party and the standard of proof works as a barrier to flimsy and vexatious claims. The standard of proof for both criminal and civil cases is no longer a matter of doubt, Denning, J. (as he then was) set out the law in Miller vs. Minister of Pensions (1947) 2 All E. R. 372 at p. 373-4. As for civil cases:

"That degree is well settled. It must carry a reasonable degree of probability but not so high as is required in a criminal case. If the evidence is such that the tribunal can say 'we think it more probable than not', the burden is discharged, but if the probabilities are equal, it is not."

On serious consideration of the parties' submissions and the evidence tendered by the witnesses before the court regarding this particular incident, the court cannot positively find that the grievants were careless or negligent in the performance of their duties as alleged by the respondents. There is a big doubt in the court's mind, and it has, therefore, decided, on the balance of probabilities, to give the grievants the benefit of the doubt.

Under the circumstances the court takes exception to the ministry's recommendation, and awards that, in addition to all their terminal benefits, as per the terms of the appropriate parties' collective agreement, the grievants should be paid seven months' salary each as compensation for wrongful termination of their services.

The claimants' prayer for the grievants' reinstatement is rejected.

Dated the 14th November, 1990.
