GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 3441

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 25 OF 1970

Parties:—

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers and Kirinyaga District Co-operative Union Ltd.

Issue in dispute:—

Severance pay on redundancy in respect of 37 coffee field staff dismissed in March 1968.

1. The Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and the Kirinyaga District Co-operative Union Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 29th day of September 1970 and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Respondents came into existence in 1963 and took over their staff from the Embu Coffee Co-operative Union Ltd. (ECCU) by offering them fresh employment. The services of all the staff were properly terminated by the ECCU and they were paid all their dues. In addition they were paid compensation, although there was no contractual obligation to do so, because the ECCU had surplus funds.

The Claimants were recognized by the Respondents by virtue of an agreement dated 25th June 1964 which laid down negotiating procedure amongst other things. All the attempts which were made by the Claimants to negotiate with the Respondents, terms and conditions of their employees, were frustrated. This was partly due to the Respondents' refusal to negotiate any terms and conditions of employment with the Claimants, and partly through the intervention of the Commissioner for Co-operative Development who promised the Claimants, that his department would work out uniform salary and wage structure, along with other conditions of employment, for all the co-operative unions in the country, after which the Claimants would be in a position to negotiate and these terms and conditions would be used as a guideline.

In the meantime the Respondents introduced terms and conditions of service for their staff vide minute No. 16/64/65(4) dated 25th November 1964. These terms were signed and introduced by the Chairman and the Manager of the Respondents on 12th February 1965. Clause 6 thereof which is relevant to the present dispute is as follows:—

"Redundancy"

The principle of 'First in Last Out' shall apply to selection of employees to be declared redundant.

(i) The Manager shall inform the Union the reason for and extent of intended redundancy.

(ii) The redundant employee will be entitled to the appropriate period of notice or pay in lieu.

(iii) Employees declared redundant shall be given priority for re-engagement."

On 24th November 1967, the Commissioner for Co-operative Development wrote the following letter to various co-operative unions, amongst them the Respondents:—

"It has been decided by the Coffee Authority that the Director of Agriculture should assume responsibility for all field supervision in the coffee co-operative areas. This has also been approved by the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry and will be effective as from 1st January 1968.

The Commissioner for Co-operative Development, therefore, directs that all unions must terminate all the field staff by that date which means you have to give the one month's notice not later than 30th November 1967.

It must be made absolutely clear that the Director of Agriculture will not, repeat not, take over the staff, the jobs will be advertised in the normal way and your present staff are at liberty to apply just like anybody else, and those who qualify will be re-employed.

By copy of this letter, the District Co-operative Officers concerned are requested to make sure that these instructions are complied with."

As a result of the aforesaid directive the 37 coffee field staff, the subject matter of this dispute, lost their services although they were fortunate in being able to retain their employment for a further 3½ months up to 31st March 1968.

The Claimants took up their claim for severance pay on redundancy and asked the Respondents to negotiate the amount in accordance with the principle enunciated in the Industrial Relations Charter on redundancy. The Respondents rejected the demand on the ground that they had not at any time undertaken to pay any severance pay to those employees who were declared redundant. Further the services of these 37 employees were terminated because of a directive from the Ministries of Co-operatives and Social Services and Agriculture.

The Claimants pursued this claim with the Respondents and the Commissioner for Co-operative Development but without any success, and eventually reported the dispute to the Ministry of Labour. The dispute was accepted by the Ministry on 27th September 1969. An investigator was appointed on whose investigations the Ministry based its findings and recommendation. The recommendation was that the parties should resume negotiations on this issue with a view to compromising on the formula of calculating redundancy pay to be made to these employees. On 30th April 1970 the Executive Officer of the Federation of Kenya Employers came on the scene on behalf of the Respondents by rejecting the recommendation made by the Ministry of Labour, on the ground that the existing agreement between the parties made no provisions of any kind for the payment of severance pay, and therefore the employees concerned had no legal entitlement. The Claimants asked the Respondents to sign the notification of dispute Form A to the Industrial Court but the latter refused to submit to the jurisdiction of the Industrial Court until the Claimants gave them a strike notice on 17th July 1970. As a result of this notice, the Executive Officer of the Federation of Kenya Employers was authorized by the Respondents to sign the notification of dispute Form A to the Industrial Court.

The Court has taken due note of the fact that the Claimants have up till now not succeeded in negotiating terms and conditions of employment of their members, with the Respondents, and most of the other co-operative unions. The Court accepts the Claimants' submission that they have had the utmost difficulty in trying to commence negotiations with these co-operative unions. The latest position is that the Commissioner for Co-operative Development has produced draft terms and conditions of service for co-operative employees. These have been circulated to the various co-operative unions and it has been approved in principle that they should be used as a guideline. The Kenya National Federation of Co-operatives Ltd., has advised the Commissioner for Co-operative Development that he should not negotiate on behalf of the various co-operatives, but that each union should negotiate with the relevant trade union independently. The Court has no doubt that the Claimants will pursue the matter from there.

During the hearing the Claimants asked the Court to find that because their attempts to negotiate terms and conditions of employment in respect of the Respondent's employees had been continuing at all material times the Court had the power to award severance pay to these workers. The Court has carefully considered this submission but is unable to accept it. Were the Court to accept it, it would be tantamount to creating a new contractual obligation on the part of an employer, in respect of his workers, long after the relationship between such employer and his workers had ceased to exist. This would not only be wrong in law but would be very inequitable too. The Claimants ought to know that it is their legitimate function to negotiate with an employer with a view to creating new contractual obligations in respect of their workers or to amend or modify the ones that exist; but all this has to be done during the time that the relationship between an employer and a worker is alive. It would be most improper for the Court to start awarding benefits to workers long after they have left the employment.

The dispute before the Court is for severance pay on redundancy in respect of 37 coffee field staff dismissed in March 1968. The question before the Court is not one of principle but is specific as to whether there exists a legal entitlement. In view of what is stated aforesaid the only legal entitlement to which these workers are entitled is as laid down in clause 6 of the current terms and conditions of employment and which is reproduced hereinabove. In that clause there is no commitment on the part of the Respondents to pay any severance pay on redundancy to their employees.

The Court would like to add that when new contractual obligations are created between the parties, either through negotiations with the union or through an award by the Industrial Court, then the employers are in a position to make provision to meet these requirements. In the present case the Respondents have made no such provision because they were not aware of any such commitment, and were not required to do so. The Respondents are composed of seven primary societies dealing with the growing of coffee and two primary societies concerned with the operation of dairies. Their income is derived from a levy approved each year and assessed on all members. The Court was told that this income has been barely sufficient to keep them in existence. The levy has not been sufficient to meet the monthly expenditure and the financial position is rather precarious. They pointed out that they were in no position to make payments from any reserves, or from any surplus funds and that they could only make a levy on their members for expenditure covered by agreements.

The Court also notes that these 37 employees had served the Respondents from half a year to 4½ years. In view of the fact that they are not very long service employees and that most of them had collected their terminal benefits from the Embu Coffee Co-operative Union Ltd., not so long ago, they have not been subjected to much hardship by not having been paid any severance pay. It should also be pointed out that all these employees were free to apply to the Government for jobs as advisers to coffee growers. In fact most of them did apply but were not successful as they did not come up to the standard required by the Government.

After a careful consideration of all the submissions made by the parties the Court finds that these workers are not entitled to any severance pay and the Court therefore makes a nil award.

Given in Nairobi this 11th day of 1970.

President.

GAZETTE NOTICE No. 3449

THE TRADE MARKS ACT
(Cap. 506)

NOTICE is hereby given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the trade marks advertised herein according to the classes may, within 60 days from the date of this Gazette, lodge notice of opposition on Form T.M. No. 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of Sh. 50.

Notice is also hereby given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the Registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make, if and when it is registered. Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the Registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the Registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him any opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.

Representations of the marks advertised herein can be seen at the Trade Marks Registry, State Law Offices, Nairobi.

Applications for registration in Part A of the Register are shown with the official number unaccompanied by any letter. Applications for Part B are distinguished by the letter B prefixed to the official number.
