THE NATIONAL ENVIRONMENTAL TRIBUNAL AT NAIROBI

TRIBUNAL REFERRAL NO. NET 08/2006

IN THE MATTER OF:

GITIRIKU WAINAINA--- (First Plaintiff)
MRS. GITIRIKU WAINAINA--- (Second Plaintiff)

VERSUS

KENAFRIC INDUSTRIES--- (First Defendant)
MANIL INDUSTRIES--- (Second Defendant)

DECISION

This matter commenced as Civil Suit Number 738 of 2003, filed in the High Court of Kenya at Nairobi. On 30th May, 2006, by the consent of the parties, Lady Justice Joyce Aluoch ordered that the suit be transferred to the National Environmental Tribunal for final disposal. Accordingly, on 5th June, 2006, the file was sent to this Tribunal.

Following a preliminary review of the file, the Tribunal made a copy of the file available to National Environmental Management Authority (NEMA) to enable it consider whether the issues raised in the dispute were of such a nature as to merit a referral of the matter to the Tribunal for direction under section 132 of the Environmental Management and Co-ordination Act, 1999 (EMCA). By letter dated 13th July, 2006, NEMA communicated its desire that the matter be dealt with by the Tribunal as a referral, which constitutes the first such referral.

Referrals to the Tribunal are provided for under section 132 of EMCA. This states that "when any matter to be determined by the Authority under this Act appears to it to involve a point of law or to be of unusual importance or complexity it may, after giving notice to the concerned parties, refer the matter to the Tribunal for direction."

The powers of the Tribunal on a referral are dealt with under section 126 (2). This states that "the Tribunal shall, upon an appeal or a referral made to it by the Authority on any matter relating to this Act, inquire into the matter and make an award, give directions, make orders or make decisions thereon" Accordingly once seized of a matter, upon a referral or otherwise, the powers of the Tribunal include the power to make a final determination of the issues in dispute between the parties, subject, of course, to the right of the parties to appeal to the High Court under section 130 of EMCA.

In their Plaintiff filed on 17th July, 2003 and amended on 6th January, 2004 to join the 2nd Respondent - a related company which shares common directors with the 1st Respondent - the Plaintiffs sought:

- (a) An injunction against the Defendants from operating their business on land number LR 336/8/Baba Dogo Estate/Nairobi until they have stopped the flow of waste liquid, chemicals and noxious smell to the Plaintiffs land LR number 336/1059/Baba Dogo Estate Nairobi;
- (b) Special damages of KSh. 925,200;
- (c) Punitive damages;
- (d) Such other relief as deemed just; and
- (e) Costs.

The defence was filed on 8th August, 2003, and denied the claim in toto. The defence averred, additionally, that, in light of the provisions of EMCA, the High Court lacked jurisdiction to determine this dispute, which is vested only in the National Environmental Tribunal. The defence incorporated a counterclaim, but as this counterclaim was not pursued before this Tribunal, we say no more about it. On 3rd February, 2005, Hon. Justice Ransley ruled that EMCA did not take away the High Court's jurisdiction and, as already stated, the matter then came to this Tribunal for determination through a consent order.

The Plaintiffs were represented before the Tribunal by Mr. Thiong'o of Ng'ang'a Thiong'o and Company Advocates, while the Defendants were represented by Mr. Arwa of Rachier and Amolo Advocates. The Plaintiffs called 4 witnesses, the Defendants 2 and NEMA 2. The Tribunal also visited the site on 5th February, 2007. NEMA was represented by Anne Angwenyi and Grace Kimani.

The evidence showed that the parties in this dispute own adjoining properties. On their property, the Plaintiffs constructed a block of 33 flats for residential use in 1989. Sometime between 1989 and 1990, following the construction of a factory on their plot of land, the Defendants started manufacturing footwear. In 1997, they started manufacturing confectionary in the same premises, but, in 2004, the confectionary plant was relocated to a newly constructed factory on a different site while the factory on the site adjoining the Plaintiffs' plot continued to manufacture footwear.

The Plaintiffs alleged in their amended Plaintiff that the Defendants have constantly caused offensive and pestilential gases, smells and vapours to come into and be on the Plaintiffs' premises causing a nuisance, which they particularized as follows:

- (a) Polluting the air with sulphur dioxide and hydrogen sulphide gases;
- (b) Exposing the Plaintiffs and their tenants as well as the public at large to noxious and dangerous doses of sulphuric acid;
- (c) Causing corrosion by emission of such harmful gases on the roof of the Plaintiff's property which is constructed using galvanized iron sheets;
- (d) Causing smelly air to be permanently emitted onto the Plaintiffs' property; and
- (e) Causing harmful and noxious effluent to be discharged from its factory and to flow intermittently into the Plaintiffs' property causing continued flooding of effluent and stagnation on the lower floor of the Plaintiffs' residential flats and damage to the building structure.
- (f) The Plaintiffs also alleged negligence on the part of the Defendants in that the Defendants failed to:
 - (g) Construct pipes, mains or other apparatus to keep the gases and effluent and ensure that they would not escape from the factory;
 - (h) Have a system of inspection which would detect or discover such leaks and escapes of effluent and gases onto the Plaintiffs' property;
 - (i) Take any precaution or reasonable safety measure to ensure that its operations do not pose a danger and nuisance to the Plaintiffs and their tenants;
 - (j) Take any steps to reduce excessive noise levels;
 - (f) Comply with public health regulations;
 - (g) Have any regard whatsoever to the environment and the maintenance of a sustainable, healthy, safe and compliant environment and habitat; and
 - (h) Take any steps for the efficient and safe disposal of hazardous waste.

The Plaintiffs claimed that, as a result of the nuisance and negligence of the Defendants, their property had been rendered unhealthy and uncomfortable to live in, and they and their families and tenants had suffered great discomfort, inconvenience, disturbance, health risks and upset. The Plaintiffs particularized their loss as follows:

- (a) Cost of repairs done to the building, which comprised the replacement of the galvanized iron sheet roof - KSh. 354,000; and
- (b) Lost rent arising from inability to rent out the ground floor rooms as a result of the contamination by effluent - KSh. 571,200, all together, a total of KSh. 925,200.

The Defendants denied causing the discharge of offensive and pestilential gases, smells and vapours; causing a nuisance; causing the discharge of offensive and harmful waste; causing flooding of, or damage to, the Plaintiffs premises; or being negligent. The Defendants averred that it had in place a reasonable, proper and safe infrastructure for purposes of ensuring a safe and environmentally friendly waste disposal system. Thus, the issues were joined.

The Defendants argued additionally, that the location of their factory premises was specifically designated for light industrial use and not for residential use and that the City Council of Nairobi had granted planning permission for the construction of the factory. In constructing a block of flats for residential use in this locality, the principle of volenti non fit injuria, applied and the Plaintiffs could not be heard to complain.

In evidence Mr. Gitiriku Wainaina testified that contaminated effluent in different colours seep through the factory walls into his compound and that this has made the ground floor rooms damp and uninhabitable. Further the gaseous emissions from the factory's chimney has corroded the iron sheets on the roof of his flats forcing him to replace the iron sheets three times in the years 1999, 2001 and 2003. He testified that tenants in 15 units of the flats have left the premises, 11 of them due to corrosion of the iron sheets and four from the ground floor flats, which were damp.

During his testimony, Mr. Wainaina also asked that the Tribunal order the Defendants to buy him out. The value of the flats was put at KSh. 5.3 million according to a 1st July, 2003 valuation report produced in evidence by Mr. Christopher Mbida, a registered land economist and land valuer, who had been asked by the Plaintiffs to carry out an open market valuation of the property.

Mr. Wainaina produced in evidence cash sale receipts for the expenses of replacing the corrugated iron sheet roof totaling KSh.. 354,000 the details of which were as follows:

- (a) Receipt No. 121 dated 26th March, 1999 for KSh. 83,000 for the purchase of iron sheets at KSh. 63,000; fissure board at KSh. 10,000 and nails and gutter at KSh. 10,000 to which was attached a statement dated 26th March, 1999 to the effect that the amount incurred as a labour charge for roofing and fissure board replacement was KSh. 38,000 bringing the total spent on this occasion to KSh. 121,000;
- (b) Receipt No. 151 dated 15th April, 2001 for KSh. 83,000 for the purchase of iron sheets at KSh. 63,000; fissure board at KSh. 10,000 and nails and gutter at KSh. 10,000 to which was attached a statement dated 15th April, 2001 to the effect that the amount incurred as a labour charge for roofing and fissure board replacement was KSh. 30,000 bringing the total spent on this occasion to KSh. 113,000;
- (c) Receipt No. 141 dated 20th February, 2003 for KSh. 85,000 for the purchase of iron sheets at KSh. 63,000.00; fissure board at KSh. 12,000 and nails and gutter at KSh. 10,000 to which was attached a statement dated 20th February, 2003 to the effect that the amount incurred as a labour charge for roofing and fissure board replacement was KSh. 35,000 bringing the total spent on this occasion to KSh. 120,000.

The Plaintiffs' second witness was Dr. Fredrick Otieno Oduor, a chemist working at the Chemical and Industrial Consultant Unit of the Department of Chemistry of the University of Nairobi. He testified that he had been commissioned by the firm of Ng'ang'a Thiong'o and Company Advocates to carry out an analysis of emissions and effluent from Kenafriq Industries, the Respondent herein. Dr. Oduor produced a written report dated 6th December, 2006 which was put in evidence.

Dr. Oduor testified that on visiting the site on 8th December, 2006, he found no evidence of emissions from the chimneys, nor any effluent to be sampled for chemical analysis and interpretation. He therefore decided to take pictures of the destruction that could have been caused by the alleged emissions from the factory. He produced in evidence pictures showing corroded rail gutter on the roof, corroded galvanized iron sheets, and corroded wall painting on the stairway.

Dr. Oduor's conclusion was that the damage seen in sections of the buildings, as evidenced by the pictures, could have been due to corrosive emissions from the factory. He opined that these could have been sulphur dioxide, nitrogen dioxide and even carbon dioxide. In cross-examination Dr. Oduor admitted that he could not tell the source of the emissions causing the corrosion but he was emphatic that its cause was the gases he had enumerated - sulphur dioxide, nitrogen dioxide and even carbon dioxide. "I know the chemistry of corrosion," he maintained.

The Plaintiffs also called to give evidence Mr. Owate Norman Wambayi, a Consultant on health, safety and environment and the Chairman of MICAS Limited the firm that had been commissioned in 2003 to assess the effects of pollution from the Defendants' factory on the Plaintiffs' property. MICAS had produced a report dated 20th August, 2003, which was produced in evidence.

Mr. Wambayi sampled sulphur dioxide and hydrogen sulphide arising from the operations at the factory belonging to the Defendants. He collected the samples from three sites directly in the path of gaseous emissions from the factory but from outside the factory as he was denied access to the factory premises. He carried out the analysis of the samples at the Institute of Nuclear Science, University of Nairobi laboratory. The results showed that the concentration levels of sulphur dioxide sampled were between 20 and 23 $\mu\text{g}/\text{m}^3$ as compared to World Health Organization (WHO) standards of 60 $\mu\text{g}/\text{m}^3$. The concentration of hydrogen sulphide was with respect to one sample spot 5 ppm and with respect to the other two 6 ppm. He stated that a concentration of over 8 ppm represents the odour threshold, while a concentration of over 10 ppm is toxic for 8 hours.

Mr. Wambayi concluded that the levels of sulphur dioxide and hydrogen sulphide do not pose a potential human health hazard but represent a public nuisance. He opined that the damage to the galvanized iron sheet roofing could be due to corrosion by the gases. In evidence he maintained that it was not likely that the corrosion damage could have originated from another factory elsewhere, but conceded under cross-examination that the area, being an industrial area, and one exposed to mobile sources of sulphur dioxide from vehicular traffic, generally exhibited high levels of sulphur dioxide with a baseline level of about 5 $\mu\text{g}/\text{m}^3$.

The Respondent's first witness was Mr. Tom Owino Oduor, the Chief Executive of the ECM Centre, the firm which, in 2003, had been commissioned to carry out an environmental audit of the factory by the Defendants herein pursuant to the requirements of the EMCA and the Regulations made under it. The ECM Centre is registered as an EIA Expert with NEMA under registration number 109, while Mr. Oduor is registered with NEMA as an individual expert under registration number 0228. Mr. Oduor had not, however, personally carried out the audit study in this case. This had been done by Dr. Kariuki, also of the ECM Centre, who was not available to give evidence.

Mr. Oduor produced in evidence the Environmental Audit Report dated November, 2004. The Plaintiffs argued that the Tribunal should not accept Mr. Oduor's evidence since he is not the one who carried out the audit. In the view of the Tribunal, since it is the ECM Centre that had been commissioned to carry out the audit, any authorized employee of the Centre can produce the audit report.

The Report identified the wastes generated from the industrial processes at the factory to be sulphur dioxide and hydrogen sulphide, which it said, are "sucked out of the factory through vents and emitted into the air through chimney stacks (see p.17)." The report goes on to state at paragraph 3.4.2 that "the study tested the levels of sulphur dioxide and hydrogen sulphide and concludes that the emissions are negligible and within U.S.A. EPA and WHO limits."

To the Environmental Audit report was annexed (Annex 2) a pollution study of Kenafriq Industries Limited by The ECM Centre carried out in August, 2003. This Report states that samples of sulphur dioxide and hydrogen sulphide were collected on 29th and 30th July, 2003. Three of these samples were taken from the rooftop, two from the stacks and another two at the ground level on days on which both the confectionary and the rubber factories (for footwear) were operating normally. The wind direction was towards the factory when sampling was done. The Report noted that Central Glass Works is located in the vicinity while Kenya Breweries lies across the valley. There is also the busy Thika Road and some unofficial dumpsites around.

The result of the sulphur dioxide samples ranged from 30 to 60 $\mu\text{g}/\text{m}^3$ as compared to the WHO maximum allowable limit of 125 $\mu\text{g}/\text{m}^3$ for Europe and an EPA maximum allowable limit of 140 $\mu\text{g}/\text{m}^3$. The Report also stated that based on wind directions, one can surmise that there are significant external sources of the gas outside the factory, among them other industries and vehicular traffic. For hydrogen sulphide the results of the samples ranged from 2.01 ppm to 14. 10 ppm as compared to the EPA objectionable odour threshold of 10 ppm and a WHO allowable level of 10 ppm. These standards are only for human health. The report notes that organic dumpsites are a major source of hydrogen sulphide.

The Defendants' 2nd witness was Mr. Seerirasan Gururayan, an electrical engineer by training who works as the project manager of the factory. He testified that the factory uses three boilers and has two chimneys of a height of about 22 metres that lead gases out of the factory, and that no gases are directed at the Plaintiffs' building. He pointed out that the roof of the factory itself is not corroded. He attributed the corrosion of the Plaintiffs' galvanized iron sheet roof to the quality of iron sheets used. Regarding effluent he stated that the factory drains this through a pipe, and not into the building belonging to the Plaintiffs, which is 2.5 metres away and is separated from the factory only by a perimeter wall.

NEMA's first witness was Mr. Justus Kathenge, an Assistant Director in the Department of Forward Planning at the City Council of Nairobi. He testified that the approval for the construction of the residential flats was granted only on 10th September, 2001 whereas the planning permission for the construction of a light industry on the Defendants' premises was granted 16th February, 1996. The two developments fell within Zone 16, which is zoned for residential and light industrial use.

Samuel Munene, NEMA's second witness is a pollution control officer working with NEMA. Along with Mr. Dickson Njora, a gazetted NEMA environmental inspector, he visited the site of the factory on 12th July, 2006 and prepared an Inspection Report. The Report stated that no liquid effluents, apart from storm water, were being produced.

Gaseous emissions were however being generated and released into the environment through chimney stacks. The roof of the factory was not corroded but part of the roof where the boiler was housed was corroded and had gaping holes. The cause of this corrosion could not be ascertained since the boiler had been removed (during the transfer of the confectionary factory to another site). Roofs in the area were found to be generally rusted. It went on: "a three story flat belonging to Mr. Gitiriku had rusted roof except for one wing ... we learnt that this section of the house had been re-roofed two years ago after the iron sheets got corroded and started leaking."

The NEMA Inspection Report concluded as follows: "In this area there are two incompatible land uses next to each other ... It is difficult to attribute the roof rusting in the area from emissions from the industry without further investigations ... whether the present emissions had caused the rusting and corrosion of the iron roofs in the area can only be determined through an independent analysis."

Parties agreed to an expert to prepare an independent report. Subsequently, they obtained quotations for the conduct of an analysis, but they could not agree on how to meet the costs. Due to this, that is where the evidence rested, apart from the observations of the Tribunal members during the site visit, which largely reflected the evidence already availed to it.

In submissions Mr. Thiongo framed the issue for determination to be "whether the Defendants' factory operations caused offensive gases, smells and vapours to be emitted into the Plaintiffs' property and was the cause of the damage to the roof and walls." He submitted that on the basis of the evidence adduced, the Plaintiffs had established their case on a balance of probability and prayed for judgement against the Defendants as prayed in the Plaintiff.

Mr. Arwa similarly identified the issue for determination to be whether the Plaintiffs had proved on credible evidence the allegations made against the Defendants. He submitted that the claim related essentially to a compensation for damage arising from alleged past pollution before the relocation of the confectionary. He submitted that the evidence showed that the pollution levels were within allowable limits and that there was nothing to link the alleged corrosion on the claimants' premises to the activities taking place in the factory; virtually all roofs in the area are corroded due to the presence of several industries and further the quality of the iron sheets on the Plaintiffs' roof had not been confirmed. Mr. Arwa further argued that the Plaintiffs had been unable to prove, in financial terms, the loss they sustained by reason of the corrosion of their roof.

In parting Mr. Arwa submitted that as the Plaintiffs were seeking compensation for alleged past pollution, rather than ongoing pollution, the orders they are seeking "are not related to environmental conservation but are in the nature of ordinary civil remedies which should be the preserve of the ordinary civil courts rather than the Tribunal ... the environment will not be better managed or conserved by the granting of the compensation order sought and it is for these reasons that we urge this Tribunal to dismiss this suit with costs."

It suffices to dispose of Mr Arwa's last point that having come to this Tribunal through a consent order, it is not open to the parties to argue that the Tribunal is not the appropriate forum for the determination of the issues in dispute. But we might add also that, in our respectful view, a resolution of a dispute arising from past pollution can contribute significantly to enhancing present environmental conservation, not least because the Tribunal can, in appropriate cases, make an order for environmental restoration under section 108 of EMCA.

NEMA (Grace Kimani) posed the issue for determination by the Tribunal in the following words: "Taking into account that there are other industries in the area, was the corrosion of the iron sheets on the roof of the Plaintiffs' flats as result of the gaseous emissions from the Defendants' factory?" The Tribunal considers this to be the central issue for determination in this dispute. Given the nature and state of the evidence adduced before it, the Tribunal is satisfied that the questions raised are sufficiently complex to justify the referral to it of this issue for determination and directions under section 132 of EMCA.

From the evidence adduced before the Tribunal, the following conclusions are drawn:

- (a) There are enhanced levels of sulphur dioxide and hydrogen sulphide in the atmosphere of this industrialized area, in which there are not only several factories, but also heavy vehicular traffic and unofficial dumpsites, all of which emit these particular gases;
- (b) The Defendants' industrial activities, particularly in the period between 1997 and 2004, when the Defendants manufactured confectionaries at this site, have contributed to the enhanced atmospheric levels of sulphur dioxide and hydrogen sulphide in the area;
- (c) The corrosion of the galvanized iron sheets used for roofing on the Plaintiffs' block of flats was caused by the gaseous emissions, more particularly sulphur dioxide and hydrogen sulphide;
- (d) The severity of the corrosion of the galvanized iron sheets used for roofing on the Plaintiffs' block of flats which necessitated the frequent repairs was partly the result of the quality of iron sheets the Plaintiffs used; and
- (e) On the evidence adduced, it is not possible to determine with precision the respective contributions to the corrosion of the iron sheets that arose from the industrial activities of the Defendants as opposed to that which arose from the enhanced levels of corroding gases in the general atmosphere in the locality.

The question that arises for the determination of the Tribunal is whether, given that the state of the evidence adduced in this case, the Defendants can be held liable for the damage to the roof of the Plaintiffs' block of flats and for the loss thereby suffered by the Plaintiffs.

In a suit for negligence and nuisance, such as this one, the claimant on whom the burden of proving the damage lies discharges the burden if he shows that, on a balance of probabilities, the act in question caused or materially contributed to the injury or damage. It is enough to show that the defendant materially increased the risk of harm from a known source. The case against the defendant is proved where a prima facie case has been made out against him on a balance of probabilities and he (the defendant) has not adduced evidence of his innocence. (Halsbury's Laws of England, 4th Edition, vol. 45 (2) at para. 317).

Once a prima facie case has been made out, for the defendant to exculpate himself, he would need to adduce evidence to the contrary. Such evidence must be of sufficient cogence to demonstrate that the damage in question arose from a cause other than the defendant's act. It is not enough merely to point to the possibility that the damage arose also from the act of some other unspecified person.

As it is not necessary that the defendant be the only cause of the damage in question, the exculpatory evidence must go beyond merely showing that some other unspecified person also contributed to the damage. If some other such person did contribute, that person needs to be identified with sufficient particularity to enable the person concerned to be joined as a third party in the proceedings so that liability can be apportioned. If that is not done, the person sued shall bear the entire burden of compensating the injured party.

The Tribunal believes the applicable law in circumstances such as the present one to be as stated in Halsbury's Laws of England, 4th Edition, vol. 45 (2) para 347): if each of several persons, not acting in concert, commits a tort against another person substantially contemporaneously and causing the same or indivisible damage, each several tortfeasor is liable for the whole damage.

Applying this principle of law to the present case, the Plaintiffs did demonstrate that, on a balance of probabilities, the Defendants' activities during the period in question contributed materially to the enhanced levels of corrosive gaseous emissions in this area that caused the corrosion of the galvanized iron sheets on the roof of the Plaintiffs' block of flats. The Defendants pointed to other sources of similar gaseous emissions, which together with their (i.e. the Defendants' activities) contributed to the enhanced levels of corrosive gases in the atmosphere in this locality.

But the Defendants stopped short of identifying any particular source or sources with sufficient particularity to displace the presumption that the Defendants, by mere dint of physical proximity to the Plaintiffs' premises, made a material contribution to enhanced level of the corrosive gaseous emissions about which the Plaintiffs are complaining. In the circumstances, the Tribunal finds that the Defendants are liable for the damage to the galvanized iron sheets used by the Plaintiffs on their block of flats.

In the Tribunal's respectful view, the Defendants' defence that the quality of the iron sheets used by the Plaintiffs was poor and that, because of this, the iron sheets used as roofing for their block of flats suffered corrosion while some other iron sheets used for roofing in the area, such as the iron sheets on the roof of the Defendants factory itself, did not suffer comparable corrosion, can be disposed of fairly briefly. It is no defence to a claim based on tortious damage to property that the Plaintiffs' property would not have suffered such damage had the property in question been of higher quality.

The Plaintiffs claim for special damages was for an amount of KSh. 925,200. Of this KSh. 354,000 was for damage the replacement of the galvanized iron sheet on the roof. The balance was for lost rent. The Plaintiffs adduced no evidence to support the evidence of Mr. Wainaina regarding the lost rent. Unsupported, Mr. Wainaina's evidence on this point is not sufficient to support an award of compensation.

The Plaintiffs also did not adduce sufficient evidence to prove, on a balance of probabilities, that the Defendants' activities were a material cause of the dampness of the lower ground floor of the Plaintiffs' block of flats. The evidence adduced by the Defendants that they had a proper system for the drainage of the effluent from their premises was corroborated by the evidence of the officers from NEMA who visited the site. The Tribunal therefore declines to award any compensation for this claim as well.

The defendants had argued in their defence that in any case, the plaintiffs could not complain of the damage suffered on the basis of the principle of volenti non fit injuria. The evidence adduced showed that this area is zoned for mixed residential and light industrial use. Therefore, the principle of volenti non fit injuria does not apply.

In evidence the Plaintiffs asked the Tribunal to order that the Defendants purchase their property. However this prayer did not form part of the prayers in the Plaintiff or Amended Plaintiff. If the Appellant had wished to pursue this prayer the proper procedure would have been to apply to the Tribunal for leave to amend the amended Plaintiff further. This was not done, and therefore the Tribunal has no basis for making any order on this issue.

The Tribunal therefore unanimously decides as follows and makes the following order:

The Defendants are liable for the damage suffered by the Plaintiffs as a result of the corrosion to the galvanized iron sheets used for roofing the Plaintiffs' block of flats and are ordered to compensate the Plaintiffs by paying KSh. 354,000 which shall attract interest at the rate of 12% per annum from the date of the filing of the Plaintiff in the High Court until payment in full.

The parties asked the Tribunal for costs. Under rule 39 of the Tribunal Rules the Tribunal cannot award costs without hearing the parties on the issue of costs. The Tribunal therefore invites parties to address it on costs on a date to be agreed.

THE NATIONAL ENVIRONMENT MANAGEMENT AUTHORITY

THE NATIONAL ENVIRONMENT TRIBUNAL AT NAIROBI

APPEAL NO.NET/09/2006

WE CARE ABOUT NAIROBI DO IT—(First Appellant (s))

KYUNA AND SHANZU ROAD RESIDENTS—(Second Appellant (s))

VERSUS

NATIONAL ENVIRONMENT MANAGEMENT AUTHORITY
(NEMA)—(First Respondent)

M/S. HOUSES AND PLOTS LIMITED—(Second Respondent)

RULING

By Notice of Appeal dated 29 June, 2006 filed in the National Environment Tribunal on 30th June, 2006, the Appellants namely, We Care About Nairobi Do It (hereinafter, the 1st Appellant) and Kyuna and Shanzu Road Residents Association (hereinafter, the 2nd Appellant, together referred to as the Appellants) entered an Appeal against the Director General, NEMA (hereinafter, the 1st Respondent) and the proponent of the project, House and Plots Limited (hereafter, the 2nd Respondent), challenging NEMA's initial approval of EIA report for the proposed construction of twenty three houses on L.R. 7158/53 subsequently L.R. 7158/385-388 without approved architectural and structural plans and amalgamation of plots, L.R. number 7157/385, 386, 387 and 388 without approvals. The Appellants requested the Tribunal to order demolition of the illegal structures.

The Appellants subsequently applied and were granted permission to amend their grounds of appeal, which they did by notice dated 17th November, 2006, filed in the Tribunal on 21st November 2006.

The amended appeal comprised the following grounds:

- (a) The Appellants had raised objections against the 1st Respondent's approval on 14th June, 2005 of the EIA report submitted by the 2nd Respondent, long before the 2nd Respondent started construction on the said plots;
- (b) The 1st Respondent neglected or failed to take action at that stage;
- (c) The 2nd Respondent gave false information to the 1st Respondent in support of the application for an EIA license;
- (d) The 1st Respondent neglected or failed to publish the 2nd Respondent's EIA application in the Kenya Gazette and in a local newspaper;
- (e) The 2nd Respondent took advantage of the 1st Respondent's negligence or failure to take action and proceeded with construction of the proposed structures, now in dispute; and
- (f) Despite canceling the approval of the EIA Project Report (which the 1st Respondent did on 18th April, 2006), the 1st Respondent did not exercise its powers to order demolition of the illegal structures and restoration of the environment.

The 1st Respondent filed a reply dated 16th of August, 2006. They also filed a notice of preliminary objection challenging the jurisdiction of the Tribunal to grant the prayer sought and termed the Appeal as misconceived and legally unsound.

In the reply, the 1st Respondent also stated;

- (a) It had not approved any EIA Report in relation to plot nos. 7158/385, 386, 387 and 388, the subject matter of the appeal;
- (b) There was no decision of the 1st Respondent for consideration by the Tribunal;
- (c) The Tribunal was not the proper body to address any concerns, if at all the Appellants had any, and that the issues framed were totally beyond the jurisdiction of the Tribunal;

- (d) The Tribunal lacks jurisdiction to make orders sought and must not be seen to act in vain;
- (e) The appeal by the Appellants was misconceived and an abuse of the Tribunal process as envisaged under the Environmental Management and Coordination Act; and
- (f) The 1st Respondent finally urged the Tribunal to dismiss the Appeal with costs to the Respondents.

In its Ruling of 25th January, 2007 on preliminary matters, the Tribunal disposed of the preliminary objections and decided that the matter proceeds to consideration on its merits.

The 2nd Respondent's response was not by way of a formal rebuttal in pleadings. However, the 2nd Respondent submitted documents, and through evidence, responded as follows:

- (a) The approval granted by NEMA in their letter of 17th May, 2005 addressed to the proponent remains valid;
- (b) The proponent has observed all the conditions 1,3,4,5 and 6 set out in NEMA's letter of approval and that condition No. 2 remains to be fulfilled;
- (c) The proponent having met the conditions and paid fees thereafter is entitled to have a license issued to it; and
- (d) The appeal be dismissed with costs to the 2nd Respondent.

During the proceedings, the parties were represented as follows: the Appellants, by Mr. Richard Masinde, an employee of the Appellants; the 1st Respondent during the preliminary objection and subsequent hearing by Mr. Kibanga of Muchiri Munga and Kibanga Advocates, and the 2nd Respondent initially at the preliminary objections stage by Mr. Mureithi, Advocate, and later by Mr. Kibuchi of M/s. Kibuchi and Company Advocates.

The 1st Respondent, in their submission reiterated that:

- (a) The Appellants had sought no orders of the Tribunal directed at NEMA and the demolition which was requested would be directed at the 2nd Respondent.
- (b) The evidence of the Appellants' witnesses alleging that the structures were illegally put up had been controverted by the witnesses of the 2nd Respondent.
- (c) The Tribunal should find that the 1st Respondent had discharged its obligations properly.
- (d) The Tribunal should make no order as to costs against the 1st Respondent.

To fully appropriate issues under contention, the Tribunal, along with counsel of the parties, visited the site on 12th February, 2007. The land is sloppy with houses under construction; there is a river (Kibagare River) at the bottom where trees had been cut and stumps spread out and only a few old trees remained standing by partly built up houses. Counsel had been insistent that the Tribunal sees the site before hearing witnesses, and it did. Explanations were given at the site on various matters raised by the Tribunal members and the counsel.

Counsel also supplied additional documents, including: the 2nd Respondent's bundle; the EIA Report to NEMA; and the interim report of Local Physical Development Plan, Policy Review for zones 3, 4 & 5, dated 3rd July, 2006 by the Department of City Planning, City Council of Nairobi. Due to the late availability of the last mentioned of the documents, its import could not be fully argued. According to the Tribunal's Rules of Procedure, all documents to be relied upon should be filed on a timely basis.

Appellants called two witnesses, Yasmin T. Jadavji (a social worker and the Chairlady of the 2nd Appellant) and David T. Muchiri (Architect, registered with NEMA as an environmental expert). The 1st Respondent called one expert witness, James Kambo Mutusi, a consultant working in the firm that prepared the EIA Report, since the expert who prepared the report was said to be out of the country. The 2nd Respondent called two witnesses; Timothy S.G. Makunda, (former Director, Physical Planning Department in the Ministry of Lands and Settlement) and Kennedy Otieno Agwaro (Architect in private practice, working as a partner in the company that was responsible for the project). The City Council also provided, at the request of the Tribunal, an officer and friend of the Tribunal to clarify the policy of the City Council of Nairobi in Zone 5 where the project in question is located.

The Appellants' witnesses explained the efforts they made to find out what was going on at the site, particularly when they saw a bulldozer pulling down trees and levelling the ground, and their efforts, through letters and visits to have NEMA explain what was going on. They also visited both the City Council and NEMA offices around March, 2006. They were alarmed to find that plans and the EIA Report were approved against a title that was non-existent having been surrendered 16 years ago. Both NEMA and the City Council were thereby misled. A certified copy of the title, L.R. number 7158/53 was produced.

The proponent had sought approval for 23 houses but 16 were approved by the City Council in February, 2005. It was pointed out that by July the same year, another plan was approved against the same title for seven houses, bringing the total number of houses to be constructed on the site to 23. By Enforcement Notice dated 20th March, 2006, the council stopped construction of the 23 houses on the grounds, among others, that the developer had added 4 masionettes, contrary to the approved building plans.

The number of houses approved for construction changed yet again, from 23 to 20. This followed a re-submission by the developer of new building plans which resulted, this time, in an approval for the construction of 20 masionettes by letter dated 21st September, 2006, to which was attached a site plan showing three proposed houses not to be built.

The challenge by the residents was whether an area of 2 acres was environmentally suitable for holding as many houses as 20. The residents in the area protested against this and also against the way the EIA was carried out without proper public participation and due notices availed on site and in the media. They were hardly convinced that announcement in Kenya Times constituted due notice.

The witnesses for the 1st Respondents explained what they did, and exonerated themselves by stating that NEMA received the EIA Report, and although against L.R. 7158/53, they had believed the title was still valid. NEMA had subsequently cancelled its approval by letter dated 17th May, 2005, citing the fact that the 2nd Respondent had not accepted the approval conditions.

The 2nd Respondent's witness, Mr Makunda explained the change of user process that they had carried out, culminating in an approval of change of user from single to multi-dwelling residential housing by the City Council of Nairobi on 29th November, 2006. The witness also explained that the initial application for development permission had been on L.R. No. 7158/53. However, they were simultaneously pursuing amalgamation of four separate plots. Amalgamation was approved by the City Council on the same date aforesaid. The proponent's witnesses contended that a change of user had been carried out and that the approvals were fully cognisant of the laws of the Council and in line with EMCA and the Regulations made thereunder.

It was alleged by the Appellants that the conditions by NEMA had hardly been observed by the proponent: a wetland had been interfered with, trees had been cut and appropriate distance from highest water mark ignored given that some houses were under construction too close to the river; construction of a swimming pool was also planned and green spaces were non-existent, in every case, replaced by concrete at the estimated ground coverage of 80-90 percent (Appellant's estimation) including the houses. The Appellants expressed concern that the environment had been degraded by cutting trees without planting any as indicated in the EIA Report.

The counsel for the Respondent and witness strenuously denied any wrong doing by the proponent and inadequate EIA Report and consultations on the project with neighbours. They admitted that a few trees had been cut (about ten) and in the reports availed to the Council and NEMA the proponent had provided all information required for change of user, indicating the plots in question. The proponent, they argued, had broken no law, and the issues raised on slope, tree planting, planting creepers wall retention had been covered in the EIA Report. The Respondents explained that trees and creepers would be planted in due course to avoid their damage during construction.

It was reiterated by the Respondent's witnesses that current approval of design of houses is for twenty, based on four amalgamated plots. The place has a 9-inch sewer line that would carry liquid waste or waste water satisfactorily. It was further stated that the 6-metre riparian reserve underscored by NEMA's conditions had been observed as well, as demonstrated by pegs that NEMA's District Environment Officer had planted.

The witnesses explained that they had amalgamated four plots, one of which had been exchanged with another land owner in order to have one consolidated piece of land. These events were painstakingly explained to demonstrate there was no intention to conceal or falsify any information. But differences of view on applicable policy in Zone 5 remained. These were: the number of houses that could be built on the two acres; plinth area, ground coverage, and density applicable; the marshy wetlands -whether the marshy wetlands had been interfered with, and what to do with the three houses or so in that area; the amount of green spaces and play ground still available and whether a swimming pool need be constructed.

Even after the reduction of the number of houses from 23 to 20 at the top of the plot, leaving an area without houses, the houses constructed are practically along the riparian reserve, demanding therefore the determination if these houses should or should not be demolished. The Appellants maintained some houses be demolished while the proponent maintains adherence with the law has been observed and that policies are simply not binding as they are mere guidelines. The Appellants maintained that in any case approval of 20 houses by the Council is still valid.

The documentation availed and uncontested and in fact admitted showed that the EIA report had been approved and approval was conveyed to the Director, Houses and Plots Ltd. on 17th May, 2005 by NEMA in its communication containing six mandatory conditions. This had been followed up with further letters from NEMA officials. For example letter dated 11th August, 2005 by S. M. Langwen to the 2nd Respondent stated that "You are required to confirm in writing that the conditions of approval shall be complied with to enable the Authority process the EIA licence." No evidence was adduced that the required confirmation was forthcoming. Two further letters of 17th March, 2006 and 18th April, 2006 by the NEMA Compliance Director and his deputy respectively stated that:

- (a) "Ground investigations and complaints from the neighbours indicate that you have contravened the conditions set out in the Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA) approval letter dated 17th May, 2005. The Authority hereby orders you to STOP abstraction of water from river Mathari for construction activities, STOP any further construction within the riparian reserve."
- (b) "Cancellation of Approval for the Environmental Impact Assessment Project Report..." "You have not consented to adherence of conditions of approval, you have contravened the conditions set out in the approval letter, there is substantial change in the manner the project is being implemented, you are advised to comply."

Equally, the City Council of Nairobi, on the basis that the initial approval of plans had been granted on the basis of misleading information, nullified the approval. The relevant minutes, Town Planning Committee Minutes of 11/5/2006, paragraph 24 state as follows:

"Under minutes 7 (p1114) and 6 (p1459) of the meeting of this Committee held on 17th February, 2005 and 23rd September, 2005, approval was given for building plans registration Numbers DW795, DY 367 under items 205 and 301 respectively L.R. Number 7858/53.

The Director of City Planning reported that the plans were approved on wrong information since L.R. Number 7158/53 measuring about 1.328 hectares as per survey plan F/r number 3/637 of 1932 had been subdivided into six subplots and the same registered into separate titles in the early 1990's and hence L.R. Number 7158/53 had ceased to exist.

He recommended that the approval of the mentioned building plans be nullified. Resolved: That the recommendation of the Director of City Planning be approved. Action by Director of City Planning."

Counsel for NEMA argued throughout that there was no NEMA decision that warranted its being involved in the appeal because at the time of filing the appeal, NEMA had cancelled the approval it had granted in May 2005. The 2nd Respondent argued that the cancellation/revocation was not in line with the law as per section 67(1) of EMCA. The Standards and Enforcement Review Committee ought to have been involved, to advise the Authority which earlier granted approval of EIA, subject to conditions and that upon acceptance, in writing of the conditions, a licence would be processed. No such reference to such a committee had been made. They argued therefore, that the approval is still valid.

Counsel for the 2nd Respondent summarised his argument thus: that the approval given by NEMA for the project report carried the same effect as a licence, because the proponent had done all that was required of it and the actual licence was a mere formality. In any case, the licence is not a mandatory document for the proponent to have before proceeding with implementation of the project. It should be noted that Regulation 28(1) reads "the Authority may issue the licence in Form 3". The word used is "may" not "shall". The issue of a licence under Regulation 28(1) is therefore not mandatory. The Authority having assured the proponent that all was in order, there was no further action required on the part of the proponent and the proponent accordingly proceeded with the project.

In its communication of 18th April, 2006, NEMA had stated, among others things, that the proponent had not accepted the conditions, and most important that "you have contravened the conditions set out in the approval letter; there is substantial change in the manner the project is being implemented." (underlined for emphasis). In the course of the proceedings the thrust of this letter was contested.

It is apparent from the evidence and documentation availed that some confusion did arise in submitting plans to the Council using a non-existent title – one that had been surrendered. In fact, the title had been submitted in support of two applications, for sixteen houses and for seven houses. The same title had been submitted along with the EIA Report to NEMA. This matter caused suspicion and lack of understanding and transparency.

The other issue was that while the City Council was the appropriate authority to approve the construction of the twenty houses other issues arise with respect to some other matters among them:

Whether NEMA was right in law to cancel approval of the EIA; whether because an approval no longer existed, NEMA was therefore off the hook on this matter;

Whether the riparian reserve was respected or not and the status of this practice;

Whether demolition and new EIA study should be carried out or what other orders should be issued; and Whether there were consultations with the neighbours as required by law or not, during the EIA and change of user processes.

Once an EIA approval (whether or not conditional) has been given and an indication given that a licence is being processed by NEMA, is cancellation/revocation an option open to NEMA? There is no express provision on the matter. The EIA Regulations which provide for an EIA approval do not provide for cancelling or revoking an approval. However, Section 67(2) of EMCA provides that an EIA licence can be revoked, suspended or cancelled. On this analogy, it stands to reason that an approval can also be cancelled in appropriate cases. However, despite cancellation of a project approval, NEMA retains its regulatory role over the project or activities undertaken pursuant to approval. NEMA cannot abdicate its statutory responsibility as argued by their Counsel.

In addition, the provisions of section 64 (1) are that where a letter of approval leading to the processing of an EIA licence has been issued, the holder of such a licence (in this case, letter of approval and payment of licence fees and adhering to conditions) should submit a fresh EIA study within such time as the Authority may specify where—

(a) there is substantial change or modification in the project or in the manner in which the project is being operated.

(b) it is established that the information or data given by the proponent in support of his project application for an EIA licence under section 58 was false, inaccurate or intended to mislead."

These two provisions were not invoked by NEMA.

NEMA stated as a justification for the cancellation of approval of the EIA Report that the 2nd Respondent failed to accept the conditions for approval. The proponent was requested to respond but admittedly did not do so. What was the effect of the proponent's non-response to NEMA's approval conditions? The proponent simply proceeded with construction. It explained that through oversight, it did not write back. In the meantime the NEMA official in Westlands had visited the site and seen what was being done. It may not have been too much to explain before effecting the cancellation, that no response had been received. In the view of the Tribunal, this reason cannot be sustained.

The reasons given by NEMA for cancellation were not in line with the procedures laid down in EMCA and the Tribunal concurs with the 2nd Respondents' Counsel. Such an approach in circumstances where nearly one year of actual work on the project has been undertaken, which was being implemented with NEMA's knowledge, was neither justified nor lawful. Accordingly, the approval is still valid.

It is also clear that if the proponent, had seen it fit, it could have, upon receipt of the letter of cancellation/revocation, which constituted adverse action by NEMA, lodged an appeal to NET challenging such a decision.

There was a question as to whether the riparian reserve had been observed and whether it is known in law. Observance of the riparian reserve was one of the conditions given by NEMA and has been a condition given consistently in developments alongside rivers. For example in A.T. Kaminchia vs. NEMA and M/S Bell Ways Garden Limited (Tribunal Appeal No. NET/05/2005 of 2005). In the present case, the Appellants averred that the reserve was not respected and that four houses were set to be put in the area. Firm land inside this area would mark the end of the reserve from the highest water mark as argued by the Appellants. The 2nd Respondent argued that they observed the reserve.

The issues were, however, firstly, the way to establish the reserve in the circumstances of a river that had been canalised on either side of the property, and that the 6-metre rule was a guideline and therefore not legally binding. Clearly how to fix this matter has been and is an issue of debate to be determined in the circumstances of each case. In the A.T. Kaminchia vs. NEMA and M/S Bell Ways Garden Limited, the Tribunal had recognised it. In the present case, NEMA official had placed sticks showing that the two houses already substantially constructed were outside the 6-meter area as measured from the middle of the river. Secondly, this condition had been given in NEMA's letter of 17th May 2005 and had not been challenged by the 2nd Respondent, who could not, at this stage, be contesting the validity of requiring the 6 metres. Thirdly, whatever the status of the practice may have been, it is currently no longer an issue. Legal Notice Number 120 of 2006, Water Quality Regulations Section 6 (b) provides that:

"No person shall cultivate or undertake any development activity within full width of a river or stream to a minimum of six metres and a maximum of thirty metres on either side based on the highest recorded flood level."

As the NEMA officer who visited the site had accepted that the two houses were outside the six-metre reserve and the proponent had acted on it to construct the houses, it is not necessary that the Tribunal pronounces itself on the point at this stage. It notes, however, that for the future, LN 120 of 2006 has settled the matter.

Turning to the question whether demolition, a new EIA or other orders should be issued, the Tribunal notes that investment in housing in cities and towns throughout Kenya has been and continues to be an important and critical matter. As public spaces and facilities are taken, legally or otherwise, reducing drastically green spaces and playgrounds for present and future generations, it becomes obvious that any complex of houses built together must integrate green spaces and facilities in such complexes. Considerations of financial gain have undermined this crucial principle, often times establishing a lesser facility in a swimming pool, in place of green spaces and facilities.

An upcoming project like the one under discussion has a moment to rectify such a weakness, if the Tribunal may so candidly refer to it so. In the redesign and engineering of walls that separate buildings and that are geared to arrest collapse of cuts in soil structures, and realign the complex attractively, vital environmental and health concerns should be fully integrated in shared public spaces for common management.

It is therefore incumbent on the cities, and elsewhere in the country, County Councils or Town Councils along with NEMA and planning authorities under relevant legislation (caps 265, and 286) to exercise approval, supervisory and guidance roles to ensure that developers do not only scoop profits but offer prospective buyers facilities which their children and descendants could enjoy for many years, without incalculable problems arising from inadequate attention at planning and implementation stages.

The Appellants challenged the cut-and-fill method of leveling the ground, the steep slopes without retainer walls to prevent future collapses and without breaks to stop water rushing down and ending up in the river. They also challenged the distance between one property to another neighbouring property and wished that walls be reinforced to sustain weight from compacted soil and concrete. Another concern was the 9-inch sewer pipe, which may not, for long, sustain waste water from the increasing developments in the area. Other services, like water and electricity, are of concern because they are already strained. Traffic and noise are also of concern. They argued, therefore, that the Council and NEMA should ensure that appropriate laws and policies are stringently applied. In fact they stated the Council has not been applying or has been disregarding its laws.

NEMA received an EIA study, acknowledged its receipt and later wrote to the proponent communicating approval of the EIA Report on 17th May, 2005 as stated herein. When an opportunity arose to ask for a new EIA report because of alleged substantive changes, NEMA did not take that option. Given the foregoing, should a new EIA study report be called for as urged of the Tribunal by the Appellants? The Appellants asked the Tribunal to do what NEMA should have done in law, and in this respect section 129(3) (b) provides that: "Upon any appeal, the Tribunal may exercise any of the powers which could be exercised by the Authority in the proceedings in connection with which the appeal is brought." The Tribunal is, therefore, empowered to step into the shoes of NEMA. The Tribunal has done so in some of previous appeals before it, and it will do so to the extent deemed necessary in this matter.

There was also the issue of public notification and participation. This is a principle of crucial importance. It is principle 10 of the Rio Declaration of 1992 to which Kenya, and the global community of nations subscribe. It is in national statute, EMCA; in several global and regional treaties that Kenya subscribes to, and plainly it should be put to practice in all development activities. In this case, it was explained, neighbours were contacted, billboards were displayed, and print media was used, albeit not the popular one and in small print. This may not have been adequate; perhaps this, in the perception of the Appellants, was inadequate. Nevertheless it was there. It was also stated that some ten or so neighbours were contacted, who, statedly, did not raise objections.

The Appellants prayer for an order for restoration of this area to its original state must be responded to. It is given that in any development of the magnitude of this project, significant tampering with the site and environment would occur, and has occurred. Trees and vegetation have already been substantially uprooted, although the intention to plant some later is on record. Demolition can be ordered, and would be ordered if there is unequivocal and blatant disregard or breach of the law which has not, in this case, been established.

Upon site visit it was clear a lot of work had been done. It has now been stopped. It is to be observed that even in any case, the activity would stop as a matter of law upon an appeal being filed in the Tribunal. Section 129(4) of EMCA, provides unequivocally that: "Upon any appeal to the Tribunal under this section, the status quo of any matter or activity, which is the subject of the appeal, shall be maintained until the appeal is determined."

According to the 2nd Respondent, millions of shillings had been spent, and buyers are anxiously waiting to move in once the project is complete. These matters are not to be ignored. The Council makes by-laws and institutes measures to ensure that such laws are followed. The Council has responsibility to approve building plans submitted for that purpose; exercise supervisory role and take measures to ensure they are followed, or legal consequences flow from illegitimate actions. They review applications for change of user too. The argument was made before the Tribunal that the Council has been disregarding its own by-laws. There is no law that exempts the Council from implementing its own laws, and it cannot pick and choose which ones it applies, where and how, and which ones it does not.

The Council approved the 20 houses in November 2006, well after all the considerations of policy review in different zones, including Zone 5, the home of the project under consideration. This approval no doubt lifts the nullification that it had inflicted on the project in May 2006. In November, 2006, it had also agreed to change of user. The EIA was approved on the basis of the previous title deed, but its relationship to the subsequent subdivision and references leave no doubt as to the property in question currently, or as it will be following amalgamation of the four resultant plots.

The Appellants' point that the Building Code had not been complied with regarding new houses and distance to boundary wall (6m) was challenged, and in evidence the distance required was minimum 2.4 metres, which had been amply provided for. This contention therefore fails.

Arising from the above considerations and findings, the Tribunal unanimously, makes the following orders:

- (a) NEMA was appropriately enjoined in these proceedings as a party;
- (b) The approval granted by NEMA in its letter of 17th May, 2005 remains valid.
- (c) Proponent takes measures in carrying out the construction to ensure that there is no encroachment on the riparian reserve.
- (d) In place of a swimming pool and a gym envisaged on the side of the river, an area be set aside for green space and play ground and such number of indigenous trees as the area may hold be planted;
- (e) The cut ground and retention walls be reinforced using designs by competent engineers to ensure that no erosion or landslide occurs in the future; and that this be duly supervised by the City Council of Nairobi and NEMA to their satisfaction;
- (f) The mitigation measures in the Project Report be strictly adhered to;
- (g) Further delay should be avoided and activities on site can be resumed, along with the precautionary measures; and
- (h) The EIA licence be and is hereby issued.

The 1st respondent did not seek for any costs from the appellants and this is commendable. On the other hand, the 2nd Respondent did request the Tribunal to order the costs incurred by them be paid. This has been a complex matter, with many issues of public interest canvassed in the Tribunal. Accordingly, the Tribunal declines to award costs and orders the Appellants and the 2nd Respondent each to bear their costs.

The Tribunal draws the attention of the parties to the provisions of section 130 of EMCA.
