Duty station.—Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

Duties.—Under the authority of the executive secretary of the Economic Commission for Africa (UNECA) and, de facto, under the direct supervision of the chief of the economic co-operation office, the regional adviser will be expected to provide technical back stopping to be integration projects, undertake practical studies and activities as may be required for the initiation of economic integration process for subregions falling under his responsibility.

Specifically, he/she should undertake the following tasks:

(1) Assist the African economic communities in formulating and implementing an economic integration programme for each subregion in taking into account the priority economic sectors whose development could make possible the achievement of self-sufficiency in food and set in motion the process of self-reliant and self-sustained development.

(2) Elaborate methodology for multisectoral planning at subregional level: preparation of subregional master plans as well as subregional sector master plans.

(3) Conceive and set-up mechanism by which the activities of the various economic integration entities and other multisectoral organizations: river and lake basins development organizations, could be synchronized with a view of avoiding duplication and promoting joint and complementary actions in key economic sectors.

(4) Assist the economic communities in multinational negotiations at the subregional levels for the implementation of multinational projects.

(5) Assist the economic communities in the establishment of African multinational enterprises for fostering the integration process.

(6) Collaborate with the intergovernmental experts in the preparation of policy papers for strengthening economic communities and other economic co-operation organizations in each subregion.

(7) Monitor the implementation of integration projects by insuring the proper planning and execution of projects activities so as to bring about rationalization and harmonization of activities of various economic integration groupings in each subregion.

Qualifications.—Advanced university degree in development economics particularly economic planning and considerable practical experience in economic integration; multisectoral planning and development at the subregional level; good knowledge of African economic co-operation and integration problems. Some experience in substantive position with intergovernmental groupings or international organizations dealing with economic co-operation would be an asset.

Languages.—English or French, working knowledge of the other is desirable.

Background information:

One of the main causes of economic crisis in Africa is the incapability of small African countries to utilize their tremendous potential of natural and human resources. More and more it becomes evident "that the effective mobilization of the vast natural resources of the continent will be greatly facilitated by a high degree of economic integration" through the subregional economic communities.

So far, African countries have been remarkably successful in building institutions for economic co-operation and integration. However, efforts in the past to promote economic integration have attempted to tackle areas of secondary importance, for example trade liberalization, clearing houses and elimination of tariff barriers. In contrast, areas that ought to have been of primary concern to economic integration entities like activities to improve subregional infrastructure: transport and telecommunications, energy, etc. to increase production, to encourage establishment of African multinational joint ventures sectors, etc., have not received the priority they deserve. All of this prompted the 4th U.N.D.P. Regional Programme for Africa to devote 20 per cent of its funds for assisting African economic communities in developing and implementing integration projects in each main subregion. U.N.D.P. requested ECA to undertake several preparatory assistance missions to these economic integration entities in order to assist them in the proper formulation and finalization of their project document for its 4th regional programming cycle (1987-1991) bearing in mind the rationalization and harmonization of their activities.

It is expected that a large percentage of these integration projects will be implemented by ECA. The implementation of these projects requires the recruitment of two specialists in subregional multisectoral planning and in economic integration to insure the technical back stopping, the monitoring and the evaluation of this new category of projects in close collaboration with ECA substantive divisions as well as with the concerned specialized agencies.

The United Nations would welcome the participation of suitably qualified male and female candidates in the technical co-operation programmes. The recipients of this job description are, therefore, urged to make every effort to locate and nominate suitable candidates both female and male, for this vacancy. It should be emphasized in this connection that experts are engaged in duties which consist in the transfer of knowledge, techniques and aptitudes. Success in their assignment depends as much on their expressive skills, their empathy with sensitivity to the needs, particularities and values of the host country, as on their academic background and professional competence.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 48 OF 1986

Parties:

Kenya Union of Domestic, Hotels, Educational Institutions, Hospitals and Allied Workers
and
Nairobi Gymkhana Club

Issue in dispute:

Deduction of house allowance to the following employees:
John Omuoyo; Kioko Kathongoli; Francis Mwai; Mwelolo Nyamaia; Douglas Maina and John Kituku.

THE Kenya Union of Domestic, Hotels, Educational Institutions, Hospitals and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants, and Nairobi Gymkhana Club shall be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi, on 1st April, 1987, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 10th December, 1985, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 7th May, 1986, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

This dispute arises from the parties' two collective agreements covering four (4) years from 1st January, 1981 to 31st December, 1984, regarding housing allowance for the respondents' six (6) employees, who were housed in three single-rooms and the respondents withheld their house allowance in full while other employees occupying the same rooms but living singly were charged the same house allowance entitlement for the room. The claimants are now demanding a refund of half of the rent withheld by the respondents for the period in question on behalf of those employees who shared rooms.

The claimants told the court that in the parties' collective agreement covering January 1981 to December 1982, the employees were entitled to a house allowance of KSh. 170 per month.

In the collective agreement covering January 1983 to December 1984, the house allowance was KSh. 230 per month. The claimants stated that the respondents who employed 14 workers then, housed some of the workers in tin-tents of 9ft. square, and withheld the housing allowance instead of charging half of the housing allowance for those sharing a single room. The claimants stated that an employee occupying a single room in 1981 paid KSh. 170 for the room while two employees occupying the same room paid KSh. 340 for the same room. The claimants told the court that the six (6) grievants in this dispute paid double rent for 24 months covered by the parties agreement of 1981/1982 at KSh. 340 per month and further paid double rent of KSh. 460 from January 1983 to October 1984, when the respondents built extra tin-tents and housed them separately. The claimants stated that the respondents pocketed KSh. 27,420 from the house allowance of the six (6) workers which money is now being demanded.

The claimants told the court that the respondents are members of the sports club of F.K.E. and that other clubs with similar housing problem when housed two (2) workers in one room, they deducted half of the house allowance from each employee and paid them the balance. They alleged that the respondents are the only ones who have refused to do so.

The respondents told the court that they did not withhold or deduct the six (6) employees' house allowance as claimed by the claimants. The respondents accused the claimants of interpreting the parties collective agreement to suit their demand. The respondents stated that the parties collective agreement clause on housing does not provide for part payment of housing allowance where an employee is housed by the employer. This clause reads:

Housing Allowance:

Every employee who is not provided with free housing accommodation by his employer shall be entitled in addition to the basic monthly wage, to a house allowance as follows:

- (a) Nairobi area or Mombasa Municipality, KSh. 170;
- (b) Municipalities of Nakuru, Eldoret, Kisumu, Kitale, Kakamega, Embu, Meru, Nyeri, Kericho, Kisii, Nanyuki, Nyahururu, Machakos, Malindi and town council of Naivasha, KSh. 145.
- (c) Other areas, KSh. 130.

The respondents stated that the agreement clearly states that house allowance is payable only to employees who are not provided with free accommodation by the employer. The respondents argued that the grievants in this dispute were not entitled to any housing allowance as they were given free accommodation. The respondents told the court that in addition to providing free accommodation to their employees, they provide them with free water and free light.

The respondents stated that this issue before the court was raised after six (6) years which clearly shows it is an after thought. The respondents prayed the court to reject the claimants' demand.

The court has carefully considered the parties submissions. Unfortunately the parties did not call any witnesses to support their assertions. The fact, however, remains that workers were entitled to a house allowance if they were not housed and that six (6) grievants shared three rooms and enjoyed free light and water. The court finds that both parties were at fault in not applying their mind to this situation when the grievants opted to share the three rooms. Then there is a delay of six (6) years before the claim was raised.

Under the aforesaid circumstances the court finds that the claim of KSh. 27,420 is not justified but the court feels that the grievants should be paid KSh. 1,000 each in settlement of their claims, a sum of KSh. 6,000 in all and the court so awards.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 107 OF 1985

Parties:

Kenya Union of Domestic, Hotels, Educational Institutions, Hospitals and Allied Workers
and Kimathi Institute of Technology

Issue in dispute:

Non-payment of special duty allowance to John Kamunya.

THE Kenya Union of Domestic, Hotels, Educational Institutions, Hospitals and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Kimathi Institute of Technology shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi, on 30th March, 1987, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 19th December, 1984, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 11th June, 1985 together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

John Kamunya, an artisan holding a trade test certificate grade III, was employed by the respondents on 5th May, 1980 at a starting salary of KSh. 695.

The claimants stated that John Kamunya had worked elsewhere for a period of ten (10) years prior to that and gained experience and as a result the respondents placed him in Job Group D and not C.

The claimants further stated that in 1981, the Ministry of Education, Science and Technology reviewed the salary scale of such employees and Mr. Kamunya was moved from a salary of KSh. 695 to KSh. 920 per month. He was later advised in writing that he had been promoted to Job Group D. However, the grievant did not consider this to be a promotion as he was already in that category.

The claimants went on to say that after 3rd May, 1982, Mr. Kamunya was appointed to carry out the duties of workshop and engineering technician, a position that entailed more responsibilities and he therefore qualified to receive the special duty allowance payable to those employees serving in a higher category. However, this payment to him was withheld without any good reason. The claimants therefore demanded that he be paid this special duty allowance. The total sum demanded is KSh. 14,426.

The respondents in their submission, stated that Mr. Kamunya was employed on Job Group C at a salary of KSh. 695. This is the 7th point in the scale which also appears as the second point in Job Group D. It is therefore not true for the claimants to say that he was offered a salary scale in Job Group D with one increment ahead.

The respondents further stated that the grievant was promoted to Job Group D where he entered the grade at a salary of KSh. 666 per annum, that is KSh. 1,100 per month. The promotion was communicated to him on 24th May, 1983. This matter was made very clear to the grievant at that time and he should therefore not confuse the whole issue.

The respondents pointed out that the qualifications for a workshop technician Job Group E are as follows:

A City and Guilds Intermediate Certificate or Kenya Government Occupation Trade Test I or its accepted equivalent plus at least two years practical experience.

The respondents asked the court to note that the grievant had no such qualifications as he attained his grade I certificate on 2nd August, 1983.

The respondents further pointed out that the grievant would not have qualified to be placed or act in Job Group E but as he had done some work the board of governors agreed to pay him a special duty allowance for the period he had worked in the workshop. This is in accordance with clause 20 of the parties collective agreement which is quoted hereunder:

Special duty allowance will be paid at the rate of two-thirds of the difference between the employee's salary and the minimum salary point of the higher post.

The respondents refuted the claim that the grievant was a workshop and engineering technician or that he was ever to be paid any special duty allowance of the salary scale in Job Group G.

The respondents therefore submitted that the claimants demand is ill founded and has no merit at all. The respondents computed the sum of money due to the grievant as amounting to KSh. 1,430.40 which the grievant should accept.

The court noted that the person who replaced the grievant was placed in Job Group G as he has the necessary qualifications referred to by the respondents in their submissions.

After very careful consideration of the evidence of the parties the court has come to the conclusion that the payment of a sum of KSh. 5,000 by way of duty allowance to the grievant would meet the dictates of justice in this case and the court so awards.

Given on the 6th May, 1987.
