The labels can be purchased at the selling centres specified in the third column while the area covered in each region is specified in the second column.

SCHEDULE

Video library owners are informed that all video recorded cassette films should bear appropriate classification labels by 29th March, 1996, and those who will not have complied will be liable to prosecution.

As clearly indicated in the above-mentioned subsidiary legislation it is an offence to sell, hire out or exhibit unclassified video recorded film. Furthermore, in order to ensure that every video recorded film carries the correct classification labels, it will be mandatory for suppliers, distributors and libraries to maintain both volumes I and II of classification catalogues for purposes of verification.

Given the fact that dealing with films which do not appear in the two catalogues is in contravention of the law, video library owners who have titles which are not listed in the catalogues should have them forwarded to the Film Censorship Board, Commerce House (5th Floor) for classification by the Board.

Dated the 26th February, 1996.
