GAZETTE NOTICE NO 2402

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO 64 OF 1985

Parties

Railways and Harbours Union (K)
and
Kenya Railways Corporation

Issues in dispute

Dismissal of Philip Otieno
Ex-clerk Grade RB IV

THE Kenya Railways and Harbours Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Kenya Railways Corporation shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents

2 The parties were heard in Nairobi on 19th February, 1986, and 17th March, 1986, and relied on their written and verbal submissions

AWARD

3 The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 16th January, 1985, duly signed by the parties, was received by the court on 14th June, 1985, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner

Philip Otieno was employed by the former East African Railways and Harbours administration on 2nd April, 1960, as trainee station clerk division III. He successfully completed his training and was subsequently confirmed as a clerk. He, subsequently, went through various training courses and rose through the ranks to the position of clerk grade RB IV. He served in this position for 21 years until his services were terminated on 11th November, 1981. He had two severe reprimands during his employment.

The circumstances that led to his dismissal started after his posting as assistant booking clerk to the 3rd class passenger booking office at Nairobi Railway Station on 10th December, 1976. The office was run by Festus Oika and Mr. Otieno as his assistant. The respondents told the court that the two employees had separate duties of issuing tickets. Mr. Otieno was in-charge of tube "C" while Mr. Oika was in-charge of tube "B". In addition, Mr. Oika had the duty of overseeing the office administration. The two, however, maintained separate cash books to account individually for the daily ticket sales, but, at the end of the day, Mr. Otieno was required to hand over to his senior, Mr. Oika, proceeds from ticket sales from his tube "C" under signature for onward transmission to the chief booking clerk.

However, on 26th October, 1979, the chief accountant reported to the internal auditors that the monthly returns from Nairobi Station booking office "C" for September 1979, which should have reached the accounts office by 3rd October, 1979, had not been received. This state of affair was in contravention of clause 740 of the Traffic Accounts Manual, which states that

Monthly station returns must be submitted immediately after the close of the month concerned and in any case must reach the accounts office not later than 3rd of the following month.

Consequent to the above developments, the auditors visited the station on 27th October, 1979, and carried out examination of the accounts and a physical check of the ticket stock held in tube "C". At this time Mr. Otieno was away on sick leave and his tube was padlocked. His absence defeated the intended audit from taking place. But, on 30th October, 1979, he appeared and opened the tube after handing over the unsold tickets to another clerk. Mr. Otieno was interdicted thereafter.

It was further stated that the district traffic inspector had carried out inspection covering the months of September to 24th October, 1979, and the report revealed that Mr. Otieno could not account for KSh 56,982.05. This revelation prompted the respondents' audit unit to carry out an in-depth audit check following the chief accountant's report on ticket sales and remittance by Mwangi Mubia, who succeeded Mr. Otieno. Mr. Mubia's receipts revealed an excess cash of KSh 1,626.65. The audit team went further to examine books of accounts kept by Mr. Otieno at tube "C" which revealed a startling discrepancy totalling some KSh 253,652.85 for the period January to October 1979.

The respondents subsequently notified the police who carried out further investigations into the alleged malpractices both in the printing and sale of tickets. However, further audit reports resulted in police instituting criminal proceedings against Mr. Otieno. But, when Mr. Otieno was charged with theft, the court acquitted him on grounds of doubtful and inconsistent evidence adduced by the prosecution witnesses during the trial. The learned magistrate passed very caustic remarks about the prosecution witness calling them liars and so on. He was charged for theft of KSh 2,373.40 only.

Following Mr. Otieno's acquittal of theft of KSh 2,373.40 under criminal case No. 621/80, the respondents decided to prefer departmental charges against him as provided for under staff regulation G 9 (f) and regulation 22 of the East African Railways Corporation (Appointment and Discipline) Regulation, 1974. The relevant portion to this section reads

An officer acquitted of a criminal charge in any court shall not be dismissed or otherwise punished on any charge upon which he has been acquitted, but nothing in this regulation shall prevent his being dismissed or otherwise punished on any other charges arising out of his conduct in the matter, unless the charges raised substantially the same issue as those on which he has been acquitted.

The respondents maintained that Mr. Otieno was, in criminal court charged with "stealing by person employed in the public service" contrary to section 280 of the Penal Code. This is not the same as 'neglect of duty contrary to clause Nos. 678, 679 and 957 (a) of the Traffic Accounts Manual'. The respondents maintained that Mr. Otieno was solely responsible for ticket sales from tube "C" and subsequent remittance of such revenue to the respondents. Failure to account for these earnings is, in itself, a serious neglect of his duty thereby causing the respondents loss of earnings.

When Mr. Otieno was charged departmentally, he totally failed to answer the charges which resulted in the respondents losing revenue totalling KSh 283,652.85, which in fact was in excess of the figure of KSh 2,373.40 with which he was criminally charged and later acquitted.

The respondents found Mr. Otieno unsuitable to continue in employment as retaining him would license the rest of the employees to do so with impunity. On termination, Mr. Otieno referred his case to the claimants who took the matter through the laid down machinery, and, the Ministry of Labour's findings and recommendations as conveyed to the parties found that Mr. Otieno had suffered a wrongful termination and recommended that he be reinstated to his former job without loss of seniority or service benefits. He should further be paid full salary for all the days he had been out of employment. This view was rejected by the respondents and the matter was finally referred to the court for arbitration.

The claimants in their submission stated that Mr. Otieno was otherwise a dedicated and loyal employee of the respondents who was used by others as a scapegoat to avoid being caught. The claimants proceeded to narrate the history of the case from the time Mr. Otieno was placed to take charge of tube "C" with booking office with Mr. Oika as in charge. They worked together without any trouble until 1979. When Mr. Otieno noticed some movement between the staff from the printing section frequenting their office and particularly having a long chat with Mr. Oika, he suspected that they must be planning something sinister. He further noticed a number of suspicious movements between Mr. Oika and Mr. Onyando of the printing section. His suspicion was strengthened when one day Mr. Oika asked him to go and arrange the purchase of his house with DTS. On his return he thanked Mr. Otieno for having enabled him to finalize plans to purchase a house worth KSh 200,000. He further stated that he had already made a down payment of KSh 100,000. This statement took Mr. Otieno with surprise and he asked Mr. Oika how he had managed to raise the amount. Mr. Oika replied that there was a lot of magendo in Nairobi. Mr. Otieno could only conclude that the magendo must be the racket between printing and the booking office where tickets are sold. In June 1979, a Mr. Onyando of the printing section sent a note in Dholuo to Otieno which read:

I won't go for lunch I am in the office and I have prepared something. Come and collect. My project hasn't been completed.

Although this made more suspicious it produced nothing concrete. One evening in September 1979, Mr. Oika left for tea and left his tickets' drawer open. Mr. Otieno decided to issue two tickets from Mr. Oika's stock as he had exhausted his. He discovered two bundles of tickets with some sold. He then checked the serial numbers against those in the tube and found they differed and further found that these ticket numbers did not appear in the summary book.

When Mr. Oika returned he notified him that he had sold two tickets and gave him the money. But, Mr. Oika looked suspicious and from then their relationship became sour and Mr. Oika was from that time out to get rid of him.

Mr. Otieno decided to address a letter to the chief accountant drawing his attention to the racket involving his colleague which had enabled him to purchase a house worth KSh 200,000. The claimants stressed that Mr. Otieno was victimized because he reported on his superior which was followed with police investigating him on his letter to the chief accountant. He was subsequently interdicted and was arrested on 16th January, 1980 and charged. He was acquitted in February 1980 but was later re-arrested and charged with the same offence but was again acquitted on 11th July, 1980. Although the grievant was at this time under interdiction, he was not reinstated but a departmental charge was preferred against him which reads

In that while working as a booking clerk at Nairobi Railway Station booking office "C" during the months of September and October, 1979, you committed the following irregularities contrary to clause Nos 679 and 957 (a) of Traffic Accounts Manual

The claimants have maintained that the charges preferred against Mr Otieno were the same as those for which he was acquitted. The claimants relied on part III of the (Appointment and Discipline) Regulations, 1974 paragraph 22.

An officer acquitted of a criminal charge in any court shall not be dismissed or otherwise punished on any charge upon which he has been acquitted, but nothing in this regulation shall prevent his being dismissed or otherwise punished on any other charges arising out of his conduct in the matter, unless the charges raised substantially the same issue as those on which he has been acquitted.

The claimants further relied on regulation G 9 (f) which reads

An employee acquitted of a criminal charge in any court may not be dismissed or otherwise punished on any charge upon which he has been acquitted, but this does not prevent his being dismissed or otherwise punished on any other charges arising out of his conduct in the matter, unless the charges raise substantially the same issue as those on which he has been acquitted.

The claimants maintained that the letter of dismissal referring to "misappropriation of railway revenue at Nairobi Railway Station of KSh 227,665 15" and "neglect of duty" are the same thing and the respondents are simply playing with words to justify their action. The claimants' effort was further frustrated when Mr Otieno was evicted from the quarters on 22nd January 1981.

The court has evaluated the evidence and submissions produced by the parties and finds it established that the respondents have an accounting system that has to be followed. The system includes in this instance, sale of tickets and handing over cash to the next senior staff in this case Mr Oika. He signed for whatever he handed over. In addition, all entries had to be made in the Coaching Summary Book. These accounting procedures had to be complied with as spelt out in the Traffic Accounting Manual. The court finds it proved that Mr Otieno did not adhere to these procedures, otherwise the respondents would not have lost so much revenue. There was lapse in remitting returns monthly, in particular for the month of September, whereas he faithfully submitted the same from January to August without query. Mr Otieno took advantage of laxity on the part of the Nairobi station master who failed to check and sign his books daily as required. In view of this situation he never correctly recorded his ticket sales and successfully continued to show less sales in relation to the actual number of tickets sold. At times what he showed as stocks had in fact been sold.

The court has carefully examined analysis of loss of KSh 253,653 85 and there is ample evidence to prove that Mr Otieno was out to swindle the respondents.

Now, the court would like to turn to what the claimants allege was the reason behind Mr Otieno's dismissal. The court has gone into the insinuations and innuendos about the printing of fake tickets by the respondents' printing section and their sales by Mr Oika which enabled him to raise KSh 200,000 to buy a house. This piece of evidence has been demolished by documentary evidence from a financial house from where Mr Oika raised a loan for the purchase of a house. In any case the court cannot see how Mr Oika's mistakes could have implicated Mr Otieno when they were to collect and account for the revenue separately.

The court notes that Mr Otieno faced a criminal charge for a minor part out of the big loss which the respondents have suffered under circumstances attributable to him but he was acquitted by the criminal court. The claimants have with some justification argued that the subsequent departmental charges against Mr Otieno regarding the loss of KSh 286,652 85 were raised and based on the investigations and evidence of the same prosecution witnesses who had been dubbed as liars by the criminal court magistrate. So they have pleaded that the departmental charges are substantially the same as those in the criminal case and therefore Mr Otieno cannot be punished depart-mentally. This argument sounds attractive, but the court cannot overlook the substantial evidence at the disposal of the respondents which clearly shows that Mr Otieno was not abiding by the procedures as specified in the accounting manual. Moreover, the criminal charge related to KSh 2,373 40 only but the departmental charge related to KSh 283,652 85. In these circumstances the court while appreciating the claimants' submissions cannot really go with them as it would be stretching this particular regulation a bit too far to give Mr Otieno and the likes of him (who swindle the respondents) an opportunity to let them continue in employment without loss of any benefits.

The court fully appreciates the claimants' concern over the application of this particular regulation and their submission that the court's award would be a precedent but the court always considers every case on its own merits, so the claimants need have no fear on this score. On the other hand, the court cannot overlook the disastrous consequences which the respondents would suffer if too narrow and a very technical interpretation was placed on this regulation and its application.

After careful consideration of all the submissions, the court rejects all the demands made by the claimants on behalf of Mr Otieno.

GAZETTE NOTICE NO 2403

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO 149 OF 1985

Parties

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers
and
Kenya Fruit Processors Limited

Issue in dispute

Wages and Salary Increases

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Kenya Fruit Processors Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2 The parties were heard in Nairobi on 30th April, 1986, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3 The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 8th November, 1985, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 31st December, 1985, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The respondents are a firm dealing in passion fruit processing for export and are situated at Thika. They employ 36 unionizable employees who are covered by a collective agreement which is being revised. The new collective agreement will cover two years from 1st October, 1984 to 30th September, 1986.

The claimants stated that after the expiry of the previous agreement, the respondents refused to negotiate a new agreement until a trade dispute was reported to the Minister for Labour and a conciliator appointed. At the conciliation level, the parties agreed to all items except the one now before the court. The claimants submitted that workers had been faced with hikes of prices of consumer goods during the period under review. The claimants are demanding wage increases as shown hereunder:

	1st Year Percentage	2nd Year Percentage
Job Grades I-V	25	20
Job Grades IV-IX	20	15

The respondents submitted that during the period under review, they were experiencing serious shortfalls in their operations due to 1984/85 drought. During the year 1985, they experienced a loss of over two million shillings, and as such they requested the claimants for a wage freeze for three years.

The respondents stated that although still shouldering the drought impact, they are aware of the necessity to maintain good industrial relations and noting that there has been a rise in cost of living they offer salary increases as follows:

Those earning upto KSh 1,500 to receive 5 per cent in the first year and a further 5 per cent in the second year

Those earning over KSh. 1,501 to receive 4 per cent increase in the first year and a further 4 per cent in the second year

The court notes that the respondents give their workers allowances for electricity and water in addition to house allowance. The workers entitlement under the wages guidelines is 18 per cent for two years but keeping in mind the respondents' financial problems, the court has decided to make the following award

The court awards a wage increase of 5 per cent for the first year and a further wage increase of 7 per cent for the second year for those earning upto KSh 1,500 per month

For those earning above KSh 1,500 per month, the court awards a wage increase of 4 per cent for the first year and 6 per cent wage increase for the second year

Issues in dispute

Wages and wage increase
Housing allowance
Long-service increments

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and the Distilling and Bottling Group of FKF shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents

2 The parties were heard in Nairobi on 24th April 1986 and relied on their written and verbal submissions

AWARD

3 The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 22nd August 1985, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 1st October, 1985, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner

The respondents are a group of two companies, namely Gilbeys East Africa Ltd, and Kenya Wine Agencies Ltd, who are engaged in distilling and bottling industry and employ a total of 149 unionizable employees who are covered by the collective agreement under review. The previous agreement was effective from 1st November, 1982, and was to run for two years ending 31st October, 1984. During the revision of this agreement, the parties have agreed on all items except the three (3) now before the court

The claimants told the court that the parties' relationship has been generally good and that they have concluded several agreements previously without problems. But, the claimants felt there was need for the items in dispute to be improved which the respondents refused or offered unacceptable improvements. The claimants demands for each item are as shown hereunder

Wages and Wage Increase

The claimants told the court that the respondents have improved on basic minimum wages from KSh 700 to KSh 1,005 per month on the entry point, which has been accepted by the claimants. However, the parties had disagreed on wage increases. The claimants told the court that the respondents offered 9.5 per cent each year based on basic minimums while the claimants demanded 12 per cent increase each year based on workers personal wages

Housing Allowance

The claimants told the court that at present their members are paid 23.4 per cent of one's personal wage by way of house allowance. The claimants are now demanding 30 per cent as housing allowance based on personal wage for all the groups stating that house rents have gone up

Long-service Increments

The claimants told the court that the respondents understanding of this item is that the parties agreed to long-service increments as shown hereunder

	KSh
1- 5 years service	50
6-10 years service	100
11-15	150
16-20	200
21-25	250
26-30	300
31 and above	350

The claimants stated that the parties never agreed on five-year segmental rates of KSh 50, which the respondents contend to have been agreed upon. The claimants want the court to give a ruling on this item as the parties interpretations differ

The respondents started their submissions by saying that the parties relationship had been generally good and that they had concluded two previous agreements without serious problems. The respondents accused the claimants of having adopted uncompromising attitude towards negotiations during their meetings, which resulted in this dispute. The respondents then came up with their offers as shown below

Wages and Wage Increase

The respondents offer for the period under review is 9.5 per cent for each year of the agreement both based on the basic minimums of the various job grades

Housing Allowance

The respondents relied on the wages guidelines and stated that employees are entitled to 23.2 per cent of basic wages from effective date of the agreement under review, plus 9.5 per cent of the resultant figure which has to remain unchanged for the two-year period of the agreement. The respondents pointed out that the claimants demand is contrary to the wages guidelines and the court should not consider it

Long-service Increments

The respondents contention is that these increments were not introduced to replace automatic annual increases which are negotiated by the parties. These increments were introduced as recognition of service after the automatic annual increments. The parties agreed on fixed increment of KSh 50 to be earned in the following manner

Years of Service	Shs
1- 5	50 (50)
6-10	100 (50+50)
11-15	150 (50+50+50)
16-20	200 (50+50+50+50)
21-25	250 (50+50+50+50+50)
26-30	300 (50+50+50+50+50+50)
31 and over	350 (50+50+50+50+50+50+50)

The respondents prayed the court to uphold their interpretation on this item

After careful consideration of the parties submissions the court awards as shown hereunder

Wages and Wage Increases

The court awards a wage increase of 9.5 per cent each year but based on personal wages of all the employees. The second year wage increase is to be based on the employees wages plus 9.5 per cent being the first year wage increase

Housing Allowance

The court awards an increase of 9.5 per cent on the current housing entitlement

Long-service Increments

The court has carefully considered submissions by the parties on this item and finds the respondents' interpretation to be correct and logical, so the court rejects the claimants demand

All "copy" submitted for publication should be prepared on one side of an A4 sheet no matter how small the notice or Act, each page being numbered, and should be typewritten with double spacing. Copy should be clear, legible and contain a minimum of alterations.

Particular attention should be paid to the following points:

- (i) Signatures must be clarified by means of rubber-stamping or typing the name of the signer in capital letters
- (ii) Dates must be correct and filled in where necessary
- (iii) Care should be taken to ensure that all headings to notices and references to legislation are up to date and conform with the Revised Edition of the Laws of Kenya
