THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 29 OF 1988

Parties:

Bakery, Confectionery, Manufacturing and Allied Workers Union (K)
and

J. Lyons & Company Limited

Issue in Dispute:

"Deliberate refusal by the company to pay Messrs. Willis Adhiambo, David Munyao, Harrison Peter Odek, Fanuel Odeny and Mrs. Clara Aluso terminal benefits under a joint agreement dated 30th September, 1986, after offering themselves to retire on voluntary basis at the company's request."

THE Bakery, Confectionery, Manufacturing and Allied Workers Union (K) shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and J. Lyons and Company Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 10th October, 1988, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 11th January, 1988, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 26th April, 1988, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

This dispute was investigated by the Ministry of Labour and the Ministry's findings were that the respondents had offered the grievants a chance of early retirement on voluntary basis only to backdown from their original offer expecting the claimants to accept less retirement terms than originally agreed upon.

The Ministry recommended as follows:

- (a) The five employees be paid all their terminal benefits on early retirement as guaranteed by the company in its letter to the union dated 15th October, 1986, and as agreed by the parties on 30th September, 1986.
- (b) Alternatively, the company guarantees the continuous service of the five employees without any loss of service, promotion and seniority until each of the five employees attains retirement age; or
- (c) The parties negotiate the whole matter again.

The respondents accepted recommendation (b) while the claimants demanded that recommendations (a) and (b), respectively should be accepted together. Consequently the matter is now before the court for consideration.

The court would like to recall that the agreement dated 30th September, 1986, referred to in this dispute was primarily to cover the redundancy exercise in the respondents' bakery section. The 18 employees who were to be declared redundant were to receive very attractive benefits mainly:

- (a) Two months' pay in lieu of notice.
- (b) 40 days pay plus house allowance for each year of service from the time the employee started working.
- (c) Sh. 3,500 to each employee by way of ex-gratia payment.
- (d) Full entitlement to all their provident fund dues.

It is not difficult to see that if the aforesaid benefits were to be paid to the five grievants whose services range between 26 years to 31 years the respondents would be involved in a colossal financial exercise. But the respondents did indicate in writing on 15th October, 1986, that these terms would apply to those employees who would opt for early retirement and whose names were to be gathered by the claimants. In response to this letter the five grievants not from the bakery section offered to retire which offer was conveyed by the claimants to the respondent on 23rd January, the respondents told the claimants that due to the colossal financial implications they did not wish to offer the terms quoted.

The five grievants continued to work as before and are still in employment with the exception of one who retired on medical grounds. They have suffered no financial or any other disadvantage.

On the above facts the court cannot find any binding agreement having been entered into between the parties or the respondents and the five grievants. There is no cause of actions under industrial relations practice either.

The court must, however, caution the employers that before they indulge in such exercises they should carefully examine the financial implications in which they would find themselves in rather than let the matter proceed to an advanced stage before backing out. The court must censure the respondents for their conduct. But apart from this stricture in the absence of a binding contract the grievants have no case and this action must, therefore, fail. The court accordingly rejects the claimants' demands.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT CAUSE No. 43 OF 1988

Parties:
Transport and Allied Workers Union
and
Kenya Airways Limited

Issue in Dispute:

"Refusal by the management to implement the findings and recommendation from the Ministry of Labour on dismissal of Mr. Onkendi".

THE Transport and Allied Workers Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Kenya Airways Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 2nd November, 1988, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 4th November, 1987, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 3rd May, 1988, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

This dispute was investigated by the Ministry of Labour and the Ministry's finding was that the grievant had been caught with suspected items at the place of work contrary to the custom and staff regulations. It was recommended that in view of his years of service the dismissal should be reduced to normal termination of service that would entitle him to all his terminal dues under the collective agreement in force at that time.

This recommendation was turned down by the respondents and the matter is now before the court for consideration.

From the parties' submission the court finds that the parties are in agreement that Mr. Onkendi was found in possession of 10 miniature bottles of Gilbeys Gin and two packets of dairy milk. The evidence is that Mr. Onkendi on being questioned gave conflicting explanations. The first one was that he was given the items by a passenger travelling to Mombasa, but on being pressed further he changed his mind and said the items were given to him by a friend. In any case he should have known that an accompanying note was required under the regulations.

The court agrees with the Ministry's findings that Mr. Onkendi was caught in highly suspicious circumstances in respect of the aforesaid items and the respondents were entitled to lose confidence in him. Under these circumstances the court finds that the respondents were justified in terminating his services and the court directs that they should do so in accordance with the provisions of the collective agreement.

The claimants' demands for his reinstatement and compensation are rejected.

"Refusal by the management to implement the findings and recommendation from the Ministry of Labour on dismissal of Mr. Lango".

THE Transport and Allied Workers Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Kenya Airways Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard on 3rd November, 1988, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 4th November, 1987, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 3rd May, 1988, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The court has carefully considered all aspects of this dispute and finds the Ministry of Labour's finding to be reasonable under the circumstances. The court, however, does not agree with the Ministry's recommendations that 12 months salary be given to him by way of compensation for the wrongful dismissal he has suffered. The court, therefore, awards that the respondents should give him a normal termination with all his terminal benefits plus three months' salary by way of compensation for the wrongful dismissal that he suffered.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 45 OF 1988

Parties:
Transport and Allied Workers Union
and
Kenya Airways Limited

Issue in Dispute:

"Refusal by the management to implement the findings and recommendation from the Ministry of Labour on dismissal of Denis Ndambuki".

THE Transport and Allied Workers Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Kenya Airways Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard on 3rd November, 1988, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 4th November, 1987, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 3rd May, 1988, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The court has carefully considered all aspects of this dispute and finds that the parties are agreed that a consignment of perfumes worth Sh. 340,899 disappeared on 27th July, 1985. The court also finds that without the grievant's assistance or if he had not been negligent it would have been difficult for any one to steal the consignment. The court is satisfied that Mr. Ndambuki by his conduct on 27th July, 1985, had indeed shown that he did not act in the best interest of his employer and was guilty of gross negligence. The court agrees with the Ministry's view that it would be wrong to hold Mr. Ndambuki as being solely responsible for the loss of the consignment in question.

After careful consideration of all the submissions the court finds no merit in the claimants' demand for reinstatement of the grievant back to his former job and it is rejected. However, since the respondents have offered him a normal termination the court awards that they do so in accordance with the terms of the collective agreement in force at the time.

3. Housing and Housing Allowance for permanent and seasonal.
4. Leave and Leave Travelling Allowance.
5. Medical Benefits:
 - (a) Sick Leave.
 - (b) Medical Treatment.

7. Second Shift Allowance.
8. Tools for workshop employees to be supplied by the employer.
9. Pay-out allowances.
10. Service benefits to permanent and seasonal employees.
11. Waiting-time for breakdown.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food & Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Kenya Canners Ltd. (Del-Monte Kenya Ltd.) shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 15th and 16th November, 1988, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 6th January, 1988, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 29th June, 1988, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The court has given careful consideration to the various submissions put forward by the parties and notes that the collective agreement which is subject of this dispute is due to expire on 31st March, 1989. It is for the parties to make sure that negotiations pertaining to collective agreement are not delayed unnecessarily so that payment of heavy arrears as a result of back dating are avoided. This dispute was sent to the Industrial Court on 29th June, 1988, and the court fixed it for hearing on 18th and 19th October, 1988, but the claimants failed to submit the memorandum in time and the hearing was delayed by a month.

The court further notes that the respondents have a total labour-force of about 6,259 employees and this dispute covers about 2,259 employees only who are working within the cannery section. The court cannot overlook the implications of this dispute to the welfare of other employees working in the respondent's agricultural sector numbering about 4,000. The court notes that the respondents' annual wage bill in 1987 for the cannery section was Sh. 39.3 million and if the claimants' demand of 24.6 per cent for two years is accepted it will raise the cannery wage bill by Sh. 4.84 million for the first year and Sh. 5.43 million for the second year.

The court keeping all this in mind and considering the wages guidelines awards as follows on each item.

1. Recognition Agreement

The court finds that the claimants are entitled to ask for raising the level of union representation in accordance with appendix "C" dated 14th April, 1984, of the Industrial Relations Charter. The court, therefore, as a matter of principle awards in favour of the claimants but at the same time the court has decided to direct that both the parties should examine each job which the claimants want to represent in order to ascertain if it is excluded from trade union representation as per the aforesaid appendix "C". The court further rules that this part of the award shall not take effect until this exercise is completed.

2. Wages and Long Service Increment

- (a) The court awards a general wage increase of 9.0 per cent for the first year and a further wage increase of 11.0 per cent for the second year based on individual existing salaries.
- (b) The court has decided to reject the long service increment demand for the time being.

3. Housing and Housing Allowance for Permanent and Seasonal Employees

The court has carefully considered the two proposals put forward by the parties and awards the following rates of housing allowance:

- (i) The permanent employees housing allowance entitlement should be Sh. 255 per month.
- (ii) The seasonal employees should be entitled to housing allowance of Sh. 80 per month for the first year and Sh. 110 per month for the second year. In making this award the court has noted that the wage rates for the seasonal employees have an element of housing. This award is in addition to that.

4. Leave and Leave Travelling Allowance

- (a) The court awards status quo on the current annual leave days.
- (b) The court awards that the current leave allowance of Sh. 180 annually should be increased to Sh. 230.

5. Medical Benefits and (6) Termination of Service

The claimants had withdrawn their demands on these two issues except (a) sick leave days. The court after carefully considering all aspects of this item finds that no cases of hardship were established. The claimants demand is, therefore, rejected.

7. Second Shift Allowance

The court awards that the present rate of 35 cents per hour be increased to 80 cents per hour but this award will take effect from 1st July, 1988.

8. Tools for Workshop Employees to be Supplied by Employer

The claimants demand for the respondents to supply tools for workshop employees is rejected but the court awards that the present rate of Sh. 90 tools allowance be increased to Sh. 130 per month. This award is effective from 1st March, 1988.

9. Pay-out Allowance

The court awards the present rate of Sh. 40 per pay out to be increased to Sh. 60 per pay out.

10. Service Benefits to Permanent and Seasonal Employees

The court rejects this demand.

11. Waiting Time for Breakdown

The claimants demand is rejected on this item as well.

In view of the colossal financial implications of this award and because of the heavy payment of arrears as the parties delayed negotiations at their own level, the court directs that the respondents should meet their obligations under this award in three equal instalments beginning with the first one on 22nd December, 1988, the second at the end of January 1989, and the third and final at the end of February 1989.

Given at Nairobi on 14th December, 1988.
