THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 13 OF 1989

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food & Allied Workers
and
Mathira Farmers Co-operative Society Limited

Issue in dispute:

Dismissal of Charles Mariga Githui and Davidson Munyiri Ibuka.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and the Mathira Farmers Co-operative Society Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 13th March, 1990, and relied on their written and verbal submissions. In addition the following witnesses were called to testify on oath:

The Claimants: Mr. C. M. Githui.

The Respondents: Miss Lucy Wangechi.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 27th July, 1988, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 22nd December, 1988, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The grievants, C. M. Githui and D. M. Ibuka, were employed by the respondents in 1972 and 1st November, 1977. Mr. Githui was engaged as an assistant clerk earning consolidated salary of KSh. 350 per month and Mr. Ibuka was appointed as a factory clerk earning KSh. 312 per month. At the time of their dismissal in October 1984 and February 1985, Mr. Githui was earning KSh. 799 per month and Mr. Ibuka 750 per month. They were dismissed after having served the respondents for nearly 11 and 8 years respectively.

The circumstances which led to Mr. Githui's dismissal took place over a span of time between October 1983 and 30th September 1984. It is alleged that on diverse days he inflated through alteration the amount of cherries from 230 to 1,000 kilograms purporting the same to have been delivered to the coffee factory. While the circumstances leading to Mr. Ibuka's dismissal happened on 29th December, 1984 at Kagumoini Coffee Factory. It is alleged that at the material time the grievant altered deliveries of a member to read kg. 2864 × 47 instead of kg. 864 × 67. He was further accused of having made a false claim of his own cherries amounting to kg. 7874.5 × 83 a claim which could not be supported by the size of his coffee farm nor it's possible yields.

The claimants urged the court to find that the grievants were unreasonably suspended from duty and subsequently unlawfully dismissed. They prayed the court to sanction their demands and award the grievants the following:

1. One month's salary in lieu of notice.
2. Full salary from the time of suspension up to date of dismissal.
3. Gratuity of 25 per cent of the total earning as per C.B.A.
4. Maximum compensation as provided for under the Trade Disputes Act.

The respondents prayed the court to dismiss the claimants' cases as being ill founded, frivolous and vexatious.

After careful consideration of all the submissions and the evidence tendered by the parties the court is satisfied that both the grievants turned out to be thoroughly dishonest in the performance of their duties. The fact that they were acquitted by the criminal court does not help them in this dispute—in any case the burden of proof in criminal proceedings is of a much higher standard than in civil proceedings and on balance of probabilities the court is satisfied that the grievants were guilty of gross misconduct and deserved to be dismissed.

The farmers have to be protected from dishonest employees of the co-operatives and the claimants' demands on behalf of the grievants are rejected.

Dated the 23rd April, 1990.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 42 OF 1989

Parties:

Kenya Engineering Workers Union
and

Burns and Blane Engineering

Issue in dispute:

Wrongful calculations to the retired employees as below:

Daniel Ngugi.
Dominic Hura.
Stephen Karao.
Joseph Kimonde.
Margaret Muthoni (Mrs.).
Peter Kinungi.
Godfrey Muchiri.
Jackson Kibiriti.
Mwangi Ngamini.

THE Kenya Engineering Workers Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and the Burns and Blane Engineering shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 22nd February, 1990, and relied on their written submissions and verbal arguments.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 10th April, 1989, and duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 5th June, 1989, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The respondents are a division of the Motor Mart Group Ltd. and a member of the Engineering and Allied Industries Employees Association of F.K.E.

The parties have a valid recognition and several collective agreements between them and this dispute arose when they disagreed on the calculation of terminal benefits due and payable to the grievants.

The parties met at their own level with a view to resolving the issue, but no agreement was reached. The matter was then formally reported to the Minister for Labour as a trade dispute; but surprisingly there is no report from the Ministry of Labour as a result of its investigation; and the dispute is now before the court for consideration.

In accordance with their method of calculation, based on 26 working days, the grievants were underpaid as follows:

	KSh. cts.
Daniel Ngugi	777.60
Dominic Hura	1,699.55
Stephen Karao	835.30
Joseph Kimonde	1,224.80
Margaret Muthoni (Mrs.)	2,660.10
Peter Kinungi	1,492.90
Godfrey Muchiri	2,140.20
Jackson Kibiriti	1,986.80
Mwangi Ngamini	1,196.00

In this dispute the question for consideration is whether clause 7 of the parties collective agreement on overtime is applicable to the calculation of the grievants' terminal benefits as alleged by the claimants. As far as the claimants are concerned, the respondents' method of calculation has resulted in underpayment of the aforementioned amounts to the grievants. On the other hand, the respondents have argued that the grievants' terms of employment were on monthly basis hence their method of calculation of the grievants' terminal benefits was the correct one.

The court has carefully considered the parties' written submissions and verbal arguments, and notes that the claimants' tabulation of underpayments fell under clauses 11 and 24, that is annual paid leave and retirement benefits, of the parties collective agreement, and has nothing to do whatsoever with the aforementioned overtime clause on which they have erroneously relied on in this case.

The court does not propose to specifically set out these clauses but suffice to say that the claimants' have failed to prove their method of calculation in order to justify their demand of underpayment to the grievants. In the circumstances, the court is satisfied that the respondents' method of calculation was the correct one, and that the grievants were correctly paid their terminal benefits, and nobody was financially disadvantaged in any way.

Accordingly the claimants' demand is rejected.

Dated the 26th March, 1990.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT CAUSE NO. 71 OF 1989

Parties:

Kenya Plantation and Agricultural Workers Union
and Ngorongo Tea Factory

Issue in dispute:

Termination of Miss Hannah Muthoni Wairioko's services.

THE Kenya Plantation and Agricultural Workers Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and the Ngorongo Tea Factory shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 9th March, 1990, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 9th November, 1988, and duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 19th September, 1989, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The respondents are a member of the Kenya Tea Growers Association of F.K.E. with whom the claimants have a recognition and collective agreements covering the terms and conditions of employment in respect of both Upper and Lower Tier Agreements in the tea industry.

Miss Wairioko's terms and conditions of employment fell under the Lower Tier Agreement. She was employed by the respondents as a general labourer on 2nd November, 1982, at a daily wage of KSh. 13.50. On 1st February, 1988, or soon thereafter, the respondents received a letter from a Dr. J. J. Musyoki in respect of Miss Wairioko, which states as follows:

To WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: REF: ANNE WAIRIUKO

The above-named patient has been attending our clinic since March 1987; she has allergic conjunctivitis, which is from time to time provoked by dusty environment. In addition she has myopia corrected with spectacles.

Any assistance extended to her will be appreciated.

On the basis of the above-mentioned report, the respondents terminated Miss Wairioko's services on medical grounds. The claimants have alleged that, because of her eyes problem, Miss Wairioko pleaded with the respondents to assign her work in another section where there was no dust. The respondents did not budge; and, in the circumstances, she reported the matter to the claimants.

The parties met at their own level with a view to resolving the matter but no solution was reached. The claimants then reported a formal trade dispute to the Minister for Labour, and an official investigation was carried out as usual. On 18th October, 1988, the Chief Industrial Relations Officer released the following findings and recommendation to the parties:

Findings

Investigations revealed that Miss Hannah Muthoni Wairioko was employed by Messrs. Ngorongo Tea Factory Limited as a general worker on 2nd November, 1982. Her services were terminated on 5th February, 1988, while earning daily rate of KSh. 25.50 paid at the end of the month, exclusive of Sundays.

It was also established that on 31st January, 1988, Miss Wairioko was allocated duties in a different section but instead of reporting on duty the following day, i.e. 1st February, 1988, she went for a medical examination at a private clinic and was given a medical report which indicated that she was suffering from allergic conjunctivitis, a condition proved by a dusty environment.

Also established was the fact that no section in the Tea Factory is free from dust apart from the sections which require skilled labour, therefore she having never complained previously or informed the management about the eye infection they decided to terminate her services on medical grounds.

Finally Miss Wairioko was a shop steward and therefore knowingly violated the provisions of clauses 10 and 12 of the agreement. After her termination she was employed by the Kenya Plantation and Agricultural Workers Union as an organizing secretary.

Recommendation

Since there was dust in the section Miss Wairioko was being transferred from and she failed to prove her inability to perform duties in the new section, it is recommended that the management's decision to terminate Miss Wairioko's services be upheld.

The respondents accepted the above findings and recommendation, but the claimants rejected them, and the matter was finally brought before the court for adjudication. The claimants prayed the court to award Miss Wairioko one year's compensation for wrongful termination of her services, in addition to her terminal benefits as stipulated in the parties' collective agreement.

The respondents prayed the court to uphold their action and reject the claimants' demand in total.

The court has anxiously considered and weighed the parties' submissions in this dispute and notes that Miss Wairioko's termination of service stemmed from the doctor's diagnosis that she was suffering from conjunctivitis due to dusty environment. Miss Wairioko procured the medical report on her own initiative, without involving the respondents; and, on the basis of that report, she requested to be assigned work in another section with no or less dust.

But the respondents maintained that there was no section in the factory which was free from dust; and, under the circumstances, they invoked the above-mentioned clause in the parties' collective agreement to terminate her services. The clause reposed in the respondents' discretionary powers to terminate the services of an unproductive employee on the ground of ill health. The second limb of that clause states that "the union agrees that such retirement shall not be the subject of a dispute." Thus, the claimants were enjoined from challenging the respondents' action under this clause; and, in view of the foregoing, the court has no hesitation in coming to the conclusion that the claimants have no leg to stand on in this matter. Furthermore, the court finds that there is no shred of evidence of victimization of Miss Wairioko on account of her union activities by the respondents in this dispute.

However, it is the practice among many employers that, in addition to giving an employee, whose services have been terminated on the grounds of ill health, adequate notice, some generous consideration arising out of sheer sympathy will also be considered. Ex gratia payments are made in many cases.

Accordingly, while accepting the Ministry's recommendation, the court feels that the respondents, in addition to the terminal benefits, which they have offered to Miss Wairioko, should pay her a sum equivalent to ninety days or three months' wages on ex gratia basis and the court so awards. She is not entitled to anything more.

Dated the 5th April, 1990.

GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 1988

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT
CAUSE NO. 74 OF 1989

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers
and
Kenya Industrial Estates Limited

Issue in dispute:

Dismissal of Robert Mugo.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and the Kenya Industrial Estates Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 7th March, 1990, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 7th April, 1989, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 18th September, 1989, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The respondents are a parastatal organization, and have a valid recognition and collective agreements with the claimants.

Mr. Mugo was employed by the respondents on 14th April, 1980, as a station hand at a monthly salary of KSh. 475, and a house allowance of KSh. 400. He was transferred to Meru Rural Industrial Development Centre (R.I.D.C.) on 10th July, 1984, to replace a Mr. Benjamin L. Kilonzo as office messenger/cleaner. At the time of his dismissal on 5th September, 1986, he was earning a monthly salary of KSh. 820 and a house allowance of KSh. 600.

The circumstances which led to Mr. Mugo's suspension and subsequent dismissal were that on 9th June, 1986, he was given a cash cheque of KSh. 6,000 by his branch manager, which cheque was drawn by Messrs. Mwiraria Bakery of Meru in repayment of their loan to the respondents. He was instructed to cash the cheque at the Standard Bank, Meru Branch, and thereafter bank the money in the respondents' collection account at the Kenya Commercial Bank, Meru. Mr. Mugo cashed the cheque as instructed but alleged that the money was pick-pocketed on his way to the latter bank.

It is apparent from the correspondence and other documents made available to the court that Mr. Mugo did not report this incident to either the branch manager or the police until the auditors unearthed the irregularity during their audit checks in July 1986. He, however, managed to raise the total amount of KSh. 6,000 and repaid the respondents in full. Mr. Mugo was suspended from duty on 25th July, 1986. On further investigations and audit, the respondents decided to terminate Mr. Mugo's services.

The parties met at their own level in order to resolve the issue, but no amicable settlement was reached. The claimants then reported a trade dispute to the Minister for Labour, and the matter was investigated as usual. On 17th February, 1989, the Chief Industrial Relations Officer forwarded the following findings and recommendation to the parties:

Findings

Mr. Mugo was assigned duties which were well above his scope of training—he performed the duties of a cashier/accountant, instead of sticking to his appointed work of a clerk.

The cheque which he received on behalf of management was written in his name, and this was an error by whoever did it.

Mr. Mugo was penalized twice by being made to pay for the stolen money as well as being dismissed for the same offence, although nobody would be 100 per cent sure that Mugo's story and defence was not correct as the union maintains. This double punishment, coupled with irregular assignment on the part of Mugo, was to say the least unfair.

Recommendation

Summary dismissal be reduced to normal termination of service, and Mugo be paid terminal benefits in accordance with parties C.B.A., plus a further 6 months pay for unfair loss of employment.

The claimants accepted the findings and recommendation, but the respondents rejected them on the ground that the investigator was biased against them. The matter is now before the court for consideration.

The claimants prayed the court that Mr. Mugo be paid all his terminal benefits, including pension. In addition, he should be paid six months' salary by way of compensation for wrongful dismissal.

The respondents urged the court to uphold their action as proper and lawful in dismissing the grievants on the grounds of gross misconduct, and reject the claimants' demand.

In the instant case, Mr. Mugo's dismissal was precipitated by his alleged conversion of KSh. 6,000, which he had received during the course of his employment on behalf of the respondents. The court has carefully examined the documents presented to it, particularly the grievant's letters to the branch manager dated 18th and 23rd July, 1986, and notes that, contrary to the claimants' submissions, Mr. Mugo did not report the loss of the money to the branch manager until the matter was unravelled by the manager himself on 14th July, 1986. Other fraudulent irregularities were also discovered during subsequent audit checks.

In every contract of employment there is an implied term requiring an employee to carry out his contractual duties and serve his employer with good faith and fidelity. This implied duty prevents the employee, during the period of his employment, from engaging in any activity which is injurious to his employer's business. In other words, there is an implied duty imposed on every employee by the contract of his employment to be honest; and an employee's minor dishonesty during or outside working hours that undermines his employer's confidence is sufficient justification for instant dismissal.

In Sinclair-vs-Neighbour (1967) 2 Q.B. 279, the manager of a betting shop borrowed £15 from his employer's cash till, and put an I.O.U. in the till. The next day he repaid the money and took the I.O.U. out of the till. His employer discovered what had happened and dismissed him peremptorily.

It was held that Sinclair's action for wrongful dismissal must fail because his conduct was incompatible with his continued employment as a manager, that is his conduct of removing cash from the till for his own private purposes was inconsistent with the trust reposed in him.

Admittedly, Mr. Mugo refunded the money to the respondents, but his behaviour amounted to gross abuse of the trust bestowed upon him by the respondents because it touched on their funds; and the court has no sympathy with a dishonest employee.

In view of the foregoing observations and authority, the court, therefore, takes exception to the Ministry's findings and recommendation; and has come to the conclusion that the respondents have proved, on the balance of probabilities, that Mr. Mugo indulged in a dishonest act whereby he converted their funds to his own use; and as such he forfeited his right of continued employment with them.

Accordingly, the court rules that Mr. Mugo's services were terminated by the respondents with full justification; and, in the circumstances, the claimants' demand for payment of terminal benefits and compensation to him are rejected.

Dated the 4th April, 1990.
