Since the cessation of the civil war in the Sudan, brought about by the Addis Ababa Agreement of March 1973, a regional administration was established (under the Central Unitary Government) for the Sudan's Southern Region; this comprises three southern provinces and 11 regional ministries. An urgent task is to improve the administrative procedures and managerial effectiveness of the provincial administrations and local authorities so that governmental operations may be properly carried out and thus have a real impact on the economic and social development of the region. In order to attain this objective, the Government of the Sudan has established a multifaceted project to assist in solving the problems facing the several levels of administration. The United Nations Expert in Public and Financial Administration is a part of this larger project, which consists of other United Nations experts and various bilateral resources.

Purpose of project.—To assist the Government in the formulation, co-ordination, implementation and monitoring of its strategy of planned development.

Background information

The United Nations has provided technical assistance to Zambia in its development planning process for a number of years. This has included assistance in the preparation and implementation of the 1964-66 Transitional Development Plan, the First National Development Plan, 1967-71, and the Second National Development Plan, 1972-76. Continuing assistance is needed because Zambia is still confronted with a shortage of professional personnel in all fields. Despite efforts to accelerate training at all levels, the demand for trained persons, including in particular planning personnel, will exceed the supply available for a number of years.

This project is designed to provide essential technical assistance to the Government of Zambia over the period of the Third National Development Plan, 1979-85. The project provides over a four-year period four professional planners who will act as advisers to the Permanent Secretary of the National Commission for Development and who will supervise the work of units concerned with: (a) regional planning; (b) macro economic and financial planning; (c) mining and energy; and (d) agriculture and rural development. In addition, the government has requested associate experts to work in rural development planning and in regional planning. The project also makes provision for consultancy services and for secretarial support.

It should be noted that the National Commission for Development Planning is a full-fledged Ministry, responsible for formulating and monitoring the implementation of Zambian development plans. Staff development and training programme are an important aspect of this project. It is anticipated that over the four-year period, it will be possible for the commission to function with Zambian nationals.

3. Post title.—GEOLOGIST (Associate Expert).

(5) Submission to the United Nations (Department of Technical Co-operation for Development) and to the Government, any partial and/or final reports as may be required, within the period of service.

Purpose of the project.—Study of the copper-molybdenum mineralization at Mocoa. Geological-geochemical reconnaissance of Mocoa and surrounding area as within a similar geological environment in order to determine their possibilities as base metal prospects. Training of nationals in the fields of mineral exploration and mineral economics consonant with modern technology. Developing of the mineral industry to a level consonant with the general plan of development of the country. Try to cut the mineral imports down, and export surplus as an important contribution for the emerging economy. Strengthening the capability of a national institution responsible for the mining and metallurgical development of the country and to safeguard the national interest in future negotiations.

VACANCIES IN THE UNITED NATIONS—(Contd.)

Background information

There is a general lack of reliable socio-economic statistics on Namibia. The immediate needs for such data will greatly increase when the first Nationhood Programme projects will be launched for implementation. On the other hand, these projects are expected to produce new statistical information on Namibia. There is a clear need for a centre, which would act as a central storage and clearing house for a statistical information on Namibia. A centre of this type could give valuable support to the various projects carried out under the aegis of the United Nations Council for Namibia, by systematically collecting statistical data compiling tabulations and publishing such information or making it available by other means to the project activities.

On independence, such statistical centre should be transferred to Namibia and used as a basis in establishing the central statistical organization of the independent country.

The BCGS has a staff of nearly 700, including professional hydrographers and geodesists. In view of the very recent enlargement of its responsibilities, however, the BCGS finds itself with very few staff trained in the fields of photogrammetry and map production; it has taken steps to restructure its organization to provide for the establishment of a topographical mapping division.

The greater part of the UNDP assistance requested under this project, in the form of advisory services, equipment and training is required to support the development of this new division.

The immediate objectives are to strengthen the technical staff and supplement the map production facilities of the BCGS through the provision of technical advice, training and equipment in order to meet its enlarged responsibilities; to provide map substitutes and a provisional map series to meet the more urgent requirement to the planning community and to produce the initial requirements for topographical base maps on scales 1:10,000, 1:25,000 and smaller.

The Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands (TTPI) commonly known as Micronesia, is the last UN Trust Territory and it is administered by the US Government. The TTPI consisted of 6 districts: Palau, Yap, Truk, Ponape, Kosrae and the Marshall Islands. As the TTPI is moving towards the termination of the Trusteeship Agreement, three new political entities have been emerging: the Republic of Palau, the Republic of the Marshall Islands and the Federated States of Micronesia (FSM), the latter comprising Yap, Truk, Ponape and Kosrae. The FSM Government's executive branch is headed by the President who came to office in May, 1979. The Congress is the national legislative branch and there is also a newly established judiciary. On the State level, Government consists of the executive, headed by the Governor, the Truk State Legislature and the judiciary.

The FSM covers several million square miles in which can be found close to 2,000 islands. The islands vary in size and the total land area is roughly 270 square miles. The FSM has a population of some 76,000. The capital is located in Ponape State.

The State of Truk which has a total land area of some 39 square miles consists of Moen (State Capital) and about 9 other major islands and atolls and it has a population of approximately 38,650. The economy is dominated by the public sector but there is also a relatively large subsistence sector. The main export, copra and tourism, has been increasing steadily. The major economic problems are the low value of exports, inadequate and highly expensive transportation facilities, low productivity in both the private and the public sectors, a lack of basic infrastructure and a high rate of population growth (3.5-4).

Purpose of the project.—The project(s) on which the collaboration of the associate expert is being sought should substantially advance empirical, action-oriented studies carried out by the Institute, and strengthen its training programmes, with a view to achieving more effective crime prevention in the context of development and more humane and viable treatment of offenders, so as to reduce the social and material costs of criminality and dysfunctional development and promote the reintegration of offenders into society at large. The achievement of these aims is particularly important for Latin America where serious shortcomings in this field still prevail. The Institute is playing a leadership role in fomenting appropriate reforms—a quest in which the experience of Western European countries should be of invaluable help, particularly in view of the advances made there recent years, and the criminological and wider social science research and training capability existing there.

Background information

In the few years since its inauguration the Institute carried out valuable work and made significant inroads into some of the serious crime and criminal justice problems besetting the region. Its activities have included a Seminar on planning for crime prevention in the context of national development; a Training Course on human rights in the administration of justice; a Colloquium on Criminal Policy for Latin America; a Conference of Ministers of Justice; a Symposium on correctional systems and training, another on crime prevention policies in educational programmes, etc.

The Institute has undertaken a number of studies including a survey of crime trends and criminal justice polices in the region; a study on violence in the region; another on the linking of the rehabilitation of offenders with other social services; action-research project on public participation on crime prevention and a pilot project on criminal statistics in which technical assistance is particularly required. The Institute is hoping to undertake a number of additional research projects subject to the availability of funding, including one on medical standards for prisons.

The needs of the countries of Latin America in the crime field are many: they suffer from dated legislation and criminal procedure, excessive reliance on institutional treatment of offenders and protracted detention pending trial with attendant infringements of human rights, excessive reliance on the medicojuridical model with insufficient emphasis on the social sciences in their approach, inadequate utilization of research as a guide to decision-making in the field, lack of integrated planning for crime prevention and control, etc.

The Institute has made an auspicious beginning in tackling these problems and in providing progressive and imaginative leadership to governments in order to promote the necessary change. But it needs substantial help. It has the good fortune of being located in a small democratic country with liberal policies and a strong emphasis on human rights, which—perhaps more than any country in the region—has an affinity with the Scandinavian countries. It is thus singularly appropriate that a link should be established, via the associate experts, which would provide a conduit for the channelling to the region, through the Institute, of Scandinavian orientations and experiences which have been among the most innovative and progressive in the world.

The United Nations Latin American Institute for the Prevention of Crime and Treatment of Offenders, established in 1975, collaborates with governments, scientific institutions and experts in the region with a view to promoting harmonious, social and economic development and a better quality of life in Latin America through the formulation and incorporation in national development planning of suitable policies and programmes for crime prevention and criminal justice. In order to achieve this goal, the Institute:

(1) Carries out training programmes for policy-makers, planners, administrators and specialized technical personnel in the field of crime prevention and the treatment of offenders, including both theoretical and field study; conducts courses and seminars on special subjects (including research and planning methods and techniques), and for different categories of personnel facilitates the exchange of expertise/experience between staff from different countries of the region, and promotes the development of training materials and practical guides.

(2) Collects and disseminates information, as well as carries out and stimulates systematic multi-disciplinary, action-oriented research on crime trends in the region and factors associated with them (with particular attention to new and special problems, such as violence, drug abuse, corruption, etc.), the economic and social costs of crime and its implications for development and planning, needs and priorities of action relating to crime at the regional and subregional levels, suitable policies and methods of crime prevention and control, and comprehensive strategies and programmes for crime prevention and criminal justice, in the light of conditions prevailing in the region and in the context of national socio-economic planning.

(3) Promotes the adoption and application by governments of standards, guidelines and procedures recommended by the United Nations; furthers an integrated approach to problems of crime and criminal justice linked with overall national planning; helps develop, adapt and implement effective policies and programmes for crime prevention and criminal justice in the region, in accordance with an international plan of action and other United Nations recommendations in this area.

(4) Helps in the development and implementation of United Nations policies and programmes in crime prevention and criminal justice at the regional level.

The United Nations would welcome the participation of suitably qualified male and female candidates in the technical co-operation programmes. The recipients of this job description are, therefore, urged to make every effort to locate and nominate suitable candidates both female and male, for this vacancy. It should be emphasized in this connection that experts are engaged in duties which consist in the transfer of knowledge, techniques and aptitudes. Success in their assignment depends as much on their expressive skills, their empathy with and sensitivity to the needs, particularities and values of the host country, as on their academic background and professional competence.

GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 3142

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 26 OF 1978

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers and Kirinyaga District Co-operative Union Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Salary scales for secretaries.

1. The Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Kirinyaga District Co-operative Union Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties appeared before the Court on the following dates: 3rd and 17th August, 25th September, 20th and 21st November and 19th December, 1978, 13th February and 11th June, 1979, 14th November, 1980 and 23rd January, 16th March and 4th May, 1981 and relied on their written and verbal submissions. The Court called Mr. S. Onyulo to give evidence during the hearing.

AWARD

3. The notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 5th July, 1977 duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 6th June, 1978 together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The parties entered into a recognition agreement in June, 1964 but the first collective agreement between them was signed in March, 1972 for a period of three years with effect from 1st October, 1971. In the preamble to this agreement it is stated as follows:

"That honesty and efficient hard work from employee will generate this required objective and will mean prosperity to all, have determined that the following terms and conditions of service shall apply to all employees of the primary societies and district union except those categories of employees who may be defined as managerial and supervisory staff as may be defined from time to time by the FKE and COTU (K) and adopted by the parties to this agreement."

Attached to this collective agreement was the salary/wages scales with scale 7 setting out the following salaries for society secretaries:

"Society secretaries:

Sh.	Sh.	Sh.
650	50	50
500	45	45
400	40	40

At this stage it should be noted that the Respondents consist of 11 primary societies each one of whom has a secretary/manager who carries out all the functions of the society on behalf of the management committee.

The parties had prior to this dispute appeared before the Court in Cause No. 81/75 when the issue in dispute was "the effective date of the agreement". In that dispute the Court made an award that the effective date of the agreement which the parties themselves had concluded should be 1st July, 1975.

The present dispute has arisen when the parties started negotiating the third collective agreement. They reached a deadlock on two issues:

i. Salary increases for the years 1976/1977.

ii. Salary scales for secretaries.

The Claimants reported a trade dispute to the Minister for Labour on these issues and the parties recorded a deadlock on 28th June, 1977 in the presence of the conciliator in the following terms:

"The parties to the dispute have agreed to disagree on issue No. 2 on the ground that the Co-operative Union insist that the secretary/managers are not members of the trade union but on the management side. The union on the other side insists that the secretary/managers are their members."

In the dispute before the Court this is the central issue i.e. should the secretaries/managers be allowed to be represented by the Claimants.

The Court is satisfied that in the previous collective agreements notwithstanding the preamble which has been quoted hereinabove the parties went ahead and negotiated the salary scales for the secretaries and it is only now that the Respondents have decided that the Claimants should not represent them mainly on the ground that they are the chief executives of the primary societies and as such were in charge of all the staff employed by the societies in matters of discipline, allocation of duties and suspension of employees. Further he also has the right to employ or sack the workers. In brief the Respondents contended that they exercise managerial duties as envisaged in the preamble to the collective agreement.

The Claimants on the other hand strongly submitted that this was an important test case because a number of co-operative unions had allowed them to represent secretaries/managers and that if the Respondents were allowed to win this case then all the other co-operative unions would follow suit and deny them the right to represent secretaries/managers. They stated that the co-operative unions which allowed them to represent the secretaries/managers were the following:

Luanda Cotton Farmers' Co-operative Union.

Nambale Cotton Farmers' Co-operative Union.

Kisii Farmers Co-operative Union Ltd.

Murang'a District Farmer's Co-operative Union Ltd.

Meru Central Farmers' Co-operative Union Ltd.

Meru North Farmers' Co-operative Union Ltd.

Meru South Farmers' Co-operative Union Ltd.

The Claimants stated that they had actively participated on the salary policy for secretaries/managers way back in 1973 at very high level meetings involving Ministry of Labour, Ministry of Co-operatives and Social Services and the Kenya National Federation of Co-operatives. In fact Mr. Sidede Onyulo who was summoned by the Court from the Ministry of Co-operatives confirmed this point. During the hearing of this dispute the Respondents had alleged that their primary societies did not have honorary secretaries because they had been exempted by the Commissioner for Cooperative Development from electing honorary secretaries. The Court then asked the Respondents to get a confirmation of this fact from the Commissioner of Co-operatives. One Miss V. M. Mucaj wrote a five page letter to the Court in which at one stage she wrote as follows:

"(c) Secretary/managers fall under the category of "graded employees" mentioned under section 85 of the Co-operative Societies Act and rule 40 of the Co-operative Societies Rules 1969.

Under rule 40 of the said Rules appointment of grade employees of a co-operative union must have prior approval of the Commissioner for Co-operative Development who should fix their terms and conditions of service. This provision ensures that secretary/managers are protected from arbitrary actions of the committee members as they cannot be appointed or dismissed without prior consultation with the Commissioner for Co-operative Development.

The Commissioner exercises close supervision in this regard and the creation of a legal division in the Ministry of Co-operative Development in recent years will greatly enhance this supervision. The Commissioner is now in a position to formulate favourable terms and conditions of service for secretary/managers and to ensure that they are issued with proper letters of appointment. In view of the above dispute efforts in discharging this role will be redoubled to ensure that secretary/managers are adequately protected. Indeed revision of their present salaries is currently under consideration.

On the whole therefore the future is bright and secretaries/managers need not fear insecurity. At any rate in the event of any breach of their employment contracts they have recourse to the Employment Act and related legislation."

Mr. Onyulo while giving evidence stated that he was aware of this letter and that he was competent to speak on it. He stated that even where secretaries/managers are employed by societies who can afford it the fact remained that in addition there was always an honorary secretary to the society. He confirmed that the Commissioner for Co-operative Development had issued a circular No. 25/68 on 12th October, 1968 dealing with terms and conditions of service and salary scales and minimum qualifications of co-operative employees. These scales include the posts of the managers divided into five categories.

Mr. Onyulo admitted when he was shown certain collective agreements between the Claimants and various co-operative unions that the Claimants had represented the secretaries/managers and accepted that Miss Muca's letter was somewhat contradictory to what had transpired in the past. He also told the Court that he didn't think there was any conflict between the past practice of allowing the secretaries/managers to belong and to be represented by a trade union and the Co-operatives Act and Rules made thereunder. He said representation may be by different unions as they perform managerial/confidential functions and felt that if there was one union only then there can be conflict of interest. He also stated that under rule 35 (1) the committees had powers to delegate and that most societies had honorary secretaries but they delegated their functions to secretary/managers. The policy is made by the Management Committee and the secretary/manager runs the society on the instructions of the Management Committee.

In answer to a question from the Judge of the Court Mr. Onyulo stated that as far as he knew the Commissioner for Co-operative Development had not given his attention to this matter and he was not aware if Miss Muca had discussed the matter with the Commissioner before writing her letter. In the end this witness stated that his department was not concerned at which union could represent secretaries/managers.

The Claimants produced as an exhibit a document dated 15th August, 1970 which is a letter attached to which are terms and conditions of service for co-operative employees signed by Mr. J. J. Musundi, Secretary General Kenya National Federation of Co-operative Ltd. addressed to the Commissioner for Co-operative Development with copy to the Claimants' Secretary General. The following two paragraphs are of particular importance to this dispute:

"The meeting viewed that you should be advised not to negotiate on behalf of co-operatives but that each co-operative union or society should negotiate with the relevant trade union independently. It was the opinion of the Committee that the Department and the Kenya National Federation of Co-operatives should be invited to send representatives to attend negotiating talks whenever necessary.

We are enclosing copy of the terms and conditions of service as drawn by your office to the Secretary General of Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers for their perusal."

The Court appreciates the arguments which have been put forward by the Respondents in support of their demand that secretaries/managers should not be allowed to be represented by the Claimants which in brief are that the legal provisions of the Co-operatives Act and the Rules made thereunder cannot be overruled and that the provisions of the Industrial Relations Charter place these posts outside the unionisable category. The Industrial Relations Charter states that the following will be excluded from union representation:

"Persons who are formulating, administering, co-ordinating and/or controlling any aspects of the organization's policy.

Staff who perform work of a confidential nature as shall be defined by a tripartite committee.

Any other category of staff who may in the case of any particular undertaking be excluded from union representation by mutual agreement."

The Court has very carefully considered the Respondents' submissions and fails to understand why they being fully aware of all these grounds on which they are resisting the Claimants' demand now, agreed in the first place going as far back as 1971 to include the salary scales of secretaries in the collective agreement. Not only this but to the preamble to the 1971 collective agreement as has been stated hereinabove in the award they had clearly specified that those categories of employee who may be defined managerial and supervisory staff as may be defined from time to time by the FKE/COTU (K) and adopted by the parties would be excluded from the collective agreement. The only logical conclusion that can be drawn from this is that the Respondents did not consider that the secretaries were strictly part of the management. The management of the co-operative societies rest in the management committees who have their own office bearers including the honorary secretaries. It is this management committee that forms policy matters and controls all aspects of the organization. Admittedly some societies have delegated their powers to the secretaries/managers but the parties were aware of all this when they signed the 1971 collective agreement and further took to steps even in the next collective agreement to exclude them from the collective agreement.

In view of the concrete evidence that was produced by the Claimants that in several co-operative societies they represent secretaries/managers and keeping in view the high level meetings that took place about ten years ago between the senior Ministry of Labour officials and senior representatives of the Commissioner for Co-operatives and the Claimants which has resulted in the present situation giving the Claimants the right to negotiate and bargain on behalf of secretaries/managers the Court is not inclined to make an award which would upset this arrangement. There is no doubt that these secretaries/managers do need trade union representation and protection. The Court would rather leave this matter to be once again tackled at the same level as that in 1973 involving senior officials from the Ministry of Labour, Commissioner for Co-operative Development, Kenya National Federation of Co-operatives and the Claimants to look into it with a view to finding if it is necessary to change the position which they adopted in 1973 as far as secretaries/managers are concerned vis a vis their representation by the Claimants.

Having made the above observations and keeping in mind the fact that the Respondents themselves in the first place allowed the Claimants to represent the secretaries and to effectively bargain on their behalf the Court awards that they should continue to do so even now and the Court accordingly directs the Respondents to negotiate a salary scale in respect of them with the Claimants.

GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 3152

THE TRADE MARKS ACT

(Cap. 506)

NOTICE is given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the trade marks advertised herein according to the classes may, within 60 days from the date of this Gazette, lodge notice of opposition on Form T.M. No. 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of Sh. 50.

Notice is also given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the Registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make if and when it is registered. Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the Registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the Registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him any opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.

Representations of the marks advertised herein can be seen at the Trade Marks Registry, State Law Office, Nairobi.
