THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 14 OF 1981

Parties:
Kenya Management Staff Association
and
Pan Africa Insurance Company Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Wrongful termination of Mr. Grant Kariuki.

1. The Kenya Management Staff Association shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Pan Africa Insurance Co. Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 28th and 29th May, 15th, 29th and 30th June and 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 17th July, 1981 and in addition to relying on their written and verbal submissions called the following witnesses to give evidence on oath:

Claimants.—Grant Kariuki.

Respondents:

J. N. Munene,
E. S. Mwiti,
W. K. Mungai.

AWARD

3. The notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 20th February, 1981 duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 6th March together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

Mr. Kariuki started working for the Respondents on 7th May, 1963 as a copy typist on a modest salary of Sh. 425 p.m. The Respondents at that time operated under the name of Indo-Africa Insurance Co. By 1980 he had attained the rank of office manager and his salary had risen to Sh. 4,700 p.m. with house allowance of Sh. 500. In addition to this he was reimbursed Sh. 500 p.m. for entertainment purposes. The Court notes that the recognition of the Claimants by the Respondents which resulted in collective agreements of 1974 and 1976 was to some extent responsible for Mr. Kariuki achieving the said remuneration as an office manager.

His duties as an office manager included among other things running of the life insurance offices in consultations with other officers of life insurance offices and such other duties as entrusted from time to time. He commenced these duties with effect from 1st December, 1977.

On 20th May, 1980 his services were terminated when he was served with the following letter signed by the Respondents general manager, (life) Mr. W. K. Mungai and the managing director, Mr. A. A. Patel:

"I refer to your discussion this morning with the undersigned in Messrs. Odiwuor's and Mahuthu's presence concerning the outstanding Associated Assemblers' case which you have declined for reasons best known to you to supply the company with information requested from you as far back as February this year and in consequence of that do hereby terminate your employment forthwith. This is in accordance with section 17 (e) of the Employment Act as well as in accordance with the terms of your contract of employment with the company. Please hand over all company property to personnel manager before you leave."

The Claimants had taken up the matter on behalf of Mr. Kariuki and the matter had been reported as a trade dispute to the Minister for Labour. The Ministry carried out an investigation and its findings and recommendation were conveyed to the parties on 22nd December, 1980. The Ministry found that Mr. Kariuki had been unfairly dismissed because of his participation in union activities or for having acted in the capacity of a workers' representative. His immediate reinstatement was recommended by the Permanent Secretary along with half pay for the period between his dismissal and reinstatement.

The Respondents disagreed with the recommendation and the dispute ended up before the Court.

The Court finds it established that the Respondents enjoyed some special privileges and facilities for the purpose of selling life insurance policies to the employees of Associated Vehicle Assemblers Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as AVA) and AVA also collected premiums in respect of such insurance policies from their employees and dispatched the same to the Respondents. This facility was accorded to them because at that time both the firms had a common chairman. In all between 30 to 36 insurance policies were in force in respect of AVA employees which were subject to this arrangement. The Respondents' agent who had secured this business was one J. N. Munene who operated under the name of Mumba Insurance and General Agencies.

The Court also finds it proved that Mr. Kariuki as the Claimants' coast representative had embarked on a campaign to recruit supervisors working for AVA into the Claimants' membership. This he did outside his working hours and held several meetings with the prospective members at Lasco Club. This information was conveyed to AVA personnel manager Mr. E. S. Mwiti who according to him objected to the tactics that were being used by Mr. Kariuki in recruiting AVA employees by saying that he, Mr. Mwiti, was also a member of the Claimants. Mr. Mwiti said that he was not against AVA employees joining the Claimants but what he objected to was his name being used by Mr. Kariuki in his recruitment drive. The Court finds it hard to believe that Mr. Mwiti's objection was based on this ground because on 26th February, 1980 he wrote the following letter to the Respondents' general manager, life, which letter had a profound effect on Mr. Kariuki's employment and eventually resulted in his termination:

"Kindly recall your letter WKM/AVA/gkm of 30th January, 1980. Since the inception of this company and taking into consideration our common chairman (past) your company had been granted a near monopoly of business in our premises. However, it has come to our notice that your employee using this close bond has taken advantage to very actively further the interest of a trade union—much to our distaste.

We find therefore we can no longer carry business with your company as the bond of trust has been severed by such activities. We can no longer share mutual trust unless corrective action is taken from your side."

It was a simple matter for Mr. Mwiti to write in this letter what he stated in Court during his evidence but a close study of his letter clearly shows, and the Court can draw no other inference, that Mr. Mwiti was against the very idea of AVA supervisors joining the Claimants.

The Court notes that Mr. Mwiti had very cleverly avoided mentioning the name of Mr. Kariuki in this letter and had also avoided mentioning the Claimants. The Court does not accept Mr. Mwiti's explanation on this letter and finds that the simple truth is that he did not want AVA supervisors to join the Claimants and in order to achieve his purpose he twisted the Respondents' arm by telling them that AVA could no longer carry on business with them as the bond of trust had been severed by such activities.

The Court finds that as a result of this threat the only business that the Respondents lost, if it can be called that, was that AVA refused to collect and dispatch premium to the Respondents from only six new policy holders who were employees of AVA. The collection of premiums and their payment to the Respondents in respect of the previous 30 to 36 odd policies continued as before.

The next step in this dispute are the incidents between the general manager, life, and Mr. Kariuki which the Court will now proceed to analyse.

One thing that is striking in this whole affair is that in August, 1979 Mr. Kariuki wrote to Mr. Mungai that as an office manager he felt that it was not in order for him to be a member of a trade union and in the second paragraph he wrote as follows:

"Therefore I withdraw from it with immediate effect. I hope management of this company will let me continue with my terms and conditions of services."

He had not copied this letter to the Claimants. On 29th August, 1979 he again wrote a letter this time typewritten addressed to Mr. Mungai and copied to the Claimants' secretary general stating that he had decided to withdraw from the Claimants with immediate effect. On 5th September, 1979 Mr. Mungai referred to both these letters and asked Mr. Kariuki to supply him with a copy of the acknowledgment letter of his notice of resignation from the union. On 16th November, 1979 Mr. Kariuki informed Mr. Mungai in a handwritten letter in which he made reference to the conversation between the two and informed him that he had decided to remain with the Claimants for reasons best known to him. He revoked his earlier letters. Mr. Mungai then informed him that he had misled him and that had it not been for the inquiries which Mr. Mungai had carried out Mr. Kariuki would have been treated as a non-member. Mr. Mungai ordered all the correspondence to be filed in Mr. Kariuki's personal papers.

The Court has carefully studied this aspect of the dispute and finds on balance of probabilities that what Mr. Kariuki stated during his evidence on this matter to be more consistent with the truth. He stated that he was offered a promotion of life manager on condition that he resigned from the trade union, and was offered a lot of money and facilities. Later on when he was asked to get a confirmation from the Claimants or his resignation he suspected that he was being taken for a ride and he decided to continue being a member of the Claimants. Whereas the Court does not believe that Mr. Kariuki may have been offered the post of life manager the Court believes that some sort of inducement was offered to him to resign from the trade union otherwise Mr. Mungai's attitude on getting a clear-cut proof that he had severed his connections with the Claimants would not make sense.

This incident clearly shows that Mr. Mungai was not happy at Mr. Kariuki being a member of the Claimants and on top of that to be their representative at the coast. This incident further reinforces the Claimants' submission that Mr. Kariuki was in reality victimized for his trade union activities down at the coast.

The Court does not intend to comment on the incidents which led to the Claimants declaring a trade dispute to the Minister for Labour on the issue of frustration of Mr. Kariuki as that along with a lot of other allegations which the parties made against each other in this dispute would only cloud the real issue that is before the Court. The Court would therefore come straight to what transpired between Mr. Mungai and Mr. Kariuki on the receipt of the letter referred to hereinabove from Mr. Mwiti dated 26th February, 1980. On 13th March, 1980 Mr. Mungai wrote the following memo to Mr. Kariuki:

"I refer to our oral discussion regarding the contents of Mr. Mwiti's letter to me dated 26th February, 1980 (which I read to you) at 12.30 p.m.; on 27th ultimo and my two subsequent oral reminders to you to furnish me with an answer to enable me to send a suitable reply to AVA's personnel manager's letter.

Will you please now attend to this matter without further delay as I reckon the agent(s) involved may be soon calling on us again to complain about this loss of business and subsequent loss of commission."

The Court considers this letter to be of great importance because this in fact was the first step in the alleged refusal to obey a lawful order given by the Respondents to Mr. Kariuki. On 14th March, 1980 Mr. Kariuki asked Mr. Mungai for a copy of Mr. Mwiti's letter to enable him to study it carefully before giving his comments on it and to ascertain how he was involved in the matter.

It is not denied by the Respondents or Mr. Mungai that Mr. Kariuki was not given a copy of that letter. Mr. Mungai was on leave until 5th May, 1980 when he came back and found that Mr. Kariuki had not replied to his request. He gave Mr. Kariuki up to 15th May to deal with the matter and to comply with his reasonable requests to enable the Respondents to expand their life portfolio activity. As stated earlier on 20th May, 1980 Mr. Kariuki's services were terminated forthwith.

The Court has to decide if the Respondents were justified in terminating Mr. Kariuki's services under section 17 (e) of the Employment Act which reads as follows:

"17 (e) if an employee knowingly fails, or refuses, to obey any lawful and proper command which it was within the scope of his duty to obey, issued by his employer or any person placed in authority over him by his employer."

To begin with the Court completely fails to understand why Mr. Mwiti's letter, if it in fact referred to Mr. Kariuki and the Claimants, or a copy of it was not given to Mr. Kariuki so that he could study it and give an appropriate reply. Mr. Mungai said that he had not given a copy of this letter to Mr. Kariuki because it was a private and confidential letter to him and he was afraid of a libel action. He further stated that he had carried out his investigations and found that the letter referred to Mr. Kariuki and the Claimants although they were not specifically mentioned in it. The Court finds that if both Mr. Mwiti and Mr. Mungai had honest intentions in this whole affair there was no reason at all for them to behave in such an evasive manner. Good management practices require that all matters should be expressly specified and proper procedures followed. The Court has no doubt that both Mr. Mungai and Mr. Mwiti would have acted properly had it not been for some ulterior design which they had against Mr. Kariuki. The Court can't understand what both these gentlemen were afraid of, particularly Mr. Mungai, in not giving Mr. Kariuki a copy of the letter which Mr. Mungai stated he lawfully and properly commanded him to reply to. Keeping in view all the circumstances in this dispute and the conduct of Mr. Mwiti and Mr. Mungai's refusal to give Mr. Kariuki a copy of Mr. Mwiti's letter the Court cannot accept that Mr. Kariuki was given a lawful and proper command which it was within the scope of his duties to obey. If anything, this so called command was indeed colourable to say the least. The Court finds that Mr. Kariuki was well within his rights to ask for a copy of a letter on which he was asked to comment. This is a most elementary point. The Court must find under these circumstances that Mr. Kariuki had not refused to obey any lawful and proper command as alleged by the Respondents.

The Court has very carefully considered the evidence of all the witnesses given in this dispute and finds that Mr. Munene who was called by the Respondents was indeed a worthless witness. He was most evasive in his answers and confirmed that at one stage he had appointed Mr. Mwiti, AVA's personnel manager, as his sub-agent. Mr. Mwiti strongly denied this. Mr. Munene was also given Sh. 10,000 by the Respondents after the termination of Mr. Kariuki's services ostensibly for canvassing further business from AVA, but he visited AVA premises only once and felt so embarrassed on being asked about Mr. Kariuki's case by AVA employees that he decided not to go there again! His complaint of loss of business to the Respondent cannot be taken seriously by the Court because he admitted that the only change that occurred was that AVA refused to send premiums to the Respondents through salary deductions in respect of six new policies only. The premiums in respect of these six policies in these circumstances should have been collected by Mr. Munene or his sub-agents. So in fact there is no loss of business. The previous 30 odd policy holders continued to pay their premiums through the check off as before.

The Court finds that there is a great merit in the Claimants' submission that the Respondents have violated the relevant I.L.O. Convention No. 87 (2) and also the Industrial Relations Charter which lays down the employers' responsibilities. Section 2 of part III of the Charter reads as follows:

"That employers shall not engage in such practices as:

- (a) Interference with the rights of employees to enrol or continue as union members.
- (b) Discrimination, restraint or coercion against any employee because of recognized activity of trade unions.
- (c) Victimization of any employee and abuse of authority in any form.
- (d) Abusive or intemperate language.

(e) Shall generally respect the provision of the I.L.O. Convention No. 98 concerning application of the principles of the right to organize and to bargain collectively."

The Court must comment that in this dispute it has become apparent that an office manager lost his employment because of his trade union activities at the behest of another employer in whose undertaking he was recruiting members into a trade union. This employer, who are AVA, through their personnel manager resorted to a most undesirable pressure of withdrawal of business on the Respondents to get him eliminated from his employment. As it turned out despite there being no actual loss in business or loss of such magnitude as would cause concern to the Respondents they gave into pressure by Mr. Mwiti to sack an employee who had served them for 17 years with clean record and had risen from the post of a copy typist to that of an office manager. The Court must emphasize that it will not allow such undesirable tactics to be introduced in Kenya because of the immense damage they can do to our industrial relations.

The Court has given the broadest possible advantage to the Respondents' submissions but still has come to the conclusion that Mr. Kariuki has suffered a wrongful dismissal at the hands of the Respondents at the instigation of Mr. Mwiti, AVA's personnel manager.

Having found that Mr. Kariuki has suffered a wrongful dismissal the Court has now to decide how to compensate him in this dispute. The Court has always awarded reinstatement most cautiously and sparingly in industrial disputes but in this case the Court feels, notwithstanding a strong plea by the Respondents that reinstatement should not be awarded, that this is a fit and proper case for awarding the reinstatement of an employee who has been wrongfully dismissed. The Court has taken this decision despite the fact that the Respondents have reorganized their undertaking and have probably abolished the post of office manager. The Court awards that Mr. Kariuki should either be reinstated to the post he was occupying at the time his services were terminated or an equivalent post both in salary and status to that of an office manager, if that post has been abolished, with effect from 1st September, 1981 without any loss of service. The Court further awards that Mr. Kariuki should be paid full salary and allowances from the date of his wrongful dismissal up to the date of his reinstatement.

In view of the above award made by the Court, the Court directs that the terminal benefits which the Respondents had sent to Mr. Kariuki through registered post and which he had refused to collect should not be paid to him as he continues in employment without any break.

GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 2652

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 40 OF 1981

Parties:

Railways & Harbours Union (Kenya)

and

Kenya Railways

Issues in dispute:

1. Effective date of the agreed new salaries for the Railways Corporation employees (reported by both parties).
2. Reduction of the previously agreed house allowance for group RC employees from Sh. 300, Sh. 250 and Sh. 200 to Sh. 200, Sh. 150 and Sh. 120 respectively (reported by union).

1. The Railways & Harbours Union (K) shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Kenya Railways shall hereinafter to as referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 22nd, 23rd and 24th July, 1981 and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 1st July, 1981 duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 2nd July together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The Respondents were established under the Kenya Railways Corporation Act which commenced on 20th January, 1978 on the demise of the East African Community. The collapse of the Community led to the establishment of the Respondents to whom were transferred the undertaking of the East African Railways Corporation within Kenya. There can be no dispute on the fact, and the Court appreciates it; that the Respondents have had a difficult start because of the circumstances under which they were created—financially and in all other respects.

By virtue of section 10 subsection (d) of the Kenya Railways Corporation Act the managing director subject to the directions of the Board may approve any alterations in salaries, wages or other terms and conditions of service of employees of the Corporation not involving expenditure in excess of the limits determined by the Board within its powers under paragraph (b) of section 11. Under this section the Board may on directions given by the Minister for Transport and Communications approve any minor alteration in salaries, wages or other terms and conditions of service of employees of the Corporation. As far as major alterations in salaries, wages or other terms and conditions of service of employees are concerned then the Minister has to approve the same in accordance with section 12 (c) of the Act.

The Court would at this stage also like to refer to another important section of this Act being section 24 subsection (1) dealing with the financial provisions which lays down the principles of operation and reads:

"It shall be the duty of the Corporation to conduct its business according to commercial principles and to perform its functions in such a manner as to secure that, taking one year with another, its gross revenue is not less than sufficient to meet its outgoings which are properly chargeable to revenue account including proper allocations to the general reserve and provisions in respect of depreciation of capital assets, pension liabilities, and interest and other provision for the repayment of loans, and further to ensure that, taking one year with another, its net operating income is not less than sufficient to secure an annual return on the value of the net fixed assets in operation by Corporation of such a percentage as the Minister may direct from time to time."

The Claimants and the Respondents have established an elaborate industrial relations machinery and signed the relevant agreement on 9th March, 1978. In this machinery the following two sections are of particular relevance and importance to this dispute which read:

"10. (a) The Railways agrees that all alterations to salaries and terms and conditions of service of the staff shall be the subject of prior notification and negotiation with the Union.

(b) The negotiation is obligatory only on items applicable to local staff but does not include those items which are only applicable to overseas officers.

11. (a) It is hereby recognized and declared that all matters provided for in this Agreement shall be subject to the provisions of any law from time to time in force in Kenya.

(b) It is recognized that agreement(s) reached in the Central Joint Council shall be binding and where necessary it shall be the responsibility of the Railways to ensure earliest possible implementation of such agreement(s) by immediate reference of the agreement(s) to appropriate bodies.

(c) In the event of unjustifiable and/or unfair delay in the implementation by the Railways of an agreement reached in the Central Joint Council, the Union may resort to the use of the provisions of the Trade Disputes Act."

Of particular importance to this dispute is an agreement which was made between the parties at the Central Joint Council meeting held on 16th February, 1979 which was signed by the Respondents' managing director's representatives, Mr. C. Muthee, and the Claimants' then secretary-general, Mr. J. G. Mollo, and the chairman of the Central Joint Council, Mr. J. M. Muchura, which read as follows:

"At the final session of the 2nd ordinary meeting of the Kenya Railway Central Joint Council held in Nairobi on 16th February, 1979 both the management and the union parties discussed the union's wage claim and Council agreed that the wages and salaries of all employees of the Kenya Railways be adjusted upwards by percentages ranging between 20 per cent for the lowest paid and 3 per cent for the highest paid.

Details of the adjustments appear as an appendix to this agreement. These adjustments take effect from 1st January, 1979. While this agreement is in force the union agreed to exercise wage restraints for a minimum period of two years."

The next stage in this dispute is a circular sent by the Permanent Secretary, Office of the President, on 24th October, 1979 under the heading of "implementation of the report of parastatal review committee" in which he directed all the Permanent Secretaries, chairmen and chief executives of all parastatals to:

"(a) Suspend all salary and wage revisions whether or not these have been approved by board of directors.

(b) Suspend all appointments for key positions including appointment of members of the various boards."

The parties held a special meeting of the Central Joint Council at Kisumu from 16th to 19th April, 1980 when it was agreed to allow the Respondents more time for further guidance from the Government as a result of the above directive and also to what extent the negotiation on salary and wage revision may be allowed. However, at this meeting the parties reached an agreement on house allowances which is the subject matter of issue No. 2 in this dispute. The relevant minute states that the Council having modified the Committee's recommendation agreed on the new house allowance rates, by grades, accountable in case of group B employees and above and non-accountable in group RC. Since the dispute concerns group RC the Court would like to refer to these grades:

"Grade	Present	Agreed
	maximum house allowance Sh.	maximum house allowance Sh.
	p.m.	p.m.
RC (Nairobi/Mombasa) ..	80	300
Other municipalities i.e. Kisumu, Kitale, Thika, Nakuru, Eldoret ..	80	250
Other areas	50	200"

At the same meeting under the item of effective date the parties agreed that the implementation of this agreement shall be subject to the approval of the Board of Directors.

It seems that after that the Claimants made efforts to convene a meeting of the Central Joint Council but were not successful mainly because of the directive of the Office of the President suspending all salary and wage revisions. There is evidence, however, that the Respondents did try to seek clarification on the steps they were supposed to take in view of the long established industrial relations machinery and procedures which they had established with the Claimants. There was also at this stage threat of industrial action by the Respondents' employees but it goes much to the credit of the Claimants that they were able to contain their members and persuade them to abide by the various procedures culminating in resorting to the provisions of the Trade Disputes Act.

On 13th February, 1981 further guidelines on review of salaries and terms of service for parastatal organizations following the Waruhii Committee report of 1979/80 on civil service were issued to all Permanent Secretaries, and all chairmen of parastatal organizations by the Office of the President. In paragraph 5 it was stated as follows:

"Subject to their ability to pay parastatals may now review the salaries and other terms of service for their other employees and submit their individual recommendations through their parent ministries to the Parastatals Advisory Committee for consideration and subsequent decision by the Government."

The Respondents do not appear to have taken the Claimants into their confidence at this stage as there is no record of any negotiations which they had with them. The Claimants were kept in the dark and suspense with the result that on 3rd June, 1981 they declared a dispute with the Minister for Labour on the following issue:

"Failure by the Kenya Railways management to review salaries and terms of service of employees in accordance with the provisions of guidelines issued by the Chief Secretary to all parastatal bodies dated 18th February, 1981 in connection with the union's demand on salaries and other terms of service of the employees represented by the union."

On 10th June, 1981 the Claimants added the following issue also in the trade dispute that they had reported:

"Refusal by the Kenya Railways management to implement the agreed initialled agreement on the house allowance, acting allowance, duty allowance, disturbance allowance and other allowances as contained in the attached initialled agreement shown here as appendix 1."

Towards the end of June the Claimants notified the Minister for Labour of their intention to go on strike if their dispute was not resolved by 30th June, 1981. The Ministry on 23rd June appointed a conciliator and the Claimants were able to reconvene a meeting of the Central Joint Council through the efforts of the conciliator on 25th June, 1981. At this meeting the Respondents presented a paper which they stated was an award from the Parastatal Advisory Committee and the Claimants were told that they had to accept it or leave it as there was no way of altering the figures as presented. The Claimants were very bitter at this development that the Respondents had completely flouted the industrial relations machinery which they had established with them. The Respondents, however, gave an answer to this allegation by saying that the paper they presented was their offer and that the Claimants could have rejected their proposals. The Court appreciates the difficult position in which they found themselves because of the directives from the Permanent Secretary, Office of the President, on the subject matter of review of salaries in the parastatal organizations. The fact, however, remains that the proposals tabled by the Respondents appear to have had all the necessary approvals. The Court sympathizes with the Claimants and can understand their motive in accepting these proposals and by doing their best by raising the starting points of those grades that they felt had a raw deal. They, however, finally accepted the figures with the amended points but no agreement was reached in the case of those employees who had stagnated on the maximum of their scales for many years.

The parties having agreed on the new salary scales and the starting points recorded a deadlock on the issue of effective date of the new salary scales and the second issue as stated hereinabove.

The Respondents have in the meantime gone ahead to implement the new salaries with effect from 1st April, 1981 whereas the Claimants' demand which is before the Court is for them to be backdated to 1st October, 1980 which would be in line with the effective dates in the other parastatal organizations like the Kenya Ports Authority.

The Respondents have very vigorously pleaded their inability to meet any additional expenditure by backdating the agreed salaries which would involve over 70 million shillings in respect of salary arrears alone. They pointed out that their financial position was such that they had not been able to pay even the rates due to the Nairobi City Council and had also failed to pay the amounts due to the Government in respect of industrial areas. Their argument in brief was that they have just no other resources from where they would be able to meet the cost of any award that would go beyond 1st April, 1981.

The Claimants on the other hand accused the Respondents of financial mismanagement and asserted that the Respondents did have the necessary funds which they had put in various deposits and that their deficit running into million of shillings which they show in their accounts every year was as a result of deductions made on depreciation; amortization—non-wasting assets and other items. The Claimants stressed that if nothing else these millions of shillings which had been deducted from the earnings were there, available to the Respondents to meet their demands which in any case was a once only expense.

The Court has very carefully considered this most important aspect touching on the finances of the Respondents in this dispute. To begin with the Court would like to point out that it is in no position to pass judgment on the Claimants' accusations against the Respondents of financial mismanagement. The Court would leave this for competent authorities like the Auditor-General who would carry out all the necessary investigations. On the question of money lying in the depreciation etc. the Court would like to point out that under section 24 (1) of the Railways Act the Respondents are by law required to make these contributions to these provisions. This money which has been set aside has got to be utilized for the specific purpose and that does not include the payment of wages and salaries and if the Respondents have used such funds for other purposes then they will have to fully explain to the inquiring competent authority for doing so. The Respondents stated in Court that these were mere book entries and that there was no cash as such lying anywhere. With these few comments the Court would now like to proceed on the other financial aspects of this dispute.

The most important development is that the Government approved tariff increases effective from 1st July, 1981. The letter from the Permanent Secretary for Transport and Communications dated 24th June, 1981 on this subject reads as follows:

"You will recall that my Minister submitted a paper to the Cabinet in which revision of railway tariff was recommended. The recommendation to the Cabinet was that railway tariffs should be revised upwards to realize K.Sh. 400 million. Of this sum K.Sh. 200 million was to meet increased salaries while the balance was to provide the railways with a small surplus for development. After deliberating on this paper the Cabinet agreed that the Railways be authorized to increase tariffs to the extent necessary to raise enough revenue to meet the increase in salaries. This means Cabinet approved an increase of 50 per cent of my Minister's original proposals. The purpose of this letter therefore is to convey this decision and to authorize you to increase railway tariffs to this extent as soon as it is practicable to do so."

The Court is satisfied from the above that the additional K.Sh. 200 million revenue that is expected to be generated by tariff increases is to meet increased salaries.

The Court had referred the parties' submissions to the Division of Manpower Planning & Development (D.M.P.D.) in the Ministry of Labour for a factual analysis and report. The Court very much appreciates the excellent work done by this Division in that they produced two reports at a short notice both of which with minor reservations were acceptable to both the parties who were given every opportunity of commenting on the same. This analysis among other things reveals the following picture of additional earnings from increased tariffs and implications of salary arrears:

Sh.
"Approximate earnings July, 1981-June, 1982 (1981-82) without tariff increase	702,191,000
Approximate earnings 1981-82 at 50 per cent proposed rate increase approved by the Government	910,000,000
Additional earnings arising from approved tariff increase 1981-82	207,809,000
July 1981 wages and salaries backdated to April, 1981	46,000,000
Increase in July, 1981 wages and salaries as compared to June, 1981 i.e. arrears going to 1st April, 1981 as effective date ..	20,000,000
Monthly increase in salaries	5,000,000
Total arrears if effective date is 1st October, 1980 i.e. 9 months	45,000,000
Total arrears if effective date is 1st January, 1981	30,000,000

Total increase in salaries and wages from October to December, 1981 .. . 75,000,000."

The Court notes that the additional earnings amounting to Sh. 207,809,000 are for 12 months from 1st July, 1981. The Court has also taken into account what the Respondents stated that most of this revenue would come in the first six months of 1982. The fact, however, remains that this amount will be realized sooner or later in twelve months.

With this additional revenue that is going to be available to the Respondents the Court has come to the conclusion that the Respondents will have the necessary funds to meet the cost of the award that the Court intends to make.

The Court would now like to deal with the first issue concerning the backdating of the agreed salaries. The Court finds that there is no reason why such an important parastatal such as the Respondents should be allowed to escape their obligations to award wage and salary increases effective from the dates which have been awarded by the other parastatal organizations. The Claimants made a very valid point that it would not be fair to expect the 23,000 railway workers to make a sacrifice for the rest of the country. The Court would also like to refer to the penultimate paragraph of the letter dated 23rd June, 1981 written by the Permanent Secretary/Director of Personnel Management to the Permanent Secretary for Transport & Communications which reads as follows :

"Subject to the modifications mentioned above and the availability of funds you may now authorize the Kenya Railways to implement the new salaries with effect from an appropriate date which is not earlier than October, 1980. It is suggested that in order to avoid administrative and accounting difficulties allowances and other terms should be implemented from a current date."

Having said this the Court finds that the Claimants have failed to put up convincing reason as to why their agreement with the Respondents dated 16th February, 1979 which has been reproduced hereinabove should not be fully honoured for a period of two years with effect from 1st January, 1979. The Claimants did refer to guideline 10 but the Court finds that in view of this clear-cut agreement their arguments cannot be accepted. In these circumstances the Court has come to the conclusion that the most logical effective date for the new agreed wages and salaries for the 23,000 railway employees is 1st January, 1981.

The Court would now like to deal with the second issue. Here the provisions of the industrial relations machinery which have been set out hereinabove are of particular importance. There is no getting away from the fact that under section 11 (a) all matters shall be subject to the provisions of any law from time to time in force in Kenya. The Court does not agree with the Claimants that the law referred to in this subsection is only the law related to industrial relations and finds that the Railways Act is also covered therein. The Court must, however, point out that sections 11 (b) and (c) are equally important provisions in the industrial relations machinery. The Court has no doubt that it is because of 11 (b) that the parties agreed at their Central Joint Council meeting of April, 1980 under the heading of "effective date" that the agreed house allowances for group RC would be implemented subject to the approval of the Board of Directors.

The important point to note on this issue is that despite the directives from the Office of the President the Respondents went ahead and agreed to these house allowances with the Claimants at a meeting where they deferred negotiations on wage and salary increases. What is more interesting is the fact that the implementation of this agreement is subject to the approval of the Board and has been stated hereinabove in the award the Board may under section 11 (b) approve any minor alterations in salaries, wages or any other terms and conditions of employees of the corporation. So it is quite obvious that both the parties were aware that the increase in house allowances was a minor alteration otherwise they would have clearly stated that it would be subject to the approval of the Minister for Transport and Communications. That aside, 11 (c) of the machinery clearly states that if an agreement reached at the Central Joint Council is not implemented or is unfairly delayed then the Claimants may resort to the use of the provisions of the Trade Dispute Act. This they have done because the Respondents arbitrarily reduced the agreed house allowances for group RC as follows:

From Sh. 300 to Sh. 200,
 „ Sh. 250 „ Sh. 150,
 „ Sh. 200 „ Sh. 120.

To complicate matters further and for some reasons best known to the Respondents only, after the hearing of this dispute had been concluded they have issued a circular dated 10th August, 1981 saying that approval has been received from the appropriate authority for the implementation of the following changes and modifications to the existing terms and conditions of service of railway employees with effect from 1st July, 1981. This information has been brought to the attention of the Court by the Claimants who have once again bitterly complained about this. The Court has decided not to take any notice of this circular and completely disregard it in making its award.

The simple fact is that the parties agreed to house allowances to grade RC as follows:

	Present maximum Sh. p.m.	Agreed maximum Sh. p.m.
"RC (Nairobi/Mombasa)	80	300
Other municipalities i.e. Kisumu, Kitale, Thika, Nakuru, Eldoret	80	250
Other areas ..	50	200".

Instead of taking steps under the relevant section of the industrial relations machinery the Respondents arbitrarily reduced these allowances as stated hereinabove. The Claimants have objected to such arbitrary reduction most vigorously and the parties are now deadlocked over this issue and the matter is before the Court under the provisions of the Trade Disputes Act. The Court has now to make an award on this issue.

The Court has very carefully considered the parties' submissions on this issue with the Claimants demanding that the agreed house allowances should be effective from 1st October, 1980 and the Respondents pleading that their hands are tied under the relevant legislation and the Court should therefore endorse the reduced house allowances. The Court has come to the conclusion that the Respondents honour the agreement which they made with the Claimants on this issue because they did so being fully aware of all the developments and the directives which were being issued by the Office of the President on the review of salaries and terms and conditions of service of parastatal employees. The Court is further satisfied that this agreement on house allowances is reasonable under the prevalent trends and conditions as revealed in the D.M.P.D. analysis. The Court feels that the appropriate effective date for the implementation of this agreement should be 1st April, 1981, the date from which the Respondents have arbitrarily implemented the agreed salaries.

The Court would now like to set out cost implications of its award from the respective effective dates:

1. Salary and wages increases:

From 1st January, 1981 to 31st December, 1981 at Sh. 5 million per month is equal to Sh. 60 million.

2. House allowances:

(a) Total number of employees falling under the RC grade is equal to 11,838 or approximately 12,000.

(b) It is assumed all the 12,000 RC employees get the Nairobi/Mombasa rates of Sh. 300 per month.

Total house allowance cost per month is equal to $300 \times 12,000$ is equal to Sh. 3.6 million.

(c) Less the previous house allowance rate is equal to $80 \times 12,000$ is equal to Sh. 960,000.

(d) Net increase in house allowance cost per month is equal to Sh. 2.64 million.

(e) Total additional house allowance cost from 1st April, 1981 to 31st December, 1981 i.e. 9 months is equal to Sh. 23.76 million.

3. Total wages and salaries and house allowance arrears to 31st December, 1981:

Sh. 60 million
+ Sh. 23.76 million

83.76 million

4. Already the Corporation has paid about Sh. 20 million in wages and salaries arrears backdated to 1st April, 1981 implying that between August and December, 1981 the Corporation will have to pay Sh. 83.76 million minus 20 million is equal to Sh. 63.76 million."

The Court would like to point out that the expected increased earnings for the 6 months between July-December, 1981 are likely to be in the region of Sh. 103 million.

The Court is indebted to the Division of Manpower Planning and Development for carrying out this exercise on the express instructions of the Court.

After careful consideration of all the submissions the Court awards as follows on the issues in dispute:

- Effective date of the agreed new salaries for the Railways Corporation employees.

The Court awards the effective date of the agreed new salaries for the Respondents unionisable employees to be 1st January, 1981.

- Reduction of the previously agreed house allowance for group RC employees from Sh. 300, Sh. 250 and Sh. 200 to Sh. 200, Sh. 150 and Sh. 120 respectively.

The Court awards that the Respondents should pay the agreed house allowance for group RC employees with effect from 1st April, 1981. These allowances are:

RC (Nairobi/Mombasa)	Sh. 300 p.m.
Other municipalities i.e. Kisumu, Kitale, Thika, Nakuru, Eldoret	Sh. 250 p.m.
Other areas	Sh. 200 p.m.

Finally the Court directs, keeping in mind the fact that it will take some time before the full impact of the new tariff increases is felt and additional earnings are generated to meet the increased and other expenses, that the Respondents should pay all the arrears to their employees as a result of his award on or before 31st December, 1981 in view of the very special circumstances of this dispute.

The Court also directs the parties to immediately embark upon negotiations and conclude the outstanding issue of those employees who have stagnated on their scale maximums for a number of years.

Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the Registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the Registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

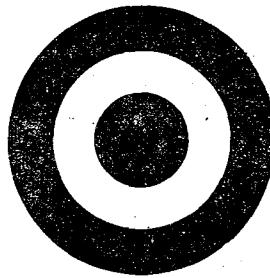

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him any opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations for the mark in the usual heraldic manner.
