GAZETTE NOTICE No. 1423

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 84 OF 1985

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers

and

Avery Kenya Limited

Issues in dispute:

- (a) Termination of service; (b) Tools allowance; (c) Sliding scale; and (d) House allowance.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Avery Kenya Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 26th February, 1986, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 25th March, 1985, duly signed by the parties, was received by the court on 12th August, 1985, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The respondents employ about 81 persons of which 48 are unionizable employees affected by this dispute. The respondents have a 51 per cent share holding while Avery U.K. has 49 per cent shares in their undertaking. The local company was formed in 1970 after breaking away from Gailey & Roberts Limited. Their operations are mainly marketing of weighing, counting and testing machines, petrol pumps, meters, aviation fuelling equipment, weighters and balances. They provide after-sales service and maintenance for their equipment sold throughout the country.

The parties have entered into several agreements in the past. The last two agreements resulted in disagreements and the court had to arbitrate on certain issues some of which have found their way again in the current dispute. The current dispute affects the collective agreement which expired on 31st October, 1985, and the court has been asked to make an early award to enable the parties to embark immediately on a fresh round of negotiations.

The current issues in dispute have gone through the normal industrial relations machinery in compliance with the Trade Disputes Act and the parties have failed to reach an acceptable settlement on the issues and the dispute is now before the court.

Termination of service:

The claimants have in their submissions argued that the current agreement which provides for a month's notice on either side should be revised and instead notices of termination should be based on individual years of service as under:

- (a) Five years service, one month's notice.
- (b) Over five years to 10 years service, two months' notice.
- (c) Over ten years service, three months' notice.

Their argument was that the notice of termination as applicable now does not take into account the length of service rendered by individuals.

They further argued that there is no proper job grading in the respondents establishment and that such amendment to clauses 4 and 11 (c) would cater for any eventual termination of service.

The respondents stated that under cause No. 87 of 1982 the court awarded the following which is contained in the current agreement:

"After the completion of the probationary period, employment shall be terminable by either party giving one month's notice. Provided the company has the right to dismiss an employee summarily for gross misconduct or other lawful cause."

The respondents in their submission saw no new development in this clause that would warrant any change at this stage.

The court having evaluated the submissions put forward by the parties is satisfied that no sufficient reasons have been advanced by the claimants to convince the court that workers stand to lose anything under this clause as it stands. The demand for a revision is therefore rejected.

Sliding scale (Annual Increment)

The claimants have submitted that they are anxious to introduce a new clause in the agreement to reward their members further based on length of service regardless of their job grades as follows:

KSh. p.a.

(a) Up to five years of service	100
(b) Five to ten years of service	150
(c) Ten to fifteen years of service	200
(d) Fifteen to twenty years of service	250
(e) Twenty and above years of service	300

The respondents on the other hand stressed that this is not the first time the claimants have introduced this item which to them amounted to an automatic double annual increment, termed sliding scale. The claimants effort under cause No. 87 of 1982 on the same issues was turned down for lack of clarity. However, the respondents are strongly opposed to the introduction of this clause as the demand is in effect the same as that proposed in the last dispute. They further argue that the claimants are fully aware of the application of wage increases under the collective agreement, in that increases for the newly engaged are different from the long serving employees. Wage scales are based on job grades and length of service plays an important part in rewarding long-serving employees. The respondents dismissed a further demand under this heading as it was obviously another way of receiving extra remuneration from the respondents. The respondents normally stress the importance of skills as a means of improving efficiency and productivity all of which are better measures of competence than mere number of years served by an individual. As the parties have already agreed on the wage increases the respondents see no justification for a further remuneration during the life of this agreement.

The court in consideration of the arguments advanced by the parties finds that the issue of the sliding scale had been raised during the last court award but was found to be similar to long-service increments. The court notes that those workers who were transferred from their previous employer, Messrs. Gailey and Roberts Limited, had all their benefits paid fully. The wages guidelines place a restriction on the overall labour costs and allow compensation to workers for the rising cost of living and that also not in full. Under the circumstances the court makes a nil award under this item.

House allowance

Under this dispute the claimants are grateful to the court for having awarded a separate housing allowance of KSh. 75 to all staff under cause No. 87 of 1982. Arising from this, the claimants in their last negotiations demanded the following house allowance based on the individual salaries:

KSh. p.m.	KSh. p.m. h.a.
(a) Up to 1,000	600
(b) From 1,001 to 1,200	650
(c) From 1,201 to 1,500	700
(d) From 1,501 to 1,800	750
(e) From 1,801 to 2,200	800
(f) From 2,201 to 2,600	1,000
(g) From 2,601 to 3,000	1,200
(h) From 3,001 to 3,500	1,400
(i) From 3,501 and over	1,500

The claimants argued that the court award of KSh. 75 p.m. house allowance is far from adequate since the rent for two bedrooms in Umoja Estate, for example, is KSh. 950 p.m.

excluding light and water. Even Nairobi City Commission houses in Jericho, for example, charge KSh. 500 for two bedrooms. The city commission accommodation is relatively cheap but very difficult to come by. Others in Mathare and Kibera estates cost from KSh. 300 to 400 per month, water and light excluded. On the whole, housing is an expensive item, and, the allowance offered cannot assist the worker to get a reasonable accommodation. They strongly object to the deconsolidation of gross pay by 15 per cent in order to arrive at the house allowance element, they instead demand that 15 per cent should be on gross pay.

The respondents reply to their argument was that the demand by the claimants is excessive and unreasonable, and explained that, based on the last court award, they have reconsolidated individual gross pay by 15 per cent to get housing element plus KSh. 75 received from the court award. The respondents have maintained throughout the negotiations that the percentage increase for house allowance should be as permitted by the wages guidelines. Having agreed to a pay rise of 28 per cent of one's wage, split between two (2) years, the respondents offered KSh. 75 as last awarded plus 14 per cent housing for two-year period as detailed in appendix 3 of the respondents submissions. Those joining the service for the first time will get 15 per cent of their basic pay as housing allowance.

The court in consideration of the evidence from the parties has found it proved that in the last court award 15 per cent housing element was deducted from a consolidated wage for the first year and then added another 9.5 per cent increase on the workers basic wage as at 31st October, 1982. The respondents having adopted this approach then the housing would be worked out as follows:

Deconsolidating gross pay by 15 per cent in order to get housing element then add KSh. 75 last housing award, the result is the current house allowance. The respondents have further offered 14 per cent on top of this amount for two years in order to improve on the current house allowance rate.

The claimants have in fact based their demand on salary brackets thereby benefiting the person at the bottom of the bracket more than the one at the top. The respondents have worked out housing allowance based on individual salaries.

The court having examined the two proposals put forward by the parties found some merit in the respondent's approach, but would like to improve on the respondents offer by awarding an increase of 17 per cent on the current house allowance as per computation in appendix 3 of the respondents submissions. For the newly engaged workers also the house allowance will be 17 per cent of their basic wage in accordance with their job grades for two years.

Tools allowance:

The claimants submitted that the respondents never buy tools for the workers, and, so this item is a big capital out-lay for the claimants members to raise initially. The cost per unit as stated by the claimants was in the region of KSh. 3,500 per kit. In view of this, the claimants demanded that they be paid a tools allowance of KSh. 250 per month towards wear and tear and to meet replacement costs when required.

The respondents argued that they have listed the tools required for their job and up to date been responsible for the purchase of the set of tools the jobs require. The cost of these items are then recovered from workers wages at the rate of KSh. 100 per month. Eventually, these tools become the claimants' own property. The respondents maintain that well maintained tools should last for four years. Currently a set of tools required for the respondents job would cost approximately KSh. 1,310 together with the tool box. The respondents have offered to continue with the present arrangements of buying tools for the mechanics and are offering a tool allowance of KSh. 60 per month. This would enable the mechanics to replace most of their tools within a year.

The court is satisfied that the current system is satisfactory as it enables the workers to have access to quality tools at a better discount which otherwise an individual would not be able to enjoy on his own. The recovery of the cost of tools on monthly basis is equally to the workers' advantage since the tools become their property when they finish paying for them.

The court having considered the submissions from both parties awards KSh. 75 per month as tools allowance for two years.

No. 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of KSh. 50.

Notice is also given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make if and when it is registered. The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him any opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.

Representations of the marks advertised herein can be seen at the Trade Marks Registry, State Law Office, Nairobi.

Applications for registration in part A of the register are shown with the official number unaccompanied by any letter. Applications for part B are distinguished by the letter B prefixed to the official number.
