THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 61 OF 1998

Parties:

Kenya Engineering Workers Union
and
Warren Enterprises Limited

Issues in dispute:

1. Wrongful dismissal of Silas Mugosi.
2. Violation of Return to Work Formula by the employer.
3. Wrongful dismissal of 77 employees enmass."

THE Kenya Engineering Workers Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Warren Enterprises Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 11th and 12th November, and 16th and 17th December, 1998, respectively. The parties relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Minister for Labour signed the reference of this dispute to the Industrial Court on 29th May, 1998, in accordance with section 8 of the Trade Disputes Act (Cap. 234) which reference was received by the Court on 3rd June, 1998 together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The respondents were incorporated on 1st August, 1991 and have had dealings with the claimants through the Engineering and Allied Industries Employers Association.

The respondents main occupation is the construction of steel structures, civil works and they claim that they have now no relationship with the claimants as they do not fit in the Engineering Association, instead they are in the building industry where their mother company H. Young belongs. The claimants contest this and have based their case on the C.B.A. between the Engineering Industries Employers Association of F.K.E. and the claimants. The C.B.A. commenced on 1st September, 1994 to 31st August, 1996, and 1st September, 1996 to 31st August, 1998.

The respondents workforce in November, 1997 was as follows:

- (a) Management category—49.
- (b) Unionized category—29.
- (c) Contractual category—97.

The claimants gave different figure of contractual workers as 71. There were two strikes in the respondents undertaking on 17th November, 1997 and 2nd December, 1997.

The strikes were called in support of a worker, Silas Mugosi, who was suspended on 17th November, 1997 and later dismissed on 2nd December, 1997.

The first strike of 17th November, 1997 was called off after the following Return to Work Formula was arrived at with the assistance of the Nairobi Provincial Labour Officer:

- (a) Striking workers to resume work immediately.
- (b) The suspension of Silas Mugosi be lifted.
- (c) A committee to be formed to investigate the grievances at Warren Enterprises Ltd. chaired by the Provincial Labour Officer, Nairobi or representative.
- (d) Nobody should be sacked as a result of this strike.
- (e) No use of abusive language will be allowed at work place.

The first strike took place after the respondents suspended Silas Mugosi on 17th November, 1997. This suspension relates to an incident between Mugosi and the Works Manager, one Raman, on 14th November, 1997 at either 4.55 p.m. according to the respondents or 5.05 p.m. according to the claimants.

It is accepted by both sides that Mugosi was found whistling in the premises and the Works Manager reprimanded him for this behaviour. In the ensuing altercation it is alleged that Mugosi was called a "useless" worker which remark was taken by Mugosi to mean that he was sexually useless. It is alleged Mugosi then abused the Works Manager by calling him impotent and bastard in public.

As a result of this incident, Mugosi was suspended so that investigation could be carried out but the workers went on strike. Even the contractual worker went on strike although they were not claimant members and were in fact recruited by the claimants into their membership during the strike.

The workers listed their grievances on 17th November, 1997 as follows:

- (a) (i) Use of abusive language to the workers.
- (ii) Therefore the Work Manager must go since he has abused workers for so long.
- (b) Contract to be absorbed on permanent basis.
- (c) Painting (spray) should not be done in the workshops.
- (d) Casuals should be paid as per C.B.A.
- (e) House allowance must be paid to all workers.
- (f) Watchmen must be paid as per C.B.A.
- (g) Contract workers are paid as low as KSh. 2,700 (two thousand seven hundred only) without house allowance.
- (h) Graded artisans should be paid as per grade.
- (i) The last weekend of the month to be granted to workers to sort out their personal matters.
- (j) Safety precautions to be given to workers.
- (k) Tea with milk to be issued to workers not tea without milk".

As set out in the Return to Work Formula, the appointed committee met on 26th November, 1997 and discussed various matters including Mugosi's case and agreed to meet again on 8th January, 1998 to continue the discussions.

On 1st December, 1997 the respondents terminated Mugosi's services and the workers went on a second strike as stated above.

It is alleged that the respondents claim to have terminated Mugosi services on the advice of the Provincial Labour Officer which fact infuriated Mrs. Mwangi the Provincial Labour Officer and she insisted on an apology from the respondents and the Labour Commissioner also castigated the respondents. The respondents were told that they were clearly in breach of the Return to Work Formula in terminating the services of Mugosi when the case was still under discussion.

The Court is aware of the respondents denial that they terminated the services of Mugosi on the advice of Mrs. Mwangi. They asserted that Mugosi had started behaving most arrogantly and was not amenable to any discipline and the respondents had no alternative but to use their right to hire and fire.

The fact, however, still remains that the respondents should have honoured the Return to Work Formula keeping in view the volatile situation at the factory rather than precipitating another strike.

The Court agrees with the Provincial Labour Officer and the Labour Commissioner that the respondents were in breach of the Return to Work Formula.

Having made the above finding, the Court cannot overlook the sad and ironical fact that all this trouble originated from the activities and conduct of Mugosi who was voted as one of the worst employees by a committee comprising management and the workers representatives. He cleverly twisted the word useless to sexual connotation and abused the Works Manager by calling him in turn an impotent and a bastard. The Court was told that the Works Manager had since resigned and left. It does not help alter the situation that Mugosi was whistling 5 minutes after 5 or 5 minutes before 5. In any organization, the workers must behave while working or leaving work and desist from behaving rudely towards their managers or indulge in acts which may annoy them.

The Court finds it interesting that the contract workers readily joined the rank and file of claimant members when the strike was called by the Chief Shop steward by using the siren which he was not authorized to touch. The fact that the claimants recruited the contract workers into their membership during the strike was not disputed by the claimants.

The Court is not surprised then that amongst the workers grievances put forward by them for discussion related mainly to the terms and conditions of employment of contract workers who in the first place themselves had agreed to the terms and conditions of their employment in written contracts with the respondents.

Under section 14 of the Employment Act, general provisions for the contracts of service are laid down. Any contract of service for more than six months has to be in writing setting out the duration and other terms and conditions of employment.

The claimants have appended several "contractual appointment" letters which these contract employees had signed on various dates. The contracts are for 1 year renewable for another year at the discretion of the management. In some of these contracts the respondents and the contracted employees agreed that:

"as contractual employee you should not associate yourself with union activities in any capacity. Failure to comply with this term will lead to a summary dismissal from service."

In another clause on termination, one month's notice or pay in lieu thereof is required if services are to be terminated within one year.

The Court would not like to encourage widespread use of contract employees where there is work to be done on a regular basis year after year.

This would be detrimental to the workers rights to join and be represented by a trade union who would also fight for improving their conditions of employment. But there are certain industries especially connected with building and construction work where the work is for a specified period when contracted employees have to be engaged.

The respondents nature of business is somewhat connected to the building industry as they construct steel structures and other civil works.

It would indeed be difficult for such contract employees to join a trade union who would negotiate an employment contract with an employer. The chances are that such an employee would not be offered any employment. Hence, the situation that employees negotiate their own individual contracts and the trade unions are not involved.

This dispute was investigated by the Ministry of Labour and the Ministry's recommendations on the three issues in dispute were as follows:

"Wrongful dismissal of Silas Mugosi:

After considering the parties submissions coupled with the above findings it was established that Mugosi's termination was justified. It is "therefore" recommended that the management's decision to offer normal termination is upheld.

Violation of Return to Work Formula by the employer:

After considering the parties submissions the parties are advised to make use of good faith of their settlement procedures in future.

Wrongful dismissal of 77 employees:

After carefully considering parties submissions it is recommended that the dismissals be reduced to normal termination and unionisable employees be paid terminal benefits in accordance with the parties collective bargaining agreement and in the case of contract employees in accordance with said contracts."

The three issues in dispute are closely inter-related as the first dispute led to the other disputes.

After careful consideration of the parties submissions, the Court finds that the respondents committed a breach of the Return to Work Formula which resolved the strike, however, unjustified it was, because Mugosi had only been suspended pending investigation as he had not been dismissed at the stage. Be that as it may, it was agreed in the Return to Work Formula that Mugosi's suspension be lifted and nobody should be sacked as a result of the strike.

In these circumstances, Mugosi suffered a wrongful termination but in view of the facts of this case he does not deserve either reinstatement or heavy compensation. He will get only a token compensation of two months salary in addition to his normal terminal benefits.

The Court notes that the respondents have recruited 103 new employees and all the dismissed employees were replaced. Out of those recruited, 21 were among those dismissed, two from unionisable category and 19 from the contractual category.

The respondents further informed the Court that they had already settled payments for the following:

Unionisable employees:

Six out of 25 dismissed employees have collected their terminal benefits.

Contractual employees:

Out of the 69 employees dismissed, 61 have collected their terminal dues. The Court notes that all the above employees have duly signed their discharge certificates.

This leaves only 19 employees and the respondents stated that their dues are ready for collection.

The Court has already made clear the position of the contract employees. They decided to terminate their own contracts and that is no doubt the reason why 61 have already collected their terminal dues. The Court must decline to make any order in respect of the remaining eight.

As far as the 19 unionisable employees are concerned, the Court gives them the benefit of the respondents breach of the Return to Work Formula and awards them two months salary by way of compensation in addition to their terminal dues offered by the respondents. The Court makes no award in respect of six (6) who have already collected their dues.
