The directors submit their report together with the audited financial statements for the year ended 30 June 2008, which shows the state of affairs of the Bank.

1. INCORPORATION

The Bank is incorporated under the Central Bank of Kenya Act Cap. 491(the Act).

2. PRINCIPAL ACTIVITIES

The Bank is established and administered under the Act with the principal object of formulating and implementing monetary policy directed to achieving and maintaining stability in the general level of prices. It is also the responsibility of the Bank to foster the liquidity, solvency and proper functioning of a stable market-based financial system. The Bank acts as banker, advisor and fiscal agent of the Government of Kenya.

3. FINANCIAL PERFORMANCE3.1 Financial Results

The results for the year set out on page 10 show that the Bank recorded a profit of KSh. 8,995 million against a loss of KSh. 386 million in the previous year. This substantial improvement from the previous year is attributable mainly to a substantial reduction in foreign exchange translation losses which dropped to KSh. 1.3 billion in the year from KSh. 9.8 billion in the previous year. Contributing to this performance also are foreign interest earnings which was KSh. 1,991 million (24%) higher than the previous year due to higher levels of foreign currency reserves available for investing in the year at interest rates that were also higher than the previous year. Operating expenses were also lower by KSh. 441 million (8%) mainly due to currency printing expenses which were lower by 68% owing to the shifting of planned deliveries of banknotes for 2007/2008 to year 2008/2009. There were savings also on other operating expenses such as depreciation and property maintenance as a result of delayed procurements and cancellation of scheduled maintenance works.

The above positive revenue and expenditure performances were tempered by commission or sale of Government securities that was nearly 40% lower than the previous year due to the capping of this commission by Government to a maximum of KSh. 3.0 billion during the year under review. Monetary policy (Mop Up) expenses also went up by 69% during the year due to the need to mop up undesirable liquidity generated by economic and political activities during 2007 and part of 2008. Slight increases in staff costs and other operating expenses also impacted negatively on the profit.

3.2 Financial Position

The financial position of the Bank is set out in the Balance Sheet shown on page 11. During the year, total assets of the Bank increased by KSh. 51,687 million (23%). This increase is attributed mainly to an increase of KSh. 42,608 million (24%) in balances due from international banking institutions and gold holdings (foreign currency reserves), items in the course of collection and investments in government securities amounting to KSh. 2,296 million and KSh. 8,535 million respectively.

During the year, the Bank built up its foreign currency reserves by KSh. 42 billion (24%) mainly through purchases and foreign investment earnings. The increase of KSh. 8,535 million in investment in government securities represents the magnitude of discounting of these investments by the public at Central Bank compared to the previous year.

On the other hand, total liabilities increased by KSh. 42,692 million (20%). This was attributed mainly to increases in deposits of commercial banks of KSh. 39,802 million (44%), IMF loans to the Bank of KSh. 3,957 million (25%) and currency in circulation of KSh. 9,951 million (11%). General Reserves Fund increased by KSh. 8,995 million (11%) being the net profit for the year. The Board of Directors has recommended the payment of a dividend of KSh. 4 billion and KSh. 3.5 billion of general reserves has been utilised to increase the paid up capital to KSh. 5 billion subsequent to the year end.

4. DIVIDEND

The Board of Directors recommend payment of a dividend of KSh. 4 billion for the year ended 30 June 2008 (2007: nil).

5. DIRECTORS

The directors who served during the year and up to the date of this report are listed on page 1.

6. AUDITORS

The auditors, Ernst & Young, were appointed in 2007 in line with the Public Procurement and Disposal Act, 2005 for a period of three years.

By order of the Board

K. K. ABUGA
Board Secretary.

Dated the 25th September, 2008.

Directors' Responsibility for the Financial Statements

The directors are responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards. This responsibility includes: designing, implementing and maintaining internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error; selecting and applying appropriate accounting policies; and making accounting estimates that are reasonable in the circumstances.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing. Those standards require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal controls relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal controls. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by directors, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements give a true and fair view of the state of financial affairs of the Bank as at 30 June 2008 and of the profit and cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with the International Financial Reporting Standards and the requirements of the Central Bank of Kenya Act.

Report on other matters

We also report to you, based on our audit, that:

- (i) We have obtained all the information and explanations which to the best of our knowledge and belief were necessary for the purposes of our audit;
- (ii) In our opinion, proper books of account have been kept by the Bank, so far as appears from our examination of those books; and,
- (iii) The Bank's income statement and balance sheet are in agreement with the books of account.

ACCOUNTING POLICIES FOR THE YEAR ENDED 30TH JUNE, 2008

1. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The principal accounting policies adopted in the preparation of these financial statements are set out below:

(a) Basis of preparation of financial statements

(i) Basis of preparation

The financial statements are prepared in compliance with International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) and Interpretations of those Standards. The financial statements are presented in millions of Kenya Shillings (KShs million) and are prepared under the historical cost convention except for measurement at fair value of certain investments.

(ii) Form of presentation

In exceptional circumstances, as allowed by Section 36 of the Act, the Bank may act as the "lender of last resort" to financial institutions in difficulty in order to prevent a loss of confidence spreading through the financial system as a whole. In some cases, confidence can best be sustained if the Bank's support is disclosed only when the conditions giving rise to potential instability in the economy have improved. Although the financial effects of such operations are included in the financial statements of the Bank, these statements may not explicitly identify such support.

(iii) Changes in accounting policies

The accounting policies adopted are consistent with those of the previous financial year except as follows:

IFRS 7 Financial Instruments: Disclosures

This standard requires disclosures that enable users of the financial statements to evaluate the significance of the Bank's financial instruments and the nature and extent of risks arising from those financial instruments. The new disclosures are included throughout the financial statements. While there has been no effect on the financial position or results, comparative information has been revised where needed.

IAS 1 Presentation of Financial Statements

This amendment requires the Bank to make new disclosures to enable users of the financial statements to evaluate the Bank's objectives, policies and processes for managing capital.

(iv) Standards, Amendments and Interpretations Effective In 2008 but not Relevant

The following standards, amendments and interpretations are mandatory for accounting periods beginning on 1 April 2007 but are not relevant to the Bank's operations:

- IFRIC 11, IFRS 2 – Group and Treasury Share Transactions (effective from 1 March 2007);
- IFRIC 12, Service Concession Agreements (effective from 1 January 2008);
- IFRIC 14, IAS 19 - The limit on a defined benefit asset, minimum funding requirements and their interaction (effective from 1 January 2008)

(v) Standards, Amendments and Interpretations that have been issued and are not yet Effective for the Bank's Operations

At the date of authorisation of these financial statements, the following Standards and Interpretations were in issue but not yet effective for the Bank's operations:

- IFRS 2, Amendments to IFRS 2 Share-based Payment - Vesting Conditions and Cancellations (effective from 1 January 2009)
- IFRS 3, Business Combinations (effective from 1 July 2009)
- IFRS 8, Operating Segments (effective from 1 January 2009)
- IAS 1, Presentation of Financial Statements amendment (effective from 1 January 2009)
- IAS 23 Borrowing Costs (effective from 1 January 2009)
- IAS 27, Consolidated and Separate Financial Statements (effective from 1 July 2009)
- IAS 32, Amendments to IAS 32 Financial Instruments: Presentation and IAS 1 Presentation of Financial Statements - Puttable Financial Instruments and Obligations Arising on Liquidation (effective from 1 January 2009)
- IFRIC 13, Customer Loyalty Programmes (effective from 1 July 2008)

The directors anticipate that the adoption of these standards will have no material effect on the financial statements of the Bank.

(b) Significant accounting judgements and estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with IFRS requires the use of estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Although these estimates are based on the directors' best knowledge of current events and actions, actual results ultimately may differ from those estimates. The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognised in the period in which the estimate is revised if the revision affects only that period, or in the period of the revision and future periods if the revision affects both current and future periods. The most significant use of judgement and estimates are as follows:

(i) Impairment losses on loans and advances

The Bank reviews its loans and advances at each reporting date to assess whether an allowance for impairment should be recognised in the income statement. In particular, judgement by the directors is required in the estimation of the amount and timing of future cash flows when determining the level of allowance required. Such estimates are based on the assumptions about a number of factors and actual results may differ, resulting in future changes in the allowance.

In addition to specific allowances against individual significant loans and advances, the Bank makes a collective impairment allowance against exposures which, although not specifically identified as requiring a specific allowance, have a greater risk of default than when originally granted. This takes into consideration such factors as any deterioration in industry, technological obsolescence, as well as identified structural weaknesses or deterioration in cash flows.

(ii) Pensions

The cost of the defined benefit pension plan is determined using actuarial valuation. The actuarial valuation involves making assumptions about discount rates, expected rates of return on assets, future salary increases, mortality rates and future pension increases. Due to the long term nature of these plans, such estimates are subject to significant uncertainty. See note 15 for assumptions used.

(iii) Property, equipment and intangible assets

Critical estimates are made by the management in determining depreciation and amortisation rates for property, equipment and intangible assets. The rates used are set out in the accounting policy (f) and (g) below.

(iv) Fair value of financial instruments

Where the fair values of financial assets and financial liabilities recorded on the balance sheet cannot be derived from active markets, they are determined using a variety of valuation techniques that include the use of mathematical models. The input to these models is taken from observable markets where possible, but where this is not feasible, a degree of judgement is required in establishing fair values.

(c) Revenue recognition

Income is recognised in the period in which it is earned.

(i) Interest income and expenses

Interest income and expense are recognised in the income statement for all interest bearing instruments on an accrual basis using the effective yield method based on the actual purchase price. Interest income includes coupons earned on fixed income investment and trading securities and accrued discount and premium on treasury bills and other discounted instruments.

(ii) Fees and commission income

Fees and commission income, which arise from financial services provided by the Bank, are recognised when the corresponding services are provided.

(d) Translation in foreign currencies

Transactions in foreign currencies during the year are converted into Kenya Shillings at rates ruling at the transaction dates. Assets and liabilities at the balance sheet date which are expressed in foreign currencies are translated into Kenya Shillings at rates ruling at that date. The resulting differences from conversion and translation are dealt with in the income statement in the year in which they arise.

Non-monetary items that are measured in terms of historical cost in a foreign currency are translated using the exchange rates as at the dates of the initial transactions. Non-monetary items measured at fair value in a foreign currency are translated using the exchange rates at the date when the fair value was determined.

(e) Currency printing and minting expenses

Notes printing and coins minting expenses which include ordering, printing, minting, freight, insurance and handling costs are expensed upon delivery of currency stock.

(f) Employee benefits.

(i) Retirement benefits

The Bank's employees are eligible for retirement benefits under a defined benefit plan provided through a separate fund scheme administered by Trustees and funded by the Bank. Deposit Protection Fund Board, a related party, reimburses the Bank the costs of contributions relating to staff seconded to it by the Bank.

The Bank's net obligation in respect to the plan is calculated by estimating the amount of future benefits that employees have earned in return for their service in the current and prior periods; that benefit is discounted to determine the present value and the fair value of any plan assets is deducted. The calculation is performed by a qualified actuary using the Projected Unit Credit Method.

Where the calculation results in a benefit to the Bank, the recognised asset is limited to the net total of any unrecognised actuarial losses and past service costs and the present value of any future refunds from the plan or reduction in future contributions to the plan. Actuarial gains and losses are charged to the income statement over the remaining working lives of the employees participating in the scheme.

The Bank also makes contributions to a statutory pension scheme, the National Social Security Fund (NSSF). Contributions to the scheme are determined by local statute and are shared between the employer and employee. The Bank's contributions in respect of retirement benefit costs are charged to the income statement in the year to which they relate.

(ii) Other employee benefits

The Bank provides free medical treatment to staff and their dependants. The cost is charged to the income statement.

The estimated monetary liability for employees' accrued leave entitlement at the balance sheet date is recognised as an expense accrual.

(g) Property and equipment

Property and equipment are stated at purchase price less accumulated depreciation less any accumulated impairment losses. Depreciation is computed on the straight line basis over the estimated useful lives of the assets at the following rates:

Building improvements	10%
Motor vehicles, furniture and equipment	50%

An item of property and equipment is derecognised upon disposal or when no future economic benefits are expected from its use or disposal. Any loss or gain on derecognition of the asset (calculated as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset) is recognised in other operating income in the income statement in the year the asset is derecognised.

The asset's residual values, useful lives and methods of depreciation are reviewed, and adjusted if appropriate at each financial year end.

(h) Intangible assets

Intangible assets consist of computer software. Intangible assets acquired separately are measured on initial recognition at cost. Following initial recognition, intangible assets are carried at cost less accumulated amortisation and any accumulated impairment loss.

The useful lives of intangible assets are assessed to be finite and are amortised over the useful economic life. The useful life is reviewed at least at each financial year end. The amortisation expense on intangible assets is recognised in the income statement. Amortisation is calculated using the straight line method to write down the cost of intangible assets to the residual values over the estimated useful life as follows:

Computer software	50%

(i) Impairment of other assets

Impairment of property, plant and equipment are assessed at each balance sheet date or more frequently where any events or changes in circumstances dictate for indications of impairment. If significant indications are present, these assets are subject to an impairment review by estimating the recoverable amount. An impairment loss is charged to income statement when the carrying amount of an asset exceeds the recoverable amount.

Previously recognised impairment loss of related asset may be reversed in part or in full when a change in circumstances leads increase of recoverable amount. The carrying amount of the fixed asset will only be increased up to the amount that it would have been had the original impairment not been recognised. For the purpose of measuring and accounting for impairment loss; either fair value or value in use of an asset is compared with carrying amount.

(j) Financial Instruments

A financial instrument is any contract that gives rise to both a financial asset of one entity and a financial liability or equity instrument of another entity.

(ii) Date of recognition

Purchases or sales of financial assets that require delivery of assets within the time frame generally established by regulation or convention in the marketplace are recognised on the trade date, which is the date that the Bank commits to purchase or sell the asset.

(iii) Recognition and initial measurement

The classification of financial instruments at initial recognition depends on the purposes for which the financial instruments were acquired and their characteristics. All financial instruments are measured initially at their fair value plus, in the case of financial assets and financial liabilities not at fair value through profit or loss, any directly attributable incremental costs of acquisition or issue.

(iii) Classification and measurement

The Bank classifies its financial assets in the following categories: loans and advances and investments that are held to maturity. The Bank determines the classification of its investments at initial recognition.

(I) Loans, advances and receivables

Loans and advances are non-derivative financial assets with fixed or determinable payments that are not quoted in an active market. They arise when the Bank provides money or services directly to counterparty with no intention of trading the receivable. The Bank has classified the following financial assets as loans and receivables originated by the entity: loans and advances, amounts due from the Government, other assets, IMF related assets and cash and cash equivalents. After initial measurement, loans and receivables are carried at amortised cost using effective interest method less any allowance for impairment.

As the lender of last resort, the Bank may grant loans or advances for fixed periods not exceeding six months to commercial banks that pledge Government securities specified by the Bank.

In its capacity as the fiscal agent and banker to the Government, the Bank may make direct advances to the Government for the purpose of offsetting fluctuations between receipts from the budgeted revenue and the payments of the Government. The total amount of advances to the Government outstanding shall not exceed five percent of the gross recurrent revenue of the Government as shown in the Appropriation Accounts for the latest year for which those financial statements have been audited by the Controller and Auditor-General.

The Bank also operates a staff loans scheme for its employees for the provision of facilities such as house and car loans. The Bank determines the terms and conditions for granting of the above loans with reference to the prevailing market interest rates and may determine different rates for different classes of transactions and maturities.

(2) Held to maturity

Investments classified as held to maturity are non-derivative financial assets with fixed or determinable payments and fixed maturities that the Bank has the intention and ability to hold to maturity. After initial measurement, held-to-maturity financial investments are subsequently measured at amortised cost using the effective interest rate method, less allowance for impairment. Amortised cost is calculated by taking into account any discount or premium on acquisition and fees that are an integral part of the effective interest rate. The amortisation is included in 'Interest income' in the income statement. The losses arising from impairment of such investments are recognised in the income statement line 'Impairment losses on financial investments'. Were the Bank to sell other than an insignificant amount of such assets, the entire category would be reclassified as available for sale. The Bank currently classifies Government securities, repurchase and reverse purchase instruments as held to maturity.

(3) Financial liabilities

Financial liabilities are measured at amortised cost except for financial liabilities designated at fair value through profit and loss. Financial liabilities are initially recognised at fair value less, in the case of liabilities carried at amortised cost (including due to banks, due to International Monetary Fund other deposits and other funds borrowed), transaction costs incurred and any difference between the proceeds net of transaction costs and the redemption amount is recognised in the income statement as interest expense over the period to maturity using the effective interest rate method. Financial liabilities which are repayable on demand are recorded at nominal value. Financial liabilities are derecognised when they are extinguished. Deposits represent reserve deposits of depository institutions' participants and current accounts of the Bank. The Bank has classified the following financial instruments as financial liabilities: currency in circulation, deposits, IMF Related liabilities and other liabilities.

(iv) Derecognition

Financial assets are derecognised when the rights to receive cash flows from the financial assets have expired or where the Bank has transferred substantially all of the risks and rewards of ownership.

The gains and losses on investments held to maturity and loans and receivables are recognized in the income statement when the investments are derecognized.

(v) Gains and losses on subsequent measurement

Gains and losses on amortisation of premiums or discounts of financial instruments carried at amortised cost are recognised in the income statement of the period in which they arise. Gains and losses due to impairment are recognised as stated in the paragraph dealing with impairment.

(vii) Offsetting

Financial assets and financial liabilities are offset and the net amount reported on the balance sheet where there is a legally enforceable right to set off the recognised amount and there is an intention to settle on a net basis or to realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

(viii) Impairment of financial assets

Loans are stated at outstanding amount less provision for impairment.

A review for impairment is carried out at each financial year-end. A financial asset is impaired if its carrying amount is greater than its estimated recoverable amount.

Specific provisions for loan impairment are made in respect of advances. The provisions are based on periodic evaluations of advances and take account of past loss experience, economic conditions and the estimated value of any underlying collateral, and are charged to the income statement.

If there is objective evidence that an impairment loss on assets carried at amortised cost has been incurred, the amount of the loss is measured as the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows (excluding future expected credit losses that have not been incurred) discounted at the financial asset's original effective interest rate (which is the effective interest rate computed at initial recognition). The carrying amount of the asset is reduced through use of an allowance account. The amount of the loss shall be recognised in the income statement.

If, in a subsequent period, the amount of the impairment loss decreases and the decrease can be related objectively to an event occurring after the impairment was recognised, the previously recognised impairment loss is reversed, to the extent that the carrying value of the asset does not exceed its amortised cost at the reversal date. Any subsequent reversal of an impairment loss is recognized in the income statement.

(k) Amounts Repayable under Repurchase Agreements (REPOS)

REPO is an arrangement involving the sale for cash, of security at a specified price with a commitment to repurchase the same or similar securities at a fixed price either at a specific future date or at maturity.

- (i) The Bank treats REPOS as collateralized loans for accounting purposes. In this case, a Repo is recorded as a secured advance and is shown separately as REPO Agreement.
- (ii) REPOS continue to be recognised in the balance sheet and are measured in accordance with policies for non-trading investment.
- (iii) The difference between sales and repurchase price is treated as interest expenditure and is recognised in the income statement.

(l) Currency in circulation

Currency issued by the Bank represents a claim on the Bank in favour of the holder. The liability for currency in circulation is recorded at face value in these financial statements. Currency in circulation represents the face value of notes and coins in circulation. Notes and coins held by the Bank as cash in main vault, intermediary vault, and cashier at the end of financial year are netted off against the liability for notes and coins in circulation because they do not represent currency in circulation.

(m) Dividends

Dividends are recognised as a liability in the period in which they are declared. Proposed dividends are disclosed as a separate component of equity when they are declared.

(n) Provisions

Provisions are recognised when the Bank has a present obligation/ (legal or constructive) as a result of past events, and it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation.

The calculated monetary liability for employees' accrued annual leave entitlement at the balance sheet date is recognised as an expense accrual.

(o) Offsetting of financial assets and liabilities

Financial assets and liabilities are offset and the net amount reported on the balance sheet when there is a legally enforceable right to set-off the recognised amount and there is an intention to settle on a net basis, or to realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

(p) Leasing

The determination of whether an arrangement is, or contains a lease is based on the substance of the arrangement and requires an assessment of whether the fulfilment of the arrangement is dependent on the use of a specific asset or assets and the arrangement conveys a right to use the asset.

(i) Bank as a lessee

Finance leases, which transfer to the Bank substantially all the risks and benefits incidental to ownership of the leased item, are capitalised at the inception of the lease at the fair value of the leased property or, if lower, at the present value of the minimum lease payments and included in 'Property and equipment' with the corresponding liability to the lessor included in 'Other liabilities.' Lease payments are apportioned between the finance charges and reduction of the lease liability so as to achieve a constant rate of interest on the remaining balance of the liability. Finance charges are charged directly against income in 'Interest and similar expense.'

Capitalised leased assets are depreciated over the shorter of the estimated useful life of the asset and the lease term, if there is no reasonable certainty that the Bank will obtain ownership by the end of the lease term.

Operating lease payments are not recognised in the balance sheet. Any rentals payable are accounted for on a straight-line basis over the lease term and included in 'Other operating expenses'.

(ii) Bank as a lessor

Leases where the Bank does not transfer substantially all the risk and benefits of ownership of the asset are classified as operating leases. The Bank leases out all of its investment properties as operating leases, thus generating rental income. Initial direct costs incurred in negotiating operating leases are added to the carrying amount of the leased asset and recognised over the lease term on the same basis as rental income. Contingent rents are recognised as revenue in the period in which they are earned.

(q) Other assets

Other assets are stated at fair value and subsequently at amortised cost using effective interest rate method less allowance for impairment. Due to their short term nature, the nominal value or cost are considered to approximate the fair value and as such stated at cost less any impairment loss.

(r) Other liabilities

Other liabilities are stated at their nominal value/cost, which approximates fair value due to the short term nature thereof.

(s) Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprises of cash balances, bank deposits, current accounts, gold holding, government securities with maturity of up to 3 months from the date of issue. Gold holdings is measured at the closing market price at the end of the year.

10 INTERNATIONAL MONETARY FUND

Special Drawing Rights (SDR) is an internal reserve asset credited by the IMF and allocated to member countries in order to increase international liquidity. The SDR is defined in terms of a basket of currency and its value is determined as the weighted sum of exchange rates of few currencies such as US dollars, Sterling Pound, Euro and the Yen.

Kenya has been a member of the International Monetary Fund (IMF) since 1966. The Bank is the designated depository for the IMF's holdings of Kenya's currency. IMF currency holdings are held in the No. 1 and No 2 Accounts, which are deposit accounts of the IMF with the Bank.

Subsequent to the year end, the Board in consultation with the Minister for Finance has approved to increase the paid up capital to KShs 5 billion by capitalising KShs 3.5 billion from the general reserve fund.

25 GENERAL RESERVE FUND

The general reserve fund is a fund where at least 10% of the net annual profits of the Bank is transferred at the end of each financial year. This is after allowing for expenses for operation and after provision has been made for bad and doubtful debts, depreciation in assets, contribution to staff benefit fund, and such other contingencies and accounting provisions as the Bank deems appropriate.

26 CAPITAL MANAGEMENT

Capital includes the share capital and the general reserve fund.

Share capital	1,500	1,500
General reserve fund	16,754	7,759
	18,254	9,259

Movements in equity capital during the year are explained in the Statement of Changes in Equity above.

The Bank is not subject to any regulatory requirements concerning the level of capital it must maintain, although the Central Bank Act sets out how the statutory annual net profit for the year shall be allocated. The principal source of capital increase is through retention of the undistributed element of the profit. The Bank is not a not-for-profit organization, nor does it seek profit maximization. Instead it seeks to make a profit commensurate with normal market returns in areas where it conducts normal commercial operations.

Capital is not actively managed and the relatively low risk nature of most of the Bank's activities means that it is not capital intensive. Its purpose is to cover unexpected losses. The most significant unexpected losses are likely to arise out of support operations and the Bank's role as lender of last resort or from losses on the foreign exchange reserves should the Kenya shilling appreciate significantly against other world currencies.

29 RISK MANAGEMENT

(i) Structure and Reporting

The Board of Directors is responsible for the overall risk management approach and for approving the risk management policy and strategies. There are other organs that monitor the assessment and management of risks within the Bank including;

(a) Audit Committee of the Board

The Audit Committee assists the Board in the fulfilment of its oversight responsibilities. Regarding risk management, the Committee oversees the process of risk management by receiving and discussing risk management reports and guiding and monitoring the implementation of recommended mitigating controls/ initiatives.

Bank Risk Management Committee

The purpose of the Bank Risk Management Committee is to identify the nature of risks affecting the Bank and the processes by which these risks are to be managed. The Committee monitors external developments relating to all financial, business and strategic risks associated with the operations of the Bank. The Committee is further, charged with the responsibility of reviewing the adequacy and overall effectiveness of the Bank's risk management and business continuity management frameworks and oversees the inculcation of a risk philosophy and implementation of a risk strategy and policy across the Bank. In executing its mandate, the Committee receives and considers risk assessment reports from Internal Audit and Risk Management Department.

(b) Internal Audit and Risk Management Department (IARM)

The Internal Audit arm of IARM Department employs risk-based audit approach in planning and carrying out its audit engagements. The Risk Management function facilitates risk assessments by individual departments where risks are identified, analyzed and mitigating measures agreed upon.

The business processes are assessed with regard to business continuity procedures, physical safety, system safety, conformity to legal requirements and regulations, sufficiency of human resources and information safety. In addition, the financial risks and reputation risks are also determined. Controls that are designed to reduce these risks to acceptable levels are assessed in terms of sufficiency and effectiveness; additional controls are recommended in order to increase effectiveness. Following the risk assessments, the major risks and recommendations are used to update the Bank's risk register and regularly reported to the Bank Risk Management Committee and the Audit Committee. Action plans that are taken to reduce the risks to acceptable levels are monitored.

(ii) Strategy in Using Financial Instruments

The Bank holds foreign exchange reserves for the purposes of servicing official foreign debt, paying non-debt government and Central Bank of Kenya expenditures abroad, and occasional intervention in the foreign exchange market to smoothen exchange rate movements. The Bank can only intervene in the foreign exchange market when there are sharp exchange rate movements which are likely to destabilize the financial market.

In view of the Bank's reserve management policy of safe investment, liquidity and return, respectively, the Bank, with a prudent approach, subjects its foreign exchange reserves to investments in international markets.

In this framework, almost all the financial risks to which the Bank is exposed arise while fulfilling its duties of managing foreign exchange reserves and rendering certain banking services to the banking sector and the Government of the Republic of Kenya. The Bank is exposed to credit, market and liquidity risks due to the aforementioned operations. The financial risks that arise during the management of foreign exchange reserves are the outcome of an investment choice. Nevertheless, the Bank endeavours to minimize such risks by managing them with a conservative approach. Foreign exchange reserves are managed by observing the investment criteria defined in the Bank's Guidelines on Foreign Exchange Reserves Management.

(iii) Risks facing the Bank

The following are the main types of risks that the Bank is exposed to in the course of executing its operations:

Financial Risks include:

- 1) Credit risk
- 2) Market risk
 - Interest risk
 - Foreign currency exchange risk

- 3) Liquidity risk
 Non financial Risks include:
 4) Operational risk
 5) Human resource risk
 6) Legal risk
 7) Reputational risk

Financial Risk(a) Credit risk

During its financial operations, the Bank is exposed to credit risk; defined as the probability of a complete or partial failure of counterparty to fulfil its obligations arising from a financial transaction. The credit risk basically originates from the investments made of deposit placements, if on their maturity the depository bank is unable to pay.

The management of the credit risk that the Bank is exposed to during the foreign exchange reserve management is based on the principle of minimizing default probabilities of the counterparties and the financial loss in case of default. The choice of depository banks for deposit placements is a crucial consideration in credit and sovereign risk management. Currently, the Bank's choice of depository banks is confined to the top 200 international banks that meet the set eligibility criteria of financial soundness on long-term credit rating, short-term credit rating, composite rating and capital adequacy. The current active approved depository banks holding the Bank's deposits number twenty one (21) and their performance is reviewed periodically, based on performance ratings provided by international rating agency, Fitch IBCA. Deposit placement limits are allocated to individual banks based on their financial strength, and no individual bank holds more than 10% of the entire deposit portfolio.

To minimize the sovereign risk exposure, the eligible banks are distributed among 10 countries under the following set criteria: long-term credit rating of A+, short-term credit rating of F1, composite rating of B and BIS capital adequacy ratio of 8%.

The Bank undertakes its operations in the Republic of Kenya. An analysis of the Bank's assets and liabilities by geographical area is given below:

(c) Market risk

Market risk signifies the probability of incurring a loss stemming from adverse market movements, usually in interest rates, currency exchange rates and asset prices.

For the purpose of managing market risk, the Bank holds a diversified portfolio that spreads over the major world currencies with the following features; stability, widely traded, international acceptability and offering the best range of investment instruments. Guided by these features and the need to minimize transaction costs in external payments, the Bank invests its reserves in four key international currencies, namely, US dollar (USD), British pound (GBP), Euro (EUR) and the Swiss Franc (CHF).

The distribution of these currencies in the portfolio is subject to review from time to time. However, to allow for flexibility in portfolio management, the mix benchmarks are allowed + 5% within the following ranges:

USD: 30 - 40%

GBP: 45 - 55%

EUR: 10 - 20%

CHF: 0 - 5%

The net foreign currency position of the Bank as of 30 June 2008 and 2007 is summarized below. The table presented below provides the Bank's assets, and liabilities, at carrying amounts, categorized by currency:

(d) Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is defined as having difficulty in finding sufficient cash to meet the commitments that are due or being compelled to convert assets into cash at a price lower than their fair value. The choice of the types of instruments to invest the reserves in is part of liquidity risk management. The available instruments are governed by Section 26 of the Central Bank of Kenya Act which specifies the eligible instruments in which the Bank can invest its reserves including; gold, demand or time deposits and convertible and marketable securities of or, guaranteed by foreign governments or international financial institutions.

In order to manage liquidity risk, the Bank invests its surplus reserves in time deposits with maturities concentrated in short-term maturity span of one to three months. The portfolio is structured in such a manner that a mix of deposits matures every week to ensure availability of funds to meet scheduled government and the Bank's obligations.

The table below analyses assets and liabilities into relevant maturity groupings based on the remaining period at 30th June, 2008 to the contractual maturity date.

(e) Operational risk

Operational risk is the risk of loss due to human or system errors, incompatibility or failure of internal business processes, or external events. The Bank seeks to minimize losses from operational risk by establishing effective internal control systems which prevent or detect all errors and situations which might cause loss through failure of people or processes in such a way that losses are avoided or reduced to the minimum possible extent. The Bank has assigned the responsibility for managing operational risks to the management of the departments.

The assessment of risks in terms of their effects and probabilities of occurrence and the adequacy, effectiveness and efficiency of the controls established to mitigate the risks is done vide audits and risk assessments conducted by the Internal Audit and Risk Management Department(IARM).

(f) Human Resource Risk

The particular nature of the activities of the Bank necessitates specialized knowledge in many areas.

The Bank ensures that there is an adequate knowledge base for all specialized job requirements by investing significantly in human resource development in terms of capacity building and practical exposure. The Bank also organizes workshops, seminars, conferences and job attachments to its staff as an effort to improve its human resource requirements.

(g) Legal Risk

Legal risks arise from any uncertainty of enforceability, whether through legal or judicial processes, of the obligations of the Bank's clients and counter parties. These are the risks that the Bank may not be complying fully with the relevant laws and legislations. The Bank aims at minimizing such uncertainties through continuous consultations with all relevant parties.

In mitigating these types of the risks, the Bank ensures that all business agreements are subjected to extensive legal reviews before contracting.

(h) Reputational Risk

The concern about reputation flows from the fact that the Bank is a public institution with important responsibilities for stability in the value of money, the soundness and efficiency of the financial system and the issue of currency (notes and coins). All of these matters have direct impact on all citizens and the credibility and the reputation of the Bank is an important factor in the successful fulfilment of these responsibilities.

In managing this risk, the Bank adheres to the best practices and applies principle of sound corporate governance. It also ensures that all relevant staff have a clear understanding of the appropriate processes in respect of the best practice and principles of good corporate governance.

The Bank therefore, sets out policies and guidelines that govern sound functional operations within the Bank. The performance of these policies and guidelines are periodically reported to different levels of the Bank's Management for Control and Compliance Monitoring.

30 SENSITIVITY ANALYSIS

The Bank uses models to assess the impact of possible changes in market risks. These risks include interest rate risk and foreign exchange risk. The Board is yet to establish limits on exposure gaps; these limits will be utilised to ensure risk positions are effectively managed. The limits will provide possible alternative assumptions to be applied as well as professional judgement to an analysis of the data available to support each assumption.

(i) Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk of loss resulting from changes in interest rates, including changes in the shape of yield curves. The Bank bases its analysis on the interest sensitivity gap (Note 29). The sensitivity computations assume that financial assets maintain a constant rate of return from one year to the next. The effect on profit due to reasonable possible changes in interest rates, with all other variables held constant, is as follows:

	2008 KShs million	2007 KShs million
Effect on profit before tax of a +13% change in interest rates	1,339	1,081
Effect on profit before tax of a -13% change in interest rates	(1,339)	(1,081)

(ii) Currency risk

Currency risk is the risk of loss resulting from changes in exchange rates. The Bank bases its analysis on the interest sensitivity gap (Note 29). The Bank has assets and liabilities in various currencies; however, the most significant exposure arises from assets denominated in the US dollar, GBP and Euro currencies. The following table demonstrates the sensitivity to reasonably possible change in the KShs/ US dollar exchange rate, with all other variables held constant, of the Bank's profit earned.

	2008 KShs million	2007 KShs million
Effect on profit before tax of a +7% change in exchange rates	488	410
Effect on profit before tax of a -7% change in exchange rates	(488)	(410)

31 FAIR VALUES AND EFFECTIVE INTEREST RATES OF FINANCIAL ASSETS AND LIABILITIES

In the opinion of the directors, the fair values of the Bank's financial assets and liabilities approximate their respective carrying amounts. Fair values are based on discounted cash flows using a discount rate based on the borrowing rate that directors expect would be available to the Bank at the balance sheet date.

The effective interest rates for the principal financial assets and liabilities at 30 June 2008 and 2007 were in the following ranges:

	2008	2007
Assets
Government securities	6.64%	6.64%
Deposits with overseas correspondent banks
- current accounts	0.0%	0.0%
- term deposits (USD)	3.22%	5.29%

- term deposits (Euro)	4.54%	4.10%

- Commercial banks	8.50%	8.50%
- Government of Kenya	8.50%	8.50%
- Employees	3.0%	3.0%

Liabilities -Customer deposits	0%	0%

32 CONTINGENCIESPending legal suits

The Bank is party to various legal proceedings with potential liability of KShs 2.427 billion at 30 June 2008. Having regard to the legal advice received, and in all circumstances, the directors are of the opinion that these legal proceedings will not give rise to liabilities.

33 EVENTS AFTER BALANCE SHEET DATE

In 1993, the Bank created a charge for KShs 2.5 billion over the Grand Regency Hotel, a property owned by Uhuru Highway Development Limited, to secure a debt owing from Exchange Bank Ltd. The debt arose out of inter-bank transactions between Exchange Bank Ltd and the Bank during the period 1992 and 1993. During the year, the Bank sold its security for US$ 45 million in satisfaction of the KShs 2.5 billion debt. The sale was completed in July 2008.

To address public interest and anxiety in the matter, in July, 2008 H. E. the President appointed a Commission of Inquiry to, inter alia, investigate the circumstances surrounding the sale of the Hotel. The Commission was yet to complete its work and submit a report of its findings to the President by the time the audit of the Bank's financial statements for year 2007/2008 was completed. Owing to these uncertainties, the down payment (10% or $4.5 million) of the sale price received during the year has been treated as part of the balances due from banking institutions in Note 9 and other liabilities in Note 23. The balance (90% or $40.5 million) that was received in July 2008 has been similarly treated in the Bank's books subsequent to year end.

The average number of employees during the year was 1,230 (2007: 1,255).

36 TAXATION

No provision for tax is made as Section 7 of the Income Tax Act exempts the Bank from any taxation imposed by law in respect of income or profits. This exemption includes stamp duty in respect of instruments executed by or on behalf of the Bank.
