AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 7th November, 1985, and duly signed by the parties, was received by the court on 3rd February, 1986, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The grievants were employed by the respondents as drivers on diverse dates between June, 1976 and December, 1982, and at the time of their termination of service on 9th December, 1983, they had served the respondents for relatively short periods, ranging from 1 to 7½ years.

The grievants' termination of service occurred as a result of investigations which revealed that the fuel consumption of vehicles they were driving was excessive. The respondents had received some reports that their drivers were selling fuel to some people especially at Kahuha area; and the matter was a subject of discussion by the finance, staff and general purposes committee meeting held on 7th June, 1983. Later the drivers were addressed and cautioned on this matter by the then acting District Commissioner, Mr. Mutemi, and despite concerted efforts by the police, provincial administration and the respondents, in order to curb the illicit practice, the latter continued to incur loss of fuel. The respondents introduced padlocks with a view to locking the fuel tanks, but this measure was not helpful because the drivers allegedly drained the fuel from the "drainage plug" at the bottom of the fuel tanks and pipes leading to the carburettor. Finally, the respondents composed an audit team headed by Edward Karanja Kamau, the internal auditor, to test all their vehicles in good working condition in order to determine the standard consumption rate of each vehicle; and its two reports, dated 23rd November, and 1st December, 1983, showed that while the grievants were driving on their own the respondents' vehicles attached to them, the consumption rate of fuel was excessive. Thirteen drivers whose performance was on or above average consumption rate were retained in the service. On 8th December, 1983, the grievants whose rate of consumption fell outside the tolerance limits were sent on one week's compulsory leave. But the following day—i.e., on 9th December, 1983—the audit team's reports were placed before the finance, staff and general purposes committee meeting at which it was resolved that the services of the grievants should be terminated forthwith in accordance with rule 19 (b) of the terms and conditions of service applicable to them. Consequently on the same day, the grievants were served with a common letter of dismissal.

The claimants strongly objected to "the illegal and irregular mass dismissal" of the grievants and accused the clerk to the council of acting in complete disregard of the laid down industrial machinery because he "dismissed" the grievants without the approval of the full council meeting. The claimants also took issue with him, the clerk to the council for failing or refusing to convene a joint staff committee meeting and on 6th January, 1984, they reported a trade dispute to the Minister for Labour under section 4 of the Trade Disputes Act. On 16th instant the clerk to the council wrote to the Minister for Labour in reference to the aforementioned letter and advised therein that the next joint staff committee meeting would take place on 2nd March, 1984. The parties met at their own level as scheduled but a deadlock was recorded. The Ministry of Labour, therefore, accepted the dispute and Mr. J. Munyao of Thika labour office was appointed an investigator. On 19th July, 1985, the chief industrial relations officer forwarded the following findings and recommendations to the parties:

Findings:

The audit team report prepared for the council established that there had been an excessive use of both petrol and diesel by the vehicles driven by the 17 drivers who are the subject of this dispute even if the 17 drivers did not make personal use of the excessive petrol or diesel, respectively, they at least knew how it was disappearing as they were physically handling the said vehicles. The council therefore had cause to lose confidence in these employees.

The action taken by terminating their services, therefore, was justified.

Recommendation:

It is noted from the parties submissions that the council has already reduced their dismissal action to normal termination of service. The 17 drivers should, therefore, be paid their normal benefits in accordance with the terms and conditions to service for employees in non-salaried grades.

The respondents accepted the ministry's recommendation but the claimants rejected it, and the matter is now before the court for adjudication.

The claimants prayed the court to reinstate the grievants to their former jobs without loss of entitlements or dues during the period they were out of employment, and also to order that any bad record in the grievants' files should be expunged.

The respondents prayed the court to uphold their action and reject all the claimants' demands.

It is clear from the facts of this case that the grievants' services were terminated after failing to attain the standard rate of fuel consumption which was set by the respondents as a result of illegal sale and/or excessive use of fuel by their drivers. The claimants hotly contested the grievants' termination, alleging that the termination amounted to "mass" dismissal or redundancy without being accorded an opportunity to defend themselves. In reply the respondents asserted that they did not dismiss the grievants from services as alleged by the claimants, but were "discharged" or terminated on account of their having failed to satisfy the standard rate of fuel consumption which was instituted in order to stamp out the alleged illegal sale and/or excessive use of fuel by the drivers both the Trade Disputes Act (Cap. 234), and Employment Act (Cap. 226), do not define the words "discharge" and "dismissal;" but in the court's view the word "discharge" stands on a different footing from "dismissal." Whereas "dismissal" can be for the commission of misconduct, a "discharge" means termination of the services of an employee on any account other than his having committed a misconduct. The very fact that the word "discharge" is used by the respondents in this case is quite clear that it is not the same thing as dismissal. In view of the fact that the discharged grievants were entitled to their terminal benefits, the court is of the opinion that the respondents' action in discharging the grievants amounted to termination.

Having come to the above conclusion, the court is now to determine whether the respondents acted mala fide, or in bad faith in terminating the grievants' services as they did. The respondents alleged that they lost a colossal amount of fuel through a racket perpetrated by their drivers; and in order to arrest the situation they set a standard rate of fuel consumption by their vehicles. This exercise involved all the respondents' thirty (30) drivers during the course of their normal duties and the report revealed that the grievants' performance did not measure up to the required or tolerable standard. For this reason, they were terminated on payment of their terminal benefits. The claimants have vigorously challenged the procedure adopted by the respondents in setting the standard rate of fuel consumption, and also hurled accusations at the respondents' witnesses that they had an interest in the matter and were biased against the grievants. But in their submission the claimants surprisingly did not suggest any alternative or other and better method of determining the standard rate of fuel consumption. On this score, the court is of the view that the claimants' case and charges against the respondents' witnesses have no truth in them, but merely wild accusations, considering that one of the outstanding features of local government is the fact that it is invariably the council, not the official which has the last word. It is a government by a group, or body of persons, rather than an individual or one functionary.

The respondents could not keep in their establishment employees in whom they had lost confidence; and even if there was any scope for doubt as regards whether or not the grievants were responsible for the theft and/or excessive use of fuel at the time of their discharge, the respondents had the right to terminate their services by one month's notice or one month's wages in lieu thereof inasmuch as the grievants would have relinquished their appointments on similar terms. These are mutual and reciprocal promises, and there is no legal principle available which could operate to minimize the effect of the counterpart promises.

In the circumstances, therefore, and taking into account the lapse of over seven years since the grievants' termination of services, the court holds that no further relief is available to them in this case, and accordingly their claim for reinstatement must be rejected.

In the result the court directs that the grievants entitlements, amounting to KSh. 14,827.85 which has been deposited with the District Labour Office, Thika, should be paid to them immediately. The court, however, feels that, in addition to their aforementioned terminal benefits, the respondents should pay each grievant an ex gratia sum equivalent to two (2) months' basic salary, based on their wages at the time of their termination, as a gesture of goodwill, and the court so awards.

As regards the late Chege Irungu's terminal benefits, the court directs that the amount should be paid to his estate to be administered in accordance with the relevant law of the land.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT CAUSE NO. 61 OF 1990

Parties:
Tailors & Textiles Workers Union
and
Challenge Industries Limited

Issue in dispute:
"Recognition."

THE Tailors and Textiles Workers Union, shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Challenge Industries Limited, shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi, on 19th March, 1991, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 4th July, 1989, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 29th March, 1990, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The respondents are manufacturers of textile products and employ a total labour force of 17 employees.

This dispute had been investigated by the Ministry of Labour and the ministry's findings and recommendations were that the respondents should accord recognition to the claimants.

This decision was, however, turned down by the respondents and the matter is now before the court for consideration.

The claimants submitted that 15 employees of the respondents voluntarily joined their union and signed the check-off system as required under the Trade Disputes Act. The claimants further stated that a recognition agreement was drafted and sent to the respondents so that the claimants could be accorded recognition but the demand was turned down by the respondents.

The claimants submitted that they were the right and competent union to represent the unionizable employees of the respondents. This is supported by the fact that the respondents' nature of business falls within the textile industry. The claimants also drew the court's attention to the fact that there was no other trade union fighting to represent the respondents' employees and the workers have indicated their wish to join the claimants union.

The claimants summed up their submissions by telling the court that the findings and recommendations by the Ministry of Labour were in their favour and the court should endorse the same.

The respondents submitted that the union membership has been done secretly and were surprised at the allegation that their employees were claimants members. As a result, it was not possible to judge whether or not a simple majority of their employees had been recruited. The respondents further stated that, when the claimants eventually revealed the membership list it turned out that some of the alleged employees were totally unknown to them. Consequently, there were no good reasons for the respondents to support enrolment of their employees into the claimants union.

The respondents went on to state that the workers have not expressed to them their wish to join any union. As a result, it is not known as whether there is any rival trade union claiming membership in their organization.

The respondents submitted that all their employees had individual contracts of employment which showed that the workers had indicated that they wished to exercise their freedom not to associate.

The court has carefully considered the parties submissions and has come to the conclusion that the respondents have not put forward any concrete reasons to deny claimants recognition. The fact that the employees have individual contracts of employment with the respondents does not bar them from joining the proper trade union for their industry.

The court is satisfied that a simple majority of the respondents' employees are members of the claimants trade union and given the chance all respondents' employees would join them.

The court accordingly awards that the respondents should recognize the claimants and sign a recognition agreement within three (3) months of the date of the court award and that the recognition agreement should be effective from the date it is signed.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT CAUSE NOS. 95 AND 96 OF 1990

Parties:
Transport and Allied Workers' Union
and
Kenya Bus Services (Mombasa) Limited

Issue in dispute:
"Dismissal of Messrs. Mutua Kibisu Ndui and Ali Ramadhan."

THE Transport and Allied Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Kenya Bus Services (Mombasa) Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The two disputes were consolidated and the parties heard in Nairobi on 20th and 21st February, 1991, and relied on their written and verbal submissions. In addition, the respondents called the following witness to give evidence on their behalf:

Hassan Mwinyi.

The claimants did not call any witness.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 12th June, 1990, and signed by the parties were received by the court on 13th September, 1990, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The grievants were employed by the respondents as P.S.V. bus conductor and toll collector on 7th March, 1978 and 11th December, 1981, respectively. In July, 1979, the first grievant was, at his request and on production of P.S.V. licence, designated a P.S.V. driver. On 4th August, 1982, he was promoted to the position of an inspector, and he remained in that position until 21st July, 1987, when the respondents' personnel manager served him with a notice of discharge for "collaborating with a toll collector to defraud the company of ferry cash by allowing into the ferry five (5) lorries with used tickets" on 4th July, 1987. The second grievant held the same position of a toll collector until the said date when he was similarly served with a notice of discharge for "selling used tickets" on the same day. The grievants were at the time of their dismissal or discharge, earning KSh. 3,215 and KSh. 1,363, per month, respectively, plus a similar house allowance of KSh. 550, and had served the respondents with clean records for nine (9) and five (5) years, respectively.

The incident which led to the grievants' dismissal occurred on 4th July, 1987. The respondents have alleged that, while the grievants were on duty at about 4 p.m. on the said date at the island side of the Likoni Ferry, they colluded to defraud the company of its toll income by allowing lorries into Safina Ferry without valid tickets. The respondents viewed the grievants' behaviour as gross misconduct for which they were dismissed.

The claimants took up the matter with the respondents on behalf of the grievants but no amicable settlement was reached. Consequently the claimants reported a trade dispute to the Minister for Labour and Mr. J. P. Makau, of District Labour Office, Mombasa, was appointed to act as an investigator. The ministry's findings and recommendation to the parties were as hereunder:

Findings:

The investigations established that the five un-named lorry drivers were found with unchecked tickets by one Mr. Hassan, a senior inspector, at around 4 p.m. on 4th July, 1987. This is undisputed fact. It has also been established that Mr. Mutua Kibisu, the inspector, was absent from his normal workplace on the material time for a lawful excuse. Since the management did not charge Mr. Kibisu with negligence of duty, it is assumed that they were satisfied with the cause of his absence.

What appears to have offended the management was the alleged sale of the used tickets by the toll collector, Mr. Ramadhani, during Mr. Kibisu's absence. I, therefore, find it unfair for the management to have accused Mr. Kibisu of collusion with Mr. Ramadhani to defraud the company of its revenue. It is my considered view that the management's suspicion has not been substantiated.

As for the issue of used tickets, I find it unproved that Mr. Ramadhani was personally answerable more so in the absence of written statements from the drivers concerned incriminating the toll collector. To meet the ends of justice in this case it is necessary that Mr. Hassan's evidence should be corroborated, which was not done. It appears, therefore, that the management relied mainly on Mr. Hassan's statement to arrive at the decision which, in view of the observations, was wrong. Accordingly, the dismissal of the services of Messrs. Mutua, Kibisu and Ali Ramadhani, was unjustified and unfair.

Recommendation:

After careful consideration of the parties' submissions and the above findings it is recommended that the two (2) employees be reinstated without loss of benefits and seniority. They should also be paid half salary each for the period they have been out of employment.

The claimants accepted the report, but the respondents rejected it on the ground that the same is riddled with inconsistencies, and the matter is now before the court for consideration.

The claimants strongly felt that the dismissal of the grievants was harsh, illogical and uncalled for. The grievants, in their view, only deserved a verbal reprimand, and accordingly prayed the court to uphold the ministry's findings and recommendation. The respondents, prayed the court to uphold their action and reject the claimants' demands in total.

It is abundantly clear from the facts of this case and the evidence on record that on 4th July, 1987, at about 4 p.m. the five (5) lorries were found in the Safina ferry by the senior inspector, Mwinyi, without valid tickets. The drivers of the lorries informed him that they had in fact paid the grievants some money to allow them entry. However, the first grievant apologized in his letter dated 6th July, 1987, to the respondents for having failed to check and punch the tickets in respect of the five (5) lorries because he was away in the toilet for "a call of nature." Although the first grievant admitted that the five (5) lorries in the Safina ferry had no valid tickets when the senior inspector, Mwinyi, found them, there is no mention in the respondents' submission that the grievants had divided the amount which was allegedly given to them by the lorry drivers. After all, the respondents did not even show how much they had lost in the alleged fraud. This allegation only surfaced in court when the respondents' witness gave evidence; and, without corroboration, the court cannot accept that the grievants had collaborated or colluded to defraud the respondents of their toll revenue. Nevertheless, and on critical consideration of this matter, the court finds that the grievants were guilty of derelict of duty, or negligent in the performance of their duty for which they cannot escape responsibility. But, a single act of negligence of duty is no misconduct, but habitual negligence of duty comes within the definition of misconduct.

In the circumstances and keeping in view their past clean records and lengths of service, the court awards that the grievants' dismissal be reduced to normal termination of service and be paid their terminal benefits in accordance with the provisions of the parties' collective agreement in force at the time. In addition, the respondents should pay the grievants ten (10) and six (6) months' compensation, respectively, for the wrongful and improper dismissal. The court so awards.
