1 The Kenya National Union of Teachers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and the Teachers' Service Commission shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents

2 The parties appeared before the Court on 13th December 1968, when after certain legal arguments the matter was stood over for four weeks to enable the Respondents to seek an order of prohibition directed to the Industrial Court to prohibit the Court from hearing this dispute. The matter was subsequently taken to the High Court and the proceedings before the Industrial Court were stayed. The High Court presided over by the Chief Justice rejected the Respondents' application and the proceedings were recommenced in the Industrial Court. AWARD

The facts leading up to this dispute are set out in the general background hereinabove and need not be repeated.

The Teachers' Service Commission Act and the rules made thereunder lay down elaborate procedure on matters pertaining to register of teachers and disciplinary provisions. The rule relevant to the present dispute is rule 3 of the Teachers' Service Commission (Removal from the Register) Rules 1967 (hereinafter referred to as the Rules). This rule provides as follows —

"In any proceeding concerning matters to which paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) of section 7 (3) of the Act refers—

- (a) the person concerned shall be informed in writing of the nature of the allegations against him in the form prescribed in the First Schedule to these Rules;
- (b) no allegations shall be considered by the Commission other than those of which the person has been informed in accordance with this rule."

In the Code of Regulations Chapter 6—Discipline under the heading "Removal from the Register of Teachers" again rule 3 provides as follows —

"When it comes to the knowledge of an agent of the Commission that a teacher appears to be unsuitable for further employment as a teacher on any of the grounds referred to in paragraph 1, he shall immediately—

- (i) serve on the teacher a notice of interdiction specifying the allegations against him;
- (ii) send a copy of the notice of interdiction to the Commission, and
- (iii) send a copy of the notice of interdiction to the Provincial Education Officer'

During the proceedings before the Court no evidence was produced to show that an agent of the Commission had instituted action against Miss Kehato. In fact the whole dispute as presented to the Court started on 11th March 1968, when the Permanent Secretary for Education personally signed and delivered a letter of suspension to Miss Kehato and asked her to leave the school compound by noon on 12th March 1968. No explanation was tendered by the Respondents at this extraordinary behaviour of the Permanent Secretary who, of all the people, should know that it was not part of his duties since the creation of the Teachers' Service Commission to act in the manner he did. Admittedly his letter was followed up by another letter on 12th March 1968, from the Commission to Miss Kehato which became the effective interdiction of Miss Kehato and led to her suspension from duty.

In the normal course of events an irregular act on the part of the Permanent Secretary which was subsequently rectified by the Teachers' Service Commission would be of no consequence but it rather assumes some importance in the present dispute because there appears to be no complaint against Miss Kehato from an agent of the Commission unless it was to be construed that the Permanent Secretary was in fact acting as an agent of the Commission. In the aforesaid rule 3 of the Code of Regulations, it is clearly provided that the notice would be served on the teacher specifying the allegations against him and a copy of the said notice of interdiction sent to the Commission and to the Provincial Education Officer. None of these requirements appear to have been complied with. In fact there was no complaint from an agent of the Commission. Furthermore the letter emanating from the Commission dated 12th March 1968, is purported to be in accordance with the First Schedule to the Rules. It should be noted that rule 3 (a) makes it mandatory that the person concerned be informed in writing of the nature of the allegations against him in the form prescribed in the First Schedule to these Rules.

The relevant portion in the First Schedule reads as follows —

"The allegations made against you are as follows—

(Here insert brief statement of allegations, with relevant date or dates)"

The aforesaid letter of interdiction from the Commission to Miss Kehato is worded as follows and is purported to be in compliance with the above-stated Schedule —

"The allegations made against you are as follows —

That lately you have not conducted yourself well as a teacher in that you have been disobedient to the instructions given to you by the Headmistress"

The Court finds this to be a non-compliance of the First Schedule to the relevant Rules as Miss Kehato had not been informed of what the specific allegations against her were with relevant date or dates. Miss Kehato, acting on this very vague letter of interdiction, proceeded to give a lengthy explanation on various matters which may or may not have been the allegations which the Commission had in mind. In fact no one knows what the allegations against Miss Kehato were and no attempt has been made to explain either. The Court therefore cannot overlook the possibility that Miss Kehato's long letter of explanation may have been completely irrelevant and she was groping in the dark. The Court feels that the whole object of the Rules was defeated in this case. The Court must add that the fact that the Permanent Secretary went to the extent of personally initiating action against Miss Kehato and delivering the letter of suspension to her on 11th March 1968, leaves room for a lot of explanation which was not forthcoming.

The Respondents have raised certain objections which are mentioned in their main submissions hereinabove and have argued that the Industrial Court is not entitled to look into the question of Miss Kehato's suspension or to make any order in connexion therewith.

The Court agrees with the High Court and finds that the true issue in dispute is whether the suspension of Miss Kehato (with its consequential deprivation of three months' salary) should be carried into effect and the Court can see no reason why the reference should not be so constituted.

The Court has taken into consideration the following passage from the High Court judgment —

As we have already mentioned, it is common ground that under the Act the Commission is both the employer of the teachers and the body entrusted with disciplinary authority over them. In coming to the conclusion that Miss Kehato was guilty of misconduct and in imposing the punishment of three months' suspension the Commission was merely carrying out the duties imposed on it by the Act. Having come to that conclusion, the Commission was in our view functus officio. No appeal lay from its decision, and while it was open to it, if it thought fit, to reconsider the decision, it could not be compelled to do so. As a body exercising quasi-judicial functions, it had completed its task.

But that does not, we think, in any way preclude the possibility of 'a dispute or difference' arising in terms of the Trade Disputes Act. Nothing can prevent a teacher who has been disciplined from feeling aggrieved if she is so minded, and manifestly the Union is entitled, if it thinks fit, to take up her grievance with the employer. But the dispute or difference is then not with the Commission in its quasi-judicial capacity but in its capacity as an employer. It seems to us that once the Commission in its quasi-judicial capacity as a disciplinary authority has given its decision in favour of suspension, then in its executive capacity qua employer it has a legal right to carry out the decision or not just as in the South Shields case the employer had a legal right either to up-grade the employee or to keep him in his existing grade. Thereafter as between the Commission and the Union the dispute was a matter of negotiation as to the practical steps to be taken with regard to the teacher's future employment. When the Union on behalf of its member protested against the penalty of three months' suspension, it was not so much challenging the decision of the disciplinary authority as representing that in the interests of employer-employee relations it was inexpedient that the decision should be carried out. And when the Commission agreed to refer the matter to the Industrial Court, it does not seem to us that it was in any way delegating to the Industrial Court the exercise of the quasi-judicial functions imposed on it by Parliament, but it was rather leaving to the decision of that Court, as Parliament intended when it enacted the Trade Disputes Act, the decision of the practical question as to the manner in which the teacher as employee should be treated by itself as employer."

The Court finds that the Respondents' objections are taken care of by the aforesaid passage from the High Court judgment and therefore overrules them

In the present dispute the Court finds that the proper procedure as laid down in the Code of Regulations and of the Rules was not strictly complied with as a result of which Miss Kehato did not get a fair hearing as is intended that a teacher should get under the Rules. The Court cannot overrule the possibility, in view of the origin of this dispute, that there is more to it than meets the eye.

In these circumstances, and having carefully considered all the facts and the various submissions made by the parties, the Court has come to the conclusion that the suspension of Miss Kehato should not be carried into effect.

GAZETTE NOTICE No 3191

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No 14 OF 1969

Parties —

Kenya Local Government Workers' Union

and

Sirikwa County Council

Issue in dispute —

Failure by Sirikwa County Council to pay house allowance as agreed between the Council and the Union

1 The Kenya Local Government Workers Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and the Sirikwa County Council shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents

2 The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 2nd day of September 1969, and relied on their written and verbal submissions

AWARD

As a result of representations made by the Claimants on behalf of their members to the Respondents dating back to March 1965, an agreement was reached on 11th July 1966, between the parties on payment of housing allowance to staff living within the Municipalities of Eldoret and Kitale

The rates agreed to be paid are as follows —

56 per year for those earning less than	500
42 per year for those earning between	500 &	750
48 per year for those earning between	750 &	1,000
54 per year for those earning between	1,000 &	1,200
60 per year for those earning over	1,200

It is clearly recorded in the minutes of the relevant meeting as follows —

"The Union side wished that the allowance be back dated to 1st May 1966, but the Council side stated that as a supplementary estimate would have to be passed there would be no chance of the Ministry of Local Government approving this suggestion and advised that the allowances should become payable with effect from 1st July 1966, subject to approval being received."

Since the aforesaid agreement the Claimants have persistently followed it up for its implementation while the Respondents have not been able to implement it because despite their having made sufficient provision in the 1967 estimates for payment of these allowances these were not approved by the Ministry of Local Government.

At one time in 1967 the Claimants became so desperate about the repeated requests for the implementation of the agreement that they were forced to report the existence of the dispute over this issue to the Ministry of Labour. A conciliator was appointed and at a conciliation meeting the Respondents made it clear that they had no dispute with the Claimants but the delay was being caused by the Ministry of Local Government which had not yet approved the supplementary estimates. The Respondents, however, undertook to speed up the matter and implement the agreed house allowances. The whole of that year passed without the agreement being implemented and the Claimants in October 1968 passed a very strong resolution condemning the delaying tactics involved and urged the Respondents to honour the agreement.

The Respondents answered the aforesaid resolution by reminding the Claimants that they had made provision for the payment of agreed house allowance in their 1967 and 1968 estimates but these had not been approved by the Ministry of Local Government. The Claimants waited another few months and then declared a dispute once again on this matter. As a result of a further conciliation meeting the parties decided to refer the dispute to the Industrial Court.

On the evidence before it the Court is satisfied that the Respondents have repeatedly made attempts to seek the approval of the Ministry of Local Government to the payment of the agreed house allowance to members of their staff. It may be that the estimates have not been approved because of other expenditure included by the Respondents therein regarding the provision and extension of new and existing services but the fact remains that the Ministry of Local Government has not approved the Respondents' estimates for the years 1967, 1968 and 1969, the reason being that the Respondents were being estimating for a very large deficit and difficulties were being experienced over these estimates.

During the proceedings before the Court both parties agreed that the dispute was not whether housing allowance should be paid but when it should be paid. The Court appreciates the reasons for which the Ministry of Local Government has not approved the estimates for the three years as stated above, but considers it very unfortunate that the workers have not yet been paid their housing allowance based on the aforesaid agreement.

The Court was informed that the Ministry of Local Government had approved a similar house allowance for several other county councils. That being the case the Court feels that the Ministry should approve the payment of this allowance without delaying it any further. The workers have waited for a long time for this benefit to be paid to them without having resorted to industrial action and it is only but fair that their patience should not be taxed too far. After a careful consideration of all the facts and submissions made by the parties, the Court awards that the workers should be paid their house allowance as agreed with the Respondents on or before 30th June 1970. In making this award the Court has taken into consideration the fact that the Ministry will have the opportunity of approving this payment in the 1970 estimates and also that negotiations on several matters including housing allowance have either commenced or are due to commence between the Claimants and the various county councils through the Association of Local Government Employers.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No 30 OF 1969

Parties —

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers

(Claimants)

and

B A T Kenya Ltd (Respondents)

RULING

The Court has been asked by the parties to determine for them what the issues in dispute are between them for reference to the Industrial Court. Both are agreed on the three issues of salary and wages, duration and effective date of agreement but the Claimants insist on two further issues, i.e. the effect of devaluation of the pound sterling on provident fund and amendment to recognition agreement so as to include staff in Grades A, B and C to be included in the dispute. The Respondents strongly object to the latter two items being included as issues in dispute.

The Respondents in objecting to these two items have argued that the procedure laid down for the modification or amendment of the recognition agreement requiring one month's notice to the other party with details of the proposed amendment has not been complied with. It is clear therefore that the Claimants were trying to arbitrarily abrogate agreements reached between them and the Respondents on 11th August 1959, revised in June 1962, revised in October 1962, reviewed again in March 1966 and supported by agreements between the Federation of Kenya Employers and the Kenya Federation of Labour (now COTU (K)). The Respondents submitted that the recognition agreement between the parties clearly excluded representation of Grades A, B and C by the Claimants unless agreement was modified or rescinded by mutual agreement and the Court could not and should not accept this issue as a dispute contrary to the terms of negotiated agreement between the two parties.

On the second issue regarding the effect of devaluation of the pound sterling on provident fund, the Respondents submitted that this item was not negotiable with the Claimants who had been accorded only consultations. This therefore could not be an issue in dispute with the Claimants. The only way in which provident fund could become negotiable was through amendment to the negotiated agreement and in accordance with clause 8. The Respondents further referred to rules 13 and 25 of the Provident Fund Rules and argued that in the event of any dispute the matter should be referred to arbitration, which arbitration would be subject to the Arbitration Act of Kenya. For these reasons they asked the Court to rule that it could not entertain these two issues in the present dispute.

The Claimants, on the other hand, stated that they had given ample notice to the Respondents of their intention to amend the recognition agreement and referred to the subsequent meetings that had taken place when this matter had been discussed. They produced in Court a handwritten record of minutes of several meetings which they had held with the Respondents from 4th June to 20th June 1969, in respect of their contention that the Respondents had been aware all along of what amendments they wanted to the recognition agreement and that provident fund matter had also been discussed. Both these items had been agreed to be referred to the Ministry of Labour for conciliation along with other items. They submitted that the Court had ruled in the banks dispute that where parties could not mutually agree upon amendments to a recognition agreement then the Industrial Court had jurisdiction to entertain and decide such a dispute.

On the matter of the effect of devaluation of the pound sterling on provident fund the Claimants conceded that this was a consultative matter but referred the Court to the various discussions that had taken place between the parties over a year ago and how the matter had been referred to the Ministry of Labour as a dispute on 27th May 1968. Subsequently when the matter had again cropped up on 4th June 1969, during negotiations the Respondents had refused to discuss it on the ground that the matter was already in the hands of the Labour Ministry. The Claimants had again reported a trade dispute and a conciliator had been appointed and as no agreement has been reached the Claimants were left with their remedy at the Industrial Court.

The Court has very carefully gone through the documents produced by the parties and the submissions made by them on the two items in dispute and has come to the conclusion that amendments to recognition agreement so as to include staff in Grades A, B and C for union representation should also be included as an issue in dispute before the Court. The Court is satisfied that adequate notice had been given to the Respondents by the Claimants on the amendments which they desired and that during subsequent discussions they had made their position very clear to the Respondents who, however, could not accept the proposed amendments.

On the matter of the effect of devaluation of the pound sterling on provident fund, the Court finds that as it is an item which at present is not open to negotiation with the Claimants it cannot give rise to a trade dispute. The Claimants have in fact accepted that provident fund is a consultative matter only. Furthermore, the rules of the provident fund contain a provision in rule 25 that any dispute regarding the rules and interpretation thereof or any matter arising thereout or connected therewith should be referred in the event of deadlock to arbitration. This would be subject to the Arbitration Act which Act does not apply to proceedings under the Trade Disputes Act 1965. The Court rules that this matter is not capable of being raised as a trade dispute under the present conditions. As it is, the workers are not without a remedy as any member who is dissatisfied regarding his provident fund appears to be in a position to take the matter to arbitration as laid down in rule 25. This item accordingly is rejected from the present dispute.

The Court rules that the dispute should proceed to hearing on the following four issues —

- 1 Salary and wages
- 2 Duration of agreement
- 3 Effective date of agreement
- 4 Amendment to recognition agreement so as to give the Claimants the right to negotiate on behalf of staff in Grades A, B and C

GAZETTE NOTICE NO 3198

THE TRADE MARKS ACT

(Cap 506)

NOTICE is hereby given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the trade marks advertised herein according to the classes may, within 60 days from the date of this Gazette, lodge notice of opposition on Form TM No 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of Sh 50

Notice is also hereby given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the Registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make if and when it is registered. Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the Registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the Registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him any opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.

Representations of the marks advertised herein can be seen at the Trade Marks Registry, State Law Offices, Nairobi.

Applications for registration in Part A of the Register are shown with the official number unaccompanied by any letter. Applications for Part B are distinguished by the letter B pre-fixed to the official number.
