GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 160

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 40 OF 1984

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers and
Ken Shades Ltd.

Issues in dispute:

Minimum Wages.
Wage Increase.
House allowance.
Effective date.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Ken Shades Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi, on 17th December, 1984, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 1st October, 1983, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 22nd May, 1984, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The claimants have brought this dispute against the respondents for refusing to enter into an agreement since 1978, on the question of minimum wages and promotion. The claimants demanded the duration of the agreement to be two years and also to have the employees in question categorized to enable them to be compensated fully for cost of living.

The claimants further demanded that the statutory house allowance payable to such workers be paid and that due to high house rents in Nairobi these workers who are in continuous employment be paid KSh. 280 per month each. They further demanded that the effective date of this agreement be 1st January, 1978.

The respondents strongly resisted these demands on the ground that after signing the recognition agreement the respondents did not receive any proposals for terms and conditions of service from the claimants and the first correspondence received on the issue by the respondents was a copy of a letter dated 18th January, 1978, written by M. M. Nyaga, of the Ministry of Labour, acknowledging receipt of a letter by the claimants dated 7th January, 1978, when a trade dispute had been reported. The claimants had made no attempt to initiate negotiations at the party's level as it is evident from the fact that they reported a trade dispute to the Ministry of Labour as early as three months after signing the recognition agreement. The respondents further stated that up to this time they have not received a letter from the claimants on this matter as they allege in their submission.

However, after the reporting of the trade dispute on 18 items, a conciliator was appointed who called for a meeting which was held on 25th April, 1978, and an agreement was reached on 15 out of 18 issued reported leaving the current issues unsettled.

On the question of minimum wages, the respondents pointed out that their undertaking is a small cottage like lamp shade making shop which buys its raw materials from retail shops and very often suffers shortages and makes little profit despite the fact that it has not closed down. The respondents' business cannot sustain the nature of salaries the claimants are demanding. They further pointed out that the employees of Ken Shades Ltd. have been compensated for increase in the cost of living when the business could afford. In this connection the respondents have not proposed any wage increase.

The claimants demanded that their members be compensated from the year 1978. The compensation in this case would be 82 per cent to cover a period of seven years working out at an average of 11.7 per cent per year.

The respondents argued that due to financial problems they are faced with and taking into account that they are paying wages above statutory basic minimum wages, the effective date be the date of the award of this dispute.

The claimants, however, would like the effective date be 1st January, 1978, as the parties have no established pattern for effective date.

The respondents pointed out that their nature of work requires only one artisan (a designer) and a number of general hands who patch up the pieces together to constitute a lamp shade. There are no chances of promotion of anything above the jobs the employees handle. The claimants' submission that the employees "have missed chances of being promoted" is therefore baseless.

The respondents submitted that as regards house allowance they have been able to pay 15 per cent of the statutory minimum wage as house allowance which they consider to have been a great strain on the firm's resources.

After careful consideration of all the submissions, the court awards a wage increase of 10 per cent, with effect from 1st January, 1984, on the unionizable employees wages as at 31st December, 1983. The court further awards a wage increase of 7 per cent, with effect from 1st January, 1985.

The court makes no award on the minimum wages.

The court further awards a house allowance of KSh. 100 per month, with effect from 1st January, 1984, to be paid to all unionizable employees.

Given in Nairobi on the 10th January, 1985.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 50 OF 1984

Parties:

Tailors and Textiles Workers' Union
and

Blanket Manufacturers Group of F.K.E.

Issue in dispute:

Wage increase for the second year of the parties' agreement
RCA 65 of 1983.

THE Tailors and Textiles Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Blanket Manufacturers Group of F.K.E. shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi, on 18th December, 1984, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 6th January, 1984, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 31st May, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The parties entered into a collective agreement on 8th February, 1983, effective from 1st August, 1982. In this agreement clause 21 reads:

"Duration and effective date: This agreement will be effective from 1st August, 1982. 12 months after the effective date of the agreement discussion will be held to review wages increase and minimum wages for the second year."

The parties are now in deadlock over the second year wage increase and their respective positions during conciliation were with the claimants demanding an 11 per cent wage increase and the respondents offering a 7 per cent wage increase.

The respondents have pleaded economic difficulties which could be summed up as being high cost of raw materials and a big drop in the sales of their products resulting in accumulated losses of over KSh 260,000. They referred the court to the closure of Blanket Manufacturers (K) Ltd. and the redundancies declared at Sameh Textiles Industries.

The court has considered the claimants' submission that the economic problems which the respondents have put forward are curable but the court feels that the matter is not so simple as the claimants have suggested.

The court has carefully considered the parties' submissions and the guidelines and has come to the conclusion that since the parties will be embarking on a new collective agreement as the one before the court had already expired (at the end of July, 1984) that an award of 8 per cent wage increase for the second year would be appropriate in this dispute and the court so awards. The court has no doubt that when the new collective agreement is being negotiated the parties will be able to take a realistic look at the economic problems of the respondents and the welfare of the workers in the undertaking.

Given in Nairobi on the 11th January, 1985.
